A continuation meeting of the So-Ed group was held Wednesday evening and a start made on formulation of the 1953-54 program. Reports of the delegates to the Ontario conference held in Niagara Falls February 21st were given by Miss Esther Thornton, Miss Ella Down, Bill Sawyer and Don Ellicott.

Nomination and election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: Chairman, Tom Cook; first vice-president, Bill Waye; second vice-president, Miss Jean McIntyre; secretary, Miss Molly Oliver treasurer, Miss Ella Down; registrar, Miss Betty Merrett.

Commitete chairmen will be Doug Vaisey, Don Endicott, Miss Wanda Deyell, Miss Ruth Floyd, Miss Nancy Walsh, Wes Chow, Miss Marion Thomas and John DeWitt.

Plans will be announced as they are made.

Golden Miler Club Entertains Friends At Afternoon Tea

The Golden Mile Club members held their annual St. Patrick's tea on Wednesday afternoon in the Green Room at the YWCA. It was a well-patronized event and the proceeds were very pleasing, but it had a greater effect in the social contact provided.

The club president Mrs. E. Chatten was assisted in receiving by Soroptimist Club past president Miss Alice Curtis and the president Miss Gene Clark. Soroptimists sponsor the older women's club and were on hand to assist in replenishing the tea table and they had a table of very delicious home baking for sale.

The Golden Milers sold candy, aprons, fancy goods and knitted goods and they had a draw, the prize being a hand-knitted shawl sent here by a Soroptimist in England. Winner is the holder of ticket number two who has not yet claimed her prize. There was also the popular "fish pond" full of parcels

The tea table was centred with a distinctive model of an Irish castle and symbols of Irish life and candalabrae were effective with real Irish green tapers. The tea pourers included Mrs. Stanger, Mrs. Cunningham, Mrs. Strong, Mrs. Vivant, Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Barrick, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. Webb and Mrs. Burgess. Serving were Miss M. Collins, Mrs. Rome, Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Farthing.

Tables of sale goods were in charge of Miss Coleman, Mrs Tyres, Mrs. French, Mrs. Stewart, Mrs. Aggas, Mrs. Cowling, Mrs. Lefley, Mrs. McMillan, Mrs. Pomeroy, Mrs. Brady and others. Mrs. K. Simpson was cashier and ticket taker.

Members' Council Discusses Events

Nineteen YWCA Members' Council delegates met in the new club supper room Wednesday for the March meeting. Miss Pauline O'Brien entertained by reading the story of St. Patrick chasing the snakes from Ireland.

Miss Jean McIntyre gave an interesting account of the regional conference held in Oshawa on Feb. 21. Mrs. Tom Cook gave a short summary of the spring hat tea and reported the sum of $180 was realized from the sale of tickets, home baking, candy, etc. Mrs. Tom Smith was the lucky winner of the spring hat door prize.

A committee of Misses Helen Edmison, Annie Williams and Jean McIntyre was formed to draft greetings to be sent to other Y's to observe world membership day on April 29. Miss Hazel Wilson invited anyone interested in taking a Film Council projectionist course to contact her. Mrs. H. Rehill announced that a committee has been working on plans to send representatives to national convention to be held in Quebec City in June. Miss Marion Foster suggested that anyone interested in becoming a delegate should submit their names to this committee.

The Children's Theatre and Blue Triangle Players are presenting plays in Queen Mary Auditorium on March 14. Miss Roselyn Stone announced the annual bunny tea is to be held on April 8. Miss Beatris Pelsis announced preliminary plans for a gym demonstration to be held the latter part of April.

IODE Fashion Show Has All The Spring '53 Trends

"Fashion is fun" repeated Mrs. John A. Nornabell in her introduction to each section of a delectable spring fashion show here Wednesday night. Presented by the Jeanette Scott Chapter of the IODE, as it has done the past several years, the show was made perfect by the co-operation of nine businesses in the city. The wares they provided included high style dresses, coats, suits and evening clothes, sportswear and accessories, millinery, children's wear, furs, jewellery, make-up hair styling and flowers.

"You will see the greatest change in silhouette since Dior's new look of 1947" predicted commentator Mrs. Nornabell. All the trends that any of the spectators had read about, heard about or seen pictures of were there. The principal switchover is from the tightly fitted bodice and full skirt to a looser, sort of tulip-bud softness in the bodice and a very slim skirt. However, there were some very full skirts on the most desirable of the late-day dresses and there was special emphasis on the rear views of some of these.

Also due for a season of popularity are the straighter cut suit coats, if the reaction of last night's audience can be taken as an indicator. The commentator remarked that fashions always go in three cycles: when they are new; when they are accepted; and when they are on the way out. The straight line is just coming into the second now and designers would have one believe that the full swinging silnouette is in the third. Black velvet is a recurring note of accent on soft dresses and black grosgrain ribbon effectively trimmed some of the smartest outfits. Black patent belts were numerous.

Hats, for the first time in many springs, are not covered with flowers. Milan straw is the favorite fabric and it is trimmed sparingly with black velvet bands or emoroidered with pearls and rhinestones to be more dressy and there is very reserved use of just one flower, the rose, to relieve plainness. Although the small hat is in, there are still the wide brims, flatteringly pinched and bent.

Fur jackets and cape stoles that will be in Peterborough's Easter parade have distinctive new styling. This was mainly noticeable in strategically placed pockets on the latter. Squirrel is the favorite medium of these luxury accessories.

It was noted that make-up is paler this spring—more "in the pink"—and the dark reds and blue tones are not used. The "sculpture" haircut is appropriate for the little hat and the high collar of this season, as short hair remains in style, but models with longer hair wore very becoming "bustle back" dos. Glittering rhinestone jewelry complemented many ensembles.

Delightful children's fashions were displayed first on the program with wear and tear on the models cut to a minimum by one appearance only. Mrs. Nornabell pointed to the evidence of designers copying closely from the adult styles. Fuschia in a hat and coat set and parma violet in a party dress were new shades for the little girl. Navy and white trim marked the influence of the royal children.

A specially lovely little model was Adele Harrison who wore a plaid organdy dress with flounced skirt, each flounce and the collar and cuffs edged with white lace. Mothers were attracted also to a plaid play dress of fine English tricotine smocked in white and they liked an Elizabethan pink coat with black velvet trim and jockey hat in the same shade worn by Marilyn Turner.

Jumping a season to bathing suit time, it was discovered that designers can still make news in this line One suit had an all-round skirt, admittedly short, of knife pleating. It was bright red.

The wedding and bridesmaids' gowns presented a new color for the bride and followed the trend of spring 1953 in the paler shades, with pale yellow. All were in the "waltz length," which, by the way, was called "taxi length" in the late-day collection. The bridesmaids had small headdresses of multi-colored petals and wore eyelet marquisette. The bride wore the traditional veil and her gown was of palest yellow satin with overskirt of organdy.

Highlights from the show, as recalled today, are: a skirt of Madagascar straw with black grosgrain ribbon outlining big pockets; a colorful, hand-woven wool tyrolean skirt and stole; a reversible shantung all-weather coat in grey and yellow stripe and plain grey; a three-quarter length chesterfield coat, three quarter length in pale beige, but having the traditional velvet collar; three dimensional cotton tweed; silk surah print in honey beige with black velvet at throat and pockets; a corset-laced dress in the 1953 beige shade which had a very full skirt in unpressed pleats. It was worn with parma violet accessories; lots of fringe on stoles; lots of jacket ensembles; recurrent cap sleeves; a pearl pink tea dress; a late-day model in fluorescent red taffeta; the nubby look in topcoats.

Much attention was given to the showing of cottons made by an English firm which are available in Peterborough for the first time. One very wearable dress had collar and cuffs of velvet made detachable for washing. A black with panel trim and stole in lime green and black stripe was a popular choice of the sophisticated and there was a one for dancing hours particularly.

Mrs. Andrew Rutter, new regent of the Jeanette Scott Chapter, opened the program with a short explanation of the work that is carried on from proceeds of these fashion shows. The show was a sell-out on Wednesday and is being repeated tonight with only a limited quantity of tickets available. Door prizes were drawn for by Mrs. Hugh Waddell.

Veteran Nurse Dons Uniform She Wore In '98

CALGARY (CP)—Marion Moodie was the first nurse to graduate from an Alberta hospital. She received her diploma at Calgary General Hospital in 1898.

Recently, more than 55 years later, she donned an exact replica of the uniform in which she graduated. That was for the official opening of the new $4,000,000 Calgary General Hospital.

In 1895 Miss Moodie entered the original general hospital—a two-storey frame house with eight beds—to begin her probation. In an article in the Canadian Nurse in 1940, Miss Moodie recalled that the original building had seen Calgary's earlier and rougher days and when taken over as a hospital had bullet holes through some of the doors.

Later a stone building, now used as an isolation hospital, was erected to replace the frame building. It was there that Miss Moodie completed her training.

Now 86, Miss Moodie's health keeps her pretty well confined to her room at a private hospital in Calgary. But she can still manage the three flights of stairs up to her room.

While nursing has been her primary interest, she published several volumes of poems, including "Songs of the West" and "The Legend of Dryas."

St. James WMS Plan Forthcoming Church Service

St. James' WMS meeting held Tuesday afternoon, opened with quiet music played by Mrs. H. Doig. Mrs. L. Bird presided. The opening prayer was offered by Mrs. W. Rose.

The program for the annual WMS church service March 22 was discussed. Mrs. W. A. Love of Toronto, a talented speaker. will deliver the address. An invitation was received from Knox WMS to join them at their Easter meeting, April 2nd.

As the roll was called each member reported the number of books read and the calls made. Mrs. H S. Powers reported for Christian citizenship to be a good citizen one must not grow weary in well doing.

Worship service was on the theme "Fellowship of the church as a means of grace," led by Mrs. K. Sloane. Assisting were Mrs. W. Peel, who gave the Bible reading and Mrs. G. Hewitt who led in prayer.

Mrs. L. Bird reported on the afternoon session of the presbyterial (which had been carried over from the previous meeting). Two girls of the Explorer group, Betty Webb and Beverly Fife exhibited a picture of an African village life which they had constructed and told the story of the various individuals.

Mrs. Sloane introduced the guest speaker the Rev. I. G. Pollock of Grace United Church. As the closing program of the study of Africa gave questions for discussion it was very fitting that Mr. Pollock who had lived among these people should be asked to give the answers.

To the question "What is demanded of us as Christian citizens in face of the problems of Africa?" The speaker advised firstly to become well informed about Africa, the races and conditions and to dismiss from mind mistaken ideas concerning their nature. As he had witnessed a transformation in the lives of many, from children of superstition to men and women of great ability by the grace of God, he urged his listeners to support with renewed zeal the missionary work. "There is great need for extending the healing mission of the Christian church."

Mrs. Bird closed the meeting with benediction.

Campbellford

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Harrison of Belleville were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kingston.

Mr. Harold Petherick, driver for Meyer's Transport, is in Belleville hospital with a knee injury suffered while loading at the Campbellford Cloth Company.

Mrs. T. S. Baker of Walkerton is visiting friends in town.

Mrs. Oscar Adams Hostess To YPU

ROSENEATH (ENS)—A Biblical questionnaire, conducted by Beverley Robins assisted by Betty Carew, Adele Varcoe and Fay Adams, was the highlight of the Roseneath YPU meeting held on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Adams.

The president, Miss Doris Robins, presided. The pianists for the evening were Misses Yvonne Adams and Betty Carew.

The Scripture reading was given by Miss Beverley Robson.

Rev. J. R. Wheeler and Miss Doris Robins were appointed as delegates to represent the YPU at a community meeting in the township hall.

During the program period Rev. J. R. Wheeler led in a sing-song. Miss Donna Pringle conducted a shamrock quiz. The remainder of the program from the program annual was presented by Fay Adams, Betty Carew and Adele Varcoe.

Plans were made for the next meeting to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Varcoe on March 23rd.

The meeting closed with the mizpah benediction.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Adams and daughter Yvonne.

Life Membership Presented Mrs. Hazel Storie

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The St. Andrew's WMS met at the home of Mrs. G. G. Stephens, Front St., on Tuesday afternoon. with Mrs. Wesley Stephens presiding.

Mrs. Stephens opened the meeting with the call to worship. A letter was read from Miss Margaret Lees, Presbyterial treasurer, regarding the allocation for the year.

The committee that had been appointed to investigate ways of raising money reported new ideas, but these were later dismissed as being impractical.

The devotional period, prepared by Mrs. Fred Rutherford, was opened with a prayer led by Mrs. Adamson. The scripture reading was presented by Mrs. G. G. Stephens, following which Mrs. Ray McCulloch, Mrs. Fred McCulloch and Mrs. Reg McCulloch explained the third chapter of the study of Africa. Mrs. Howard Hogle rendered a solo.

Mrs. Reg. McCulloch, on behalf of the St. Andrew's auxiliary of the WMS presented an honorary life membership certificate to Mrs. Hazel Storie in appreciation of the valuable service she has given to missionary work both in the auxiliary and the Presbyterial and Synodical Societies of the WMS.

A prayer offered by Mrs. Bell and a hymn closed the meeting. The next meeting will be on April 7 with Mrs. Reg. McCulloch in charge of the program.

P.T.A. News

ST. PETER'S SCHOOL

St. Peter's parish Parent-Teacher Association met Tuesday evening in St. Petr's grade school. President M. H. Glover presided. Mr. J. Legros gave a report for the budget committee. Mr. R. Baldwin, chairman of the program committee, reported on the recent variety show and mentioned the possibility of another show in the future.

The Rev. G. V. Gaughan of the Church of the Sacred Heart was guest speaker. Father Gaughan chose as his topic, "The Parent-Child Relationship." Stress was laid on the fact of the child's distinct and separate personality even from its earliest years—that it is not merely an extension of the parents. Numerous factors influence the development of the child, but the most vital force is the relationship of the child to parents and members of family and their relationship to him. The place of discipline in this relationship was discussed, as was the resulting problem of disobedience. The establishing and maintaining of a moral climate or atmosphere in the home is what matters in the formation of character and the avoidance of problem behavior.

Attendance prizes were won by Mrs. Macdonald's class, room 5, St. Mary's School, and Sister Anna Grace's class, grade 4, St. Peter's School.

DOROTHY DIX:

Friend Popular With Boys Girl Left Behind, Lonely

DEAR MISS DIX: My girl friend and I have been chums for years, and are constantly together. She is 16, so am I. We live in a small town. She is a very cute girl, and is popular with boys, while I am not. I think I'm a little bit jealous of her popularity. The boys are friendly to me, but rarely ask for dates, while she is invited out quite a bit. Naturally, this leaves me alone. When she has a date Saturday or Sunday, I stay home. Sometimes she turns dates down just so I won't feel left out of everything.

FAY L.

ANSWER: You have become entirely too dependent on one girl friend. The thing for you to do is to go with other girls, widen your circle of acquaintances, and don't keep yourself tied up exclusively to one pal. If your chum continues to refuse dates out of consideration for you, she will eventually become tired of you, and your beautiful friendship will be at an end.

JOIN SCHOOL GROUPS

Perhaps you are too shy to get out on your own. You must begin to overcome that fault now. Get into group activity at school. If your friend has a date on Saturday night, don't, for heaven sake, continue your pratice of sitting at a drugstore counter feeling sorry for yourself. Find out where the rest of the girls are going. If it's skating, get out your skates! If they happen to be looking for something to do, invite them to your house for an evening of records and fudge. Don't advertise the fact that you feel forlorn.

Don't let your girl friend realize that your feeling for her is tinged with envy. Be happy for her popularity, and you'll be surprised how soon some of it may be reflected on you.

Sixteen is no age to feel lonely; you just haven't acquired the experience to deal with a condition so remote from natural teen-age existence.

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I recently obtained a separation because I was in love with Phil, who also loves me. I have two children, Phile has one. The idea, of course, was that Phil should get a divorce, so should I, and we'd be married. Now, however, he seems to be kidding me along by postponing his decision. I know I'll never love anyone but Phil. Do you think it's worthwhile for me to wait for him?

A. A. C.

ANSWER: Two broken homes per woman is about par for the course, and it seems as if you won't quite make it. You sure are being kidded, but not nearly so much by Phil as by yourself. You apparently are living with illusions of a great love affair between you and Phil, which turns out to be nothing but a sordid mess. Advice to you is useless; you're sold on a dream and will continue in it until you awake to find it's a real nightmare.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have just undergone a heartbreaking experience. After our wedding date had been set, my fiance, under pressure from his mother, asked for a delay. He is 25, I am 23. We have been seeing each other since he made his decision but no further words have been said concerning our wedding. My parents feel I have been rescued from an unhappy future, but I am heartbroken.

SALLY.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Heartbreak now is much easier to bear than it would be after marriage. It appears that you have been rescued from marriage with a son who hasn't a mind of his own, and you should count it a blessing, not a tragedy.

Lily Lake WA Holds Monthly Meet

LILY LAKE (ENS). — Mrs. Clarence Hancock was hostess to the members of the Lily Lake WA for their monthly meeting. Mrs. Milton Dunford was co-hostess. President Mrs. Arthur Hancock was in charge of the meeting when the Scripture was read by Mrs. Ken Darling and prayer was offered by Mrs. Harry Fowler. Twelve members and three visitors were present.

The secretary, Mrs. Everett Tully, presented her report and the treasurer, Mrs. Ackison, reported a balance on hand of more than $1,100. It was decided to send another order for blankets the first week in June.

Cards of thanks were received from Harry Hirstwood, Ronnie Hancock, and Mrs. Roy Hancock.

It was decided that Mrs. Everett Tully and Mrs. Harry Fowler audit the treasurer's books before the next meeting.

Mrs. William Steinkrauss, Mrs. M. Dunford, Mrs. Clarence Hancock, Mrs. Harry Fowler, and Mrs. Everett Tully were named a committee to look after printing and securing advertisements for the cook book.

Money for the flood victims overseas was collected during the meeting. The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Reg. Ferguson. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Asphodel Branch O.C.C.D. Plan Convention

NORWOOD (ENS)—The executive of the Asphodel branch of the Ontario Council of Christian Education met at the home of the secretary, Mrs. Roy Scott Monday evening. Rev. H. K. Wright opened the meeting with prayer.

It was decided to revert to the spring date for the annual convention, June 1 being preferred. Mr. Dalman, superintendent of the Baptist Sunday school invited the association to hold the convention in their Sunday school this year. This was accepted with thanks.

The meeting will start at the supper table and a speaker will be present from the Ontario Council of Christian Education, Toronto.

The lack of religious instruction in the public schools of the township was discussed and the ministerial association was appointed as a committee to approach the school boards on the matter.

It was decided to invite the Sunday school workers of Havelock and Trent River to attend the convention.

Following a prayer of benediction by Rev. R. D. Duncanson, lunch was served by the hostess.

Ask Conciliation

The UE locals —including Peterborough's Local 524 —handed in their contract proposals in January. And the union's joint negotiating committee and management met twice during February.

Main UE contract proposals are:

An extra wage increase for all day-rate workers and all female workers.

Incorporation of the cost-of-living bonus (nine cents an hour) into the basic rate.

A 20 per cent incentive for piece workers above the basic rate (at present it is 15 per cent).

Work week reduced from 43 hours (in Peterborough) to 40 hours with no loss of take-home pay.

Every eligible employee on the checkoff.

Improved vacations and two additional statutory holidays — Remembrance Day and Coronation Day.

HEALTH, WELFARE PLAN

A health and welfare plan, paid for by the company, covering the cost of doctor's bills and hospitalization, and $40 a week sick pay.

A pension plan, also paid for by the company, making the retirement age 65 for men and 60 for women, with a minimum payment of $125 a month.

The CGE counter-proposals are reported to include the contributory pension plan; a three-cents-an-hour wage increase; three weeks paid vacations after 15 years' service; and discussion on a number of detailed wage rate classifications.

Ralph Sullivan, UE area representative, said today that the joint committee had asked for concilliation services; and, as in the past several years, they were trying to get Louis Fine, chief conciliation officer, to assist in bringing about negotiations for a settlement.

Commenting on the CGE pension plan, Mr. Jackson said.

"For the life insurance and health sections of the company proposals, the Canadian employee will pay the same cost as in the U.S.A., but will get considerably less coverage ($5 to $7.50 a week less in sick and accident weekly benefits for example). The disparity is even more glaring in the case of dependents .... the Canadian worker will pay more than (an American) .... and will receive what is actually less than one-half of the protection.

"On the pension proposal, the Canadian employee is offered a retirement at age 68 as against 65 in the U. S. A. The minimum guarantee in the Canadian proposal is $100 a month, inclusive of government pension, as against $125 a month inclusive of primary social security in the U. S. agreement. The Canadian worker, formerly covered by a non-contributory pension plan will be asked to pay four per cent of his wages into the pension fund; his American brother paying only two per cent."

This Sunday the negotiating committee of Local 524, UE, will report to the membership at a meeting in the Brock Street Summer Gardens at 2 p.m. It will be a progress report on the contract negotiations in Toronto.

Marie 42 degrees, North Bay 38 degrees, London 51 degrees, and Toronto 45 degrees.

316 Home Visits Made In Month

Department of Health nurses made 316 visits to homes during February, and 576 visits to individuals.

These figures were included in Miss Gene Clark, supervisor of nurses' report at the Board of Health meeting Wednesday.

These totals included 535 health supervision visits; 36 visits to individuals with communicable diseases and 30 tuberculosis visits.

Twelve child health clinics were held during the month with a total attendance of 201 — 101 infants and 100 pre-school children.

Miss Mary Barry

The funeral for Miss Mary Barry, Hastings, who died Monday, was held today from her residence to Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Hastings.

Requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. J. J. Garvey.

Pallbearers were William Armstrong, James Faux, John Doherty, Wilfrid Lynch, M. A. O'Shea, Joseph Lynch. Graveside prayers at Mt. Carmel Cemetery, Hastings, were said by Father Garvey.

Man Wanted In 6 Cities Jailed 30 Days

James Joseph Donnelly, who is wanted by Peterborough police for obtaining goods by false pretences, was sentenced to 30 days in jail in Woodstock Wednesday for driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol.

Following the sentences he was picked up by police from Toronto where he is also wanted, as well as in Hamilton, Windsor, and London.

ARREST WIFE

Also arrested was his wife Jean, who is wanted by police here for receiving goods obtained by false pretences.

Donnelly is alleged to have obtained goods here from at least eight merchants with worthless cheques. Goods obtained are said to include an automobile valued at $275 and a $400 radio.

Provincial Police said they arrested Donnelly on Tuesday after his car was in collision with a truck driven by Harry Brown of Hamilton near Thamesford, 20 miles southwest of Woodstock.

Employment Office Starts 5-Day Week

The National Employment Office is the first Peterborough government office to take advantage of the five-day week offered for civil service servants several weeks ago. So far none of the other Peterborough government offices has started the shorter week.

Two weeks ago the government extended its five-day week to cover employees in 21 cities in Ontario, British Columbia, and Quebec; Peterborough was one of that group.

At that time the civil service commission said if a five-day week were started it must not interfere with service to the public, and must not lead to increases in staff.

The Peterborough employment office's new hours, which started this week, are from 8 a.m. until 4:50 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, with Saturday off. They were previously 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 pm. and Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m. The employees will work the same number of hours 39.

Meanwhile there has been no official announcement regarding the five-day week for the other government offices. A customs house official said that "nothing officially" on the short week, and Harold White, postmaster, said, "I haven't heard anything official yet from Ottawa." Their hours are still the same.

Two Wheels Stolen From Parked Car

Two wheels were reported stolen Tuesday night from a truck parked on the CGE lot on Monaghan Rd. by the truck's owner, Ed Steadman, 238 Simcoe St.

Steadman told police that he parked his car at the west end of the lot at 4 p.m. on Monday and when he returned at 12:30 a.m. he discovered the left front wheel and tire as well as the spare wheel and tire had been stolen.

The two wheels are painted green and are 600x16 in size.

Home and School Association News

PARKHILL SCHOOL

Parkhill Home and School Association met Tuesday with Mrs. V. Ferguson presiding. Devotional period was taken by Mrs. H. Lewis and consisted of exerpts from various educational pamphlets with the theme "For every child, faith in God."

Among various items of business were the duties of the nominating committee proposal of sending delegates to the annual Home and School convention in Toronto during Easter week.

It was planned to hold a tea on April 22nd and call it "A Coronation Tea."

The annual Fathers' Night" is to be held on April 14th.

Mrs. R Fleming's class won the attendance prize.

Two educational films entitled "Who will teach my child?" and "Nova Scotia," were shown. The former film attempted to show by contrast the various types of teachers and how they deal with the children's problems. The film also demonstrated how one woman's opinion influenced the opinions of other mothers in the community and led to the resignation of an innocent teacher.

Mrs. F. Barker expressed thanks to Mr. Gould for operating the projector.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. A. Lester and her committee.

MAY'S SCHOOL

May's Home and School Association met Monday evening in the kindergarten room. Mrs. F. Spencley, Mrs. O. Wells and Mrs. J. Vogelsang received at the door. President Mrs. A. Downer extended a hearty welcome to all the parents and presided over the business part of the meeting. Devotional period was taken by the religious convener, Miss L. Kidd.

Miss S. Plowman's grade one room won the attendance banner.

Business centred around "The St. Patrick's Tea" which is being held on Wednesday, March 18, in the kindergarten room. The association is responsible for taking the polio girls from the south end to the YWCA for swimming during the month of March. Three members volunteered to canvass in their district for money for the cancer drive. Nomination papers were given out at this meeting.

Guest speaker, Mrs. L. Raper, was introduced by Mrs. O. Dantzer. Mrs. Raper, who is parent education convener of Home and School Council, gave an excellent preview of the film, "Children Growing Up With Other People." This film covers a period from babyhood to adolescense. After the film was shown Mrs. Raper led in a lively discussion of it. Mrs. G. Curtain thanked her.

A social half hour was much enjoyed, with refreshments being served by Mrs. O. Weese and Mrs. W. Bugg and their committee.

KING GEORGE SCHOOL

King George Home and School Association met Tuesday evening in the school with president Mrs. H. Morrison in the chair. Mrs. F. Ford read minutes and also treasurer's report in the absence of Mrs. M. Mesley.

Miss Catherine Moebus favored the parents with a piano solo Minuet in G.

The Grade V pupils, under the direction of their teacher, Miss P. Pidgeon, put on the play "Robin Hood" which was thoroughly enjoyed.

Parts were extremely well taken by the children and showed the careful direction of the teacher. Four of the pupils took up a collection for the European flood relief fund and the children were very pleased with the response.

Mrs. F. Darwin read a poem entitled "Do you just Belong." Miss Victoria Willanett then played a piano solo, "Sonatina".

Guest speaker for the evening was Mr. F. B. Smitheram of the Normal School teaching staff and he was introduced by the principal Mr. C. D. Munro. He spoke on the modern trend of education. Mrs. C. Ferguson thanked him.

Mrs. H. Morrison announced there will be a rummage sale on March 24th. The parents were asked to send rummage to the school.

The next meeting will be held on April 4 at Mark St. Sunday School when the Prince of Wales School is to present the play, "Fresh Variable Winds."

A social half hour was enjoyed with refreshments being served by Mrs. E. Aitchison and her committee.

MILLBROOK PUBLIC SCHOOL

MILLBROOK —(ENS)—A special education week program was featured at the Home and School Association meeting held in the school auditorium on Monday evening. The rooms of the public school were open to the parents so they could see the displays of children's work, and discuss their progress with the teachers.

The school auditorium was filled to capacity with Home and School members and with pupils of the senior and intermediate rooms of the public school, who were also in attendance.

The speakers for the evening were Miss Helen Black, high school principal, and Mr. Percy Hamilton, principal of the public school.

Mr. Hamilton, who spoke first, said that education week was a time to take stock of what progress was being made in education. He told of the school curriculum and how it was designed to help in everyday living.

He asked the co-operation of the parents in teaching children to speak correctly. He told of the health contests in which marks are given for neatness and cleanliness of clothes and person. In the current events class pupils are kept informed of how other people live, and of United Nations activities. Mr. Hamilton told of the excellent instruction in religious education the children were receiving and of the contest of memorization of Bible passages now in progress. He asked the parents not to leave all religious instruction to the school.

Miss Black in her address told of the various types of students they were required to deal with in the classroom, and of some of the methods used to help them solve their problems. She told of the shy student, the nervous one, the lonely, the bold, the attention seeker, those who were overzealous—she admitted this type was rare—and those who did not put enough into their work.

President Alex Gilbert thanked both speakers.

Miss Diann Hogaboam, music instructor, presented the intermediate room in a group of choruses "The Gavotte" and "Popping Corn," and Mr. Hamilton's room in "Music Everywhere" and "Night Song."

Mr. Gilbert announced an executive meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. B. B. Dawson on March 13.

Mrs. J .T. Crowley, membership convener, announced that the attendance award went to Miss Jean Burnham's room, the intermediate one.

Lenore Ouellette and Helen Wright were pianists. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilfred Elson, Mrs. Douglas Sheppard, Mrs. Stewart Snelgrove and Mrs. Allan Wood.

KING EDWARD SCHOOL

A large crowd attended "open school" at King Edward Monday evening. Teachers received in their class-rooms, assisted by the class mothers, and parents were given an opportunity to inspect their children's work and to discuss progress and any difficulties with the teachers.

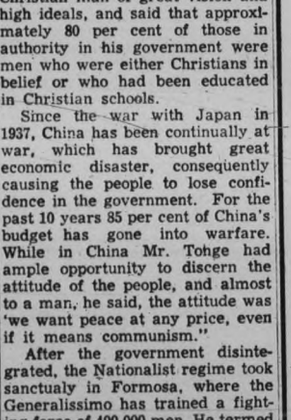
They were welcomed at the door by President Mrs. J. Dunkerley and Vice-Presidents Mrs. R. Kingdon and Mrs. L. Ross.

Following this, the regular meeting of the Home and School Association was held in the kindergarten room. Mrs. Dunkerley presided over a brief business period. Health convener Mrs. E. Wellman announced that Miss H. McGeary, superintendent of Victorian Order of Nurses, would be the guest speaker at the annual health meeting of the association on April 13. A motion was passed to send two delegates, Mrs. Dunkerley and Mrs. Ross, to the annual convention being held in Toronto April 7 and 8. Nominations convener Mrs. L. Webb had the names of the entire membership listed on the blackboards, and those present were asked to study these, in view of the forthcoming election of officers.

Attendance prize was won by Mrs. Crawford's classroom.

Speaker of the evening was the Rev. W. Tonge of Lakefield, who spoke on "Reason and logic behind the United States' foreign policy concerning Formosa." Mr. Tonge spent three years as a teacher in China, and gave a clear-cut picture of that vast country of some 450 million people. He said China was potentially one of the most powerful nations of the world, and that there could never be peace in the world as long as China remained Communist.

After the fall of Chinese dynasty, there sprang up war-lords, turning China into a warring nation; not because the people themselves were a warring people, Mr. Tonge pointed out, but because the control of power went to the man who was most powerful. Next came the Consolidation Era, during which time Chiang Kai-shek unified the country. He described Chiang as a Christian man of great vision and high ideals, and said that approximately 80 per cent of those in authority in his government were men who were either Christians in belief or who had been educated in Christian schools.



Since the war with Japan in 1937, China has been continually at war, which has brought great economic disaster, consequently causing the people to lose confidence in the government. For the past 10 years 85 per cent of China's budget has gone into warfare. While in China Mr. Tonge had ample opportunity to discern the attitude of the people, and almost to a man, he said, the attitude was 'we want peace at any price, even if it means communism."

After the government disintegrated, the Nationalist regime took sanctualy in Formosa, where the Generalissimo has trained a fighting force of 400,000 men. He termed Formosa the most potential bastillion of democracy in the world, but went on to say that this great force was limited in scope by the United States placing the 7th Fleet betweeen Formosa and the mainland. The recent withdrawal of this fleet is a step in the right direction, Mr. Tonge believes.

However, the only answer to the problems of the world is Christianity, he declared, and challenged Christians to live out their beliefs. The only way to face communism is with an idealogy based upon truth, for only truth can make men free, he stated in closing.

Mr. Tonge was introduced by Mrs. G. MacMillan and thanked by Mrs. R. Kingdon.

The Court of Session, leading Scottish law court, was established in 1532.

Celebrate 14th Anniversary Crowning Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The white and golden banners of the Vatican City state fluttered in bright sunshine here today to mark the 14th anniversary of the coronation of Pope Pius XII.

Thousands of greetings from many parts of the world arrived to wish the pontiff well.

In the Vatican's famous Sistine chapel, a solemn pontifical mass was celebrated. Sixteen cardinals, other high prelates, nobility and members of the diplomatic corps accredited to the Vatican attended.

The 77-year-old ruler of the Roman Catholic Church still reported weak from his recent attack of influenza and bronchial pneumonia, did not attend the more than hour-long ceremony. His doctor feared it would weaken him.

The mass was sung by Benedetto Cardinal Aloisi Masella.

Rome's Quotidiano, official organ of the Catholic Action Movement, published a recent photograph of the pontiff. So did the Vatican's L'Osservatore Romano Wednesday.

Both photographs, said to have been taken a few days ago, revealed the toll taken by the Pope's recent illness—the first serious ailment he has had since he was elected to St. Peter's throne on March 2, 1939. He was crowned ten days later.

The new photographs showed the pontiff looking much older than he did before he was forced to bed Jan. 22.

Mrs. Herman Blodgett

ROSENEATH (ENS). — The funeral of Mrs. Herman Blodgett was held at Roseneath United Church on Tuesday at 2:30 p.m., with her pastor, Rev. J. R. Wheeler conducting the service. Mrs. C. W. Varcoe was pianist. Two favorite hymns of the deceased's were sung.

Her family of four sons and five daughters were present for the funeral. The pallbearers were her four sons John, Harold, Cecil and Archie Blodgett, and two nephews Clarke and Charles Sandercock.

The flower bearers were eight grandsons, Clayton Duff, Gerald Elliott, Neil Duff, Kenneth Martinelli, Trevor Duff, Milton Elliott, Kenneth Adams and Fred Duff.

Mrs. Blodgett was a lifetime resident of this community, active in church and WA work, and her passing will be a distinct loss to the community. A capacity congregation attended the service, and the long cortege to the cemetery testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. James Duff (Ellen), Roseneath, Mrs. Bruce Arthur (Grace), Fenella, Mrs. William Elliott (Mildred), Garden Hill, Mrs. Gordon Martinelli (Thelma) and Mrs. Clarence Thirtell (Ferne), Kendal, four sons John and Harold Blodgett, Warkworth, Cecil and Archie, Roseneath; also 21 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren. Her husband predeceased her in 1945.

Interment was in Merrill's Cemetery. Relatives and friends were present from Malton, Toronto, Orono, Port Hope, Colborne, Norwood, Campbellford, Gore's Landing, and the surrounding communities.

Bell Telephone To Add 100,000 Phones

MONTREAL (CP) — President Frederick Johnson of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada said today demand for service continues strong and the company expects to add more than 100,000 telephones in its Quebec and Ontario territory in 1953.

In a speech prepared for the annual shareholder's meeting, he said the company expects to install its 2,000,000th telephone within the next few days, "twice as many telephones as we had in service at the beginning of 1945."

Mr. Johnson pointed out that net income had increased to $22,570,000, equivalent to $2.47 a share, with $4,298,000 added to surplus.

However, the addition could be regarded as "only a partial restoration of the $8,000,000 depletion that resulted from inadequate rates for service in 1949 and 1950.

SURPLUS DOWN

"The total accumulated surplus of the company, now equivalent to $1.02 a share, contrasts poorly with $2.44 a share at the end of 1948."

Mr. Johnson said the use of dial operation, whereby long-distance operators dial directly to outside points, is being rapidly expanded, with about 37 per cent of all toll calls now handled this way. The company planned ultimately to introduce automatic accounting equipment to permit subscribers to dial their own long distance calls.

The company had spent a record $85,000,000 for construction of new telephone facilities last year, with total investment in plant at the end of 1952 amounting to $654,000,000,000 or $331 per telephone in service.

Allen Moore Named Weed Inspector

Allen Moore was appointed weed inspector of Dummer township at a recent meeting of the council. Previously it was reported incorrectly that the new weed inspector was to be Russell Tedford.

Telephones In School

ROSENEATH (ENS). — During the past week telephones have been installed in the three schools of Alnwick Township. The schools are SS 2 (Roseneath School), SS 3 (North School), and SS 1 and 29 (Woodvale School).

These schools are in Alnwick Township School Area and the trustees of the area are Messrs. Ross McCracken, Lloyd Parker, James Timlin, Harold Davidson, and Frank Adams.

Dispatch Held For Month Tells Of Troops In Reserve

The following dispatch, written Jan. 31, has just been released by censor.

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

IN KOREA (CP)—The 1st Commonwealth Division has had its first period in reserve since it was formed in July, 1951—and is sore about it.

Censorship cloaked divisional movements late in January when its front—between the celebrated "Hook" and "Little Gibraltar" positions—was turned over to the United States 2nd Infantry Division.

The Commonwealth division had been in the line an unbroken 18 months when ordered into reserve. Divisional headquarters had never once changed location.

The move out of the line was not appreciated. Commanding officers said the thing to do was to keep the men busy right up to the end. Brig. M. P. Bogert, commander of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade, only a few days before had agreed to Lt.-Col. Louis Trudeau's request that his Van Doos be left in the line to the last moment.

In the lines the men were more comfortable, easier to discipline and safer. During one five-week period the Van Doos had only one men killed by enemy artillery fire, so well dug in were their position.

Commanders and soldiers all down the line were vocal about army headquarters' "mistaken kindness." To the soldiers in the front-line bunkers it appeared a downright injustice.

They had spent months making their caves comfortable and safe. They had worked hard on the defences. They had used considerable resourcefulness and initiative to devise the means and acquire the materials to enable them to spend the winter warmly.

Instead they were sent out into fields where they had to pitch tents on ground frozen solid to a depth varying between 12 and 14 inches. Once the tents were up they had to sleep on the ground instead of the cots they'd rigged up with wire and poles in their bunkers.

Even with two stoves to a squad tent, in which as many as 20 or 30 men slept, they weren't nearly as warm as at the front. And they had none of the modicum of privacy to which they'd been accustomed when living two, three or four to a bunker.

The soldiers felt they'd done their donkey work for somebody else and had been cheated of the dividends of their investment.

To the Canadian commanders, being in reserve posed a bigger problem.

Two battalions, the Royal Canadian Regiment and the Royal 22nd Regiment, were on the point of rotation.

The 3rd battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, had considerable work ahead before it could be classed as the peer of its predecessors from its own regiment, and of the other battalions in the brigade.

The period in reserve meant that Begert and their colonel, Lt.-Col. Herb Wood of Toronto, would have less than one month to work with them realistically before they found themselves, after the arrival of the new 3rd battalions, the "veterans" of the brigade.

Rev. T. E. Kennedy Called To Warkworth

The Rev. T. E. Kennedy, minister of the New Glasgow and Rodney Presbyterian churches, has accepted a call to become minister of the Warkworth and Hastings churches in the Peterborough Presbytery it was announced in London today.

Mr. Kennedy succeeds the Rev. James R. Ritchie, who left in October to become minister of the Almonte Presbyterian church. Mr. Kennedy is a cousin of the Hon. Thomas Kennedy, former minister of agriculture, for Ontario.

Blasts At Hydro, Liquor Board End Ont. Debate

TORONTO (CP)—A final opposition blast against Ontario hydro and the liquor commission ended the throne speech debate in the legislature Wednesday.

Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver, training his guns on a favorite opposition whipping post, said hydro is wasting money on an expensive, elaborate public relations organization.

He said hydro should be saving wherever possible to reduce the possibility of further rate increases, but instead is spending exorbitant sums on advertising, radio broadcasts, and parties for important officials.

"All this in the name of public relations is going too far," he said. "The premier has a great battle ahead to hold hydro rates level until the next election."

ASKS COMMISSION

The Grey South Liberal called for a royal commission to investigate the liquor commission and bring in a revised system of liquor control. He said the public is becoming increasingly dissatisfied with the administration by the growing number of crimes and accidents involving liquor.

He charged political favoritism in granting liquor licences, claiming that applicants "need a Tory lawyer." He said the higher the lawyer's party standing, the better chances an applicant had of winning his petition.

Mr. Oliver urged the province to institute a system of royalties and fees to be levied on natural resources taken from the province. He said the province faces staggering mineral developments, but most of the ore will be exported with little benefit to the province.

CITES STEEP ROCK

He cited Steep Rock iron deposits, saying an American firm, Inland Steel Company, was planning a $50,000,000 expansion with the intention of shipping all the ore to American smelters.

"If we charge royalties on exports it will result in direct revenue for the government and encourage industries to locate in the province," he said.

"Alberta is well on the way to becoming the wealthiest province in the country, because it has collected royalties and fees on oil development there.

"We should see that not a stick of wood or a pound of mineral ore goes out of the province unless the province collects a royalty."

The debate was terminated by a vote on an opposition want-of-confidence motion, defeated 71 to 9. The ponderous government majority voted solidly against the slender forces under Mr. Oliver. Ten members were absent.

Today Premier Frost, acting in his capacity as provincial treasurer, will bring down the budget estimates for the coming year. No other business will come before the house.

Dr. Jordan Says:

Ability Of The Human Body To Overcome Illness

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

The remarkable ability of the human body to overcome illness is well shown by a letter received from a lady who shall be known as Mrs. R. She writes:

"I am 71 years old. About seven years ago I went through a serious operation for gall bladder trouble, at which time stones were found. I was told my pancreas was found hard. Two tubes were put in my side to drain from the pancreas.

"I was a walking skeleton at the end of 10 weeks, but from then I gained and now weigh 140 pounds with a height of five feet, two inches. About three years ago I found I had sugar in the urine, but by careful diet have been able to control this until recently. I wonder if this sugar is likely to grow worse, but I should like to keep away from insulin."

Here is the story of a serious illness. One reason for quoting the letter so extensively, however, is to point out that even with advancing years, many can and do recover reasonably well from conditions of the most serious nature.

It would seem from the story given in the letter that Mrs. R. had a true inflammation of the pancreas as well as gallstones; in fact, it is probable that the inflammation of the pancreas resulted from the stones.

Now, the pancreas is a small organ lying in the upper part of the abdomen which manufactures a number of substances, including secretions which aid in digestion, and a hormone which is poured directly into the bloodstream, and is commonly known as insulin.

The pancreas is thus a most important organ and it is fortunate that it does not very often become inflamed, though a kind of degeneration which causes diabetes is more common. Acute inflammation of the pancreas, furthermore, is a most serious condition.

INSULIN OFTEN NECESSARY

Even the chronic variety which Mrs. R. now appears to have is not to be taken lightly. In the latter it is often necessary to give one of the extracts of the pancreas and when sugar is present in the urine (which may or may not occur) insulin is often advisable as well.

Mrs. R., therefore, should not be unduly prejudiced against taking insulin if her doctor thinks that will help her. It is unfortunate, of course, that her health is not better, but surely, also, hers is an example of a pretty good recovery from what originally must have been a really dangerous condition.

Windsor Arrives To Visit Mother

LONDON (CP)—The Duke of Windsor arrived from New York Wednesday night to visit his ailing 85-year-old mother, Queen Mary.

With him on the liner Queen Elizabeth, which docked at Southampton, was his sister, the Princess Royal. She cut short a five-week visit to the West Indies to return to her mother's bedside.

Queen Mary, who is suffering from stomach trouble, had another comfortable day Wednesday.

The Duke said he had two telephone talks with the Queen's doctor, but had not spoken to the Queen herself. "Queen Mary has never spoken on the telephone in her life," he said. "She is scared of it."

Greatly relieved that the 85-year-old Queen is reported recovering, he told reporters: "We were very worried last week."

Furnace Tax Refunds Paid To Manufacturer

OTTAWA (CP)—Refunds running into hundreds of thousands of dollars will be made by the revenue department as a result of a government decision to lift the 10-per-cent sales tax from gas and oil furnaces and air-conditioning units.

A department official said Wednesday the refunds, covering the tax paid on sales of these units since September, 1951, will be made to the manufacturers. In many cases it was expected the manufacturers will turn over the refund to the consumer—if the consumer asks for it.

The refunds, which may range between $10 and $30 on individual items, will cover more than 50,000 furnaces and air-conditioning units sold since September, 1951.

The decision to lift the sales tax from this type of equipment followed a ruling of the tariff board last January.

To Win Korean War

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda published a message today from North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung stating that he plans to "localize" the Korean war by winning it. The message in the Communist party organ said: "The Korean people will be victorious. This means that the conflagration which threatens to engulf neighboring countries and seize the entire world will be localized."

Opens Navigation

HAMILTON (CP) — The SS Charles Dick arrived in Hamilton harbor Wednesday, the first lake boat to open the 1953 navigation season. Capt. R. E. Lawson received the traditional top hat, his third, for being the first skipper in. The vessel carried 2,167 tons of sand from the Niagara sand bar.

Burns Prove Fatal

TORONTO (CP)—Dominic Provenzano, Jr., severely burned about the lower part of his body by flaming gasoline Nov. 24, died Wednesday. Police said at the time of the accident that the man's gasoline-soaked clothing was set afire by a spark from a welder's torch.

U.K. CHARGES "BRUTAL AGGRESSION"

Air Attacks Indicate Uneasiness

Post-Stalin Jitters Said Affecting Higher Red Echelons

LONDON (AP)—British officials said today Soviet attacks on British and American planes are evidence of post-Stalin jitters behind the Iron Curtain.

High-placed officials said they believe the MiG fighter attack that cost Britain a Lincoln bomber and six lives near Hamburg, Germany, Thursday was due less to trigger-happiness on the part of the MiG crews that nervousness in higher echelons of the Kremlin.

"Since the death of Stalin," one informant said, "the Communists have become very jumpy indeed about vigilance around their borders. Fliers have probably been told there is greater danger of attack from outside, now that Stalin is dead, and they are taking it seriously."

Britain protested to Soviet authorities in Germany today against what the official note termed "this deliberate and brutal act of aggression involving murder."

An air ministry statement said the bomber carried no ammunition and was flying without the breech-blocks of its machine-guns.

These, the statement said, had been left in England for serving when the plane took off for the routine training trip that ended in tragedy. The statement replied to Soviet charges that the Royal Air Force bomber fired on its MiG pursuers.

A foreign office spokesman said investigators had found a Russian cannon shell in debris of the bomber which fell in British-controlled territory. Most of the bomber's hulk fell into a wood on the Soviet side of the East German border.

Answering Russian charges that the bomber had penetrated Soviet controlled territory, the spokesman added:

"We have no reason to think that this British aircraft had deviated from the corridor in any material way. A warning would have been fair enough, but outrages of this kind against an aircraft which showed no sign of aggression are unpardonable.

"If the Russian airmen paid a little less attention to gunnery and a little more to navigation these regrettable and deplorable incidents would be less frequent."

These back luck omens have Blackie slightly worried and just before her operation.

Eden Scores "Barbaric" Russian Act

Departs From Text Discussing Meeting of Big 3

NEW YORK (AP)—Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, has denounced as 'barbaric" the shooting down of an RAF bomber by a pair of Soviet MiG jets.

Eden, delivering a major speech Thursday night before the Foreign Policy Association, departed from his prepared text to lash out at Russia over Thursday's attack on the British plane, which killed six of the seven crew members.

Reading his text, Eden said Britain and the United States stood ready to negotiate with Russia—despite Prime Minister Stalin's death—and that both countries would welcome a similar intention from the Russians.

DISCARDS TEXT

Discarding the text momentarily, Eden added:

"There is nothing of the kind up to the present. On the contrary we have today heard of the shooting down while on a routine exercise of a Royal Air Force training bomber . . ."

". . .Deliberate and unprovoked attacks of this kind by what are supposed to be friendly forces can only be called barbaric."

The RAF plane fell in flames after the MiGs attacked above the Elbe river valley at the east-west frontier of Germany.

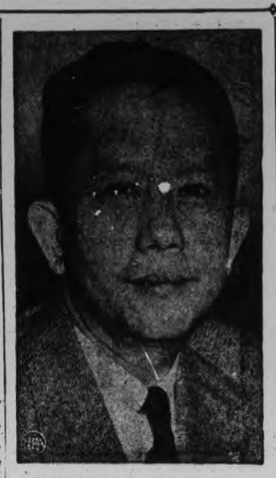
More than 1,800 persons jammed the main ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel to hear Eden's speech, which also had a country-wide radio and television audience.

Eden urged the United States to fight only a "partial" war in Korea, which he termed a "thankless" assignment and added:

"It is one thing for a nation to throw its entire strength into a fight for survival. It is another to conduct a partial war with all kinds of restraint upon your action.

"And yet we know that these restraints must be maintained."

APPLAUDED



Eden was interrupted with applause when he said that no goods of strategic importance had gone to Red China from British sources in nearly two years.

"We also are taking further steps to ensure that no ships of any nationality taking strategic cargoes to China shall be bunkered in British ports," he said.

"These measures speak for themselves. They do not represent a new policy.

"They are designed to stop leaks in an existing system. . ."

Eden said world peace depends on successful Anglo-American cooperation but that such collaboration implied no "ganging up" against any other country.

Jet Ace Downs 13th MiG In Korean War

SEOUL (AP)—U. S. Sabre jets sent six Russian-built MiG-15s spinning to destruction today as Col. Royal N. Baker became the world's top jet ace with 12 MiGs shot down.

Baker, of McKinney, Tex., said he "always thought Friday the 13th was good luck for me." He got his 12th MiG and 13th Communist plane today.

The 5th air force said another MiG was probably destroyed and one was damaged in a fiery climax to a day of trip-hammer Allied air blows.

Today's bag ran the toll of MiGs since the Korean war started to 604. Of that number, 585 have been destroyed by Sabres. Up to March 7, the air force said, 52 Sabres were lost in air combat, a victory ratio of nearly 12-1.

Baker's latest MiG kill gave him a record of 12 destroyed, one probably destroyed and one damaged.

He also is credited with destroying a Communist LA-9 propeller-driven plane.

The previous record was 11 destroyed and one probably destroyed held by Maj. George A. Davis, who failed to return from a combat mission Feb. 10, 1952. Davis also destroyed three propeller-driven Red Tu-2 bombers and still holds the record for the most Communist planes of all types, 14 compared with Baker's 13.

Twenty-four Thunderjets bombed a Red troop centre south of Kangdong into flaming ruins. Others battered rail and road supply lines and rained their destructive bomb loads on the Red front lines.

B-29s loosed 140 tons of high explosives on Red supply dumps on North Korea's west coast.

Along the ground, Communist soldiers jabbed the Allied lines in a dozen spots, but were thrown back with heavy casualties.

U.S. Sends Second Protest Note; Limit Zone Flying

BONN, Germany (CP)—Britain today accused the Soviet Union of deliberate, brutal aggression and murder in the shooting down Thursday of an unarmed RAF Lincoln bomber near Hamburg. Because of that attack by Russian MiGs, which cost the lives of six British airmen, the second Allied tactical air force, a NATO unit, today ordered its planes not to fly within 10 miles of the border of the Soviet zone of Germany. British, Belgian and Dutch squadrons make up the second tactical air force.

In Prague; meanwhile, a second U. S. protest note was delivered to the Czechoslovakian government. The U. S. told the Czechs that American authorities in Germany "will take the measures necessary" to prevent further border attacks by Czech aircraft.

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A British European Airways Viking passenger plane was fired on by Russian aircraft over the Soviet zone Thursday, it was reliably stated tonight.

It charged the Czech government with "falsification of facts" in contending that the U. S. plane shot down on a routine patrol flight Tuesday had violated Czech territory.

ASK PUNISHMENT

Britain today demanded punishment of the Soviet fliers responsible and reparations for the British lives and property lost in the shooting down of the Lincoln bomber.

It was the second attack on Allied planes by Communist planes in three days and spread fear of an undeclared aerial war throughout Western Europe. The Western world appeared to be in for months of crisis and tension while prime minister Malenkov solidifies his position in Moscow.

The Americans said they are bringing in 25 F-86 Sabre jets—their swiftest operational fighter—to replace outmoded F-84 Thunderjets in Germany.

NEGLECT RED NOTE

A strong protest lodged with the Russians today took no cognizance of a Russian announcement Thursday night that the four-engined British bomber had violated the East German frontier and had opened fire first on the much faster and better equipped MiGs.

The British high commissioner for Germany, Sir Ivone Kirkpatrick, forwarded a terse protest

Say Censorship Hurts Morale, Ask Names Used

SEOUL (Delayed) (AP)—Soldiers say one phase of military censorship is hurting the morale of United Nations troops fighting in Korea.

Except in rare instances, censorship forbids the identification of Allied forces manning the front lines, not only by units but even nationality.

Today a hard-fighting outfit rescued one of its patrols, ambushed by Chinese Reds. Correspondents were allowed to identify the men only as Europeans.

Often, when identification is permitted, it is only after a unit has been unfortunate or run into criticism.

The trouble does not lie with the censor but with the regulations and the interpretations of regulations under which he must work. The ultimate responsibility rests with the commanding general of the 8th army.

DIVISIONS NAMED

At the height of the recent United States furore over Operation Smack, the U. S. 7th division was identified as the outfit where programs were passed out to military leaders witnessing a combined air and infantry attack. Less than a week later, men of the 7th division stood firm in the face of a Chinese Communist attack, beating back the Reds and inflicting heavy losses.

But censorship would not permit identification of the 7th then, despite arguments by correspondents that it already had been identified as in the line.

Identification of the Puerto Rican unit was permitted in a story of mass court martials. But the Puerto Ricans could not be identified when they fought, valiantly before and after the incidents which led to the court martials.

UNANIMOUS

Military men in Korea almost unanimously agree that security is the only reason for censorship. Most of them concede the Communists know what Allied units they are facing within a week after the units move into the line.

One division commander says: "It is only human that the men want the folks back home to know when they fight a valiant battle—and feel outraged when the only time their unit is mentioned is when it has run into trouble or criticism."

There is another facet to the problem. The Korean war is a collective action. Units of 22 countries are in the effort.

Time after time Canadians, Britons, Australians, Greeks, Turks, French and others have dealt the Communists punishing blows. Because of censorship regulations, all must be lumped under "Allies" or "United Nations" troops except in scattered special instances.

Prospectors Win Concessions In Lease Fight

TORONTO (CP)—Northern Ontario prospectors today won concessions in their fight against a bill which would have given the government power to grant prospecting leases on tracts of land up to 100,000 acres.

Urged by delegations which protested the granting of company leases covering huge areas which they claimed would threaten the independent prospectors, the legislature mining committee today amended the bill reducing the areas to a maximum of 64,000 acres.

In addition, the committee decided to raise the fee for leases of this kind to a maximum of $5 an acre and a minimum of 50 cents. Before the amendment, the fee was a straight 50 cents.

PROTEST CHANGES

However, opposition members of the committee and a delegation of prospectors protested the amendments were too limited and the bill, which now goes before the House for final approval, was still heavily weighted against the prospectors.

Cyril Young, vice-president of the Prospectors and Developers Association of Canada, said the "awfully dangerous bill" opens the possibility that "Wall street will blanket the north."

Opposition leader Farquhar Oliver and CCF House leader W. J. Grummett voted against the bill.

Ex-Queen Narriman Plans To Divorce Farouk In Egypt

CAIRO (Reuters)—Former Queen Narriman will start divorce proceedings against Farouk "when she arrives back in Egypt," her uncle Mustapha Hamel Sadek, said here today. He said Narriman has applied for an entry visa to return to Egypt. She now is in Geneva, Switzerland, with her mother. She walked out on her portly husband in Rome Thursday night and flew there. Her mother said today that the separation is "for good."

"Nariman will remain in Geneva until the Egyptian authorities grant an entry visa, for which application has been made," her uncle said here today.

"Narriman is only separated from Farouk but she will start divorce proceedings in Cairo when she arrives back."

Egyptian authorities here would give no indication today when an entry visa would be granted to the former queen.

She has not been in Egypt since she left with Farouk last summer when he was ousted from the throne.

Farouk still has custody of their year-old son, Fuad, who now is King of Egypt.

FAROUK NIGHT-CLUBS

ROME (AP)—Ex-king Farouk went nightclubbing with a long-haired blonde French model until the small hours of today, shortly after his 19-year-old wife Narriman left for Switzerland. Her departure fanned conflicting rumors concerning the royal family's future.

3 Czech Airmen Flee To Austria

GRAZ, Austria (AP) — Three youthful members of Communist Czechoslovakia's Air Force fled to Austria today in a Second World War German aircraft and asked for political asylum.

The three airmen—a lieutenant and two sergeants—landed on a runway used by British military planes at Thalerhof airport on the outskirts of Graz, in the British occupation zone.

Grinning and evidently pleased with their early morning flight of 115 miles from the Czech city of Bratislava, the three asked British soldiers who immediately surrounded their plane: "Is this Graz?"

Told that it was, they asked for asylum. They were taken into custody by British military authorities. Their aircraft—a German "Arado 96" used as a training plane for fighter pilots—was placed under guard.

The three airmen were identified as Lieut. Vladimir Krman, 24; Sgt. Gustav Molnar, 26, and Sgt. Josef Fleischhacker, 25.

They said they left a Czech air force training school at Piestany, near Bratislava, early this morning. They flew across the Russian occupation zone of Austria, passed near a Soviet jet fighter base at Wiener Neustadt, and then crossed into the British zone. They apparently saw no Russian planes.

U.K. Tories Win In By-Election

RAMSGATE, England (Reuters) The Conservatives retained the Isle of Thanet seat in a by-election today.

W. R. Rees-Davies, 35-year-old lawyer who lost his right arm in the Second World War, polled 25,261 votes to 15,935 for Labor candidate F. Woodbridge.

The margin was about the same as that polled by Edward Carson, victorious candidate in the 1951 general election. Carson resigned for health reasons.

Today's voting was the first of six by-elections. The standing in the House of Commons now is: Conservatives 318; Labor 292; Liberals 5.

Not A Filling At 50 Has Fluorine Booster

BOSTON (AP) — Dr. Foy F. Feemster, state public health official, presented himself as an "exhibit" Thursday at a hearing on a controversial bill to ban fluoridation of drinking water.

Dr. Feemster said that he grew up in Deaf Smith county, Texas, a place where the absence of tooth decay led to the conclusion that naturally fluoridated water helped prevent tooth decay.

"You are looking at a man who grew up drinking that water every day," he told the legislative committee on public health.

Dr. Feemster, who is well past 50, told the committee that he hasn't a single filling in this teeth.

US Warns Czechs In Second Note

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States told Communist Czechoslovakia today that American authorities in Germany "will take the measures necessary" to prevent further border attacks by Czech aircraft.

This notice was given in a second protest note demanding an apology and compensation for the shooting down of an American jet plane last Tuesday.

Two communist MiG-15s, flying out of Czechoslovakia, shot down the U. S. plane while it was on a routine patrol flight. The pilot parachuted to safety.

The note was delivered in Prague at 10 a. m. EST by the U. S. ambassador, George Wadsworth.

UMT charged the Czech government with "falsification of facts" in contending the U. S. plane had violated Czech territory.

Radar surveillance established beyond question, the U. S. note said, that the American plane was shot down well within the border of the American zone of Germany.

Pact Countries Spend $60 Billion

PARIS (Reuters)—North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries are spending almost $9,000,000,000 more on Western Europe defence for the 1952-53 financial year than in the last 12 months, a NATO report said Thursday night.

The report said the United States is the biggest individual spender—it earmarked $49,500,000,000 for NATO expenditure. But this figure does not include $1,000,000,000 in economic aid and defence support.

Total NATO expenditure for the current year, ending in June, is $3,465,220,000. Last year's total was $54,564,690,000.

Figures for 13 of NATO's 14 member nations—Iceland has no defence budget—show an increase in every case over last year's spending.

Britain is the second highest spender with $4,995,000,000—an increase of $900,000,000 compared with 1952-53.

France follows Britain with $4,047,020,000.

Canada is next with $2,125,700,000

Order Allied Planes 10 Miles From Border

BAD EILSEN, Germany (AP)—Planes of the 2nd Allied tactical air force were ordered today not to fly within 10 miles of the Iron Curtain border between the British and Soviet zones of Germany.

The order does not apply to aircraft flying through the Soviet-recognized corridors to Berlin.

The order was issued as a result of the shooting down Thursday of a British Lincoln bomber on a training flight near the border.

The order applies to training flights by the British, Belgian and Dutch squadrons which make up the tactical air force, a NATO command.

A staff officer said that training would continue normally however except for the new precaution to be taken on approaching the inter-zonal border.

Release 'Baby X' To Mother, 16

TORONTO (CP) — "Baby X" moved out of the Hospital for Sick Children Thursday into an uncertain future.

The three-week-old boy was released to his mother, an unmarried 16-year-old redhead, and his grandmother.

They turned him over to Mrs. Sadie Green, a West-end Toronto resident, who will look after him for the present. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shinder of Brooklyn, N.Y., who have started steps to adopt him legally, are staying at the Green home.

Louis Herman, the Shinders' lawyer, said Thursday night the young mother is agreeable to having the couple adopt her baby and welfare agencies now are investigating the case.

The Shinders are the 39-year-old couple who authorities said tried in vain to by-pass normal adoption procedure and smuggle the baby aboard a New York-bound plane as their own child Feb. 25.

MDs Chill Girl, Cut Into Heart

DENVER, Colo (AP) — Janet Kimble, 8, was put in cold storage hibernation Thursday while surgeons cut into her heart and removed a clogged valve.

Cold was applied to slow down bodily mechanisms to levels similar to those of winter-hibernating animals.

Temperature is dropped 20 degrees at least, pulse rate slows from 120 to perhaps 60, blood pressure falls and the metabolism of a body is slowed to a minimum pace.

The heart then pumps slowly and tissues do not require a normal rapid flow of blood containing fresh oxygen.

Touchy Topic

JORDAN (CP) — A church couple's club Thursday night debated the topic, "a truck is of more value to a farmer than a wife is." The debate in this village near St. Catharines ended in a draw.

Prince Charles, Red General Among 10 Best-Dressed Men

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's leading men's fashion magazine Thursday named Russia's Marshal Vassili Sokolovsky and Britain's four-year-old Prince Charles among the 10 best-dressed males in the world.

The magazine, Tailor and Cutter, sometimes speaks with tongue in cheek but it seemed to be talking mostly with a straight face Thursday.

No. 1 on the list was Sokolovsky, chief of staff of the Soviet armed forces. The magazine said that while he was military governor of East Germany, his starchy white uniform had a "washability look" which was rivalled in "dazzle quota" only by its wide gold-braid stripes.

Prince Charles was listed ninth. The magazine picked on his bow tie, deerstalker cap and cardigan sweater, which have influenced children's styles all over Britain.

The magazine's complete fashion-plate catalogue:

2. Poet T. S. Eliot, who "always looks as though he were about to depart for a cocktail party."
3. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary—"back among the ranks of the swells."
4. Fred Astaire, actor and dancer—"His taste has never allowed him to give way to those exaggerations which are too often the badge of the cinematic world."
5. Adlai Stevenson—for "refusing to hide himself within the wigwam of the drape shape," a backhanded comment of one of the magazine's favorite targets: American male fashions.
6. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., the movie actor who dresses like a diplomat.
7. Charlie Chaplin.
8. Lt.-Gen. Sir Frederick A N. Browning, household controller to the Duke of Edinburgh—"Seems to be poured into his uniform."
9. Prince Charles.
10. Terry Thomas, British stage and radio comedian.

Plan Gay Celebration

Capital Prepares Coronation Events

OTTAWA (CP)—Five thousand troops will parade, the Royal Standard will fly from the Parliament buildings' Peace Tower and the governor-general will arrive in a horse-drawn carriage for the capital's national celebration of the Coronation June 2.

Plans for the big event here were announced today by the Coronation Committee of Canada.

The governor - general, Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, will represent the Queen at the ceremony and thousands of citizens will throng to the lawns in front of the Parliament Buildings to hear the Queen's Coronation Day broadcast.

The Queen has given special permission for use of the Royal Standard, which will be unfurled from the Peace Tower during the 90-minute ceremony.

Mr. Massey will arrive on Parliament Hill in the same carriage used by the late King George VI and Queen Elizabeth on their 1939 visit to Canada. He will have a mounted RCMP escort.

Massed bands will play music specially composed for the Coronation ceremony in Westminster Abbey and the governor-general will deliver a three-minute address of loyalty.

Then RCAF trumpeters will play a fanfare as the Royal Standard is broken out, and the Queen's broadcast will be carried to the crowds through loudspeakers.

The ceremony will close with an artillery salute, fly-past of F-86E Sabre jets and other planes and a march-past by more than 5,000 men and women of the three armed forces.

The Parliament Buildings will be illuminated and buildings through the city will be decorated. Church bells will ring and factories sound whistles to mark the moment of placing the crown on the Queen's head.

The city has planned its own celebration in the evening with concerts, street dancing and fireworks on the old Rideau canal which curves through the centre of the city.

The afternoon event, which will be broadcast and televised, will be attended by members of the diplomatic corps, high government officials, representatives of the Canadian Legion and other national and local organizations.

Spends Good Night

LONDON (AP) — Queen Mary spent a good night, her doctors reported today. The 85-year-old Queen grandmother has been in bed 18 days with gastric trouble.

Faulkner Begins Crusade Against Reds

TORONTO (CP)—Farley Faulkner hired his hall Thursday night.

It was Massey Hall in downtown Toronto and it was filled by some 2,800 persons who had lined up to get in to hear Faulkner's call for a crusade against communism.

From the same big stage where last month pro-Communist Dr. Hewlett Johnson, dean of Canterbury, extolled what he termed the virtues of Red Russia the young Toronto business man told of his planned coast-to-coast vigilance for freedom tour. His message: "It's time something was done about it."

PROTEST

"It" is communism and its threat to the Canadian way of life. It was for protesting the "Red Dean's" pro-Communist speech that Faulkner was forcibly ejected from Massey Hall Feb. 24 and told derisively to "go hire a hall."

Faulkner, owner of a small dress shop, said he would, and he did. The cost was shared by the audience who paid 35 cents each to hear Faulkner and a number of other foes of communism. There was no heckling.

Other speakers at the meeting were an Estonian law student, a former Communist espionage agent, a Ukrainian who spent three years in a Siberian concentration camp and two young Russian refugees. They told of life under the hammer and sickle and why they preferred democracy.

Chevrier Reports On CNR Surplus

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian National Railways had a net surplus of $146,000 in 1952—its first in seven years—and will budget for another small surplus this year, Transport Minister Chevrier said in the Commons Thursday night.

The minister made the announcement as he moved for the establishment of the sessional house committee that examines the CNR business.

Mr. Chevrier did not give revenue and expenditure figures for 1952 for the government-owned line which last year had a net deficit of $15,031,000 after fixed charges on its debt.

Since the last annual report of the company, its capital structure was revised by Parliament last year.

Two Men Die As Car Wrapped Around Tree

KINGSTON (CP)—Two persons were killed Thursday night when the car in which they were riding went out of control, crossed the road and wrapped itself around a tree eight miles north of here.

Dead were Harold W. Radford, 32, of RR 4, Perth, and Arthur B. Cota, of Westbrook.

The car, driven by Radford, was travelling south when it spun off the highway, crossed the road and crashed into the tree at the hamlet of Glendale.

Radford was found dead in the car. Cota suffered a broken neck but died before he reached hospital.

Sell Gas At 25 Cents

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Gasoline went on sale at one retail outlet Thursday for 25 cents a gallon. The latest development in the gasoline price war which has been under way for several weeks came as Maple City Gas Ltd. put a 25-cents-a-gallon tag on its standard gasoline. Elsewhere in the city prices ranged between 26½ and 40 cents for standard, 28½ and 42 for premium.

THE SOVIET EMPIRE FOLLOWS JOSEPH STALIN ONE LAST TIME—Guarded by Russian soldiers, the body of the late Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin lies in a white casket on a gun caisson that bears him slowly across Moscow's Red Square for burial in Lenin's tomb. In slow cadence behind the funeral van march the heirs of power who survive the man who led them for 29 years. Passing before the Kremlin wall are (right to left): N. S. Khrushchev; L. P. Beria, secret police chief and Minister of the Interior; Chou En-Lai, Premier of Communist China; Georgi Malenkov, new Soviet Premier; K. E. Kaganovich, Deputy Premier; N. A. Bulganin, Minister of War, and V. M. Molotov, new Foreign Minister.

Car Hits Ditch Woman Hurt

LINDSAY (ENS)—A Sunderland woman was admitted to Ross Memorial Hospital here Thursday afternoon, after the car in which she and five children were riding, driven by her husband, Dr. A. G. Berry, went into the ditch east of Oakwood.

Mrs. Vera Berry suffered broken ribs in the mishap, which occurred according to Provincial Constable Jim Hall, of Lindsay, when the Berry car was in danger of striking another vehicle which was turning into a laneway on the south side of the highway.

Rather than hit the vehicle Dr. Berry turned into the ditch. His car struck a tree and was extensively damaged.

According to police reports, Dr. Berry was driving towards Lindsay on Highway 7 with his wife and five children in the car. Mrs. Berry was sitting in the front seat beside him. None of the children were injured beyond a shaking up. Police gave no indication what, if any, charges would be laid.

Helicopter Saves Five On Floe

ST. CLAIR, Mich. (AP)—A navy helicopter rescued four men and a woman adrift on an ice floe in Anchor Bay of Lake St. Clair late Thursday.

They had gone ice fishing and were trapped when the ice broke away from a frozen mass extending to the shore. Their cries for help were heard on shore.

Two hours later a helicopter from Grosse Ile naval air station took them off one by one.

All the fishermen were in good condition when brought to shore. They were identified as John Porsinki, 62, of Fair Haven; Mrs. Leona Jackson, 37, of Marine City; her husband, Isaac Jackson, 50; Wesley Russell, 36, of Highland Park, and Vernon Nash, 52, of Highland Park.

U.S. Sends

note to General of the Army Vassily Chuikov, top Soviet commander in Germany.

Earlier, Soviet authorities delivered to Kirkpatrick a note from Chuikov saying the Soviet general personally had looked into the case and could find no guilt on the part of the Soviet pilots.

REDS HOLD SURVIVOR

Seven crew members were aboard the British bomber. The crash killed four outright and another—the navigator—died of his injuries before reaching hospital. This morning the pilot died. The Russians announced the sole survivor was under treatment for injuries at an East German hospital.

Chuikov, in his note, accused the British plane of violating the East German frontier and of opening fire on the Russian jet fighters when they ordered it to land at a Soviet airfield.

The Lincoln was homeward bound to Leconfield, England, when it was attacked. It had been on a routine training flight.

British authorities said that before crashing the pilot jettisoned secret documents into the British zone. Military police combed the area for them today. Most of them were torn up, apparently by the pilot to prevent information falling into Soviet hands.

DIPLOMATIC BATTLE

As the incident thus turned into a diplomatic battle of notes, the British, United States and French high commissioners met here to consider what to do about the attacks from Communist jets, which now have shot down two Allied planes in the last three days.

The brief British protest did not mention the Soviet allegations, but by ignoring them indicated rejection.

The British note said:

"At about 1430 hours (2:30 p.m.) yesterday, a Royal Air Force Lincoln aircraft was attacked and shot down by Soviet fighter aircraft in the Hamburg-Berlin air corridor near the zonal frontier. I protest in the strongest terms against this deliberate and brutal act of aggression involving the murder of British airmen. I request an investigation should be undertaken immediately by the Soviet authorities and that those responsible for this outrage be punished and that due reparation be made for damage to persons and property."

WON'T BE FRIGHTENED

While the high commissioners conferred, the British and U. S. air forces announced that their planes would not be frightened out of the German skies by the Soviet attacks.

The U. S. Air Force—which lost a plane to attacking MiGs from Communist Czechoslovakia Tuesday—announced its planes would continue to "fly as usual" over West Germany.

RAF commanders issued special orders to all British fliers to be "especially alert" when flying near the Soviet zone border. But they said that "flying operations of British planes in Germany will continue as usual. There will be no cut down in training flights over the British zone."

MEET FOR HOUR

The high commissioners—Kirkpatrick, James Conant of the U.S. and Andre Francois-Poncet of France—met for more than an hour but refused to disclose details of their discussions.

Kirkpatrick said, that for the present his sharp protest to Gen. Chuikov spoke for itself.

The commissioners indicated they were awaiting further instructions from their governments.

West German newspapers expressed alarm that the attacks on the Allied planes might start an undeclared air war along the East-West zonal boundary.

FUTILE PAPER WAR

The British-Russian paper war appeared destined for the same futile pattern as the exchange between the United States and Czechoslovakia after two Czech MiG-15 jets destroyed an American Thunderjet last Tuesday 15 miles inside U.S.-occupied Bavaria.

Most British officials viewed the two incidents as part of the same pattern—a deliberate show of strength by Prime Minister Georgi Malenkov's new Kremlin regime.

In London, Prime Minister Churchill conferred hurriedly with his Air Minister, Lord De L'Isle and Dudley. A later anouncement said the British government was taking a "grave view of this serious event."

SEND NEW SABRES

In Washington, the U.S. Air Force announced that 25 Sabre jets—which have been outfighting the Soviet-built MiGs in Korea—would be sent "very soon" to Germany. The air force said they were previously-promised replacements for the slower, lesser-armed Thunderjets and their movement to Europe and no connection with this week's incidents.

The Russians fired the first diplomatic salvo at Britain early today, handing Kirkpatrick a note of protest charging the RAF plane violated Communist East Germany's territory to a depth of 74 miles and fired first at two intercepting Russian MiGs which ordered it to follow them to the nearest Soviet Air Force field.

British officials in Germany admitted the bomber—on a practice flight from an RAF station in Yorkshire, England—was over the Soviet zone when attacked but contended it was in the Hamburg-Berlin air corridor. This is one of three routes, each 20 miles wide, in which Allied planes in 1945 were pledged free access to Berlin by the Russians. The plane crashed just over the Soviet zone border on the east bank of the Elbe river, about 30 miles southeast of Hamburg.

INJURED INNOCENCE

Chuikov's note had a tone of injured righteousness. He said he, personally, had checked the case and that his speedy fighters' request to the lumbering bomber to land was "according to the regulations of the Soviet Air Force, also regulations valid in the air forces of other states."

He complained that the "trespassing aircraft" had not complied with "this just request, but opened fire on the Soviet aircraft." He claimed that the MiGs fired a warning in reply, and then fired again when the bomber continued shooting at them.

RED PROTEST

"In informing you of the above regrettable incident . . ." his note concluded, "I at the same time protest to you against the violation of the demarcation line—the frontier of the German democratic republic—by this British military aircraft."

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain, addressing a dinner in New York, said "deliberate, unprovoked attacks of this kind by what are supposed to be friendly forces can only be called barbaric."

Britain's air ministry said the attack came less than two hours after the two Soviet fighters had made a "threatening mock attack" on another British bomber 100 miles away near Kassel, well within the British zone. The ministry said both bombers were on routine training missions.

WITNESSES REPORT

German witnesses to the fatal attack said the two jets pursued the bomber from the directlin of the Soviet zone, followed it over the British zone town of Bleckede, on the west bank of the Elbe, and continued strafing it with 37-millimetre cannon after it burst into flames.

East German police cordoned off the smoking wreckage on the river's east bank. Soviet fire engines finally put out the blaze.

Chuikov's note said four bodies were found in the wreckage "and one wounded pilot, who was taken to hospital." The British air ministry earlier had believed all five were killed.

STRAFE PARACHUTER

The other two crew members, wounded, parachuted across the Elbe into West Germany. One died of a broken neck soon after he was picked up and the other died in hospital this morning. German police said the MiGs apparently strafed the crew as they floated down, reporting that a cannon shell had ripped a hole through one parachute they recovered.

The U. S. Air Force's European headquarters at Wiesbaden said that American planes were "flying as usual" over West Germany today, with "no change whatever" in their operations as a result of the two Communist attacks.

Remand Inmate On Theft Charge

TORONTO (CP)—Talbot Murphy of Wellington county, a 22-year-old inmate of Burwash reformatory, was today remanded for one week when he appeared here on bank robbery charges.

Serving a two-year sentence for safe cracking, Murphy is charged with the Sept. 5 armed robbery of a Dominion bank in western Toronto. About $28,000 was stolen when two armed men held up the branch.

Toronto detectives traced Murphy through a new car which he is said to have bought soon after the Sept. 5 robbery. He was convicted of the safe cracking charge two weeks after the bank robbery.

Police say they think the loot from the bank robbery is still unspent and buried somewhere. Investigations are continuing and a search is being made for the second man involved.

May Shift Ball Franchises Of Boston, St. Louis Clubs

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Sporting News said today that baseball club owners of both major leagues had been summoned to emergency meetings to shift franchises of the Boston Braves in the National League to Milwaukee and the St. Louis Browns of the American league to Baltimore.

In a copyrighted story, J. G. Taylor Spink, publisher of the national baseball weekly, reported baseball commissioner Ford Frick was calling National League executives to Tampa, Fla., Monday to ratify a request by Lou Perini, president of the Braves, to move his Boston franchise to Milwaukee where he already owns the Brewers of the American Association.

At the same time, Spink reported, President Will Harridge of the American League was calling his league officials to Clearwater, Fla., to act on Bill Veeck's request to shift his St. Louis Browns to Baltimore.

Under the plan, The Sporting News said, the Orioles of the International League would go to either Hartford, Conn., or to "some Canadian city," presumably Quebec. The Brewers would be switched to Toledo.

The baseball newspaper said it also had learned that President Frank J. Shaughnessy would call the International League club presidents together Monday at Clearwater to ratify the transfer of the Orioles' franchise.

Ex-Queen Narriman

The exiled Egyptian monarch and the unidentified blonde spent most of the night and early morning in "La Boite Pigalle," one of Rome's few night spots, under the watchful eyes of Farouk's husky Albanian Moslem guards.

At 3:30 a. m. when newspaper men and photographers arrived at the club, the girl was spirited out. Farouk left a few minutes later. As he walked out an Italian policeman and one of the ex-king's guards manhandled a reporter and a photographer, knocking aside the photogapher's camera.

Farouk and his guards drove away.

FRENCH MODEL

The ex-king's appearance with the girl—identified only as a French model—fanned flames under the rumor pot already bubbling over with conflicting reports that—

1. A divorce or separation is pending for Farouk and Narriman.
2. She is pregnant again.
3. Her departure is a political move to safeguard Egypt's royal dynasty and prepare for the possible return to Egypt of their son, tiny, 13-month-old King Ahmed Fuad II.

The infant king succeeded to the throne last July when Farouk was summarily ousted after the military coup led by Maj.-Gen. Mohammed Naguib, now Egypt's premier.

Fuad remained in Italy with his father today but sources close to Farouk were quoted by Rome newspapers as saying he might be taken away later.

Sources having close contact with the former king said Narriman's departure was a final one from which there would be no return to Farouk. Instead, they said, she likely will return to Egypt as "Queen mother."

Start Heart Beating

WELLAND (CP)—Doctors opened a five-month-old boy's chest and massaged his heart after the heart stopped beating near the end of an operation. That happened Sunday. Doctors said Thursday the boy—Allen Leslie Moore—is expected to recover.

Toronto Prices Gain In Strength

TORONTO (CP)—Prices gained strength in early afternoon stock market trading today after early losses. Trading slowed.

Volume for the first three hours totalled 1,840,000 shares—third lowest this year.

Uraniums were slightly weaker as Gunnar, Chimo and Rix fell small amounts. New Delhi and a few others added pennies. New Brunswick base metals were mixed as New Larder U gained and Brunswick slipped. Among the Northern Ontario rare metal prospects Inspiration broke even after early losses and Tungsten added pennies in a turnover of about 80,000 shares.

Higher-priced base metals gained on firm advances in International Nickel and Noranda but other issues weakened. East Sullivan and Campbell Chibougamau traded lower.

In industrials, papers and retail stores slipped while manufacturing companies and miscellaneous issued gained.

Senior golds were mixed but juniors showed a wide majority of losses led by Belleterre and Campbell. Holding companies mixed.

Gains balanced losses in western oils. Hy-Charger traded actively for penny gains.

Cheese, Produce And Livestock

TORONTO FRUIT

F86 seryrcyn fruit march 13e

TORONTO (CP)—Wholesale fruit and vegetable price changes quoted here today were: lettuce, imp., two dozen $3.25-$3.50; parsnips, washed $1.50-$2.25; spinach, imp. $2.50-$2.75.

Potato prices were unchanged.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat opened firm today in fairly active dealings. Other cereals showed mixed trends.

Buying in wheat followed overnight announcement by the agriculture department that farmers had put 455,800,000 bushels of wheat in the federal price support program. This was an all-time record.

Wheat started unchanged to ⅝ cent higher, March $2.26; corn was $1.55½, and oats were unchanged to ¼ higher, May 74⅜-¼. Soybeans were ¼ cent lower to ¾ higher, March $2.02¾.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

Trade slackened at the egg market and prices quoted are nominal. One hundred cases of grade A large packed in wood sold at 56 cents. Quotations for graded eggs in fibre cases were: A large 55; A medium 54; A small 53; grade B 45; grade C 40. Wholesale to retail: A large 60; A medium 59; A small 58; grade B 50; grade C 45.

Butter solids: first grade 60¼; western 61 nominal; no other prices established.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Price fluctuations were narrow in early trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange.

Trade was on the dull side but fair buying in barley was attributed to export account. There were odd orders in flax for processors, and some United States interest appeared in rye.

11 a. m. grain prices:

Oats: May ½ higher 75A; Jly ½ higher 74A; Oct. ½-⅝ higher 74B.

Barley: May ¼ higher 1.75cB; Jly ¼ higher 1.21¼B; Oct. ¼ higher 1.19½B.

Third Day's Search Starts For Tanker

NEW YORK (AP)—Rescue craft today began their third day of search for the missing bow section of the split tanker Angy, with eight persons including the captain and his wife, aboard.

The stern of the tanker, with 28 crew members aboard, was sighted Wednesday about 1,000 miles east of New York.

The 28 crew members, rescued by the freighter Claiborne and now headed toward Europe aboard that ship, reported that they saw the bow drifting for more than 30 minutes after an explosion broke the ship in two five days ago. Then they said the bow disappeared in a rainstorm.

Has Enough Bombs

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—The federal civil defence administrator said Thursday Russia has the planes and atom bombs "so that at any hour they choose they could put a bomb on every major industrial centre in the United States." Val Peterson, defence administrator, made the statement en route to atomic weapons tests in Nevada.

Orangemen Face Lottery Charges

OTTAWA (CP) — City police today charged three Ottawa men with selling and disposing of lottery tickets in connection with a $10,000 Orange Lodge draw at the Mountain, Ont., fair next September.

William Holt, Burton Wellman and John C. Holt, all of Ottawa, will appear in magistrate's court March 19.

Police recently raided homes of officials of the Orange Order in search of lottery tickets. The draw was being sponsored jointly by the Mountain Fair Association and county of Carleton Orange lodges. Ottawa Orangemen say the draw was intended for charitable purposes.

Also scheduled to appear in court March 19 is Donald Sutherland of Ottawa, grand secretary of the Orange Order for Ontario East, charged with conducting or managing a lottery and participating in a lottery.

Dairy Cattle Selling Briskly, Old Price Stands

Sales of dairy cattle are reported all the way across the province from Carleton through the eastern counties and so on into western Ontario.

Purebred cows have been selling around $300 in Grenville, and that is about typical. This new demand since the U. S. embargo was lifted has helped bolster the market, has created movement of stock, but so far hasn't substantially affected the prices that prevailed here when the only demand was domestic.

The hog market is also livelier in the weekly review of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. It was not so long ago that farmers could hardly give the weanling pigs away.

Now the come-and-go breeder is getting interested again, and the regulars are apprehensive of another of the familiar swings in production.

"Interest in weanling pigs and breeding stock has increased," Bruce county reports. This is York: "With current prices for hogs, there is considerable demand for little pigs and breeding stock." And Russell on the east: "Bred sows are selling at good prices and weanling pigs are in demand."

POTATOES IN STORAGE

"There is still a great amount of potatoes in storage," according to the Wentworth note. And from Frontenac: "Twenty purebred polled Shorthorn bulls in shipment to California.

And Simcoe: "Potatoes are difficult to move except in small quantities."

Ontario farmers are wondering how their fall wheat and pastures fared during the winter of exceedingly light snow. Fields are bare of cover. York county is quite optimistic: "We doubt that any extensive damage has occurred yet."

London Police Seek Would-Be Attacker

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Police searched downtown London Thursday night for a man who attempted to attack a 21-year-old housewife in the ladies' washroom of a downtown building late Thursday.

The woman told investigating officers a man wearing a handkerchief over his face and brandishing a jack knife entered the washroom while she was in it alone. She said he ordered her to strip off her clothing, and she did.

Then she screamed for help and the man apparently became frightened and fled after ordering her not to call the police.

Police searched the building and the immediate vicinity but found no trace of the man.

Vancouver Radio Man New CAB Chairman

MONTREAL (CP)—F. H. (Tiny) Elphicke of CKWX, Vancouver, was elected chairman Thursday at the closing session of the 28th annual conference of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters.

Entry List Closes For Legion Track Meet

MONTREAL (CP)—Entries in junior events in the Canadian Legion track meet at the Forum March 20 were announced today and indicated some close finishes.

Defending the Eastern Canadian indoor title he won at last year's legion meet, Ron Wallingford of Ottawa and the University of Michigan will tangle with another favorite, Chuck Tobias of Toronto.

Other entrants include Don Smith Gordie Benson and Hugh Cunningham of Cornwall Collegiate and Ray Ferguson, Brockville.

Muscular Disease Saps Health Of 2 Children

BROCKVILLE (CP) — A little-known disease, muscular dystrophy, is slowly eating away the muscle tissues of two apparently healthy Lansdowne children.

But, in spite of the knowledge of the crippling, fatal disease, Anna May Wray, 13, and her brother David, 11, are happy and full of fun.

Their mother, Mrs. Ralph Wray, first became aware of the malady that was sapping the strength of two of her five children in 1951.

There are three other children in the Wray family, Barry, 16, Linda, 10, and Adny, 8.

Former Resident Rev. H. Howden Called To U.S.

The Rev. H. Reginald Howden, rector of St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church, Toronto, and formerly of Peterborough, has accepted a call to St. Joseph's Episcopal Church, Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich.

Mr. Howden was born in Peterborough and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Howden, 112 McDonnel St. He is a graduate of PCVS and he graduated from Trinity College, University of Toronto, in 1936. He was ordained the following year.

Following service as curate of St. Clement's Anglican Church, North Toronto, he was appointed rector of St. John the Baptist Church, Lakefield, in 1938. While there, he was also chaplain of Lakefield Preparatory School for Boys.

In 1941, he went to Trinity United Church, Barrie, and remained there until 1948 when he took over the rectorship of St. Michael and All Angels'. Three years ago he was appointed rural dean of Toronto North deanery by Bishop A. Beverley.

St. Joseph's Episcopal Church is one of the leading churches in Detroit. Mr. Howden will take over his new duties in June.

Campbellford Firemen Called To Grass Fire

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Campbellford firemen had their first grass fire call of the season shortly after the noon-hour on Thursday. Volunteer firemen, under Chief Alec MacDonald, went to Mayersburg, about four miles south of town, and succeeded in putting out a large grass fire which was sweeping towards a number of houses in the small community. The booster pump on the fire truck was brought into play, and aided by a large number of volunteers, the fire was extinguished before any property damage was done.

Roseneath Club Hears J. Bell

ROSENEATH (ENS) — John Bell of Lakefield was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Men's Club held on Wednesday at Maple Lodge the tourist home of Mrs. Leslie Sherwin. The president Douglas L. Coyle presided.

Mr. Bell is zone forester for the department of lands and forests and in his address discussed the amount of waste land found in Canada and the small amount to be found in Europe.

"The consumption in Ontario," he said "is eleven board feet of lumber per acre per year and the growth eight board feet per year."

"Ontario could produce sufficient lumber for the four provinces, Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba and Saskatchewan." In speaking of the forests of Northumberland county he said, "the county had 9 per cent forests in place of 40 per cent."

At the conclusion of his talk he showed two films, "Growth of the forest" and "Wild Animal Life."

The speaker was introduced and thanked by the president, Douglas L. Coyle.

The President presided over the business period. Plans were made for the annual meeting to be held in April. Messrs. Earl Braithwaite and James Timlin were appointed to look after entertainment.

Major R. E. Drope, Harwood, was guest soloist, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. C. W. Varcoe.

Rev. J. R. Wheeler gave a humorous reading "The Notarie Publique," responding to an encore he read "Buying A New Car". Mr. Charlton Grigg read "Home from College."

The evening's entertainment concluded by singing the National Anthem.

Italian Tries Sate Appetite

ANCONA, Italy (Reuters)—A 30-year-old Italian travelling salesman, Gaetano Polverelli, sat down in a restaurant at nearby Teramo last night and challenged "anybody in the world to eat as much as I do."

He then consumed a 12-egg omelette, a 22-pound roasted goat kid, 4½ pounds of apples and two pounds of bread.

He washed the lot down with 10½ pints of wine and five glasses of liqueur.

An awed waiter declared: "It was a meal for 22 men."

Polverelli, who says he weighs "upwards of 220 pounds," came to Teramo with a reputation as an eater. In the army during the war he once upset the catering officer by eating 60 fried eggs at one sitting.

Bible College Teacher To Leave For Hong Kong

The Eastern Pentecostal Bible College today announced a change in its staff to take effect at the end of the school year.

The Rev. B. L. M. Embree is leaving the staff to move to the Ecclesia Bible College in Hong Kong. There he will teach students who come from Hong Kong and from the mainland of China through the Bamboo Curtain. These students from Red China usually return to China after their graduation to carry on their teaching.

Mr. Embree will be replaced by the Rev. John B. Scott, MA, PhD, who has been dean of education at the Southern California Bible College in Santa Anna, Calif. He will arrive here in September with his wife and small daughter. He is a graduate of the Western Bible College in Winnipeg.

Mr. Embree, who will take his wife and young son with him to Hong Kong, has been on the staff of the Eastern Bible College four years, and has been in Peterborough since the college moved here.

He taught Bible history and geography, wisdom and poetic literature of the Old Testament, Catholic epistles and church history.

Victoria Rate Up .7 Mills

LINDSAY (ENS) — Victoria County Council ended its March meeting on Thursday by striking a tax rate of 7.5 mills an increase of .7 mills over 1952. Reeve Richard Butler of Lindsay finance committee chairman introduced the budget.

Expenditures are estimated at $278,907 with an estimated revenue of $108,000. This left the county to raise $170,807 through its general rate, on an assessment of $22,000,000.

An additional two mills was levied for the first payment of principal and interest on the High School debentures. The rate for the county Home for the Aged remains at .4 mills. The council also expressed its agreement with the decision of the High School Area Board to press Lindsay for payment of a one mill guarantee, made when the area board was formed three years ago.

The town council decided last month to cease payment of the mill, contending that the town should only pay its fair share of the overall assessment. The board has felt, however, that the agreement was binding for all time and county council in its session, backed this stand.

An important conclusion was reached on Ross Memorial Hospital finances. Under an agreement of long standing the hospital had not received payment from the county and the various municipalities for indigent patients, receiving instead a lump sum grant. This year, repeated requests for increased grants have been made, to local and county councils, by the governors of the hospital.

The council approved a plan whereby the grant would remain the same for this year, but in future the hospital would bill the county for indigent patients. The payments of these bills would be shared equally by the county and the various municipalities, whose charge the patients are. This will increase the hospital revenues to a certain extent and the agreement, effective from March 1, will be reviewed at the end of the year. The Warden, Reeve Vincent Fee of Emily township, told the council in his address that the council roads and bridges committee had approved the plans and specifications for the new bridge in the town of Lindsay. Approval of federal and provincial governments is now being awaited, and the hope was expressed that an early start would be made on the construction of the bridge.

Representatives of the Victoria County Conservation Club appeared with several requests. Among them was a request that the county or local municipality license hunters coming into the county. The club members asked that Laxton township and parts of Digby township be closed to deer hunting. It also asked that a bag limit of two a day set on rabbits in the county and proposed to bring in pheasants for county stocking purposes. The requests of the conservationists were referred to the fish and game committee.

The council also turned down requests for salary increases from the female office employees of the county buildings and the staff of the county jail. Members felt that the farm people of the county were having a difficult time without adding to their tax burden.

Security Checks

WASHINGTON (AP) — State department officials said Thursday that promotions of more than 200 career diplomats are being held up to permit new security investigations of some of the men. Those whose records are being rechecked were described as veterans who joined the foreign service before full investigations for loyalty and security were required.

Bell Employees Honor Wire Chief

COBOURG — (ENS) — D. G. "Spike" Anderson, wire chief at the local Bell Telephone office, who leaves shortly for his new post as test centre foreman at Oshawa, was presented with a coffee table at a gathering of Bell employees held last night at the Baltimore Hotel. Present from district office were J. Brockenshire, C. Darley and G. Clarke, and employees were there from the Cobourg commercial office, operators and plant staff as well as staff members from Colborne, Brighton and Port Hope. The presentation was made by Bill Sprung of the plant staff.

Bike Shop Owner Protests Schools' Ban On Bicycles

A complaint that Constable Don Mackay was responsible for telling certain children not to ride their bicycles to school, as a safety measure, was speedily dealt with Thursday night by the Board of Education.

The complaint came from Marlow Banks of the Banks Bicyle Store. Mr. Banks said he understood that certain principals, on the advice of Constable Mackey had sent out circular letters stating that children living within a certain radius of their school will not be allowed to park their bicyles on the school grounds.

Mr. Banks called this "a prohibition on the use of bicyles" and "an extreme violation of the rights of certain young citizens," and he wanted to know if this action had been taken with the consent of the board.

In short, the answer was yes.

In fact the ban was initiated by the principals, not by Constable Mackay.

K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools, described it as a "safety measure—part and parcel of the concern of people who are looking after the schools."

"In one or two schools there has been a large increase in the number of bicycles and it was felt that a swarm of bicyles starting off, particularly at noon, was a traffic hazard," said Mr. Wightman. "Some principals ruled that pupils living a certain distance away shouldn't bring their bicyles —the pupils don't need them."

Charles Huffman agreed that it was "ridiculous" for children having to travel only a block or so to take their bicycles.

The action of the principals was upheld by the board as a safety measure.

P.L. QUIP OF THE WEEK

In heavy traffic I was edging past a woman driver who was trying to reverse into a parking space that was clearly too small. Suddenly her car swung out and bumped into mine. Flushed with exasperation, she leaned out of her window. "You could see I was going to do something stupid," she said. "Why didn't you wait to see what it was?"

Ontario's Great Big Money Bags

"We are estimating the net ordinary revenue of the Government of the fiscal year 1952-53 at $291.1 million and the net ordinary expenditure before provision for sinking funds at $281.6 million. We are providing for the sinking fund $9.4 million, leaving us with an estimated surplus of $88,000."

—Premier Frost in his Budget Address, March 20, 1952.

And so Premier Frost budgeted last year for a surplus of $88,000. How close his figuring has proved! In the budget address yesterday, the surplus was estimated to be only $67,000. Should Mr. Abbott, the Federal Minister of Finance, take a leaf out of Mr. Frost's book—Mr. Abbott who has been guilty, as his critics say, of huge surpluses? The Frost budget pages show that Mr. Frost could teach Mr. Abbott a lesson, not how to budget evenly, but how to hide huge budget surpluses. The surplus was not $67,000. It was more like sixty million dollars. In his budget estimates of last year (1952-53) Mr. Frost was as wide of the mark as Mr. Abbott ever is, comparably. The net ordinary revenue of the Province was not $291 million as budgeted for, but $341,418,000. The net ordinary expenditure, in last year's budget, was estimated to total $281.6 million, before providing for the sinking fund; it has run, according to Mr. Frost's statement yesterday, to $323,492,000.

* * *

But this was really not ordinary expenditure. The ordinary expenditure was about sixty million dollars less,—that is, the actual surplus. However, Mr. Frost has now tucked into his expense account some extraordinary expenditures, which whittle the surplus down to a mere $67,000. These are: $30 million to the highway reserve fund; $8.5 millions in special grants to hospitals, $1.9 millions in special capital grants to Ontario universities; $1 million as a special contribution to the Teachers' Superannuation Fund; and some other special grants and expenditures which cut down the very large surplus. That is the way the Ontario Government keeps quiet about its great big, stuffed money-bags, heavy with money got from taxpayers. And thus, showing a surplus of only $67,000, Mr. Frost can say that the accounts are in balance, and that his Government cannot afford to reduce taxes, the gasoline tax, for instance.

* * *

The final dip into the surplus was for $17,859,000, put into the sinking fund. In his budget address of last year, Mr. Frost was providing only $9.4 million for this. Anyone who has been closely following the figures we have given here will say that they do not add up to quite $60,000,000 of surplus. No, they do not. They add up to $59,259,000. But other items will put the figure well over $60,000,000. For instance, the figures on revenue and expenditure are for ten months actual, two months estimated—since the fiscal year does not end until March 31, and the figures were prepared weeks ago. In his budget addresses, Mr. Frost consistently underestimates revenues for the two months, and overestimates expenses. For instance, last year he estimated the net ordinary revenues as $293 million. The figure confirmed in the auditor's report was $302. The year before he was $14 million out.

* * *

We do not quarrel with the Ontario government or any other government for having a surplus. It is far, far better than having a deficit. But we wish Mr. Frost would admit openly and proudly how much the surplus was, and then say how he is disposing of it; by special grants, and extra provision for the sinking fund. This latter is the way Ontario can reduce its debt, and it is important to pay as much money as available into the sinking fund, for Ontario's debt is increasing, chiefly because of capital great construction programs. The province's net debt increased by $78.5 million last year.

* * *

The budget shows that Ontario has had the biggest and one of the best financial years in its history. The money has come rolling in; $123.3 million of it came from the Federal Government, following Ontario's agreement with Ottawa, in return for giving up the Province's corporation tax which would have yielded less than $90 million. A big fat year behind, another good one ahead, in Mr. Frost's budgeting for it, which includes $153 million for highways. These are indeed rosy, lucrative times for Ontario Government and people. And while the people have the money to pay, the Ontario Government is not going to reduce its taxes in a non-election year.

Entente Between Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia

At Ankara on February 28th, Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia signed a treaty of friendship and co-operation. This is a major diplomatic event, of negative importance to Italy, of positive significance to Great Britain and other western members of NATO, and thoroughly disagreeable to Russia.

From a Russian point of view, the treaty shows the three countries which span the Balkan Peninsula from the Adriatic to the Black Sea and south of the Iron Curtain, as a block against communism of Russia and her satellites. Marshal Tito said last week: "The principal reason for establishing formal agreement for co-operation with Greece and Turkey in such a rapid manner was the growing realization of all three countries that the only safeguard for security is co-operation and common defence. The agreement . . . will do a great deal to lessen the danger of further aggressive expansion by potential aggressors."

The treaty is a triumph for the West's political ways and British diplomacy. Communist Yugoslavia has treated with two non-Communist countries, one of which (Greece) had suffered from Communist rebels aided by Tito's Yugoslavia. Yet Greece has a tradition of friendship with Serbs and Slavs and was their ally in both the Balkan wars of 1912 and 1913, and in both the world wars.

Turkey has long been friendly with Britain and it was Turkey who last spring when discussing defensive arrangements with the Greeks, urged the necessity of bringing Yugoslavia into an entente. Marshal Tito said in a recent interview that the alliance "will strengthen and improve our comprehensive co-operation with the Western countries, and in the first place with Britain."

The negative aspect of the treaty as regards Italy is this: Italy is not in the Balkan entente. The reason is the bitterness between Italy and Yugoslavia resulting from Mussolini's wartime raids against the Slavs and Serbs, and the dispute over Trieste. There is a military and political gap between Yugoslavia on the left flank of the Balkan defences and Italy on the right flank of the west Europe defences. Italy, Greece and Turkey are members of NATO, Yugoslavia is not.

The new Balkan treaty is not specific in terms; there is no pledge by the three nations to go to each other's defence. But sometimes loose undertakings such as commitments to "friendship and co-operation" are more effective than rigidly drafted ones. Whether or not Italy will become party to the Greek-Turkish-Yugoslav treaty, or Yugoslavia to NATO is a matter for conjecture. But diplomacy is moving swiftly in southern Europe. Even as the shadow of Russia grows longer over it, the influence of the West grows stronger, The Soviet High Command can no longer gamble on the possibility of Yugoslavia remaining neutral in a European conflict.

Tax Rates Elsewhere

We were pleased when Peterborough City Council was able to arrive at a tax rate a quarter of a mill below that of last year; at 64.5 mills. Our pleasure is somewhat diluted to discover that Toronto and Ottawa are also reducing their rates, but by larger fractions.

Toronto's mill rate has been set at 41.3 mills—half a mill below last year. Ottawa is proposing to cut its tax rate by three mills, to 50.75. In both cases, the reduction is greater than in Peterborough and the mill rate considerably lower. The significance of the latter could be overemphasized, of course, since the assessments may be higher, nearer the actual property values than Peterborough assessments. However, the cuts in the mill rate look well.

We note that neither Ottawa nor Toronto is reducing its total expenditures. In fact, both, like Peterborough, are increasing them. How, then, are Toronto and Ottawa able to reduce their tax rates? They are depending chiefly on surpluses from last year's revenue, new assessment, and increased grants. It seems that civic Ottawa is depending considerably on larger grants from both the Federal and the Provincial Governments. Ottawa's Federal grant last year was $289,000 more than the Council had budgeted for.

We have two questions: are large Ontario cities the chief beneficiaries of Ontario's increases in grants and the only ones which will be able to reduce their rates significantly? (While Toronto's rate is to be cut only half a mill, this is a really important reduction considering that Toronto plans to spend $3,173,342 more than it did last year.) Our other question: is civic Ottawa making too much capital out of Federal Ottawa? If not, how can it run itself successfully on only fifty mills of taxpayers' property dollars?

"Peewees and Lions Tangle at Norwood". No doubt a gory fray the like of which has not been seen since dinosaurs and Indians raged through the village streets.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: Re-left-handed violinist. In 1908 when the Normal School was opened, Dr. H. G. Park, B. A., D. Paed., was enrolled on the staff as its teacher of Psychology and English, coming here from Uxbridge where he was Principal of the High School for over twenty years, during which time he took the regular University examinations necessary to qualify as classics specialist, (B. A.)., and then a doctorate in pedagogy.

If ever anyone budgeted his time it was Dr. Park. He had a family of nine children and as soon as they could balance themselves they were taken to the skating rink and Dr. Park leading and holding of hands they skated for an hour and then home to study or bed while he studied. He was a hard worker and he saw to it that his pupils worked hard. He was a gracious host and entertainer but no day was so busy that he didn't practise two hours on his violin. He may not have been a virtuoso but he was a specialist in violin music. He played only the best music and he bowed always with the left hand. Several of the family still live here and can vouch for this.

Dr. Park died in December of 1937 but his life lives after him and for over fifty years he bowed with left hand only. He always told us never to try to make a left-handed child write with his right-hand.

If any one ever saw Dr. Park out walking without his cane please let me know for he always carried it and always used his left-hand and swung it with perfect rhythm.

RESPONSE: Thanks for the sidelights on an interesting Peterborough personality of yesterday. Dr. Park was the father of Mr. M. H. Park, former Principal of Queen Alexandra school, Master at Peterborough Normal and now Master at the Toronto Normal; and a good tenor. Miss L. Park of the Collegiate staff is a daughter.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR ALPHA: As a Church of England man I was interested in your little article in Friday evening's Examiner re Henry VIII and the Title of Defender of the Faith.

May I quote a few paragraphs from the History of the Church of England, written by the Rev. C. A. Lane, F. R. Hist. S., several volumes of which may be found in the Public Library.

"Dring the reign of Henry VII the quieter times served to bring Englishmen to a sense of their national importance, and the degradation of their subjection to an alien potenate, so that when they threw off the papal yoke they must not be considered to have lost their nationality but to have regained it.

"For the same reason, the English Church which the nation organized for spiritual purposes, did not lose its identity, by repudiating the Pope's supremacy, but was restored thereby to its original independent position as a branch of the "Catholic" or Universal Church of Christ, relying only upon its apostolic origin and the purity of its faith, as it had in the days before the Norman Conquest, when as yet the Popes had not asserted a claim to jurisdiction over Catholic Christendom."

RESPONSE: Interesting as theological discussions may be I think Alpha will have to close this topic now, lest it run away with the page.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR ALPHA: We wonder if you are an advocate of G. B. Shaw's "phonetic spelling." Your spelling in Friday's, March 6th, column would indicate you are; or was it a be-fuddled typesetter who turned "ewes" into "yowes"?

Just incidentally, how many letters have you received drawing your attention to this error?

ANSWER: I sometimes think that my readers are sheep because they seldom bark back. I spelled it 'yowes' to remind readers of the local pronunciation. 'Yowes', so written, was formerly in use in the North of England.

DEAR ALPHA: Is the subjunctive falling into disrepute? I have seen at least two cases lately where the indicative was used in its place. One was in the last report of the activities of the Board of Education, where a conditional clause employed the indicative "was." The other was the report of the P. N. S. operatta where the reporter stated that "one could only wish more ample musical talent was available from the city."

Incidentally do you approve the indiscriminate placement of only, and what exactly is "more ample musical talent?" Awkward, n'est-ce pas?

ANSWER: Yes, the subjunctive is falling into disuse. A good thing, too. It is generally useless (since word order and conjunctions do its job in English), is often inelegant or bumptious, and it is pedantic, surviving chiefly on classical parallels and with little validity except to justify a grammarian's stiff neck. Latin and Greek classical modes have a small linguistic and temperamental place in English which has a different modal climate, if I may use that word.

I suggest that the only subjunctive which should not now be howled out of court and the Queen's English are (a) the Biblical living survival: 'If he be the son of God'— that use of 'be'; and (b) If I were he (you, etc.). In this damnation of all subjunctives to the outer shades I do not take into account auxiliary verbs like 'may,' and the second person imperative e.g. 'go away.'

With regard to the report on the Normal School operetta: the position of 'only' is not as fully determined in Britain as it is in Canada and the U. S. A. On this continent we pay more attention to the syntactical arrangment of words; there, ear is given to the rhythm of a sentence and 'only' pops out in the queerest but ear-solacing places.

COUNTRY NOTE: The heavens were very large early this week in the clear, crisp, moonless nights. Orion is still with us; his great belt and sword are, I have remarked, a familar comfort to any of us wherever we travel in this hemisphere. No matter how strange everything else was to our servicemen during the war, whether they were in Iceland, Holland, Italy or India, the stars in their courses were the same, and Orion brought the familiarity of Canadian skies to them in lonely, disturbing nights.

Twins arrived early Tuesday morning — both rams! It seems that the hormones around Bellee Acres are one-sided. One of the twins was too chilled by the cold barn air to survive in it, so Gamma took him home to his kitchen, to raise on the bottle. Hence I have said good-bye to twin 2. Sheepish mothers will not take offspring back to the fold who have been contaminated by the human touch.

YUGOSLAVIA TODAY IV

No Union Bargaining; Low Wages

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL

UNDER the system of workers' management and profit-sharing, the Yugoslav workers enjoy some rights which Western workers generally lack; indeed, it is conceivable that a modified form of the Yugoslav system might be found useful in giving Western workers a greater sense of participation in their work—particularly in some of the nationalized industries of Western Europe. But at the same time, the Yugoslav workers lack some rights which Western workers enjoy—above all, the right of organized bargaining for their wage-level.

Thus it may be said that the Yugoslav workers have considerable influence on the matters which in capitalist countries are settled by competition among employers—productivity, profits and, therefore, the paying ability of their factories; but they have no direct influence on the matters which, in capitalist countries, are decided by bargaining between employers and trade unions. Unfortunately, these latter questions are of greater immediate importance for the workers' standard of living; no profit-sharing scheme in the world makes much immediate difference to the workers' income, though by acting as an incentive to increase productivity, it may help to raise it in the long run.

FOR the absence of trade unions capable of bargaining independently for their members, the Yugoslav workers are paying a heavy price. According to the latest published statistics, the average monthly income of a worker's family of two children (including children's allowances) was in March 13,300 dinar ($45), with a price level roughly similar to that of West Europe —but considerably higher for textiles. The cost of living officially calculated for the same month and the same family amounted to 17,200 dinar ($56),. Publicaion of these figures with full details about the composition of the standard cost of living—by no means luxurious—is a tribute to the honesty of official Yugoslav statistics, but is also a serious admission of an insufficient standard of living.

It is true enough that this low standard is not due to exploitation by either capitalists or bureaucrats; income inequalities in Yugoslavia are moderate, the highest income group earning no more than about five times the income of the lowest; and even an unskilled worker with six or eight children may easily earn as large a cash income as his factory manager, owing to family allowances. The real reason is that the whole consumption fund is kept low while the nation's energies are concentrated on investment and defence. According to the plan, almost six-sevenths of the revenue of Yugoslav industry—after deducting the cost of raw materials and depreciation of plant—are channelled into various social funds, including the investment and defence budgets, with only one-seventh left for the payroll.

Is it inevitable that this state of affairs will last as long as there is a Communist one-party rule? The Yugoslav leaders themselves hope to be able to reduce the pressure of investment and to raise the standard of consumption next year; and they are aware that, with the greater range of goods now available in the shops, the demand for better incomes is growing.

THEY are also anxious to broaden and enliven public discussion of the plan; this is, indeed, one of their principal reasons for preparing to create a new pyramid of "producers councils", based on local delegates from workers' councils and peasants' co-operatives, to culminate in a new chamber of the Federal Parliament. They hope that this new chamber, whose consent will be needed for all economic and social legislation, including the plan and the budget, will produce a more genuine discussion, since it will directly represent the varied local interests. Yet in this chamber again, the trade unions, as such, are not to be represented; of course the workers' delegates will in fact have been selected by them as candidates—as are the candidates for the workers' councils today—but organized representation of the workers' interests on one side with the peasants' on the other, is still to be avoided.

One main reason for this is no doubt fear that a central peasants' organization might turn into an opposition party—in fact if not in name. Another reason is the weakness of trade union tradition in Yugoslavia, which is a consequence of the backwardness of industrial development.

Letters To The Editor

THE NEEDS OF THE HANDICAPPED

Sir: I am going to reproduce here a very splendid and scholarly letter which I clipped from the Peterborough Daily some four years ago and which still merits most diligent attention, approval and prompt action:

"Our handicapped civilians who are facing the future with brave courage without earning power, or with only an inadequate amount for their social and economic security are as needful of pensions and aid as our brave and disabled veterans of war.

"We all know of some handicapped people who are almost driven insane with the fear of insecurity and frustration. To care for these people commensurate with their degree of disability is of national interest and responsibility.

"In the statistical report for the Dominion of Canada of the work in Public Health and Welfare Services for 1949 we read of many commendable health and welfare projects: i.e.: family allowances, old age pensions, workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance, physical fitness programmes, mothers' allowances, etc. The only monetary assistance mentioned for disabled civilians is from private and charitable funds which covers about forty per cent. No mention is made of "pensions". Yet, does not the need in this group rate as high as any mentioned above? This is surely an urgent necessity in the light of our responsibility of being good citizens.

"To be active in the field of labour and tasting the joy of having a service of work to render is a heritage we healthy people take for granted. Are we so busy as we go about our daily work that we do not stop to think of the brave citizens who have limited earning power or none at all, and no definite means of income for the necessities of life? Could it even be that if we gave more thought in this regard that some of these people in the dependent and handicapped group, if given opportunity to develop and capitalize their limited ability through specific training could become partially or fully self-supporting?"

My letter of today is also very timely as our minds are at present attuned to helping the overseas flood victims as well as caring extra well for some of our aged people. Even if the municipality and the Provincial Government jointly do come to our assistance (as they have in my own case more or less since 1950)—I tried to carry on for well nigh six years after I became badly handicapped before applying or rather receiving any public aid—for which assistance I am genuinely and humbly grateful—there still remains the stubborn fact that, with rents as they are, my present monthly allowance of forty-two dollars plus a one-call voucher to a Medical Clinic, good tho' it may seem and gratefully received tho' it be, proves altogether inadequate for a comfortable livelihood for such as I,—that is without much bolstering for which we handicapped people are very poorly fitted particularly so in a case where the person is handicapped in more ways than one, thus needing much and different kinds of extra accommodation as for example two rooms and rooms that are adjoining. This latter accommodation altho' vitally necessary in my case, was beyond my reach in price, so that my handicapped condition is being worsened temporarily at least and much time lost from my work on account of unsuitable living quarters.

In view of all this, I do hope that the people who read this,—those especially who have considerable influence with others, will try to convince the members of their groups to put this matter of generous pensions for the handicapped—civilian handicapped persons—before the Government, Federal or Provincial, in a convincing fashion without delay.

Thanking you, Sir,

A NEEDY HANDICAP

THE SPIRITUAL VACUUM

Sir: Many of us were very much interested in your editorial concerning Theological Illiteracy. And we agree that it would be impractical to give courses in advanced theology to Arts and Science students, although our reason for saying so is probably not the same as yours. Such courses would be impractical, not because of the advanced thought processes of university students, but because of the tragic fact that the vast majority of such students are not equipped with the necessary prerequisites of religious faith to profit by any such courses.

We think that you have misinterpreted Dr. Smith's chief concern, which it would appear, is not to equip students to enter into the finer points of theological disputation which have in the past led to such non-productive discussions as: "How many angels can dance on the point of a pin?" but rather that students should graduate to take their places in society as full-fledged men and women, prepared in body, mind, and soul, to face and make a contribution to life. Our whole way of life is being sabotaged by keen-minded beasts. Please don't become indignant at this last statement, but rather examine it. Have our Universities not been teaching that man is a high grade animal and no more? That the only factor aside from biological differences that distinguished him from the rest of the animal world is his ability to think, and to train his mind? Neither Dr. Smith nor anyone else has to be very far-sighted to see that such educated animals are graduating from our Universities, not only highly educated in special fields (often to the exclusion of education in a broader and more comprehensive sense), but highly endowed with a sophisticated form of the "Gimme" complex. These become the kind of doctor who refuses to see any patients after-hours, or to break his holidays for any reason whatsoever, the lawyer for whom the end in any case justifies any possible means, the teacher who grumbles at spending extra time with his students without pay, and, I fear, the odd minister who becomes the priest who passes by on the other side. These become any professional man who demands the dollar before he demands a chance to serve.

Our Universities have aided and abetted other like-minded elements to form a secular vacuum in which such elements crawl and breed and propagate and feed upon the carcass of civilization. These elements seek to defend the borders of the vacuum, not because of precious traditions, but through fear of losing their succulent subsistence. Moreover, let it be understood that those who attempt to salve any sprout of conscience that has been hardy enough to survive such a wintery conception of life, by an attempt to produce an ersatz spiritual condition through a pleasantly stimulating appreciation of fine arts without any religious content are but adding to the vacuum.

Do we expect to hold borders of our "Free World" by military might alone? Unless we fill the vacuum with a spirit worth living and dying for, be sure that all our "anti" movements are but reeds shaken in the wind! The dangerous secular vacuum in which we live can only be made a healthy, defensible way of life by relearning the meaning of the sovereignty of God. This means, not only that we shall have to go back to school, but most of us will have to start lower grades, recognizing that not only our minds, must be educated to think properly, but our souls must be educated to worship properly. We can begin by bestirring ourselves to get out to church on Sunday, and by seeing that the souls of our children are sustained. If the universities really wish to help, much could be done as a beginning by clamping down, and clamping down hard, on any evidence of scoffing or ridicule, by professors or lecturers, of the Bible, the church, prayer, and other elements and practices that have been and are found to be precious by people of experimental faith. An appreciation and respect for these things will be gained by the students when they are brought to the realization that such at attitude is one of the marks of the truly educated man. As a matter of fact, sir, contrary to your own persuasion on the matter, the results of telling the old, old story once again in all its simplicity with the voice of reverence and authority might be quite encouragingly astounding.

It might be a good idea too while they are at it, for our seats of higher learning to point out the benefits of developing a healthy degree of religion-consciousness on the one day each week given by Divine mandate for that purpose, to offset the effects of those keen-and-otherwise-minded beasts who under the guise of tolerance or "Let's help the kids!" would strip us of the one day dedicated to soul-culture just for the sake of an easy "buck," or as another victory for the "isms" which they seem to love.

By the way sir, did you not know that the Baptists of Canada operate two very splendid Universities where an attempt is made to give some religious training even to Arts and Science students? Acadia University in the Maritimes, and McMaster, where one of the outstanding nucular physics buildings on this continent is in operation?

With kind regards,

Sincerely yours,

ALVA S. ROBLIN.

Baltimore Seen As New Site For Browns Of AL

By JOE REICHLER

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Baltimore, one of the original major league cities, appeared today to have a good chance of returning to the big time if a transfer of the St. Louis Browns' franchise is approved.

Owner Bill Veeck would like to get the Browns out of St. Louis because they have not been drawing. Milwaukee had been regarded as the logical city to get the franchise.

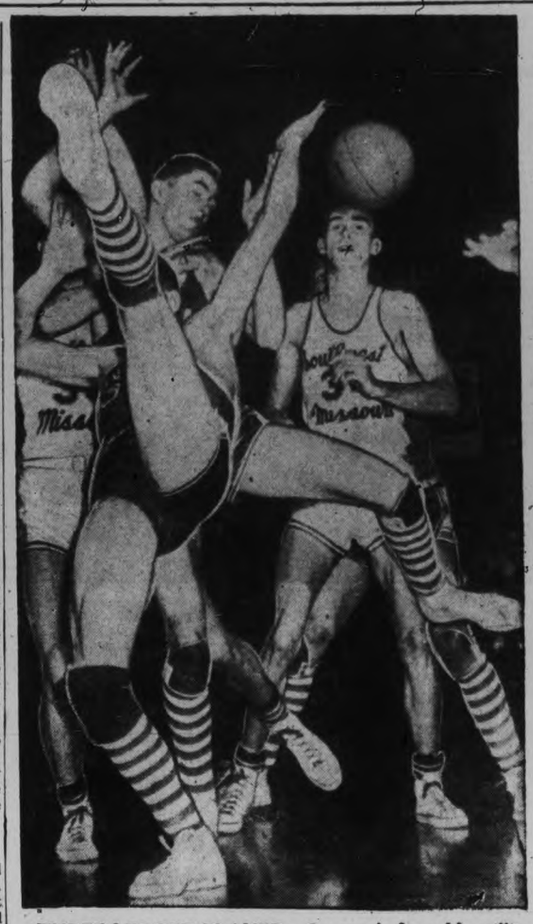
But in less than 12 hours the picture changed and president Will Harridge of the American League admitted negotiations have been going on for the transfer of the Browns from St. Louis to Baltimore

NOT CLOSE

"But I don't think they are anywhere near the closing stage," he said. "If Veeck received approval of Jack Dunn (president of the Baltimore club of the International League) to move the Browns to Baltimore, it will still have to be approved by both the International and American leagues."

He added it would not be too difficult to make the franchise shift before April 14, start of the major league season. He also said he thought a decision would be made one way or the other by Monday.

NO OBJECTION



Baseball commissioner Ford Frick, reached at Belaire, Fla., said there was nothing to prevent an immediate transfer provided all parties were satisfied.

Dunn, the Baltimore president, admitted he had been "approached on the deal.

"I've been working hand in hand with others, but right now I'd say it is premature," he said.

A high baseball official said Thursday the switch from St. Louis to Baltimore was probable and that it might come by Monday.

He said under the plan, the Baltimore club would be moved to Toledo, O., which until last year had a franchise in the American Association. The club was moved to Charleston, W.Va., in the Central League during the 1952 season.

POLICE MUST OBEY—OHA

TORONTO (CP) — An Ontario Hockey Association sub-committee ruled Thursday that police employed by an arena must obey the instructions of a referee.

The question arose when the committee received a report from referee Hugh Barlow of Hamilton that Maple Leaf Gardens police had refused to heed his demand to remove Toronto Marlboro manager Stafford Smythe from a box seat behind the Marlboro players' bench. The incident occurred at an OHA Junior A playoff game here last Saturday between the Marlboros and Barrie Flyers.

Because of the refusal of police to enforce the referee's demand, Barrie coach Hap Emms lodged a protest to the OHA after the game but withdrew it Thursday before the meeting began.

The committee instructed OHA secretary Bill Hanley to issue warning to all Ontario arenas that police must follow the bidding of the referee in charge of the game. Failure to do so could mark the arena "out of bounds" for OHA teams.

No action was taken on the Smythe incident since Smythe denied hearing Barlow telling him to leave.

SWIMMING HONORS SPLIT

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto's Dolphinet Swimming Club collected 20 points Thursday to lead the girls' section of a swim meet sponsored by the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association. Toronto Granite Club swimmers finished second with 13 points and Hamilton Aquatic third with 10. In the men's and boys' events, Hamilton Aquatic made a clean sweep, scoring 23 points.

McATEE'S LEG GASHED

MONTREAL (CP)—Phil (Red) McAtee, Montreal Royals goalie, suffered a deep cut in his left leg in the third period of a Quebec Senior Hockey League playoff game Thursday night and was taken to hospital. McAtee was gashed with a skate during a pileup in front of his net. Sherbrooke Saints defeated the Royals 6-1 in the game.

Soo Defenceman Joins Pittsburgh For Trial

TORONTO (CP)—Joe Bumbacco, 21-year-old defenceman of Sault Ste. Marie Greyhounds in the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, will start a three-game trial with Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League tomorrow night.

Hap Day, assistant general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, said last night that Bumbacco "passed the tests" in trials in Toronto this week to earn a chance with the farm club.

Local Police Win

MILLBROOK (ENS) — Whitby provincial police dropped at 10-3 decision to the Peterborough detachment, in the local arena, when they failed to hold in check the latter's starry line of Grigg, Eady and Healey. This unit accounted for eight of the 10 goals scored when 'Speedy' Eady notched five, Healey two and Grigg one. Assists in the same order were three, two and four. Gray picked up two markers with Louth assisting on the first and LaCombe on the second tally. For Whitby, Rocco Esposito netted a pair and 'Hoistem' Dragomatz one. Both these players have had professional experience, the former with Cleveland Barons and the latter with Tulsa Oilers.

Chirwaty, a product of junior 'A' hockey in Oshawa and later with the Canadian contingent that introduced hockey to Scotland played a good game in the Whitby nets but was too often left at the mercy of incoming Peterborough forwards when his defense at time developed sieve-like tendencies. Feeley, in the opposite nets was given better protection but also came up with some brilliant saves. Sam Esposito and McCloskey who kept the heat turned in in a previous 5-5 clash between thees teams here were missing, and missed from the Whitby lineup.

Peterborough: Goal, Feeley; defence, Louth, G. Gray; forwards, Healey, Grigg, Eady; alternates, J. Gray, LaCombe, Armitage.

Whitby: Goal, Chirwaty; defence, Partington, Hilliard; forwards, Smith, Pulver, Esposito; alternates, Pointon, Tulolch, Hatch, Pocock, Sutherland, Boyd, Barton, Zinc, Dragomatz.

Referees—Crichton and Smith.

Norwood Winners

NORWOOD (ENS)—The final playoff game of the pee-wee hockey teams was played Wednesday evening in the Norwood Arena. Black Hawks defeated the Red Wings 3-0. The boys played good hockey in spite of soft ice.

The Hawks goals were all scored by Ross Stewart with two assists going to Ronnie Scott. Following the game cups were presented to the teams. The winners' cup was presented to Captain Ronnie Scott by Mrs. Harry Rogers and the runner-up cup to Captain Ronnie Waldon of the Red Wings by Mrs. A. J. Perry.

Red Wings: goal, Ronnie Waldon; defence, John Stewart, Bruce Lindsay; centre, Gordon Drummond; wings, Joseph Crowley, Bob Byer; alternates, Philip Coleman, David McManus, John Goodswan, Jimmy Fife.

Hawks: goal, Wayne Joy; defence, Douglas Waters, Ross Stewart; centre, Ronnie Scott; wings, Donald Bongard, Billy Hannwan; alternates, Dick McManus, Kenneth Baptie, Ronnie Wilford, Bob Ranson, Bob Rae.

Referees — Douglas Lockhead and Roy Millett.

Following the pee-wee tilt a fair crowd saw a lively game between the Lions Club team and the Legion with the latter defeating the Lions 11 to 4. The stars for the Legion were top scorer R. Rodgers (3), N. Rogers and H. Rogers each two and G. Martin, C. Puffer, M. Hamblin and Bill Garden each counting one. The Lions' stars were D. Audas (2), S. Fife and Bob Garden with one each.

Lions: goal, A. Throop; defence, I. Warner, Bob Garden; centre, S. Fife; wings, E. Preston, D. Audas; alternates, G. Richardson; W. Heffernan, B. Heffernan, C. Metcalf, J. Auckland, L. Obee.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Strikes us a bit odd that the city council should refuse permission to permit an Ontario water ski championship meet on an August Saturday and Sunday here this summer. Reason given was that the noise on Sunday might inconvenience people living around Little Lake. Apparently the Saturday noise would be okay, but the recommendation was that some other day than Sunday be selected. As if the local Water Ski Association can dictate to the provincial body. In fact, local officials had been working for weeks to obtain such an aquatic meet for Peterborough, feeling that it would be a good summer attraction for the lake in the heart of the city.

* * * * * *

Several years ago we recall an aquatic entertainment, compete with fireworks, being held at Little Lake and it was estimated that at least 10,000 people enjoyed it. We can't see anything wrong with a summer daytime attraction which entertains so many citizens and keeps folks at home, rather than hitting the highways for fun elsewhere. Motorboats regularly chug around Little Lake all summer and apparently none of the nearby residents complain. As a matter of fact we're told the folks along Crescent St. thoroughly enjoy having these water shows put on right at their front doors in the warm sunny days of July and August.

* * * * * *

They'll Go Right Ahead

Anyway, Alf Pink, managing director of the association here, assures us that the meet will go on as scheduled at Little Lake on Aug. 8-9. He estimates as many as 20,000 people will view it, city, whole Kawartha district, and those from further points coming by special train. Ski show folk from such countries as France, Holland, Belgium, Switzerland and Lebanon—over here to do their stuff at the CNE—will perform in Peterborough at this time. Competitors from all over Ontario will be trying for Canadian titles and competing later at the Toronto Ex. for world's championships. The club here is raising money to get equipment for all youngsters interested, and has (through courtesy of the Beaver Lumber Co.) a ski jump now for use of all. In the meantime, officials are getting the okay of residents near the lake and will call in the services of a lawyer, if need be, to stage this show.

City council came in for a bit of criticism, too, at the Orfuns' grid banquet last even when Prexy Dr. Don Aitken said he didn't think 10 cents from each taxpayer would be begrudged by the citizens for the advertising they get from sports' champions—and that the players weren't interested in scrolls as a token of recognition. However, Ald. Pat Anglesey (there as representative of the Mayor) replied that the council's reception committee hoped yet to be able to properly recognize the efforts of Peterborough athletic champs. He pointed out that this city was fortunate in having so many winners, both in sports and in the arts—but fitting recognition of all would run into a lot of money.

Fine "Do" For Gridders

It was a fine gathering at the Aragon, Tony Kotowski was up from the States, there were CRU and ORFU officials on hand, industry and business were represented, former Orfuns' coaches and present high school coaches, Fred Dufton and Larry McCarthy from Cobourg, oldtimers and present players, many guests—they all helped swell the crowd of 100 or so at the dinner tables. Various trophies and prizes presented, speeches and jokes galore. The Orillia players who helped Orfuns win Eastern Canada grid honors last fall were on deck and made a special presentation to D. A. McGillis. Films and fun afterward. Yeah, a dandy "do" for a good gang.

* * * * * *

About 800 fans at Civic Arena last gloaming were treated to two fine puck frays, opening games of OMHA bantam and midget "A" semi-finals. Pat Doherty's bantam Shamrocks, flying toward March 17 finals, racked up a 6-2 win to tote a four-goal lead into the return tilt. But Joe Rochetta's midget Aces dropped a 2-1 decision and face a one-goal deficit in the second scrap. The latter got out of hand in the second period with fights breaking out all over the ice and the refs and police trying to restore order. It was certainly a keen fray. Ditto with the bantam contest, Shamrocks looking right good against strong opposition. They were paced again by Larry Lonsberry with four markers. The return engagements with Marlboros will be in Toronto on Monday eve.

Refuse Apology, QAHA Out Of Hockey Finals

TORONTO (CP)—Quebec amateur hockey teams are out of the national championship playdowns.

The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association and its affiliated leagues and teams were suspended Thursday by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, George Dudley, secretary-manager of the CAHA, announced.

The effect of the suspension is to ban any Quebec team from entering the playdowns for the Allan or Memorial Cups. It also rules out the possibility of a playoff for the Alexander Trophy, symbolic of the Canadian major hockey title.

Dudley had given the Quebec League and its affiliates until noon Thursday to resign from the QAHA and signify their support of the CAHA, governing body of the sport in this country, in its dispute with the Quebec body.

All teams and affiliates of the QAHA supported the Quebec body, causing their suspension.

REGRET ACTION

Martin Conway, president of the QAHA, said in Montreal he regretted the action of the CAHA but at the same time thanked the leagues, teams and players in the QAHA for backing the association's stand. Quebec teams, meanwhile, will continue their playoffs, he said.

The dispute between the CAHA and the QAHA arose over the case of Ron Attwell, 18-year-old forward. But soon that isolated case was almost forgotten and Dudley said the issue was whether a ruling by the CAHA "is to have any authority or be treated with contempt by its branches."

Attwell played with Kitchener-Waterloo Greenshirts of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series early in the season. Later he played with Montreal junior Canadiens of the Quebec Junior League.

DISPUTE

The dispute arose when the CAHA claimed Attwell is still registered with its Ontario branch, and at the same time the QAHA claimed it properly granted Attwell a certificate to play with Montreal. On this issue the QAHA, but not its component parts, was suspended for defying the parent body.

As the dispute continued Attwell was dropped from the Canadiens' roster on the grounds that he was being made an innocent goat. He now is out of a playing job for the rest of the season but next year will be a free agent.

The suspension left the Quebec Senior Hockey League out in the cold. The QSHL is included in the suspension although the QSHL resigned from the QAHA to protect its player affiliations and contracts with professional clubs. However, it reaffirmed its suppoht of the QAHA in the dispute.

Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said player lists and sponsorship lists of the QAHA are being protected.

This is the final day of the all-week open mixed rink bonspiel. Play began at 9 o'clock this morning, and it is expected that the finals in all four trophies will be played at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

There have been 56 rinks in attendance during the weekend — this bonspiel is now rated as one of the most popular in Eastern Ontario.

A lot of time and thought were put into this big event, and Fred Stenson with his committee are entitled to all the nice compliments that came their way from the visiting and local curlers.

SERVED MEALS

The lady curlers were most co-operative. They served hot dinner each day and looked after many of the small details.

The ice-makers came in for their share of praise. They had the ice in perfect condition, and were most obliging during the bonspiel.

Rinks qualifying for Friday's finals are:

PETERBOROUGH ORFUNS ended the 1952 football season with their annual banquet Thursday night at Club Aragon. Among the many prizes presented besides the Earl (Doc) Spencley Memorial Trophy were leather jackets and cigarette lighters to the players and executive. Don McGillis (second from right, top) models his jacket for club president Dr. Don Aitken, Harry McBrien of the CRU and Bill Fry, secretary treasurer of the ORFU. Cups And Presents Given The Champion Orfuns At Annual Football Dinner

The Peterborough Orfuns, Eastern Canada intermediate "A" football champions in 1952 and Canadian finalists, were honored last night at a club dinner at the Aragon, about 100 officials, players and guests attending. They received the ORFU trophy, the new Earl Spencley Memorial Trophy (as Eastern Canada winners) and jackets and lighters given by the club. It was a light-hearted evening given over to grid chatter beforehand, dinner, speeches and jokes afterward, presentations, and finally films.

Civic, CRU and ORFU officials were on hand, as was a delegation from Cobourg Ghosts, and the Orillia players who helped Orfuns last season in their victory march. Coach Tony Kotowski came up from the States for the event.

AT HEAD TABLE

At the head table were Al Spencley (father of Earl, and he made the trophy presentation), Lionel Browne, representing industry, Ald. Pat Anglesey — for the Mayor—Bob Swan, Bill Fry of the ORFU, Gord McGavin, Harry McBrien of the CRU, Dr. Don Aitken, club president, Jack Taylor, Dr. Rodger Chenoweth, Les Ascott (Argos' captain), D. A. McGillis, G. A. Gillespie, Harry Beatty, guest speaker Frank Tyndall (Queen's coach), and chairman Stan McBride.

Dr. Aitken welcomed all and thanked everyone (including donors of money for the trip west last fall) who helped the club. He gave a general report. Past president Dr. Chenoweth spoke briefly later.

Gord Young introduced the speaker, Frank Tyndall. The latter spoke at some length on the coaching aspect of football and he congratulated the Orfuns on their 1952 showing. He was thanked by Mr. Gavin.

SOME OF SPEAKERS

Other speakers included Fred Dufton, Robert Swan, Bill Fry, Al Spencley, D. A. McGillis, Ald. Anglesey, Les Ascott, and Bob White. Mr. Fry presented the trophy to Gord Beatty, captain of the 1952 Orfuns. Mr. Fry said that to date 16 Ontario clubs had applied for entry into the intermediate section, and he felt that this division was finally coming into its own in Canadian football.

Some of the before-dinner talk indicated that Belleville might be an addition in the Central Ontario ORFU setup this year, but that there was little chance of Orillia entering, in which case most of their players would be available again for the Peterborough club.

M. Gimblett Leads

Mary Gimblett led in the YM senior girls' bowling circuit this week with high single of 318 and top triple of 682. Addie Jackson hit 658 and Ollie Searles 623. Neat singles included: O. Searles 257 and 243, Marie Whiteside 244, Shirley Beatty 230, Addie Jackson 228 and Helen Howden 225. Aces and the lowest team in the standing were the only ones to take six points on the night, Aces blanking Hurricanes, while Corvettes whitewashed Commandos. Tigers and Bombers took four each from Glens and Lucky Strikes.

Double Triumph Shoots Gens Back In Running

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Oshawa Generals, down 2-0 in their best-of-five quarter finals with Galt Black Hawks, dangled on the brink of elimination in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A playoffs at game time Thursday night. But when the Gens finally unlaced their skates they were on solid ground again with two victories to their credit.

Besides winning the fourth game of the series 5-2 in regulation time, the Generals completed last Saturday's game which ended a 4-4 tie in Oshawa. The Sunday curfew halted that second game. The Ontario Hockey Association ordered the teams to play an overtime period Thursday night to complete the game and Bill Stewart scored at the five-minute mark of the extra period to give Oshawa a 5-4 victory.

In the regular game the Hawks took a 2-0 lead in the first four minutes of play when Frank Bonello clicked twice. That ended the scoring for the Hawks. Harry Sinden notched the opener for Oshawa in the second and a pair by Stan Parker, including the winner, put the Generals well on their way. Carlo Montemurro and Bud Hillman topped the scoring in the final period.

The final game of the series will be played Saturday at Galt and the winner will meet Toronto St. Michael's in a semi-final to determine who will meet the winner of the Barrie Flyers-Toronto Marlboros set.

Another series was tied in junior hockey Thursday night. Eastview St. Charles evened their best-of-five Eastern Canada junior quarter-final series with Timmins-Porcupine Combines 1-1 by defeating the Combines 5-1 in Timmins.

Shamrocks Win, Aces Lose In Keen OMHA Games To Commence Semi-Finals

Peterborough minor hockey fans, 800 strong, were treated to a rare dish at Civic Arena Thursday night, as two lightning-fast OMHA semi-final battles were contested, pitting Toronto bantam and midget Marlboro entries against Shamrocks and Martin-Hewitt's Aces in the first of home-and-home, goals-to-count series.

Pat Doherty's sparkling Shamrock bantams took a four-goal edge over their Queen City rivals by virtue of a decisive 6-2 victory in the opening duel, a clean, well-played contest throughout; but Joe Rochetta's hustling Martin-Hewitt midgets took the short end of a 2-1 count in the nightcap, a hard-fought rugged struggle frequently marred by rough play.

A total of 21 penalties were meted out by Referees Wakelin and McIntosh in the finale, 14 in the second period, when two wild melees broke out and players of both teams combined to literally form a fighting pyramid in mid-ice—following a roughing duel involving Bill Godfrey and Ken Gerrard—with the latter the aggressor. The teams finalize their series in Toronto, Monday night, at Scarboro arena, when the return games will be played.

FAST STEPPING

Play opned fast in the curtain-raiser and the visitors took an early lead when Barry Johnson tallied solo on a neat effort at 2:14. Midway in the stanza the same player put Marlies two up; this time on a fine combination play with Dave Payne.

Fighting hard, Shamrocks found their scoring punch late in the frame; and Bill Mahoney potted the disc on a neat thrust with Wayne Haig lending a hand.

Shamrocks came out flying in the mid-frame to take a fair territorial edge over their staunch rivals after scoring two rather quick goals, with star Larry Lonsberry the payoff man in each case. The first came after seven seconds of play, an individual thrust; while the second counter, two minutes later, was a beautiful set-up from hard-skating and artful Gary Darling close in, one of many of his play-making efforts. Despite Marlies' best efforts, they were unable to quite fathom Shamrocks' defensive pattern nor penetrate the armor of Jim Riel, whose work in the pipes drew plaudits.

INCREASED LEAD

The Peterborough lads increased their round margin by virtue of a sizzling last-period drive that netted three additional markers; at the same time holding their opponents scoreless once more in a glittering final display.

Lonsberry and Darling combined early for the first, the former potting on a 30-foot sharp centre drive to the right side. The big defenceman scored his fourth of the night next at 6:20 when he sped down left wing and whistled a sharp 25-footer past Broderick at a sharp angle.

Val Armstrong and Rickie Pace worked together a minute later for Shamrocks' final counter, the former clicking on a quick pass-out from his mate. The work of the entire Doherty squad was praiseworthy with every man giving his best; but the aforementioned stars were particularly effective in this game.

The nightcap saw Joe Rochetta's boys hold a slight edge in play well on into the late stages only to see fickle fate snatch victory away when star centre, Bill Kennedy reeled off two great individual rushes in the third that paid off.

Aces opened the scoring after seven minutes of hectic play, when Bill Godfrey took a fast passout from Terry Doris dead front and whipped a scorching 20-footer to the lower left corner to give Iron no chance.

Play roughened up in the first, portending trouble to be, despite the efforts of the arbitrators, and five men took the cooler for a variety of offences as play steamed hot-and-heavy either way. There was no further scoring in the first; but both Iron and Hickson had to be good to save several hard drives and the latter looked especially sharp.

BECAME CHIPPY

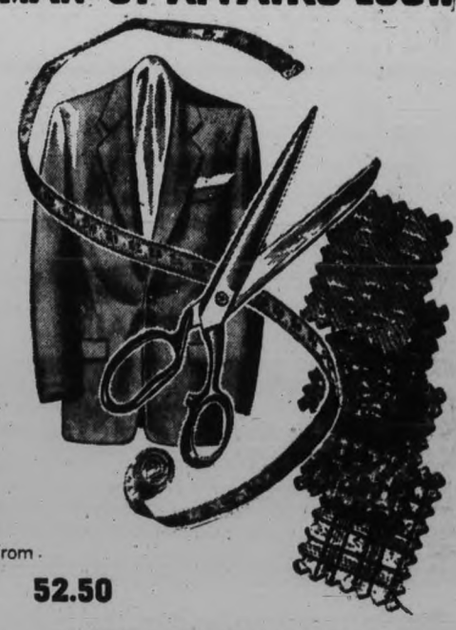
The mid-session saw play reach a terrific tempo and as players grew chippy and the pot boiled, excitement reached its climax near the three-quarter mark when a preliminary duel involving Bob Axsmith, Jim Shropshire and Bob Beaubiah, among others started mild fireworks and all did penance.

Two minutes later, Ken Gerrard crosschecked Bill Godfrey inside the blueline and a general free-for-all ensued in nothing flat. The entire personnel of both squads, including the custodians (who drew misconducts, incidently, for their part in the melee) engaged in a brief but breath-taking Donnybrook and, the dignified forms of Wakelin and McIntosh and that popular officer of the law, Clare McGillen, all saw action.

Order restored, the sin-bin had 12 occupants and the teams played four-a-side until well into the final period.

BECAME NORMAL

Back at full strength, the teams settled down to normal play and at the 12-minute mark, Kennedy, leading point-getter of the season for Marlies, broke fast from his blueline, outstepped a lone defender inside the line and deftly let fly a low whistling drive to the right corner. The ding-dong battle continued with the score tied; but a minute later, Kennedy again broke fast to outsmart his rivals, drew the goalie and parked a backhand to the open side. The big boy drew a hand and that was it. On the play, there was little to choose and every man on the Rochetta team gave his best in defeat.



BANTAM

Toronto Marlies: Goal, Broderick; defence, Mulligan, Davidson; centre, Johnson; wings, Grigor, Sonoski; alts., Henderson, Agnew, Payne, Bailey, Douglas, Finlayson, Brickell.

Peterborough Shamrocks: Goal, Riel; defence, Stewart, Lonsberry; centre, Darling; wings, Baker, Mahoney; alts., Haig, Kimball, Jay, Daley, Pace, Armstrong, Coombs, Shaw, Tetlock.

Four Teams Grab Singles, Bruins Tie Wings, Hawks Split With Montreal

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The National Hockey League schedule has reached the stage where every point counts. Thursday night the four top teams grabbed one each, but Boston Bruins probably prized theirs the most. Thanks to Fleming Mackell's two goals the Bruins fought to a 2-2 tie with the league-leading Detroit Red Wings and the draw gave the fourth-place Beantowners a three-point spread between them and the idle Toronto Maple Leafs. The one point Chicago Black Hawks got for their 2-2 draw with the second-place Montreal Canadiens kept them that point ahead of the Bruins.

With Detroit already assured of first place and the Canadiens pretty confident of second, interest is focussed on Chicago, Boston and Toront, all scrambling for the last two playoff berths.

NHL president Clarence Campbell said Thursday a preliminary inquiry into playoff dates for the Stanley Cup series indicated the first two dates will be March 24 and 26. Since Detroit is slated for the playoffs it will meet the third-place finisher at Detroit on the opening two dates. Unless the Canadiens are scuttled out of second place they will have the first two games at home against the fourth-place finisher.

MACKELL SCORES TWO

Opening the Boston-Detroit game Thursday night, Tony Leswick and Johnny Wilson scored for the Wings within 64 seconds of the initial whistle. But Mackell exploded minutes later to score his pair within 38 seconds. The last two periods were scoreless.

A goal by Tom Johnson in the last 17 seconds of play gave the Canadiens their tie with the Black Hawks. Montreal trailed 2-1 from early in the second period and in a last-minute gamble pulled goalie Gerry McNeil from the nets. Twice the Hawks fired on the open net. One shot bounced off a post and the other was caught by Bernie Geoffrion. Then Johnson raced in for the tying counter.

Doc Couture and Sid Finney scored the Hawks' openers and Elmer Lach slammed in the other Canadien goal.

Six games are slated for the week-end. Chicago and Detroit play a home-and-home series beginning in Detroit Saturday night. Boston is at Toronto and New York faces Montreal the same evening. Sunday Toronto meets New York and Montreal journeys to Boston.

Galt Rink Downs Peterborough In Colts' Final

TORONTO (CP)—Carroll McCune's experienced and well-known rink Thursday night won the Ontario Colts, bonspiel for the second consecutive year.

The Galt foursome showed that experience is the biggest asset to a rink when it defeated Bob Somerville's Peterborough quartet 11-3 in the final of the 10th annual spiel.

All members of the Peterborough rink are under 23 years of age with three of them Manitoba-schooled players. Gerry Forsberg, Grant Unsworth and skip Somerville formerly played with the University of Manitoba at Winnipeg. Lead Jack Gow hails from Kenora.

OUTPLAYED

The Galt rink outplayed Peterborough all the way. Peterborough's only revenge was in the third, fifth and eighth ends when it managed to score one point in each.

The consolation event went to Alf Phillips' Toronto Granite Club when it ousted a Hamilton Victoria rink skipped by Harold Bates, 12-6.

The Galt rink won its final berth from a London rink skipped by H. Ball 12-7 in the semi-finals. The Peterborough crew pulled a surprise in the semi-finals by ousting E. Sparling's experienced Kingston rink 13-12.

The Toronto Consolation winners made the final by defeating Dr. J. Small's Midland rink 11-7 while the Hamilton rink downed M. Timothy's Owen Sound quartet 12-11.

Tough Winter For Andy Pafko

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP)—This has been a winter Andy Pafko will never forget. Everything happened to him. Within a space of three weeks he was stricken by virus, underwent an appendectomy and was shipped by Brooklyn Dodgers to Boston Braves.

Pafko has shaken off the virus, is recuperating nicely from the operation and, in due time, doubtless will get over his disappointment over his release by the Dodgers. But right now he is bewildered by it all.

"I still can't understand why Brooklyn sold me," the 32-year-old outfielder said Thursday. "Naturally, I was disappointed at being sent from a pennant winner to a second-division club. . . At least, I'm back with Charlie Grimm. He was my manager in Chicago when we won the pennant in 1945, you know.

"But why was I sold? I hit 19 home runs and drove in 85 runs. Only Duke Snider and Jackie Robinson outhit me on the club."

Rural Loop Title To West Douro

DOURO (ENS)—West Douro defeated East Douro 2-1 at Warsaw to capture the Rural Hockey League title and the trophy. Following the game, a fine fray before a big crowd, the winners were congratulated by the losers, while Reeve Clysdale of Dummer and Joe Watts, rink committee president, made the presentation to Manager Joe Moloney, who thanked everyone present.

One prominent official said later: "As this brings the rural hockey season to a close, I would like to take this opportunity to express to the players of the six teams which played at Warsaw this season our sincere appreciation of the good sportsmanship and play shown by all every night. We look forward to seeing them all again next year."

It was a speedy, close contest, this last one, with the losers giving a gallant display, though short E. Leahy. The winners also went real good, with their goalie in great form. Woodgate scored from Martell in the first period for West Douro, while J. Heffernan counted from Farley to even it up. R. Allen sank the winner from Martell in the second, neither side counting in the third. Teams:

West Douro: Rosenburg, R. Allen, Woodgate, Martell, P. Moloney, Johnston, Bullied, F. Leahy, T. Moloney, J. Moloney, Meldrum, O'Brien.

East Douro: Keating, B. Heffernan, Condon, J. Heffernan, Farley, D. Sheehan, E. Leahy, W. Moher, C. Sheehan, F. Moher, C. Leahy, Byrne, G. Sheehan, O'Grady.

Referee, Kingdon; linesman, Lonsberry.

Hon. F. S. Thomas Here Mar. 18 To Open Spring Show

Minister's Message:

Top Quality, Plump Seed Pays Off In Higher Yield

Despite difficulties encountered chiefly as a result of farm labor shortages and increased costs of operation, Ontario farmers have established a record of production in 1952 of which they might well be proud.

It is particularly gratifying that while acreage has been reduced, the yield per acre has been substantially increased, indicating that the farmers of Ontario are adopting the practice of proper land use.

While, as I have noted, there has been marked improvement in our methods of agriculture that has made heavier yields possible, there is still much to be done. Daily new problems arise as a result of a new economic balance in Canada— with industrial development proceeding on a hitherto undreamed of rate.

Recent reports indicate that industrial development is proceeding faster in Canada than in any other country, and in that fact lies a challenge to Agriculture, particularly in Ontario.

Canadian consumer needs are rapidly catching up to our agricultural production, and with our increasing population it may be that within a few years we are likely to experience shortages of many kinds of food. That is the challenge which lies before the farmer today and one that, as in the past, he will accept with all the vigor and ingenuity at his command.

In meeting this challenge I would suggest that considerable emphasis might well be directed to such matters as an even greater increase in production; improvement of cropping methods; increased efficiency of nutrient utilization, and particularly the use of better seed.

Experiments at the Ontario Agricultural College have proved that top quality, plump seed will return a yield of some eight bushels per acre higher than small light seed when grown under identical conditions. This proves conclusively that the planting of good seed is good business. Inferior, weed-infested seed, can only be expected to result in inferior yields.

Farmers have long since learned that there is no profit in planting weeds. Therefore, I urge the use of treated seed as a means of checking losses from smut and other seed-borne diseases. The result will be heavier yields, cleaner crops and a return commensurate with the quality of the crop.

In advocating and promoting the use of good seed, I recognize with appreciation the purposes of the Central Ontario Spring Show. May it long continue its important work.

Reports reaching the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch of the Department indicate that there is a greatly increased interest on the part of Ontario farmers in the quality and quantity of their forage crops. This is evidenced by the fact that figures show that the per acre yield and total hay production for the 10-year period 1942-1952 was the highest of any similar period since records were first kept in 1882.

Wheat, oats and barley continue to account for nearly three-quarters of the total grain production. Since 1932, however, the soybean acreage has increased 19 times, oil flax 10 times, and the grain corn acreage more than doubled.

During the coming year it is the intention of the Crops Branch to put special emphasis on its beef pasture improvement project which was instituted to determine the best methods of increasing the carrying capacity of pastures in order to produce more beef. This project, in co-operation with the Livestock Branch, was initiated in 1950, and has already proved itself an invaluable guide to better pasture procedures.

The Department will also keep up its campaign to eradicate weeds with special attention being paid to Leafy Spurge, deemed one of the most dangerous threats in field crops.

In conclusion may I assure you that I am deeply appreciative of the signal honor that has been bestowed upon me in my recent appointment as Minister of Agriculture in Ontario.

I realize that I have a heavy and exacting task before me in following in the footsteps of my predecessor in office, the Hon. T. L. Kennedy, but I hope that with your assistance and support we will be able to move hand in hand in advancement of all things of benefit to agriculture and its people.

To the individual farmer I would say, "Know what you sow", and in the true spirit of co-operation let us move on to even better and brighter years on the farmlands of Ontario.

F. S. THOMAS,
Ontario Minister of Agriculture.

355,000 Dairy Heifers Complicate Milk Problem

By EVERETT M. BIGGS,
Ontario Dairy Commissioner

The dairy industry in Ontario faces a difficult year in 1953. The loss of the dairy cattle market to the United States, the fading away of the normally large cheese contract to Great Britain, and the problem of finding adequate markets for some of our dairy products, created enough difficulties during 1952.

It is reasonable to conclude that, even with the opening of the United States market for cattle in 1953, there will not be sufficient movement of dairy cattle out of the province to decrease milk production to the point where there will not be slightly embarrassing surplus.

Last year saw an over-all milk production increase of slightly over 2 pe rcent. Unless something unforeseen happens there will be a further milk production increase in 1953

ONE MILLION COWS

Ontario ended the year with slightly more than a million milk cows. Although 88,900 greater than June, 1951 this summer of was 150-000 milk cows fewer than at some previous period. The province has begun 1953 with the largest number of dairy heifers on record, 355,000. It would be possible for normal cattle exports to take care of the increase in dairy cows, but the number of dairy heifers will have a definite influence on increased milk production.

There was a greatly increased production in 1952 in certain concentrated milk products and in butter. Cheddar cheese production showed a drastic reduction of 25 per cent as compared with 1951.

The skim milk powder industry has been developing quickly in Ontario and Canada with much expanded production and exports. With a production of more than 85 million pounds of skim milk powder, half of which has produced in the province, Canada in 1952 exported almost 30 million pounds of skim milk powder to 40 different countries.

NEED MARKET OUTLET

In 1951 Canada was practically on a net import basis as far as dairy products were concerned. Even this year the surpluses only seem great because there is no ready market for them. In the face of inadequate world supplies of dairy products, Canada is faced with inadequate market outlets.

The warning as to what may be expected in 1953 now faces the dairy leaders, and any action which is going to be taken to insure the sale of 1953 production should be taken now, and not after the surpluses are upon us.

POPULATION INCREASES

Decreasing prices are a discouragement to any industry. Milk has been recognized as essential in any diet. The Canadian population will continue to increase. We will, therefore need an increasing supply of dairy products.

This supply will not be available on a world basis because here also there is a decreasing supply of milk production. Canada has certainly no assurance in future years of importing supplementary dairy requirements.

Any discouragement to the dairy industry at this time would be shortsighted, and a grave mistake. The only reassurance that can be given to the dairy industry in the present period of crisis is an adequate market with a fair price, and a realistic understanding of its difficulites by the consuming public.

Swift Changes Challenge Today's Farmer

"Agriculture has experienced more changes in the last 25 years than in the preceding 2,000 years. . . . Change is all about us. Basically, change is progress. When things happen rapidly we are prone to become confused. It is natural to feel that the old way was better. Older folks are prone to think back to their childhood as an era of common sense, and to think of today as a time of confusion."

This is a quotation from the 1951 report of the annual meeting of Ontario agricultural societies. It is from the address of H. J. Gramlich, general agricultural agent, Chicago and North-Western Railway, Chicago.

Its theme is acceptance of the flow and general movement of life.

"One hundred years ago 94 per cent of all the energy expanded on a farm was muscle—either man, horse or mule. Today this has been completely reversed with 94 per cent of the work being done by mechanical means and only 6 per cent by muscle.

One hundred years ago it required five hours of a man's time to produce one bushel of corn. The hoe and a strong back were the chief requirements. Following World War I, we cut the time down to 21 minutes, and today in the corn belt thousands of farmers are producing one bushel of corn in two minutes' time. Mechanization, hybrid corn, fertilizer and 'know how' all combined to make this possible.

We are now speed conscious. The oxen and covered wagons which moved the pioneers 100 years ago did so at the speed of the proverbial snail. Later, with the horse and buggy, we jogged along at 8 miles an hour. Today streamlined trains cross the prairie every few hours at 85 miles an hour or 125 feet per second. The streamliner travels as far in one minute as the ox team did in one hour. Is it any wonder out outlook is changing?

Tomorrow offers a challenge. We must be open-mined. There will be continuous change, and we must take that part of it which will help us.

An old man was recently asked his age—he replied 92. He was then asked: "I suppose you have seen many changes in your time?" "Yep," he replied, "and I've been agin' all of 'em." We cannot feel that way and succeed today. Flexibility stands as the most necessary characteristic for us to possess."

LeROY G. BROWN, Lindsay, agricultural representative in Victoria county, is chairman of the program committee of the Central Ontario Spring Show. Highlight of the show program is the entertainment Thursday night including the square dancing competition. Sets of young men and women from seven counties are entered.

Seeds Have Better Chance

Soon all the snow will disappear from the Canadian scene, appear from the Canadian scene. Ploughshares will be biting into the moist soil. Many kinds of seeds will be planted, always in high hopes for a bumper crop next fall.

But before the crop is harvested, a seed must surmount numerous obstacles and fight off hordes of enemies. Let's take a wheat seed for example. Its fight for survival began last fall after it was reaped and stored. Rats and mice could have eaten it up. Poor storage may have caused it to freeze or sprout early. Insects may have rendered it useless for reproduction.

Once planted, it is open to the attacks of soil-borne insects such as wireworms. Root rots and seedling blights may prevent the young plant from maturing. Bird or animal predators could use it for a tender snack. Grasshoppers or cutworms may destroy it. Weeds will try to choke it out. It has excellent chances of being infected by rust and loose smut. If it manages to get anywhere near maturity, adverse weather may prevent it from ripening. And if it does ripen, prolonged rain or snow might stop it from being harvested. If it is harvested and stored, the fight for survival starts over again.

Fortunately for humanity, a seed has much more than a 50-50 chance of bearing fruit — something it didn't have 50 years ago. The chemical industry has played some part in this improvement. Powerful fungicides have been developed to destroy soil and seed borne diseases. Chemicals are available to curb practically every insect attacking our plants. Selective weed killers control the weeds without harming the crop. New poisons have been developed for successful rodent control. In addition, scientific storage methods have been devised. Man is even trying to control the weather—by seeding clouds with frozen carbon dioxide to produce rain.

D. A. TAYLOR of Picton, agricultural representative in Prince Edward county, a director and committee member of the Central Ontario Spring Show.

OWEN SWEETMAN, Little Britain, Victoria County member of the executive of the Central Ontario Spring Show.

JAMES T. BROWN, Newcastle, first vice-president of the Central Ontario Spring Show. He is a prominent Holstein breeder and director of that association.

1953 Live Stock Future Scanned By R. H. Graham

No Drastic Decreases In Livestock Prices If Employment Steady

(By R. H. GRAHAM, Live Stock Branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture)

Significant changes have occurred in the general pattern of world meat production and trade. Some of these may or may not be permanent in character owing to the fact that Great Britain, as well as other meat importing countries, has seen a tremendous change in her buying power, and her ability to import meat from meat surplus countries has been seriously curtailed. Thus a free world market for meat has largely disappeared. Considerable doubt exists in the minds of those producing livestock regarding possible trends that might exist during 1953. The trend in cattle population as compared to human population has not shown the same increase. From 1871 to 1941 the numbers of cattle per head of humans varied from 0.7 to slightly over 1. In 1951 this had declined to 0.06 cattle per human. For the cattle population to keep pace with the human population we would require 11 million head, and in Canada in 1952 we had slightly over 9 million.

The past two years have seen an increase of slightly over 1,000,000 head in this country. The reason for this increase has been a direct result of the climb in beef prices over the last few years. There has been a considerable hold-back of female stock, with the intent of the producer getting in on the higher expectant prices. Also many dairy herds were liquidated and beef herds established, mainly from a labor standpoint. These factors have increased the amount of beef that must be sold elsewhere. At the same time the increase in beef population and the relative increase in price naturally caused a decrease in beef consumption. Therefore we find ourselves with more cattle ready for the market, and fewer people willing to buy beef. The natural occurrence took place—a drop in the price of beef cattle. At the same time we now look forward to an increase in meat consumption owing to the recession of beef prices from the high of 1951 to those existing today. The same occurrence in depressed hog prices resulted in a higher consumption of pork.

PRICE RATIO UPSET

Over a long period of years the relationship between cattle and hogs has been 75 to 100, and I would explain that by stating that those figures are the basis of comparison. For instance, if cattle were worth $75 for a certain number of pounds, hogs should be worth $100 for the same number of pounds. On January 10 this year this ratio stood at $119 for cattle and a year ago it stood at $162. This relationship in price, which one can readily see is away out of line, caused a decrease in beef consumption. The fact remains, however, that this ratio isn't as wide as it might appear because we all know that the price of hogs was too low. Many producers know full well that cattle at a price of 35c per pound or more are relatively too high, but despite the fact that we had 35c cattle there were still those who thought that 40c would have to be paid. There is always a danger of pricing ourselves right out of a market, and we also know that our bread cannot be buttered on both sides. It usually aggravates any normal condition.

Our greatest meat consumption per capita was in 1943. Strangely enough that was when rationing came into force and yet we all believed that we were helping our country by using every ounce that was allowed on our coupons. In 1951, which was a year of plenty, we consumed about 23 pounds less per capita than in 1943. If we could convince all our meat consumers to become patriotic minded again, our surplus would be reduced considerably.

BEST PRICES RECEDE

It does appear that beef prices both here and in the U.S. have reached the all-time high and are slowly but surely sliding back to a normal trading figure. Perhaps in the end it will be healthier for the industry. It will remove some of the speculative gamble for steer feeders. On the other hand, however, for those who raise their own cattle, it means a smaller income. The salient facts of the beef cattle situation appear as follows:

(1) There is a build-up in cattle population which appears to be continuing from the low point in 1951.

(2) In spite of increasing industrialization the cattle industry is still depending on export markets.

(3) Support prices during the recent period when exports were prohibited to the U.S.A. prevented a greater price decline than might have been experienced.

(4) Stall feeding will continue to become more expensive if the present price of feed grain remains at its present level. Therefore we might well look forward to more grass fed animals.

Hog marketings in Ontario were the third highest on record during 1952, being exceeded only during the years 1943 and 1944. This increase developed despite opinions that were expressed in 1950 condemning the supposed low price for hogs then existing. Perhaps the record grain production in the West and East in 1951 largely contributed to our heavy runs in 1952. Hog producers have seen a continual drop in price for the last few months, and I believe again we can thank the support price even though many didn't think it was high enough to prevent an almost ruinous situation developing. Had a support price not been put on at that time and another 100 million pounds put on the market for consumption, it is hard to say how low the price of hogs might have dropped.

We have experienced a year of declining prices of pork products, resulting partly from over-production and secondly the lack of an export market. Our supply was in excess of demand by the equivalent of 90 million pounds of canned pork. This situation was, of course, partly the outcome of our foot and mouth outbreak. More particularly the situation was of our own making, whereby production reached such a very high level. Liquidation of breeding sows has taken place, especially in Eastern Canada, which to all of us would be the logical result when returns were not adequate.

Despite the fact that the present hog prices do not make the industry attractive, our reduced production which is now taking place will probably have the effect of an increase in price later in 1953. This occurrence is simply the old rule of supply and demand working as it should.

FREIGHT RESISTANCE

In case we forget other features of our hog production it would be wise to mention the fact that freight assistance on Western feed grain, which amounts to $7.55 per ton, is the equivalent of $2.80 per hog, or $1.80 per 100 warm dressed weight. Had this policy been discontinued our Eastern hog business would have been in a desperate spot. Only recently an arrangement was made to ship to the United Kingdom some 5,500,000 pounds of Wiltshire sides, or the equivalent of 50,000 hogs. This amount is supposed to have been provided during February and March and possibly is a contributing factor, together with the low runs that we have experienced, for the increase in price from a low of 23c up to our present price of today. We must be ever mindful of what the future holds in store. The British market is out of the picture, at least for the present. That leaves domestic consumption and the possible U.S. market as our only salvation.

1953 CROP FACTOR

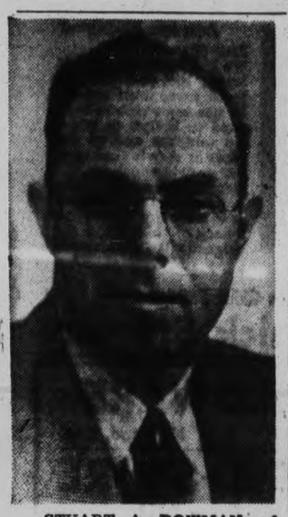
Our livestock production will depend as it always does on the crop prospects for 1953. Whether or not the open winter has been good for us only time will tell. Therefore the supply of feed will be the determining factor on which many producers will plan. Hog prices will, we expect, be on a definitely upward trend and should be firm. Supply and demand will no doubt operate, and with the predicted decrease in production in Eastern Ontario a stronger market should develop as time goes on.

If the price of beef should stay at or around its present figure, a natural decrease in pork consumption will take place. Therefore the most timely suggestion I can give is simply: Raise good type hogs, and secondly, make every attempt to save the newborn pigs. The first profit in raising hogs is the number of pigs raised per litter. It seems that $125 is the amount that it takes to keep a brood sow for one year. Therefore sows raising an average of less than 8 per litter will increase the cost per pig, with the resultant decrease in profit.

THE U.S. MARKET

The recent news emanating from Washington regarding our beef contracts will undoubtedly be well received by every livestock breeder in this country. The most commendable feature of it that I can see at the present time is the fact that we have a market for practically all our surplus beef cattle if the prices are right. The Canadian surplus on the American market only amounts to about 2 per cent of their production, and with 400,000 head entitled to move across the border at 1½c per pound duty and 200,000 light weight cattle, market surpluses should not occur in this country. During pre-war days when quota systems were in force we found this export market to be very profitable, and a most expedient way of getting rid of the extra animals which would normally come on our home markets.

COMPETITOR PRODUCTION



To many of us who have resided in this country all our lives and who have not made much of a study of other livestock producing areas in the world we have very little concept of the immenseness or the productivity of other competitors. For instance, our hog population in Canada is around 6½ million, while in Great Britain they produce nearly 5 million hogs. Our cattle population is around 9 million head, while in Great Britain they have slightly over 10 million. Some of the larger livestock producing countries about which we know very little produce a great many more cattle and hogs than we do. Production in this country has never yet reached its maximum, and we do not expect it will do so for a long time to come. Present indications are that we are going to meet our own domestic consumption and perhaps have some surplus to sell.

This necessitates finding a market, and as mentioned previously several times we will only be able to capture a market for our surplus if we have a product that can meet competition both in quality and price. I believe both the beef and hog industries are now adjusting themselves to proper levels, and I would expect that as long as employment remains as it is at present we will have consumer demand for our production, thus assuring producers that the prices will not drop in any drastic manner.

A period of readjustment is always difficult, yet in the end it will have a stabilizing effect on the over-all picture. Those who have suddenly decided that they would change their methods or, as might be more plainly put, get out of hogs and get into something else, usually miss the boat. Over a long period of time the producers who have had the most stable income are those who have been trying to arrange their program on a basis of sound practices which they have found to be reasonably profitable. The in-and-outer is usually in at the wrong time, yet in the end this type of producer creates the adjustment necessary for the livestock producer to stay in business."

THE TRACTOR has become an invaluable auxiliary of farmers deserted by the hired man lured to the city by industrial wages. Winter use of this machine has been comparatively light, but with the approach of spring it enters again into the plans for another season of field husbandry. Land has to be prepared for the spring seeding, cultivating follows in its course, and the uses of the tractor continue until the last of the harvest is completed with the corn and small seeds, when frost again whitens the grasses and leaves from the nearby woods romp across the autumn furrows. The mechanization of farming today is a new phenomenon of agricultural practice.

Normal Crops Prospect Of New Spring

(By Ralph Banbury, Brighton, agricultural respresentative in Northumberland county.)

Northumberland County is stirred by these longer days and periods of sunshine to look into what the coming year may hold. The farmer saith, "The wheat is my care and the rest is the will of God." In general the picture is promising and a sane program should be the policy.

In the old days when we could export agricultural products all that was necessary was to go ahead and grow what one liked. Now, due to trade restrictions and differences in money, Ontario exports hardly any farm products. We find ourselves from necessity having to adjust production by contracts and agreement that the local needs can be supplied and the farmer make enough to keep him on the land. While many prefer a covering of snow on the fields, and it is an excellent sign, we have no reason to think that to date 1953 has any thing against the production of normal crops. The easy winter has given us less freezing which is the usual cause of damage to alfalfa, and other deep rooted plants. The seed situation is good.

Northumberland has a new complete seed cleaning plant at the Warkworth Co-operative and both grass and clover, and cereal grains are in fair supply. The modest price of alfalfa seed, will give us more of this excellent legume which is the best answer to July and August pasture. The vegetable men plan to supply the needs of our processing plants. The reduction in price on tomatoes and corn will tend to discourage the thoughtless who might plant more than usual. Asparagus is receiving much attention and we expect 100 acres may be planted in our county this year. It is a crop that helps the cash farmer by bringing an income early in the spring.

The apple situation is encouraging in that the light crop of last year has rapidly disappeared and there should be a keen demand if a better crop can be picked next fall. As always, the catch in the apple orchard, is the necessity of about 10 sprays and the cost of labour for all the jobs. In general this amounts to more than the apples bring on the tree.

The Peterborough Spring Show of March 17th to 20th will find most of our farmers visiting it in order to pick up the latest information from the speakers and exhibits. We are not a county that produces registered seed in large quantities for sale, but we will have some exhibits.

Livestock remains sound with reasonable demand.

This is Northumberland's year for the International Plowing Match. Already many of our people have arranged to receive and entertain friends who are coming for this event next October. The setting on the United Counties' farm on No. 2 Highway between Cobourg and Port Hope, and overlooking Lake Ontario, appears to be ideal. We are told to prepare for the largest attendance of farmers ever brought together any place in the world.

4-H Club Competition Now Nation-Wide, Began In Peterborough

By ED. A. SUMMERS
Bowmanville,
Agricultural Representative in Durham County

During the early thirties, Boys' and Girls' Club work was adopted as a Department of Agriculture policy in Ontario as well as in several other provinces. In order to co-ordinate the work on a Dominion basis, the Boys' and Girls' Council in Club Work was organized.

This council, through the assistance of the railroads, breed organizations, industrial companies and the various governments, has brought the winning teams each year from each province to Toronto for a Dominion competition, visit to the Royal and sightseeing trips to Niagara Falls and Ottawa.

The first swine club was organized in Victoria, Peterborough, Northumberland and Durham Counties about 1929, under the direction of Mr. Don McKinnon, official hog grader at Canada Packers Ltd., Peterborough, at that time, along with the representatives in each county. Ten boys in each county purchased, raised and showed a pair of Yorkshire gilts at Peterborough Fair. In succeeding years calf clubs (beef and dairy), foal clubs, grain clubs, potato clubs and garden clubs soon followed. In recent years tractor clubs and forestry clubs have been adopted.

The purpose of these clubs has been to create a greater interest in livestock, good seed, to demonstrate economical safety methods with tractors, etc.

A few observations that have impressed the agricultural representative in Durham over twenty-three years are listed under the various club headings.

SWINE CLUBS

Possibly more progress has been made with Swine Club work than our other clubs. In 1939 the Bowmanville Rotary and Lions Club purchased ten pairs of purebred Yorkshire pigs for a West Durham Boys' and Girls' Swine Club. The following year the Port Hope Rotary Club donated ten pairs for East Durham. The following year each boy returned a pair from one of his litters for a new club member. Through later purchases we now have over thirty pairs for each year's clubs. This means that our swine clubs are now perpetual. The purpose of the club was not to develop a large number of pure-bred breeders, but a few of our most interested members have continued with purebred pigs. Four of these members have qualified sows and one has qualified a hog during the past year. Thus an excellent source of good breeding stock has been available to our swine breeders.

CALF CLUBS

Several cases can be cited where purebred herds have been established through purebred calves purchased by club members. Some of our most reliable judges for fall fairs have developed from club members.

GRAIN CLUBS

Each year about fifty bushels of registered seed is distributed amongst members. In 1936, twenty-five bushels of Erban oats were distributed. In 1938 club boys sold close to 4,000 bushels of Erban seed oats to farmers in the county. In 1939, fifty bushels of registered Cartier oats were distributed: practically the first grown in the county.

In 1944, fifty bushels of registered Aiax oats were obtained, and in 1946 fifty bushels of certified Beaver oats. 1948, fifty bushels of Larain oats, and 1952, fifty bushels of Lanark oats. One of our first Grain Club boys has developed as one of our most prominent registered seed growers. He also operates very successfully a fully equipped seed cleaning plant. This chap is also a past president of the Durham Crop Improvement Association and the Durham Federation of Agriculture and the Ontario Crop Improvement Association. A second boy installed a seed cleaning plant in Cartwright township.

CONCLUSIONS

(a) Many of our club boys have become leaders in their districts. For 1953 there are six ex-club members who are active in municipal council with five of them members of county council.

(b) One can usually depend on club boys to co-operate with any worthwhile project in the district.

(c) Club boys usually adopt new improved methods more readily than older farmer groups.

(d) We are convinced that Junior Farmer work and club work pays real dividends. We feel the department has been well repaid for the time and expense that has been devoted to Boys' and Girls' Club work.

(Liberty may be taken with Mr. Summers' story to identify his former Grain Club boy as Mr. Garnet Rickard, Bowmanville, RR 4, who is chairman of the seed show section of the Central Ontario Spring Show. That is an assumption which appears to be warranted.)

"Day Of Fat Hog Is Done Maintain Our Lean Type"

(From the article by R. H. (Dick) Graham)

"A word about our own situation. We should be very cautious about any change in our type (of hog). If a market is to be developed in any country, it will never be done with an animal than is no better than what they now have of their own.

"Regardless of what producers think, we can find a sale only for a superior product, and as the tendency of American production is towards a leaner hog, it simply means that our standard should never be lowered. This is a significant fact, or at least it should be.

"According to reports, American hogs are still producing just as much lard as they ever did. Recent articles that have been published in American magazines strongly suggest that it is time for them to streamline their hogs. It looks reasonably sure that the day of the fat hog, which at one time was the sole source of shortening, is on the way out.

"In Ontario, we have definitely too much indiscriminate cross-breeding, with the resultant lowering of grade and the lowering of income to hog producers. A premium is usually given for extra quality of any article produced, and therefore I have reason to believe that we should never lose sight of the fact that quality is the most important factor in the production and marketing of all farm products.

"Let us suppose the situation develops whereby Great Britain is again able to buy in this country. If we fail to maintain the quality which we have had in the past, then we will have failed in capturing the market which we so badly need."

McKEE FARM EQUIPMENT

We extend a cordial welcome to the Peterborough district farmers to visit our booth at the Central Ontario Spring Show.

Our ONE MAN HAY HARVESTER will be on display. Don't miss the chance to see this great labour-saving machine. Remember it can be used by one man entirely alone. It can harvest hay for $1.00 per ton. The Price is Reasonable.

See our new type side rakes that are driven by the crop itself. It will rake clean and efficiently on beans, grain, green grass, hay and straw. It has no gears or chains and will work on rough, uneven ground.

Inquire about our windrow-turners. They will turn swathed grain, flax, etc., without shelling it. They will be ideal to turn heavy windrows of hay.

Give Farms A Chance To Produce With Quality Seed

Clean Registered Seed Treated For Smuts Solves Grain Problems

(By KEN FALLIS, Field Man, With Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch of Ontario Department of Agriculture.)

Of course there are more angles to growing good crops than good seed, and good soil. Weather is one but we can't do much about that, and we're pretty well stuck with the kind of soil that happens to be on our farms. We can't change a hilly field to a level one, or a low flat field to one with good surface drainage, or sand to clay or loam. But we can give the soil we happen to have a break by good cultivation, fine seedbed, early seeding and make up some of its shortcomings with generous amounts of fertilizer.

In the case of seeds, we have the matter entirely under control. This is very lucky for of all the factors mentioned, good seed plays the largest part in growing good crops. Good seed, briefly, is large plump kernels of a suitable variety, high germination, free from disease, free from weed seeds and protected from seed and soil borne diseases by a good seed disinfectant. Maybe these requirements of good seed are not named in their correct order of importance, but they are all so important that neglect of any one of them can seriously lower yields.

A CEREAL MYTH

Let's first take the large plump kernels. It's a year or two since we've heard that myth about the small kernels being the female oats, and must be included in the seed to insure a crop. In case anybody still believes that, it isn't so. Actually, over seven years' experiments, large plump seed outyielded small plump seed by sixteen bushels per acre. This is understandable because a germinating plant must live on the food stored in the kernel until its roots are big enough to draw food from the soil, hence, small kernels, small food supply, weak plants. The small kernels still make good feed. Screen them out of the seed grain. This simple process may boost yields by several bushels per acre.

What is a suitable variety? It is the variety which gives the best yields of the best quality with the least trouble. That is, a high yielding variety which lodges badly, or rusts badly some years, is not likely the most suitable variety. If lodging is the trouble, a strong strawed variety like Clinton is called for; if rust is causing low yields and light grain, try a rust resistant variety like Lanark or Beaver. Generally speaking, the varieties the neighbours grow are likely to be the most suitable for the district. And the exhibits at the local seed show are a good indication of the popular varieties. Incidentally, exhibitors at seed shows have quantities to sell of the same quality as the exhibit.

Germination doesn't often get too much attention. This is because it is usually satisfactory, or if it isn't, a poor crop is blamed on something else. Germination is expressed in per cent, the number of kernels out of one hundred which actually grow. If germination is 50% and you sow two bushels per acre, your crop is the same as if you sowed one bushel of 100% permination. Under the Seeds Act, No. 1 seed must germinate 85%, No. 2—75%, and No. 3—65%. Material germinating less than 65% cannot legally be sold as seed.

Harvesting and storage conditions are responsible for low germination. Badly weathered grain, stored too moist, will drop off in germination beyond the point of useful seed. These conditions prevailed in some areas last year. In fact, one sample was reported as low as 37%. If you have any doubt, test the germination yourself, or have it tested at a Plant Products Laboratory, or buy graded seed. No. 1 seed will germinate not less than 85%. Grain which is badly off color or musty smelling will probably germinate poorly.

PREVENTING DISEASE

What about disease? Take one particular disease, loose smut of barley. Most of our good barleys are susceptible to this disease. It cannot be cured by any of the seed disinfectnts. We have not the time or facilities to hot water treat all our seed barley. What's the answer?

A little loose smut may hardly be noticed. A lot will seriously reduce our crop. Registered seed was grown from a crop having not more than one-half of 1% loose smut. If it had more, it would not be Registered. Hence, registered seed assures that the crop will not have any serious amount of loose smut.

The same principle applies to other seed borne diseases. If the seed is registered, the crop it was grown from passed field inspection, and met the disease free requirements for registration. This includes ergot, which is fairly common in the smooth awned baleys. Yes, Registered Seed is the first answer to disease, as well as lots of other problems.

If our seed grain is cleaned to the heavy, large, plump kernels, there should be no weed seeds. Light weed seeds should blow out; heavy ones should screen out. Sounds simple, but actually seed grain is too commonly polluted with twitch grass, wild buckwheat, bladder campion, white cockle, ragweed, and a variety of others. This represents unfair competition against the crop. True, most of these weed seeds could have been separated with a fanning mill. But some small seeds stick in the crease of the oats, some round seeds roll down the edges of the screen, some light seeds escape the wind blast. The answer to this, of course, is the cleaning plant, with buffer to loosen weed seeds from grain, trim the ends of oats and awns of barley, a cleaner with controllable wind blast and screen brushes, and finally a grader to separate material on length. A further service offered at a cleaning plant is treating for surface smuts and roots and root rots. In addition to the equipment named, a further necessary part of a seed cleaning plant is a good operator.

If your own grain is the variety that suits you and the germination is 85% or better, why not let a good seed cleaning plant process it into good seed? If not, why not set yourself up with registered seed this spring. It guarantees the variety, germination, freedom from disease, freedom from weeds, and general high quality.

AT SEED AUCTION

At the seed fair, leading varieties of grain are sold by auction in ten bushel lots of sealed, registered seed. This seed has been cleaned for exhibition, so is likely to be well above the high standards required for registered seed. It is produced by the leading growers in your district, prepared by the most professional seed cleaners, and the price will be right in line. It's good business to attend your seed fair.

East Ontario Oat Varieties

OTTAWA — The total farm value of oats, wheat, barley and mixed grain in 1951 for Ontario was $176 millions as compared to $113 millions for the hay crop. But while there was a decrease in grain acreage of some 72,000 acres, there was an increase in total production of some 300,000 bushels, over the annual production for the period 1942-51. This increased production may be largely atributed to the development and introduction of varieties resistant to cereal diseases, particularly rust. In Eastern Ontario, 92 per cent of the oat varieties currently grown, have been introduced within the last ten years.

Illustration Stations in Eastern Ontario are providing an excellent proving ground not only in evaluating existing cereal varieties but also in testing completely new material from which will come future varieties, says L. M. Masserly, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. On the basis of yields obtained from some forty five hundred cereal plots on Illustration Stations in Eastern Ontario, the following recommendations might be made.

BEAVER AND LANARK

Beaver, a variety with semi-resistance to stem rust and moderate resistance to crown rust is a widely adapted oat in Eastern Ontario. Where a variety with Beaver's resistance to disease has proved satisfactory, the new variety Abegweit, a sister of Beaver might be preferable. Abegweit is possibly two days later than Beaver but has yielded two bushels more per acre. Ajax oats is semi-resistant to stem rust and is early. Although somewhat faulted for size of kernel, it is a satisfactory yielding variety. Lanark, another early variety with considerable rust resistance is also satisfactory where severe rust epidemics occur or earliness is required. Roxton, a medium-late vigorous oat with good quality is a very useful variety on light soil. While high in yield, its very vigorous growth habit makes it somewhat unsatisfactory to use as a nurse crop when seeding down.

In barley, where fewer varieties have been introduced, Montcalm is the most satisfactory malting variety tested. Where the crop is combined and a feed barley is desired the new variety, Fort, with its strong straw has been found very satisfactory.

Best results with spring wheat have been achieved with the Acadia variety. Cornell 595 and Rideau are two satisfactory varieties of fall wheat on farms where soils and topography are satisfactory for this crop.

H. LYNN FAIR, Uxbridge, agricultural representative in Ontario county, is chairman of the features committee of the Central Ontario Spring Show. Displays of corn and grass silage with protein tests made at OAC should be of interest to attending farmers. Hay tests are included.

Hog Prices Rise, Cattle Cheaper

TORONTO (CP)—Hog prices rose $2 this week at the Ontario stockyards and steers, heifers, cows and calves were $1-2 lower. Sheep and lambs were steady. The holdover at the close was 650 cattle.

Cattle receipts were 6,832 head. Choice steers, all weights $21.50-22.50; good $20.50-21.50; plain to medium $16-20; good heifers $20-20.50; choice fed yearlings $22-23; mediums $18-20; common to medium stockers $17-20; good cows $13-14; heifery cows $15; good heavy bulls $15.50-16.50; plain light downward to $13.

Calves totalled 1,191. Choice veal calves $27-32; common to medium $15-26.

Hog receipts totalled 4,238 head. Grade A hogs $29; dressed sows $21.

Sheep and lambs totalled 227. Good lambs $26-26.50; mediums $22-24; good light sheep $10-12; culls $5-8.

More Farmers Test Soil, Lime Not District Need

"The testing of Central Ontario farm soils is increasing," William Weir of Omemee, representative of Agricultural Chemicals Ltd., Port Hope, told the Examiner yesterday.

"I handled between 300 and 400 samples last year myself, right from the fields, and sent them to our laboratories in Detroit. We are a branch of the American Agricultural Chemical Co. It is a service I like to do, especially for farmers who haven't got around to testing their soils and using mineral fertilizers the field samples advise.

I learned in Haliburton last year that farmers generally have the notion they can't grow alfalfa and fall wheat. They believe it would be killed out in winter. But, a man at Highland Grove told me he didn't know for sure because he had never tried those crops.

My practice in calling on a prospective customer for fertilizers is to go over his land with him and discuss its use and the results he has been getting. I might take five or six samples from one field. At one place last year, a farmer and I came to a knoll. He said he was getting only a light crop off it, and wondered if we could do anything about it.

There is no charge for this service, and when I take back the laboratory reports with their recommendations, it is entirely up to the farmer from there on. He is under no obligation to me, and that is a satisfactory basis of discussing any problems that are giving him concern.

LIME ONLY IN SPOTS

I also found out that our tests indicate what every farmer knows, that we need very little lime in our Central Ontario counties. One farmer in the Downeyville section of Victoria required no lime, but there was a part of a field where the soil indicated the need of some lime at the rate of 1½ tons an acre."

Mr. Weir said that any fertilizer was bound to show crop results, "but we don't have to guess today, and it is mighty easy to have soil tested. I even take the samples myself, usually, but only when I go over a field or farm with the owner. It is his experience that is a helpful guide.

For the Downeyville man, I brought back to him the schedule of fertilizer use. It went like this, the recommendation for most of one field was 3-12-12 at the rate of 300 to 400 lbs. an acre; another field 0-14-14 at 500 lbs. an acre; another field 4-12-10 at 250 lbs. an acre.

A farmer near Udney sowed hay seed on spring wheat. Early in the fall he decided to apply 0-14-14 at the rate of 500 pounds an acre. I don't know now it is going to turn out, but both have good hopes.

CORN FOR TOURISTS

A farmer near Sebright in Victoria sowed 12 acres of sweet corn two years ago. He sold the crop to tourists. But, it didn't yield as much as he had expected, fairly thin. So, he decided to take soil tests and see what fertilizer would do. On one area at planting time, the report recommended 2-14-8 and the other part of the field 3-12-12 at 250 lbs. to the acre. This was followed by side-dressing at second cultivation with 9-5-7, increasing the nitrogen, at 200 lbs. an acre. I can say he got immediate results last season.

We find little liming required, but most of the reports indicate soils low in phosphorus and potash. It think that is pretty common through our district.

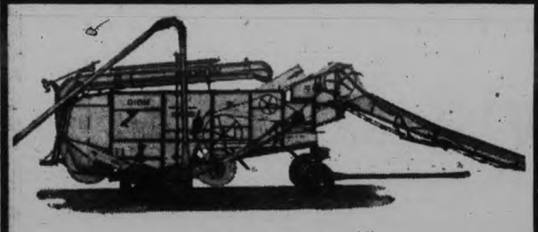
I like this soil testing in any case because it raises the question of getting the most production possible and what does the land need to maintain its fertility. The odd farmer says it's no good if he didn't get rain. I'm not quarrelling with that, although the rain is going to come some time, and any way the same comment would apply to manure.

Farming today is a scientific business. The farmer has to know soils and something about chemistry, a whole lot about machinery, and it helps if he knows about electricity, such measures as volts and watts and so on. He has to know a lot about nutrition, feeds and their values. I don't need to go down the list, but it is a a fact.

And that doesn't mention marketing and financing. In soil testing you start at the basis of the industry. You remove the guess work. To me, there is not much sense in buying good seed, and implements, putting work into the soil, and generally operating without enquiring into the fertility of your land, what it needs and what can be done in improving for maximum production."

"Growth was exceptional—mortality very low—on FUL-O-PEP!" says Jas. Pilkington

Some of Jas. Pilkington's flock on range



Dear Sirs:
We fed Ful-O-Pep Chick Starter this year and enjoyed exceptional results. In fact, some visitors hesitated to believe us when we told the age of the birds as they looked over our growing flock.
Growth was exceptionally good and we enjoyed very low mortality figures on a flock of 1600 birds.

ARTHRITIC PAIN
Almost Unbearable
"My husband is a carpenter on the railway," writes Mrs. Jack Taylor, St. Catharines, Ont. "One morning he went to work and found he could not climb the ladder to do his work. A dull pain in his shoulder and leg was almost unbearable. The druggist recommended T-R-C's. My husband took 2 capsules and before the day was over he was back at work again. Now, if he has any pain at all, he carries T-R-C's in his lunch pail."

Lonely Iron Ore Island Operates From Under Sea

By ERIC SEYMOUR
Canadian Press Correspondent

BELL ISLAND, Nfld. (CP)—This lonely iron ore island in the middle of Conception Bay, five miles from St John's, will soon be making mining history.

The longest and highest slope conveyor belt system in the world has been installed and workers are putting on the finishing touches before it goes into operation. The No. 3 mine where it is installed is 1,600 feet below sea level and three miles under the sea.

Since the Bell Island mines first opened in 1895, four under-sea mines have been created. Bell Island has had its fluctuating periods of good demand and poor. In the last few years extra orders with long-range demands from British, Canadian and American firms prompted the mine owners, Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation, to install the conveyor system to speed production.

The cost is several million dollars.

Previous to the installation of the new equipment, mining operations were slow and expensive because of the necessity of using a number of methods of transport to move the ore from its home under the sea to the surface. An involved system using electric locomotives and hoists carried the ore on its 12,500-foot trip.

Whereas only 25 tons of muck could be carried with the old equipment, the new belt will transport 1,000 tons an hour in a steady stream. Two flights of the system will be 1,450 feet long and eight flights 1,230 feet long. The belts are 36 inches wide and will haul the iron ore 575 feet a minute The entire rubber railroad project will be automatically controlled.

Present manager of the mines is W. L. Stuewe, a Montana mining engineer who has been in Newfoundland since 1948. Before that he worked with Dosco in Cape Breton.

In 1950, 1,460 Bell Island miners earned $3,543,598. Last year the mining company paid out $6,945,000 to 1,920 miners.

Charge Socreds Paid For Ads With Gov't Funds

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

British Columbia's Social Credit government, not long in office and admittedly inexperienced in politics, extended to all British Columbians last Yuletide a "Merry Christmas and a happy New Year."

There was nothing amiss in that. Any government just six months in office—even a minority government holding only 19 seats in a 48-seat legislature—would feel nothing but the best of goodwill to the electorate.

What the opposition didn't like about it, it developed at Victoria Thursday, was the medium employed to convey the government's greetings. The CCF charted that Premier W. A. C. Bennett and his cabinet used public funds to pay for the message—expressed through newspaper advertisements at $6 a column inch.

CCF PROTEST

Opposition leader Harold Winch protested the ads. He said that in other years, previous governments had issued season's greetings which the newspapers had carried as news stories.

Premier Bennett had no apology to make. He said he would take full responsibility for the advertising.

The blow-up arose during consideratiin of a $125,000 estimate for government advertising this year.

At Edmonton, R. E. Ansley, an independent Social Credit member, lauded Quebec for the "important battle" it is waging in refusing to sign a tax-transfer agreement with the federal government.

Margarine—colored or not—was discussed inconclusively in the Manitoba legislature, while at Regina, the Saskatchewan house debated public welfare. Welfare Minister J. H. Sturdy said the province is prepared to provide grants for municipalities wishing to construct approved housing projects for aged citizens in adverse circumstances.

In New Brunswick, Liberal leader A. C. Taylor charged the Progressive Conservative government with "waste and extravagance."

Communists Continue Riots On Korean Prison Islands

By JOHN RANDOLPH

KOJE ISLAND, Korea, (AP)—Why do Communist captives still riot in blood battles on the prison islands of South Korea?

Is it the result of any mistreatment or brutality by the United Nations command—as the Red radio at Peiping claims? Is it the work of trigger-happy guards supplied by the U.S. and Republic of Korea armies?

Or is it some peculiar madness inside the prisoners themselves?

The March 7 riots on the islet of Yoncho, where 23 North Korean Reds were killed and 42 wounded, raised these questions.

Such violence was understandable in May and June last year after the Reds had gained control of their huge, 5,000-man compounds on Koje Island and had seized the camp commander, Brig. - Gen. Francis T. Dodd.

But Dodd's rescue and the breakup of the Reds into smaller, more manageable compounds has not ended even the major violence.

Last October more than 50 Chinese Communists were killed in a riot in their new camp on Cheju Island. Last January nearly 90 North Korean Reds met a like fate on the islet of Pongam.

There have been more than a score or more of other "incidents" that include attacks on guards, shooting of mutinous single prisoners, and frequent compound "suicides" that look suspiciously like Communist lynchings.

What are the reasons for this violence?

To get these answers and others like them I made a nine-day tour of UN prison camps in South Korea — travelling nearly 1,500 miles.

I talked to high-ranking commanders and to buck private compound commanders, watched the prisoners at work, play and rest, and visited their compounds and workshops. Some spat curses as we passed and others seranaded us with a brass band.

You cannot see everything in nine days but not once did I see a single act of UN brutality or mistreatment—not even minor "hazing." On the contrary, I saw many positive acts of genuine kindness by Allied troops.

To explain the bloody outbreaks American officers and men give these general reasons:

1. Prisoners in the Communist camps have never "surrendered" mentally and still wage war as Red soldiers at every opportunity.
2. Die-hard Communist leaders in the Red camps goad their men into even more bitter hatred of UN troops
3. There is a possibility that instructions still reach some Red compounds through Communist espionage agents.

To combat this, compounds are kept small enough to handle—not more than 500 men each. A strict eye is kept for trouble brewing and too-ambitious compound leaders are isolated whenever they can be located.

Informers are planted in dangerous compounds whenever possible, and two American soldiers are kept in each one during the day. Sharp inspections are made at random intervals at night. Strictest isolation is maintained to keep down the possibility of message sending.

At all times, prisoners are handled with firm but scrupulous fairness. If there is a threat of riot, overwhelming force is displayed to discourage any Red attack in advance—and tear gas or vomiting gas grenades are always at hand to stop it mercifully if it begins.

But if all else fails, the orders to the Allied soldiers are inevitable:

"If a prisoner attacks United Nations personnel, the guard will shoot the prisoner."

Allied Troops' Games Involves Celebrities

FONTAINEBLEAU (CP)—A new game among Allied forces stationed at this French base involves a spot of history.

On off-duty week-ends, an international group may go to nearby Paris, seek out the haunts of history's famous names and try to "plant foot" as nearly as possible in the place the celebrity may have trod.

Cpl. Sidney Harris of Cloverdale, B.C., and Lac. Gilles Lusignan of Hull, Que., recently formed part of a party searching for spots made famous or infamous by Napoleon, Cardinal Richilieu. Talley Rand Toulouse Lautrec and Lafayette.

Near the Eiffel tower a Frenchman indicated a place where Hitler is supposed to have posed for a propaganda picture.

Harris and Lusignan wiped their feet on the spot.

Babies Need Company Other Than Mother

LONDON (CP)—Even baby needs a social life, says a London doctor.

Speaking at a conference on children's nurseries, Dr. S Yudkin of London's Highgate district said it isn't good for a baby to spend every moment of his time with his mother.

"The idea seems to have grown up recently that a young child needs nobody but his mother," said the doctor. "But that makes the baby's outlook limited." More nurseries and nursery schools were needed.

Police Inspector Dies

HAMILTON (CP) — Inspector Harry Allan, 52, veteran member of Hamilton's police force, died in hospital Thursday night after a lengthy illness. He was director of the newly-formed Hamilton police public safety division. Born in Toronto, inspector Allan lived in Guelph before joining the force in Hamilton in 1925.

Says CCF Gov't Takes Kickback On Insurance

REGINA (CP)—J. O. Rawluk said Thursday that he swore out an affidavit alleging kickbacks on insurance commissions because "I wanted to make amends for the rotten filth I was involved in."

Mr. Rawluk, former agent for the Saskatchewan government insurance office, said in the affidavit sworn out last May, that Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines and M. F. Allore, general manager of the insurance office, were paid a share of the commission on insurance business directed through Mr. Rawluk's firm by Mr. Allore.

Mr. Fines and Mr. Allore have denied charges made against them in the affidavit and Mr. Rawluk has reiterated them.

Mr. Rawluk concluded his initial testimony Thursday before the Saskatchewan legislature's crown corporations committee.

Asked by E. C. Leslie, committee counsel, why he had sworn the affidavit, he said that he wanted to show the people "the corruption" involved in Financial Agencies Limited, his insurance firm.

He said he had endeavored unsuccessfully to have the affidavit brought out at a number of political meetings during last summer's provincial election campaign.

Regina Printer 49 Years On Job

REGINA (CP)—Anton Ritter still likes his work as a printer after 49 years on the job.

The quiet-spoken man came to Regina 50 years ago at the age of 14, when "there was nothing around Regina but bald prairie. It wasn't yet a city."

In 1904 he was apprenticed to printing for the Regina Daily Standard, and also worked for The Leader and Regina's German-language newspaper, Der Courier, before setting up his own printing shop.

Mr. Ritter joined Der Courier staff in 1907 and became a journeyman printer in 1909. Linotype machines were just being introduced at that time, and he went to Chicago for a course in linotype operating.

He returned to work for The Leader in 1911 but 1912 found him once again with Der Courier.

After 20 years with that newspaper, he struck out on his own. He and son Nicholas, who had worked for Der Courier for three years, set up their own printing shop in 1921 and never looked back.

Equipped with a wide range of type styles and two linotype machines, Anton and his son do job work for various printing firms. Several Regina printers have presses but no type-setting machines. Many of these send their work to the Ritters.

Mr. Ritter plans to remain in Regina when he retires.

"The country is very much like that in Hungary where I lived until my parents came to this country.

"This has been my home ever since I arrived 50 years ago and all my family — five sons and a daughter—live here," he says

Split Over Toronto Bill Forces Budget To Shadow

TORONTO (CP)—A budget address forecasting record expenditures of $350,000,000 was shoved into the background Thursday when Premier Frost and opposition members turned the legislature into a verbal battleground.

Bitter debate broke out over the Toronto metropolitan bill, shortly after the premier concluded an 80-minute budget speech which outlined huge expenditures on highways and public works.

Mayor A. J. Reaume of Windsor, Liberal member for Essex North, appeared in the House for the first time this week, and the premier rapped him for his absenteeism.

He also called Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver and his followers "politically bankrupt" and "do-nothings" for opposing the bill, which would unify the 13 Toronto municipalities under one council. The bill was given second reading by 69 votes to 9.

Mayor Reaume said the government should appoint an independent commission to run the metropolitan area, rather than drawing on elected municipal councils.

"You'll have them fighting for their own sections," he said.

LITTLE CLIQUES

"They'll form little cliques and build against each other. If you push that bill down the throats of the people, it will build a fire which will burn and smoulder for a long time."

The premier lost his temper for the first time in the month-old session.

Pointing and shaking his finger at the opposition benches, he said the Windsor mayor was "talking pure nonsense."

"If he was in the House a little more often he wouldn't say these things," he said. "This is the first time he's been here all week. The members that represent Toronto are the ablest that have even been in the House. If he'd been here to hear them, perhaps he would have learned something."

Mr. Reaume also said an independent body should have been appointed to conduct a fact-finding investigation on the metropolitan problem, rather than the Ontario municipal board, which he said is "constantly under the pressure of the government."

SHOULD BE VOTE

Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver repeated a contention he made earlier that a plebiscite should have been conducted among the residents of the area.

Mr. Frost replied that the town of Walkerville had voted against joining Windsor in 1935 but was annexed anyway. He agreed with Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar's remark that all Windsor wanted was "Walkerville's money."

Joseph Salsberg, Labor-Progressive (Communist) member for Toronto St. Andrew, said the Toronto city council's opposition to the bill was an indication of the people's wish.

"I'll deal with you later," Mr. Frost said. "You don't kill a fly with a hammer."

Earlier, Mr. Frost digressed from his prepared 12,000-word budget address several times to emphasize the government's solid financial position.

"People will say this is an election budget," he said. "But it's nothing of the kind. I'd even call it an austerity budget, considering the fact we're making every dollar go as far as possible."

Using a phrase which has almost become his trademark, Mr. Frost said it was in addition "a sunshine buget, with something under the Christmas tree for everybody."

SCALE MODEL—American jet pilots Lt. Donald Smith (left) and Lt. Warren G. Brown use model planes to show how two Communist MiG planes shot down Lt. Brown's Thunderjet over the American Zone of Germany. Lt. Brown, uninjured, parachuted to safety at Regensberg after the unprovoked attack. The State Department has sent a strong note of protest to the Czech government. The enemy MiGs flew out of Czech skies.

Dr. Jordan Says:

Seek Advice If Simple Means Don't Check Chronic Fatigue

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, MD.

All of us suffer fatigue sometimes, but there are some people who are just always tired, seemingly without any reason.

The proper balance between work, recreation and sleep has to be worked out, of course. Change of occupation is not often recommended in these cases, because it usually does not succeed. Many people need to learn how to relax when they have the chance. The adoption of a balanced diet with plenty of vitamins is beneficial where the abnormal fatigue is at least partly due to faulty diet.

Some stimulating drugs are dangerous and should not be used unless under the advice of a physician.

Some who complain of being fatigued cannot identify the cause so easily. A true disease is sometimes at fault. For example, an anaemia often shows up by lack of pep. People who suffer from chronic infections or disturbed bodily functions are also likely to feel tired all the time. Broken arches, overweight, and many similar conditions also show by producing a state of chronic fatigue.

Diabetes, heart disease, tuberculosis, vitamin deficiencies, low blood pressure, and low metabolism are among the disorders which may be discovered.

NEED RIGHT TREATMENT

When a definite physical condition can be found the proper treatment can be started. Each disease must be attacked by the measures which have been shown to be useful.

Those who are abnormally tired should first review and study the kind of life they are leading to make sure that they cannot solve the problem by simple means. If this cannot be done then the advice of a physician is indicated. If some physical cause—such as one of those mentioned—can be found, treatment is likely to be effective.

Hastings Ladies' Aid Holds Meeting

HASTINGS — (ENS) — The Ladies Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held their March monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Wm. Whitred with 13 present.

The president, Mrs. Max Humphrise called the meeting to order. Mrs. W. E. Wilson led in prayer. Mrs. Harold Fife read a St. Patrick's poem.

Discussion of the final plans for banquet to be held on April 14 for which the ladies will cater. A quilting and pot luck supper will be held on March 25.

Twenty-five dollars was voted for European Flood Relief.

Mrs. Harold Fife conducted a bird contest which was won by Mr. Gordon Dickey.

The hostess served refreshments.

Mrs. Max Humphries thanked Mrs. Whitred for her hospitality.

Rabbits' Habits Cause Alarm In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—According to scientists there are about 750,000,000 rabbits in Australia in an average year, said Richard G. Casey, minister in charge of the Commonwealth scientific and industrial research organization, in a recent warning to farmers. He urged them to continue their efforts to control the rabbit population.

Mr. Casey said seven or eight rabbits ate as much pasture as one sheep. If there were no rabbits, therefore, Australia could carry another 100,000,000 sheep, or perhaps double its sheep population

Each rabbit probably destroyed about 10 shillings worth of pasture each year. To offset this, Australia exported about 100,000,000 rabbits a year in the shape of skins or carcasses, but these brought a return of only about £6,000,000.

About a million square miles of Australia was infested by rabbits in varying degrees.

The virus disease of myxomatosis, introduced in recent years from South America, has probably killed about 750,000,000 rabbits in each of the last three years Now, however, it was starting to lose its killing power and more and more rabbits were recovering from it.

Mrs. James S. Heney

DARTFORD (ENS) — The funeral service was held Monday, March 9, at Dixon's funeral home, Markham, for the late Ida Elizabeth Weir, wife of the late James Sanders Heney. She died suddenly at the home of her son, Clayton, at Burford on Thursday, March 5. Interment was in Pine Hill cemetery.

Relatives and friends were present from Leamington, Napanee, Warkworth, Campbellford, Roseneath, Guelph, Lindsay, Peterborough, Stouffville, Colborne, Millikin, Baltimore, and Port Hope.

Mrs. Heney, who was in her 82nd year, had been in good health until the evening of her death.

Daughter of the late William Weir and Isabella Campbell, her early years were spent at Mayersburg. She taught music in Havelock for several years before her marriage in 1894 to James Heney, of the Wilson settlement where they farmed, and their children, William, Olive and Clayton, were born.

In 1908, Mr. and Mrs. Heney and family moved to Cherrywood, Pickering township, where their daughter Helen was born. In 1915 they moved to Milliken in Markham township where they owned two farms on one of which William now resides.

She had always been active in church and Sunday school work and later in the Women's Missionary Society. She was the first president of Milliken WMS and a past rural president of Toronto East Presbytery.

Since her husband's death in 1938, shes has lived with her children, making her home during the winter months with her son's family at Burford. She was active up to the time of her death.

Surviving are two sons, William of Milliken and Clayton, Burford; two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Wood (Olive), Stouffville and Mrs. Norman Hutchison (Helen), Napanee; ten grandchildren; one great granddaughter; a nephew, Harry Honey of Leamington whom she raised from infancy, one sister, Miss Phem Weir and a brother Wesley Weir of Warkworth.

Aussie Casualties

CANBERRA (Reuters)—Australian battle casualties in Korea have reached 1,117, Defence Minister Sir Philip McBride told the House of Representatives today. Of the total, 264 are dead or missing, he said.

BONER OF THE YEAR—There's an engraver in England whose face is as red as the Queen's Guards' tunics. In engraving the official coronation medallion pictured above, he got the "Z" (arrow) in "Elizabeth" backward. The boner was not discovered until proofs had been made and distributed both in Great Britain and the U.S. The entire lot had to be re-minted. There's no word on what happened to the engraver.

Criticism Indicates Interest Public Takes In Education

REGINA (CP)—Dr. W.P. Thompson, president of the University of Saskatchewan, says the lay public should not be denied the right to criticize education. Such criticism indicates the vital interest of the public in all phases of teaching.

Dr. Thompson told the students of the College of Education here that he was much less disturbed by the general criticisms than by the replies of some educationists. Teachers had been attributing false motives to the critics.

"Educators accuse critics of being 'tight-fisted' and wanting to keep down taxes, of writing sensational articles to earn money, of being constitutional reactionaries, and of being ignorant of the subject about which they are writing," said Dr. Thompson.

"Perhaps it is true that the public doesn't know much about the successes of education and hears all too much of its failures."

Dr. Thompson recalled "violent criticism" directed at doctors and medical schools about 1910, and suggested that colleges of education and teachers throughout the country are perhaps experiencing a similar phase.

"Many medical reforms were enacted as a result of that criticism," he said. "Public confidence in the medical profession has steadily increased until today doctors enjoy almost unrivalled prestige."

Dr Thompson did not suggest that professional education is in need of reform similar to that of the medical professional 40 years ago. But he expressed the hope that the current suspicion and criticism would have a similar outcome.

Aid Foreign Industrialists Come To Canada

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Greater Vancouver metropolitan development commission is surveying plans to aid foreign industrialists to establish themselves in British Columbia.

One plan to be explored calls for formation of an industrial "foundation" to advance capital to foreign companies seeking to build here.

Many are barred from bringing capital out of their own country, chief among them British manufacturers. If capital could be advanced until blocked sterling is "unfrozen" new enterprises might be set up here.

Many cities in the United States have "foundations" organized to bring industries to their community. Some finance the building of plants on a lease basis or sell them on a mortgage plan. Australia, too, has a government loan plan to encourage foreign industry.

The commission will appoint a committee to include a banker to survey the finance plans used in other countries.

Income Tax Evaders

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Vincent Hallinan and his wife surrendered Thursday on income tax evasion indictments charging them with evading $5,221 in taxes for 1946-50. After each posted $2,500 bonds pending arraignment March 26, the 1952 progressive party presidential candidate told reporters the charge was "politically inspired." Hallinan added that "we're not afraid—not a bit worried."

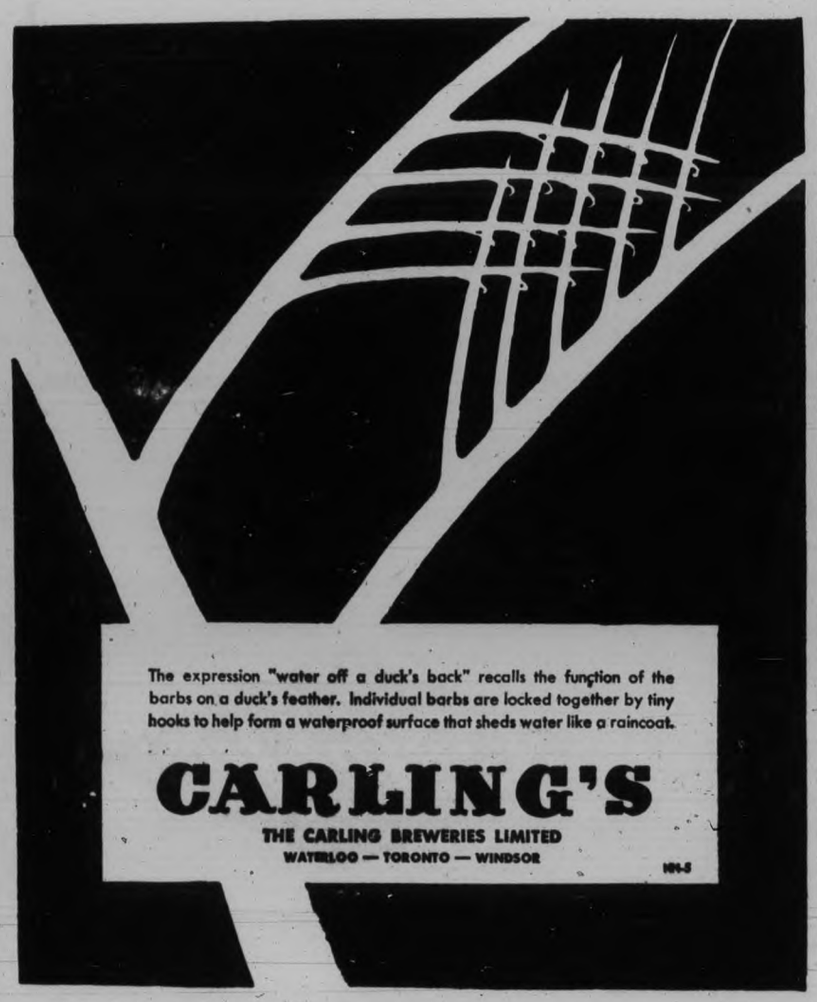
The lives of many victims of accidents are saved every year and first aid work of the Association prevents many from being permanently crippled.

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE BRIGADE

In 1929 the St. John Ambulance Corps formed the Peterborough unit. Since that time hundreds of people have been trained in first aid work by qualified St. John members.

They have been ready to swing into action as fire or serious accident of any kind of natural disaster hits the community.

Prior to this year the necessary services of the St. John Ambulance Corps have been financed by small contributions from interested Peterborough people and from provincial headquarters.



This year they are one of the participating agencies in the Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund.

Your support of the campaign between March 6 and 18 will help to maintain and improve the valuable service of The St. John Ambulance Corps in Peterborough.

Don Community To House 32,000, Nine Industries

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

We are going through deep farmland when the driver pointed to a barn and said: "That will be the shopping centre."

By shopping centre, he meant about 50 stores, ranging from a department store to a shoe shine parlor.

He was speaking, in fact, about the commercial heart of a community of some 30,000 people which doesn't now exist, but which will be well on its way before the summer is over and which probably will be completed in about six years—at a total expenditure of $200,000,000.

The place, eight miles northeast of downtown Toronto, will be called Don Mills and will be part of the metropolitan area into which Toronto and its suburbs are being formed.

2,200 ACRES

It covers 2,200 acres of land which has been saved for such a planned development by the fact that the east and west branches of the Don river have cut valleys around it which have kept it from earlier use, except as farmland.

At that, some of the farming is about as fantastic as the metamorphosis which now is taking place.

For instance, there is one farmhouse which, on the outside, looks like just a cozy place of a better type, with an enclosed garden in front and a swimming pool nearby.

Inside, it still gives that snug, homelike feeling, although the rooms are certainly larger than usual and the fireplaces tall. And the kitchens could feed scores.

But the dozen bedrooms upstairs, each with its private bathroom, really set it apart, especially the bathroom with the gold-plated hardware fixtures.

Not far away is a log farmhouse which must have been built 100 years or more ago.

Neither farmhouse, however, was so interesting as the latest demonstration of the fabulous things which today are taking place in Canada—this planned, integrated community-to-be.

525 HOMES

Its centre today is farmland covered with stakes, but by fall it will contain 525 single family homes in the $11,000 to $14,000 range, and 350 apartment-style family units. This will be just the first of several neighborhoods, laid out so that no traffic arteries pass through them, and set on ample grounds.

Karl C. Fraser, former director of Canada's wartime mutual aid program, who is directing the project, said the objective is "gracious living" in whatever income bracket; whether in multiple-unit housing or the $100,000 homes expected on the community's outskirts.

Industries already in or coming to the area include:

International Business Machines, which opened a $1,500,000 plant a couple of years ago and now is building a $2,000,000 extension; Perfect Circle Company; Philco Corporation; Barber Greene Canada, Ltd.; Hugh C. MacLean Publications; Canadian Controllers,Ltd; Canadian Controllers, Ltd.; and Kawneer Company of Niles, Mich.

INDUSTRIAL SITES

Of the 2,200 acres, about 400 acres will be taken up with industrial and commercial sites; about 400 acres will go to park lands; and about 1,400 acres to residential housing. The Don river will be dammed to make a narrow lake nearly a mile long in the community, to provide bathing, boating, and playgrounds along its banks.

Schools will be provided. The many tall trees in the area will be left standing or moved, if possible, and new trees will be planted.

About half the 80 acres set aside for shopping area and community centre will be for parking. Automobile and truck traffic will be kept out of the shopping centre by providing access and parking areas at the rear of buildings.

Sir William Holford, British authority on civic development, who was consulted, said the area is "probably the most attractive natural townsite" he had ever seen.

The company which acquired the land and which is handling the project is Don Mills Development, Ltd., controlled by a group of industrialists associated with E. P. Taylor, who is chairman of the board.

Mrs. Charles Smith read "thank-you" notes from members who had received boxes of fruit during illness. The treasurer reported a cheque for $10 sent to the Flood Relief Fund.

The president announced completed arrangements for an entertainment in the town hall March 20, featuring the Dixieland Belles minstrel show from Bridgenorth. Mrs. Charles Smith invited the members to her home for the April meeting. During the social hour, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. Coburn and Mrs. D. Smelt served refreshments.

Abbott Says Opposition Groups Show No Proof Of Gov't Waste, Inefficiency

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott said Thursday opposition groups in the Commons have not substantiated charges of waste, inefficiency and extravagance in government.

Speaking in the Commons, Mr. Abbott said:

"I certainly would be the last to assert that of any spending program of $4,500,000,000 to $4,750,000,000, every cent was wisely spent, and that no errors of judgment had been made. That, of course, would be manifestly absurd.

"But I do say this, that there has not been widespread waste, widespread inefficiency, widespread extravagance. And I do say this, that every effort has been made by government departments and by my own department, to see that the taxpayer gets the maximum value for his dollar. . .

BETTER VALUE

"I make this further assertion, that Canada is getting as good or better value for its defence dollar and for its expenditures on public matters in other fields, as any other comparable country."

Mr. Abbott spoke during continued debate on the 1953-54 budget. The debate was interrupted at the dinner adjournment so that Mr. Abbott could spend the evening in discussions with R. A. Butler, British chancellor of the exchequer.

At the night sitting members discussed matters concerning the Canadian National Railways and other government business.

Mr. Abbott said J. M. Macdonnell chief financial critic for the Progressive Conservative Opposition, had "indulged in the usual sweeping general charges of waste, extravagance and inefficiency without as usual, particularizing any of those charges."

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, (PC-Nanaimo) had brought forward charges of waste in construction of radar stations without mentioning any names, places or dates. He said Gen. Pearkes had admitted that the general had not previously drawn the matter to the attention of the defence department.

BETTER WAY

Mr. Abbott suggested that in future Gen. Pearkes get in touch with departments on complaints. If unsatisfied with the reply, then it was his duty to bring the matter before the Commons.

"He would not have got headlines in that way," said Mr. Abbott. "But I think he would have made a greater contribution to efficiency in government if he had done it that way than by following the procedure he did follow."

Ross Thatcher (CCF-Moose Jaw) had charged the government with milking the taxpayer to provide frills for the armed forces.

"I can see no reason in the world why these young men who are asked to accept the career of soldiers for our country should not be provided at least with some of the amenities that we have," said Mr. Abbott.

DEFENDS TAX

He defended his tax proposals and said he sincerely believes the reductions have been "fairly and sensibly distributed."

He added:

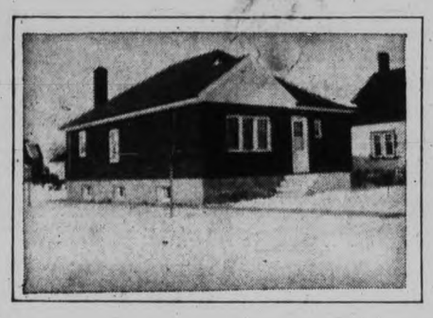
There is nothing devious or misleading about the budget. It is not an election budget. It is not a rich man's budget. It is an honest and straightforward budget in which an earnest attempt has been made to pass on to the people of Canada, in as fair a manner as possible, the reward for an excellent record of hard work and production."

Speaking before Mr. Abbott, E.D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) said that the finance minister in his Feb. 19 budget speech had sought to give the impression there would be tax cuts of $507,000,000 over two years,while the correct figure was $345,000,000. He said a difference of $15,000,000 in the estimated tax savings was "too big an error to have been made accidentally."

PARITY INCOME

Victor Quelch (SC-Acadia) urged that the government take steps towards seeing that farmers get "parity income." That meant a fair share of the national income and a fair balance between farm costs and prices for farm products.

J. L. Gibson (Ind-Alberni) said radio and television essentially should be a private industry. The CBC should not be "both judge and jury" over the broadcasting business.



"Tell us about the horses," interjected Julian Ferguson (PC—Simcoe North) during Mr. Abbott's speech. He was referring to reports that horses were put on the payroll as laborers at the army camp in Petawawa, Ont.

"The trouble with the honorable member for Simcoe North is that he can't think of anything but horses; I don't know what part of the horse," retorted Mr. Abbott.

"You would like to forget about the horses and you got a few jackasses in your party, too," interjected Mr. Ferguson.

At this point, a Liberal member whinnied like a horse.

All Work Done By Hand In Large Leather Factory

By JEAN E. STENTON

MEXICO CITY. — Factories in Mexico are different from those in Canada and one of the largest leather factories in the capital does all its work by hand. This is the Arte Mexicano S.A. on Amado Nervo 82.

* * * *

Although they employ a total of more than 500 people altogether, a great many of those do not work at the factory itself, the manager, Miguel Guzman, explained.

* * * *

Since the time of Cardenas, industrial concerns have had to be very careful that the workers do not become Communists. The employees here have a union but it is not one such as operates in the large industries. This union is not controlled by one labor group.

* * * *

This factory makes all kinds of leather goods such as shoes, suitcases, brief cases, purses, suede jackets, etc. For each different article they have separate, independent little branch plants and at present there are more than eight of these shops beside the main plant. They are all operating full time and their work is returned to the central factory.

* * * *

LIKE SMALLER PLACES

Many of the Mexicans do not like working in a larger concern and are much happier in these smaller shops. In one shop nothing but leather coats are made; (2) all alligator products; (3) shoes; (4) luggage pieces; (5) chiselling and tooling is a special department and the work from there is sent to the central office. Four of the smaller ones are combined into one larger one. There is always a good staff kept at the main building in the sales rooms to meet tourists.

* * * *

Each one of these smaller shops has a foreman and a superintendent. Their work is performed independently from the rest of the plants.

* * * *

A large supply of leather hides is kept on hand in the corporation's big storage room and each of the smaller concerns is supplied with material.

* * * *

"We find it much more economical to do our work by hand than to have it machine made," Mr. Guzman explained. "You must know the quality of your goods to avoid waste and while on some things there is a saving by using machinery, you waste so much material that the machine does not pay for itself. In the United States a punch press method is used. But in Mexico hand labor is cheaper and you get a pattern that can be directly applied to the leather. A man with a knife cuts and saves more leather than a machine would. While we cannot turn out as much as factories with machines, the compensation comes on the greater number of pieces from each hide—an important item considering the high cost of leather. There is also much finer workmanship.

* * * *

DO OWN DESIGNS

"Each artist does his own design and then it is approved. When it is necessary to introduce a new style purse, the design is first cut in cardboard to see how it will look. In that way the pattern for a new handbag is born," the manager said.

* * * *

Young boys start as apprentices. The foreman watches and sees which has more ability in the designing line. As soon as he is able, the boy is given a purse and told to make a replica in tooled leather.

* * * *

The designing or the tooling is a more intricate operation, the manager explained. Basically the frames are much the same. Then they study and choose an ancient cultural design for the central piece of work and as added ornamentation roses may be added.

* * * *

The man in charge of the tooling makes the first design. Then it goes to the other workers who design the different parts. There are no patterns except in the artist's mind. It is the same for one purse or a large order. They only cut enough articles that can be finished in a six-day week.

* * * *

There are some purses that are good in the market for more than six or eight years. Others last only one season. They are always producing new styles or adaptations for the market.

* * * *

SMALL BOYS WORK

There is quite a fluctuation in the staff Mr. Guzman declared. Small boys come and beg to work. They all receive some craft training in the schools and during vacation they want a job in the shops. They are given a provisional contract to work and are paid to learn. But they are not accepted as regular laborers in the other plants until they have proven their ability.

* * * *

After that trial period if they remain with the firm they are given full social security benefits, pension rights, and all the benefits under the new work laws. This is not generally done in many of Mexico's factories, Mr. Guzman pointed out. This plant has been pioneering to raise the standard of living for its employees.

* * * *

The biggest competition and greatest problem that factories like this one have to meet is from the small family groups which operate just in their own houses. A man who has learned the tooling trade will teach his sons and they will offer the stores a product much cheaper than that from the larger leather factories. Just as the price is cheaper, so is the article more poorly made and more shoddy. The plants maintain their standards.

* * * *

The big factories use only a special type of leather for tooling while the family workers will use anything. The PRACTICALLY A NEW BLOCK—Fires during the past two years in the business section between Hunter and Simcoe Sts., on George St., have resulted in practically a whole new block. The 1951 Zacks building fire scars have been covered by the new Metropolitan building and now the Ostrander's-Levine's old Metropolitan building is taking on a new look. When the wooden front (above) was taken down this week, people were surprised to see how far advanced the renovations were. The store fronts follow the latest plans, adding to the main street's modern appearance.

No More Awards For Title Teams Board Decides

The Peterborough Board of Education have put an end to the era of windbreakers, travelling kits and similar awards for championship teams. This policy was decided on Thursday night at the March meeting of the board.

It was a case of too much of the taxpayers' money being spent on these awards. Also trustees felt that the popular team players received disproportionate recognition when compared with those in other extra-curricular activities such as drama and choral groups and other students with individual talents.

Nobody objected Thursday night when the following recommendation came from the teacher-trustee liaison committee:

"It is the feeling of this committee that awards for distinction won in any competition by groups or individuals in school activities are not necessary, but that encouragement and support should be given to the maintenance of a high standard of accomplishment in the various extra-curricular activities."

TOO COSTLY

The supervision committee of the board, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Anne Rowell, had previously decided that the previous policy of "presents" for winning teams was too costly; and it was unfair to other students who were equally successful in other activities. However they decided to get the views of the teachers on the subject.

At a meeting of the teacher-trustee liaison committee they learned that the teachers were against the present system of awards as well.

"Their opinion was substantially the same as that expressed by the supervision committee," said Mrs. Rowell.

The board adopted the new policy unanimously and without comment.

Later Mrs. Rowell explained to the Examiner that it was not the intention of the board to ignore students engaged in sports and other activities.

"We want to do everything we can to encourage extra-curricular activities," she said. "The board will do all in its power to provide good instructors, the right equipment, and help these groups when they go on trips . . . The place for recognition of their accomplishments is in the school itself. We don't want to reward the students for doing what they should do.

"We are certainly not losing interest but we felt the old system was wrong," said Mrs. Rowell. "It wasn't a fair way of distributing the money."

Renting Reputed Cheaper Than Owning

The economic law that makes renting cheaper than owning is that an article that loses value quickly even if not in use, can, by renting, be used by many people.

Speaking to Jim Donnelly at Hertz Drivurself and Call-A-Cab, he said this applied to cars where the yearly depreciation is heavy.

You can rent a 1953 car as you need it during the year and travel 3,000 miles for about $370.00 total cost, including $50,000 public liability insurance. Advt.

Boy Falls 10 Feet To Floor Of Arena From Balcony, Has No Serious Injury

Twelve - year - old Donald Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dunn, 375 Holloway Dr., narrowly escaped serious injury Thursday night when he fell more than 10 feet from a balcony to the floor of Civic Arena and landed on his shoulder.

Donald, who sustained a bruised right shoulder and strained neck, was due to be released this afternoon from Civic Hospital where he was taken by Nesbitt ambulance shortly after his fall. Extensive x-rays revealed no evidence of serious injuries of any kind although it was apparent the lad had suffered a severe shaking up.

PLAYING WITH FRIEND

While close to 1,000 fans were watching a minor league hockey game, Donald was playing with another boy on the balcony at the west end of the arena. He lost his balance and stumbled backwards, falling over the end of the balcony down to the floor, landing beside Charlie Condon, RR 4, Lakefield.

Jack McNamara and Bob Whiteside, who were sitting in the balcony near where Donald was playing, tried to catch him as he fell over their heads but missed.

Although those standing nearby said that Donald turned "white as a sheet" when he landed, the boy didn't lose consciousness at any time.

Arena Manager Walter Smiley called a doctor and ambulance and before he was taken to hospital the color had come back into Donald's face.

The first butterfly of the year was brought into The Examiner office today by Pete Ayotte, 527 Armour Rd. It had the dusty brown color of a moth, but held its wings vertically which is the sign of the butterfly.

TRIP TO PETERBOROUGH

Hastings county Holstein breeders are running a bus trip to Peterborough March 19, leaving Belleville at 8 a.m. Their intinerary includes the Quaker Oats mill, Norman McConkey's Lifloc Farm, and the Central Ontario Spring Show at the Exhibtion Grounds.

NO BUDGET YET

The Lakefield village council met Thursday afternoon to tussel with the 1953 budget and decided to ask the Board of Education for details of some of the items on the board's estimates. Another meeting will be held later to try to strike the 1953 tax rate.

WILL REPRESENT

A. M. Babb, Rabbi of the Beth Israel Synagogue, will represent the Jewish community of Peterborough at the national conference for Israel and Jewish Rehabilitation in Toronto Saturday and Sunday. Rabbi Babb will be one of more than 200 delegates attending the conference to discuss the need for increased aid to the Israel Relief Immigration Fund.

HOPES FOR SUNSHINE

Out on his Cavan township farm this afternoon, Robert Armstrong peered through the misty fog and saw weather next week that should be "all right" for the Spring Show, of which he is president. Of course that was wishful thinking, plus the hope that the law of averages even for variable March should produce some sunshine.

KIWANIS CLUB

Members of the PCVS and St. Peter's Key clubs were guests Thursday at the luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club, at the Empress hotel. John Madden, sales manager of the Outboard Marine Co., showed a color film on the more picturesque fishing spots in South America. Donald Gell, president of the PCVS Key club and Vern Jones, vice-president of the St. Peter's Key club, thanked the Kiwanis club for their support, and for having them as their guests.

Students Allowed To Leave Early For Farm Work

The Board of Education on Thursday night again approved the early release of secondary school students for farm work.

Only students who are candidates for standing in Grades XI and XII are eligible. They must have attended regularly up to and including May 22. And Principals C. S. Browne and Dr. Eldon P. Ray must find that the students are entitled to standing without writing the final school tests in June.

The students must agree to do farm work and continue to do the work as long as they are needed. If they are returning to school they cannot continue to work longer than the Saturday before the re-opening of school.

The Ontario Farm Labor Service is not running camps in 1953 so no representatives of that organization will be visiting schools this year.

A list of those asking for help on farms will be checked by John Kitney of the Peterborough-Suburban High School Board.

LT.-COL. NEIL GEMMELL

Col. N. Gemmell To Command Far East Group

Lt.-Col. Neil M. Gemmell, DSO, Peterborough's top-ranking soldier, has been appointed commander of the 25th Canadian reinforcement group in the Far East, Army Headquarters in Ottawa announced today.

The 42-year-old native of Peterborough was commander of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders during the campaign in Northwest Europe. And he brought the regiment back to Peterborough in 1945.

He joined the S D and Gs in June, 1940, as a lieutenant and received the rank of lieutenant-colonel before returning to Canada.

Lt.-Col. Gemmell is now assistant adjutant and quartermaster general at Fort Churchill, Manitoba, and he will leave shortly for his new post at Kure, Japan. He succeeds Lt.-Col. G. A. Taschereau, DSO, 40, of Quebec City, whose next appointment will be announced later.

STAYED IN REGULARS

After the Second World War Lt.-Col. Gemmell stayed on in the regular army. He was officer commanding the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry at Currie Barracks, Calgary, from October, 1947, to October, 1948; and he was attached to the Canadian Army Staff College at Kingston in 1949.

From there he went to Fort Churchill in May, 1950.

He was appointed commanding officer of the S D and Gs in February, 1945.

Before the war he was employed at Canada Packers. He is married to the former Margaret Morgan of Ashburnham.

Both Drivers Responsible Court Finds

Two Men Sue For Damages Each Allowed Half

Both parties in a motor accident case were found equally negligent in a judgment given Thursday by Judge John de N. Kennedy.

Robert V. Read of 177 Romaine St. was suing Orrin C. Seabrooke of 200 Auburn St. for $220.59, the damage caused to his car in a two-car collision at George and Perry Sts. on January 14, 1952. Seabrooke, the defendant, denied Read's claim of negligence and counter-claimed for $100, the amount of damages to his car.

As a result of Judge Kennedy's ruling both parties to the action will get only half of the damages asked.

Read said he was driving south on George St. at 10.45 p.m. when he collided with Seabrook's car that had come east on Perry St. and was starting to make a left turn to go north on George St. He claimed Seabrook did not stop before going into the intersection and he was not keeping a proper lookout.

SKIDDED

Seabrook denied this and said he was making a left turn and skidded on the icy intersection. He claimed Read was speeding and wasn't keeping his car under proper control.

Neither man was injured.

Gordon H. T. Farquharson was counsel for Read and Trevor E. Clarke was counsel for Seabrook.

English Know Mountbattens As Playboys With Purpose

There's a tradition that men of the Mountbatten family conceal a serious purpose under a ready grin. The Duke of Edinburgh is no exception. He takes in stride his high responsibilities as husband of the Queen. This story, one of a series, tells of his family background, education and naval career.

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The Mountbattens, they say, are playboys with a purpose. The Duke of Edinburgh fits the pattern.

A Mountbatten on his mother's side, Philip has the family trademarks—love of the sea and a sense of mission under a gay exterior.

Reckless and light-hearted in his dashing naval days, he now gives strict attention to his state duties as first gentleman of the realm.

Similarly, Admiral Earl Mountbatten—"Uncle Dickie" to Philip—as a young man drove a monogrammed limousine and gave lavish penthouse parties. They said he was just a playboy. When war came, he proved himself.

FAMOUS SEA LORD

The Mountbatten naval tradition was started by Philip's grandfather, a German princeling named Prince Louis of Battenberg. He entered the Royal navy in 1868, and rose to be First Sea Lord.

By an ironic twist, the feeling against things German that accompanied the First World War—it extended even to sausages and dachshunds—removed Prince Louis from command. The man who helped make the navy the strongest in the world had to watch the war from the sidelines.

Renouncing his German titles he chose his mother's name, Mountbatten, a compliment to the island fortress in Plymouth Sound called Mount Batten.

Apart from the Mountbatten influence, there are many notable strains in the Duke of Edinburgh's family tree. He traces his descent from Christian the Warlike, 12th century founder of the Danish-German house of Oldenburg, and can boast royal ancestors of Greek, Danish and German blood.

POWER IN DENMARK

On his father's side, under the name of Schleswig-Holstein-Sonderburg-Glucksberg, the family has ruled in Denmark since the 15th century. At birth, Philip was sixth in succession to the throne of Greece. He has since renounced all titles to become a British subject.

By a coincidence, the Duke and Queen Elizabeth are distant cousins. Their great-great-grandparents were Queen Victoria and Prince Albert.

Philip was born June 10, 1921, at Mon Repos, his father's house on the isle of Corfu off Greece. His father was Prince Andrew, fourth son of George I of Greece. His mother, Princess Alice, now lives as a nun on another Greek island, Tinos. Philip, an only son, had four sisters, but one was killed in an air crash.

From the first, his life was eventful. When he was still an infant revolution threatened Corfu, and the late King George V sent a Royal Navy detachment. Philip was removed to St. Cloud, a suburb of Paris, where he attended an American school called The Elms. At nine he went to Cheam in Surrey, one of Britain's oldest preparatory schools.

SAW HITLER MENACE

The next stop was an unorthodox school in Germany, founded in 1920 by Prince Maxmilian of Baden. The school was run by Dr. Kurt Hahn, an anti-Nazi, and as the Hitler menace ripened Philip and Dr. Hahn both left Germany. The teacher established a new school at Gordonstoun, on Moray firth in Scotland, which Philip soon joined. He stayed in Gordonstoun until March, 1939, when he entered the Royal Naval College at Dartmouth as a cadet.

Through his school life he was treated as an ordinary boy. His classmates at Cheam, once recovered from surprise at seeing Philip minus coronet and robes as their childish fancy had anticipated, regarded him as one of themselves. At Gordonstoun he mingled freely with sons of fishermen and farmers. His last school report said he had the "strongest sense of service" in the school. He was placed 16th of 34 entrants to Dartmouth and won the King's Dirk as best cadet of his term.

When war broke out, Philip was commissioned an officer in the Navy and was posted as a midshipman to the battleship Ramillies. He later served with the cruisers Kent and Shropshire and with the battleship Valiant.

IN FAMOUS BATTLE

In March, 1941, he was searchlight control officer on the Valiant at the battle of Cape Matapan, fought in darkness.

"It was," he said later, "as near murder as anything could be in wartime."

The Prince was mentioned in dispatches and his captain, Admiral Sir Charles Morgan, commented: "Thanks to his alertness and appreciation of the situation, we were able to sink in five minutes two eight-inch Italian cruisers."

In 19442 he transferred to the flotilla-leader HMS Wallace, becoming her first lieutenant—"Jimmy the One" in naval parlance. Then he was posted to a new destroyer, Whelp, with her joined the Pacific fleet, and was present at the Japanese surrender in Tokyo Bay. His first navy job in peacetime was an instructor in one of the Royal Navy's stiffest training courses. Later he obtained his first command, as captain of the frigate Magpie in the Mediterranean.

From his record, there is no doubt that Philip was an exceptional sailor. That ability, plus his underlying seriousness, qualifies him as a member of a family which, in the words of the weekly newspaper The Observer, has been the talk of three European generations, giving headaches to statesmen from the days of Bismarck to those of Roosevelt, alternately charming, annoying and splendidly serving their contemporaries."

ATTEND HORSE SHOW — There are many notable strains in the Duke of Edinburgh's family tree. On his father's side he belongs to the ruling family in Denmark. At birth, Philip was sixth in succession to the throne of Greece. On his mother's side he is related to the Mountbattens whose naval tradition was started by his grandfather, a German princeling named Prince Louis of Battenberg. Prince Philip renounced all his titles when he became a British subject. He conceals his serious purpose with a ready grin and takes in stride his high responsibilities as husband of the Queen. Here he attends the 1952 Edinburgh horse show with the Earl of Dalkeith (right) and the earl's fiancee, Jane McNeill.

PRINCE WITH A MISSION—The Duke of Edinburgh, a Mountbatten on his mother's side, has the family trademarks—love of the sea and a sense of mission under a gay exterior. Reckless and light-hearted in his dashing naval days, Prince Philip now gives strict attention to his state duties as first gentleman of the realm and husband of the Queen. He is shown greeting Lord Louis Mountbatten, his uncle, and Lady Mountbatten at Malta in 1949. Prince Philip then was a first lieutenant on HMS Chequers.

South Africans Prepare For Decisive April Ballot

By ASTLEY HAWKINS

CAPETOWN (Reuters) — South Africans are preparing for one of the biggest decisions in the history of their country when more than 1,500,000 voters go to the polls April 15 to decide the future way of life for the country—and its 12,000,000 people.

The voters must choose between continuation of the predominantly Afrikaan-speaking Nationalist government of the 78-year-old prime minister Daniel F. Malan, or the mainly English - speaking United Party opposition led by 52-year-old J. G. N. Strauss, disciple o fwartime prime minister Field Marshal Jan Smuts.

This will be more than an ordinary general election and more than a routine choice between two rival parties. Constitutional and racial issues involved have seriously divided the country.

WANT REPUBLIC

Malan Nationalists nurse ideas of turning South Africa into a republic inside or outside the British Commonwealth if they are returned to power for another five years. And many of their critics feel that their "tough" policy towards South Africa's more than 8,000,000 natives can ultimately lead only to a racial storm.

Nationalists, mostly Boer stock whose families pioneered much of the country and fought the English for control of it, look to a republic as a natural and desirable state of independence quite "free" from Britain.

They have none of the sentiain which are still a tradition among families of British origin. among afmilies of British origin.

They are convinced of the need for outright control over the teeming native population of the country if the white man is to survive in the land. And they see no need to "consult" African representatives in the course of their administration as advocated by the United Party following a "softer" approach to segregation.

They have sought, in the last session of Parliament before the elections, sweeping new powers to meet the "defiance campaign" which Africans have been employing passively and actively against segregation and repressive laws.

POWER CHECKS

These powers, regarded as essential by the Nationalists to protect the white population against native uprisings, have been reluctantly accepted by the United Party in principle—but uncompromisingly denounced by the minority Labor party and more outspoken critics as "tryanny" and "dictatorship."

The powers have not enough checks by Parliament or the courts, opponents say.

Another controversial issue confronting the country and awaiting the election is the constitutional dispute between the Malan government and the courts.

Government spokesmen have already announced the intention to find a way of establishing the "sovereignty" of Parliament over the courts if they are given a "mandate" by the voters.

LOSE TEST CASE

This follows the rejection by the courts in a test case of the Malan government's Separate Representation of Voters Act, a law intended to place the non-African colored (mixed blood) voters in Cape province on a separate electoral register.

The act was passed by only simple majorities in the Assembly and the Senate instead of by a two-thirds majority of a joint session of both Houses as required for constitutional changes.

When the government engineered the High Court of Parliament Act, turning all members of Parliament into a high court, superior to the Appeal Court on constitutional matters, this was also ruled invalid.

Burwash Inmate Faces Bank Robbery Charge

TORONTO (CP)—A 22-year-old inmate of the Burwash reformatory was charged Thursday with a bank holdup last September.

Talbot Murphy of Peel township, Wellington county, was charged with the Sept. 5 armed robbery of the Dominion Bank branch on Roncesvalles Avenue at Howard Park.

Two gunmen, who referred to each other as Willy and George, entered the bank as its staff opened for business. After tying up the bank staff the men made off with $28,000.

Police traced Murphy to Burwash where he was serving a sentence for car theft. He had been sentenced two weeks after the bank holdup.

Big Watershed Forest Urged For Delhi Area

DELHI, Ont. (CP)—Establishment of a watershed forest of 7,500 acres was recommended Thursday night by A. H. Richardson, Ontario chief conservation engineer, to the Big Creek conservation authority.

The stream wanders through the heart of the rich tobacco-growing country around this Norfolk county village.

Of the 179,846 acres in the watershed, 151,274 acres are cleared land; 26,310 woodland, 2,262 scrub.

To achieve a better ratio, it was recommended that the conservation authority acquire tax-delinquent lands for reforestation and that a committee be established to study best means of fire protection for remaining forests.

Royal Reception To Greet Tito

LONDON (AP)—President Tito will be given a royal reception when he arrives in London Monday it was announced Thursday night.

Prime Minister Churchill will be on hand with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and the Duke of Edinburgh to greet the Yugoslav Communist leader.

The Queen will receive him at lunch Tuesday.

The foreign office disclosed the government is laying on a full-dress welcome for Tito during a six-day stay that will include high-level policy talks with British leaders and a round of official dinners.

The 60-year-old Yugoslav president, who broke with Moscow long before Stalin's death, will go first to 10 Downing street, and then place a wreath on Britain's war memorial cenotaph.

Scotland Yard has set up an elaborate security network to protect Tito.

On his first trip outside Yugoslavia since his break with the Kremlin, Tito is travelling in leisurely style aboard the Yugoslav naval training ship Galeb under the escort of British destroyers.

"Working Models

LONDON (CP)—A "mannequin parade" demonstrating protective clothing is a feature of the first national factory equipment exhibition opening here March 23, featuring safety equipment, dust removal systems and many other modern factory devices.

57 YEARS ON PAPER—In 5 years with the North Hastings Review, Ethel Richmond has learned all there is to know about putting out a small country weekly, from getting and writing the news to setting type—by hand—and running the mailing machine. She was hired by the weekly, published in Madoc, 25 miles north of Belleville, in 1896 as a bookkeeper. She still keeps the books but has done just about everything else as well on the paper. Now in her mid-70s, she remains active and keeps hard at work.

Madoc Woman 57 Years On North Hastings Review

MADOC, Ont. (CP)—Ethel Richmond was hired by the North Hastings Review in 1896 as a bookkeeper. Now, she'll have you know, she's an all-round newspaper woman.

In 57 years with this Hastings County town's weekly newspaper she has learned about all there is to know about putting out a paper—from getting and writing the news to setting type and running the mailing machine.

The slight, white-haired woman who as a young girl started out at $1 a week is slightly stooped now, but her eyes still twinkle as her nimble fingers flash over the type case selecting type that will tell the story she has just written. Publisher J. A. Watson says he's glad to know she has no intention of quitting.

When Miss Richmond started with the Review there weren't too many books to keep on a small paper—Madoc, 25 miles north of Belleville, today has a population of 1,188 and the Review's circulation is about 1,000—and she found plenty of time to learn printing.

She learned to set type by hand—first farm auction sale bills and business letter-head forms and finally news. She learned to operate letter-head and cylinder presses. She turned reporter and went after the news she later set and edited. Now in her mid-70s, she still runs the mailing machine on publication days.

"Newspaper work gets into your blood," she says, "If I had my life to live over again, I would choose printing and the newspaper business."

Miss Richmond has had three bosses. Her first was Col. John Orr who sold the paper in 1913 to A. H. Watson, principal of the Madoc High School where Miss Richmond earned the diploma that proved the entree to the Review. The present publisher took over in 1924.

Miss Richmond, who indignantly told Mr. Watson that she'd "rather be here at work" when he suggested recently that she stay home because she wasn't feeling up to scratch, has lived all of her life in Madoc. She lives with a sister, Sylvia.

She's still the Review's bookkeeper.

Washington Visit Friendly One For St. Laurent

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has accepted an invitation to visit President Eisenhower in Washington.

Present plans call for him to be in the United States capital, May 7-9, inclusive.

Mr. St. Laurent thus will be continuing the long record of friendly visits made almost annually by his predecessor and by himself to the White House incumbent.

He will have no knotty problems or embarrassing requests to make to President Eisenhower, unless they arise between now and the time of his visit.

MANY ISSUES

However, there are many issues of importance to both countries which will provide the two leaders and the advisers with topics for discussion, notably the St. Lawrence seaway and power project and trade restrictions.

The visit is timed to come on the eve of the prime minister's departure for the Coronation in London and for the talks he will have there with heads of other Commonwealth governments.

It will be an advantage to the Canadian prime minister, and to all concerned, if he can go to London with a fresh understanding of what President Eisenhower and his advisers are thinking about major world problems, particularly the war in Korea and the cold war generally.

Historic Mementoes

LONDON (CP)—At an auction sale here representatives of a Khartoum museum paid $180 for three letters written by General Charles Gordon in 1875. General Gordon was the hero of the famous siege of Khartoum in the Sudan in 1884.

Britain Now Leading World With Biggest Tanker Fleet

LONDON (CP) — The maritime countries of the world began 1953 operations with a tanker fleet aggregating 32,373,775 deadweight tons, more than twice the tonnage afloat in 1939. The figure shortly before outbreak of the Second World War was 16,078,000 tons.

The analysis, prepared by the shipbroker firm of Davies and Newman, shows that Britain not only maintained her position as the leading tanker nation, but increased her margin over the United States.

During the six-month period ending Jan. 1, the world fleet was enlarged by 1,600,000 tons. Of this figure 190,000 tons were added to the British flotilla, to bring the United Kingdom's grand total to 7,336,450 tons, or 22.37 per cent of the world's tonnage.

IN SECOND PLACE

The United States is listed in second place with 7,069,170 tons, representing 21.5 per cent of the world total. Next came Norway with a six-months' increase of 235,000 tons to 5,044,150 tons, or 15.4 per cent.

Liberia reported the largest proportional increase by expanding her tanker fleet to 1,500,000 tons, a boost of 38 per cent. Denmark also reported a substantial gain of 25 per cent to 580,450 tons.

During the second half of 1952 tonnage contracted or building rose by 850,000 tons, bringing the world's total to 14,542,000 tons with approximately 5,100,000 tons going to British ship - building yards. Among other leading countries Germany had contracts for 1,615,800 tons and the United States 1,465,000 tons.

Hope To Beautify Lakefield With Gardens

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Directors of the Lakefield Chamber of Commerce met at Lakefield Hotel Tuesday evening with the president, Donald Hendren in the chair.

The Rev. George Downing of the Lakefield Baptist Church was present and discussed with the Chamber a plan to beautify the village by planting flowers, shrubs and trees.

He suggested that each organization in the village be asked to send one representative to a general meeting which is being planned for March 24 so that the proposed plan could be fully discussed. He also hoped that the school children could be interested and take part in the project.

Retail chairman, A. W. Stewart reported that there had been a good response for the advertising on the maps of the village which the Chamber will send to all residents. On these maps the streets will be named and it is expected that nameplates will be placed on all streets in the near future by the council. Mr. Stewart also announced that he was calling a meeting of all retailers regarding the Wednesday afternoon closing in the village.

Wilton Hillier reported on the maps being issued by the C. of C. of the Kawartha Lakes area.

A detailed report of the new license bureau was given by the issuer, Mrs. William O'Brien who stated that 2,790 transactions had been completed up to the end of the first week of March and that the success of the venture had been beyond all expectations. This is the first year that Lakefield residents can buy their motor vehicle licenses and drivers permits in the village.

NEW INDUSTRY

Walter A. Killoran said that he and his committee had high hopes of a new industry locating in the village in the near future.

Perce Archer, representing the rink committee said that he felt that if all the organizations in Lakefield worked together great improvements could be made at the rink and even artificial ice might be possible.

Capt. J. Sloan reported that he had informed the Lakefield Agricultural Society that the Chamber would be willing to co-operate with them in any way.

All questions that were placed in the question box at the last open meeting of the C. of C. some weeks ago, and were not answered, will be fully discussed at the March meeting which will be held in Lakefield Hotel.

Library Asks $1,550 For 1953 Activities

LAKEFIELD (ENS)—Librarian Mrs. J. W. Ridpath reported 16 regular sessions and 4 noon hour sessions of the Lakefield Public Library held during the month of February, at the Board meeting on Monday evening in the Library. Total circulation was 1,088 books of which 594 were adult and 494 juvenile.

Seventy new books have been added during the month, but these were the balance of the books ordered in the fall. The Library also received some books, the gift of Miss D. Moher.

Mrs. Ridpath also reported that a number of magazines had been ordered for several years at a time, rather than annual subscriptions as this was more economical.

The budget for the coming year was presented. The village council will be asked for $1,550. It is expected that administration will total $1,152; books, $1,225 and magazines $107.

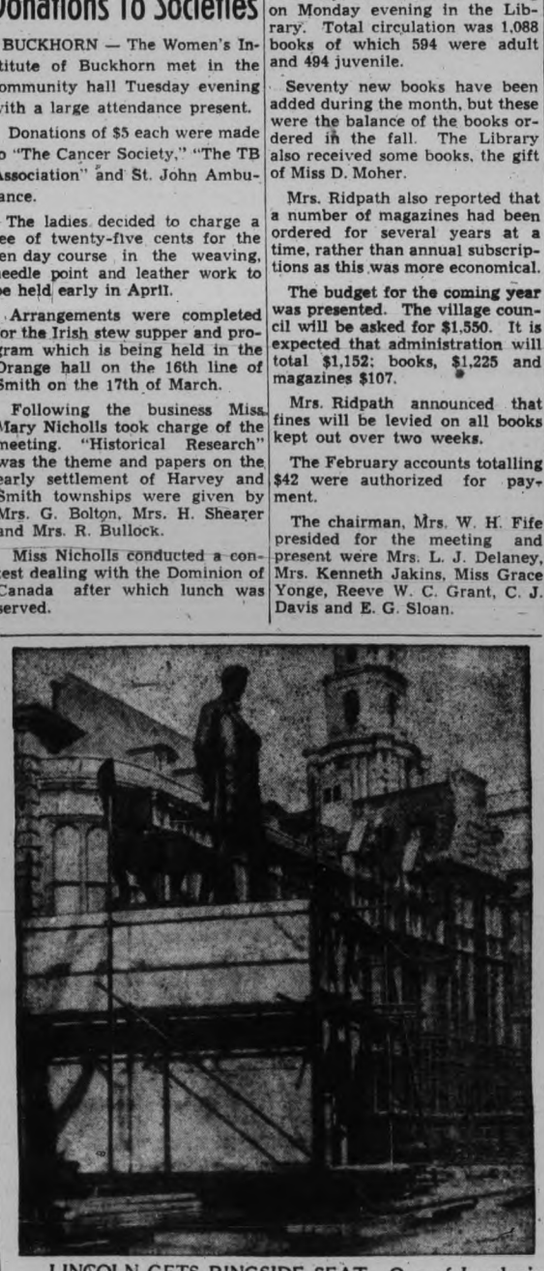
Mrs. Ridpath announced that fines will be levied on all books kept out over two weeks.

The February accounts totalling $42 were authorized for payment.

The chairman, Mrs. W. H. Fife presided for the meeting and present were Mrs. L. J. Delaney, Mrs. Kenneth Jakins, Miss Grace Yonge, Reeve W. C. Grant, C. J. Davis and E. G. Sloan.

Buckhorn WI Makes Donations To Societies

BUCKHORN — The Women's Institute of Buckhorn met in the community hall Tuesday evening with a large attendance present.



Donations of $5 each were made to "The Cancer Society," "The TB Association" and St. John Ambulance.

The ladies decided to charge a fee of twenty-five cents for the ten day course in the weaving, needle point and leather work to be held early in April.

Arrangements were completed for the Irish stew supper and program which is being held in the Orange hall on the 16th line of Smith on the 17th of March.

Following the business Miss Mary Nicholls took charge of the meeting. "Historical Research" was the theme and papers on the early settlement of Harvey and Smith townships were given by Mrs. G. Bolton, Mrs. H. Shearer and Mrs. R. Bullock.

Miss Nicholls conducted a contest dealing with the Dominion of Canada after which lunch was served.

LINCOLN GETS RINGSIDE SEAT—One of London's most famous statues, the figure of Abraham Lincoln, is getting a protective covering as a safeguard for Queen Elizameth's coronation. The Royal procession will pass through Parliament Square before the statue. Stands have been erected in the square.

Strikers Reject Packers' Offer

STRATFORD (CP) — Striking packinghouse workers at the local plant of the Swift Canadian Company Thursday turned down the latest company offer of a six-cent raise and 3½ months retroactive pay.

The offer was made to the 61 members of local 307, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), by plant manager W.D. Sinclair when company and union executives met Thursday.

William Dancavitch, a representative of the local, said the union officials felt they could not fairly accept the offer on behalf of the workers who have been on strike since March 6.

However, he offered to accept the six-cent boost if the retroactive period was lengthened or accept a higher raise, between six and nine cents, without a retroactive period.

Mr. Sinclair said these proposals were not acceptable to the company.

Picketing of the company's hatchery here began Thursday. Previously, only the main packinghouse was being picketed.

Cosmetic Banned

KARACHI (CP)—The education department of the Pakistan state of Bahawalpur has prohibited the use of silken clothing and cosmetics by girl students in the colleges and high schools of the state. The department also prescribed dresses to be used by girls.

Credit Union Leagues Asks Delay On Bill

TORONTO (CP)—The board of directors of the Ontario Credit Union League decided Thursday to ask the provincial government to suspend second and third readings on a bill which would transfer credit unions from the jurisdiction of the department of agriculture to the jurisdiction of the superintendent of insurance.

At its annual convention here the board objected that the bill had been presented to the provincial legislature and received first reading although the league had neither been notified nor consulted on the act.

Oldest Veteran Dies

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—James A. Hard, oldest veteran of the American Civil War, died Thursday night at the age of 111. Death came to the cigar-smoking veteran 10 days after his right leg was amputated above the knee because of a progressive circulatory deficiency.

Two Birthdays In One

APSLEY (ENS)—Mr. and Mrs. John McColl of Lasswade entertained a number of friends at a birthday dinner to celebrate two birthdays, Mrs. Steve McColl and Chesel McColl. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Chesel McColl and young son Brent, Mr. and Mrs. Steve McColl, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McColl, Leslie Murray and Rosemond and Marion Roberts.

U.K. Starts Fight On Bovine TB

LONDON (CP)—Britain has announced details of a large-scale attack on bovine tuberculosis, part of the eradication plan announced in 1948 and which may take another 16 years to complete.

Four areas—two in Scotland and one each in England and Wales—have been declared tuberculosis eradication zones in which farmers will be supplied free tuberculin tests. After March 1, 1955, the tests will be compulsory and infected cattle will be slaughtered. Compensation will be paid co-operating farmers.

An estimated 825,000 cattle are involved.

The ministry of agriculture estimates that only 39.8 per cent of the nation's cattle have been inspected for TB so far.

Expect Ore Shipping To Open Near April 1

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Lake Carriers' Association said Thursday the iron-ore shipping season is expected to open on the lakes about April 1, the usual time.

The association's ice committee is to meet here next week to study reports of ice conditions in northern lake waters.

Although colder weather has brought more ice in the upper lakes in the last 10 days, the outlook is much more favorable than a year ago, the association reported.

3-D Tolls Knell For Falsies, Designer Claims

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Today—Friday the 13th—is a good time to warn film queens who use falsies to fill out their forms or girdles to hold them in.

Coming days may prove unlucky for such girls, because there's 3-D in your future. That means only actresses with bona fide figures will get by, says designer Helen Rose.

Hollywood's current craze for new-dimensional films will bring even closer study by movie-goers, Miss Rose observes. Film fans will be able to see the depth of their screen favorites, and the dimensions cannot be faked.

ACCENTUATES FIGURES

"The 3-D processes accent thinness or stoutness," she said. "Artificial means of enhancing figures will be virtually impossible; no matter how artful they are, their unnaturalness can generally be detected.

"Skinny girls will no longer be able to pad themselves with falsies. Overweight girls cannot rely on girdles to cover up their excesses at the table. They will have to get themselves in genuine shape for the 3-D camera."

Her studio, MGM, is well-equipped for the 3-D onslaught. She pointed to this bevy of beautiful bodies which the lot controls.

Destruction Of Two Planes Points Attention To RCAF

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson returned to Ottawa Thursday while his future hung in the balance in New York and while Europe was electrified by a new crisis. His return was planned when he went to New York a few weeks ago.

The destruction of two Allied planes in Germany within 48 hours pointed attention to the Canadian jet force, the cream of Allied airpower in Europe, and it also created an anxious international situation for the government to ponder.

Government officials appeared to be as puzzled as anyone else about the background of the Communist attacks on American and British planes. They are debating among themselves whether it signifies a new pattern of behavior by the Malenkov regime, whether the Communist world is jittery or whether two trigger-happy incidents happened to come along together.

The RCAF has roughly 200 F-86E jet Sabre fighters in Europe, broken down into three wings—one in England, one in France and one heading for the Saar valley area of Germany. None operates close to the Iron Curtain border normally and all are stationed more than 100 miles west of it.

They make up the top fighting force the Allied air forces have on hand at this time although both the British and American air forces are starting to build Sabre forces on that side of the Atlantic.

The Sabre currently is the only fighter capable of handling the MiG-15, communism's best plane at the moment.

Meanwhile, the question of who will be the next secretary-general of the UN is being decided in New York. The big powers are expected to meet to consider the names of Mr. Pearson, a Pole and a Filipino which have been placed in nomination.

One official view here is that all three nominees are likely to be vetoed. This would prolong the issue but would not necessarily mean the end either of Mr. Pearson or the others in the race because behind-the-scenes horse-trading might bring one of them back to the top.

Provost Corps Short Of Men, Commons Told

OTTAWA (CP)—The army, in a statement on what it has done about the Currie report, said Thursday it is beset by a shortage of men for the provost corps that probably will take two years to cure.

It also said it will take three years and more to get caught up on records of army real property because "of inability to maintain basic records" on property in the Second World War.

The statement, tabled in the Commons defence committee, said the army would like to fulfil George S. Currie's recommendation that the provost corps, the army's police, be strengthened to help meet what Mr. Currie called "serious" flaws in security.

It said it is proposed to increase the establishment by 262 men but this wouldn't necessarily solve matters because there already is a shortage of 200 in the present establishment and at current recruiting rates it would be 1955 before the corps is at full strength.

The statement tabled in the committee said 27 of the 44 recommendations by Mr. Currie for improving the army works services and patching up the security holes have been or are being implemented, four will be when manpower is available, 11 need further study and two are "unsuitable."

Tariff Ruling May Boost Anti-Freeze Cost

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canadian motorist may get hit in a federal decision to impose a 20-per-cent tariff on anti-freeze ingredients affecting some $6,000,000 worth of annual imports mainly from the United States.

A revenue department official said Thursday the duty will be imposed within 30 days as a result of a tariff board ruling which, in effect, demands that the department remove glycol mixtures for anti-freeze from the duty-free list.

This will make it tougher for American exporters to compete with Canada's expanding domestic industry. The exporters likely will have to boost their price, and this possibly will increase the price the motorist has to pay for some anti-freeze brands, the experts said.

The ruling affects such "blend" products as di-ethylene, tri-ethylene and propylene glycol, which the board ruled cannot be classed as ethylene glycol under the tariff structure.

The ruling was a victory for Dow Chemical Limited of Sarnia, which has built a multi-million dollar plant for the production of anti-freeze ingredients and which sought to have the tariff imposed on the U.S. imports.

Radar Not Compulsory For Canadian Ships

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said Thursday night Canada will not make radar compulsory on ships until such a move is recommended by organizations of experts on safety of life at sea.

He made the statement before the Commons gave second reading —approval in principle—to a bill extending compulsory use of radio telephone and telegraph equipment on ships. The neasure already has been approved by the Senate.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver-Quadra) and A. Wesley Stuart (L—Charlotte) noted there was no mennention in the bill of radar.

Walking Bank Dies

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A 62-year-old junk dealer, once described as the "walking bank," died in his yard Thursday with $3,255 cash in his pockets. Jacob Shan suffered a heart attack while unloading his truck. Shan was termed the "walking bank" in 1947, when he was arrested on a charge of failure to have a $10 junk dealer's licence and police found he was carrying $7,995.87 on his person.

Endorse Tax On Women

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—City council Thursday endorsed a Stratford resolution urging legislation to provide payment of a poll tax by women residents between the ages of 21 and 59 who are not otherwise assessed. The Stratford council will forward the resolution to the provincial government.

Expect License For N.Y. Power

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said Thursday night the Canadian government hopes the United States federal power commission will license the New York state power authority to handle the U.S. end of power development on the St. Lawrence seaway.

Mr. Chevrier expressed this view after referring, in the Commons, in non-committal fashion to bills before the U.S. Congress to have that country participate in construction of the navigation phase of the waterway.

Canada now is committed to building the $350,000,000 navigation works alone, provided a U.S. entity joins with Ontario province on the $400,000,000 power development.

Mr. Chevrier said it is hoped both that the FPC will name the New York state authority for power and that the U.S. administration then will designate it as the power agency.

Quarantine All Alberta

EDMONTON (CP)—A federal order Thursday extended the rabies quarantine area to take in all of Alberta. Previously, the quarantine which prohibits dogs from being allowed to run at large, covered only the northern part of the province to a line 20 miles south of Edmonton. "The entire province now is under restriction or quarantine," said Dr. K. F. Wells of Ottawa, chief veterinarian of the health of animals division of the federal agriculture department.

Meet Bruce McGregor!

In this photograph Bruce McGregor, "Timmy" for 1953, talks to Chairman Al Baker of the Peterborough Rotary Club and Carole Holden. Photograph was taken at the "Stuffing" Bee here in Peterborough, Wednesday, March 4.

Who Is Bruce McGregor You Say?

Red-headed, 12-year-old Bruce McGregor of Vernonville, Ontario, has been chosen Canada's Timmy for 1953! Bruce who is all boy and wears a wide grin with a missing tooth, fell from his father's disc seeder 5 years ago when he was trying to help. The machine passed over his body, breaking his spine. He was rushed to the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto and was kept there for 7 months. Doctors thought at first he wouldn't live, later doubted that he would walk! But today Bruce walks! True, he uses crutches and wears braces on his legs, but Bruce goes to school, belongs to the Cubs and is an active member.

Life has become no problem matter for Bruce. He doesn't grieve about his injury nor his inability to run. He gets more thrill out of things around him than lots of other boys, and still helps his Dad when it's time for milking on the farm. We thought you'd like to know Bruce, his story and why the Rotary Club of Peterborough is appealing to you for help so that they may continue on the work of helping those like Bruce in Peterborough City and County.

Paul Flint, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Flint of 186 Lake St., observed his third birthday today by entertaining Patsy, Marie and Nancy Hanrahan, Sally and Patsy Garvey, Paul and Mary Ellen Huard, Marie and Michael Thompson, Neil and Kenny Clancy, Johnny and Jimmie Johnson, Sylvia, Freddie and Linda McBride and his brother Donald.

Present Gideon Testaments

Thirty-five nurses in the primary class at the Civic Hospital School of Nursing were presented with white testaments by the Gideon Auxiliary recently. The presentation took place in their classroom, following a short address explaining the work of the Gideon Society by Mrs. D. Hewitt, president of the local auxiliary. Mrs. D. Pulleyblank closed the ceremony with a prayer.

Address On Lent

Devotional and business meeting of the Afternoon Branch of All Saints' WA was held Tuesday afternoon with an attendance of 45. President Mrs. Howard Clark was in the chair and welcomed several new members. Bible reading was by Mrs. H. Mouck and the litany was led by Mrs. P. Hughes. The Rev. M. P. Poole gave a very helpful address on the meaning of Lent, under the headings, "Listen, Look, Link, Light and Love." A vote of thanks was offered him by Mrs. Q. C. Woods. After the reports were given the meeting was closed with hymn and benediction. A social time followed and refreshments were served by Mrs. A. Williams.

First Grade Meeting

The first grade meeting for parents of Kenner Collegiate students was held in the cafeteria Wednesday evening, Mrs. Arthur Malby, president of the newly formed Home and School Association, extended welcome. Letters of congratulation on the new association from the Ontario Federation, Peterborough Council and Lakefield Association were read. Mrs. C. H. Spearin displayed literature and pamphlets on home and school work. Dr. E. P. Ral, principal, introduced the teachers and they outlined the subjects they are teaching. A lively question and answer period followed. Refreshments were then served with Mrs. G. Pollock and Mrs. Norman Elliott in charge.

Kinettes Donate 2 Funds

Kinette Club monthly dinner meeting was held this week at the Empress Hotel with 23 members attending. Two new members welcomed were Mrs. J. Robertson and Mrs. J. Cummings, who has moved here from Kirkland Lake. A donation of $50 has been given to the European flood relief fund and it was moved that a donation of $30 be made to the Red Cross and Community Chest fund. Mrs. C. Craig reported the final details of the Daffodil Tea, taking place March 21 at the YWCA, which she is convening. Nominations for a second vice-president were called for and Mrs. Arthur Black was nominated and elected to this position. The program consisted of films, shown by Mrs. J. Burns, on the topic of "Winter Sports." President Mrs. Bev Metcalfe conducted the meeting.

Announce Quilting

BRIDGENORTH (ENS)—Mrs. A. K. Nicholls, vice-president, presided at the meeting of Bridgenorth WMS Tuesday afternoon, which was at the home of Mrs. W. J. Telford. Mrs. Nicholls opened devotions with a reading on "The Community of Grace," which emphasized that the church is the important means of grace. Scripture was read by Mrs. Earl Nicholls and prayer offered by Mrs. A. Nicholls. A Christian stewardship reading was by Mrs. Telford. Each of the 12 members present then read a verse containing the word grave. Mrs. Wallace Nicholls took up the study book portion on the healing ministry. It was announced there will be a quilting in the church basement on March 18. The Easter meeting will be held jointly with the WA on April 7. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. P. Pettersone.

Comments On Work

St. John's Women's Church year meeting for this month was held in the parish house after the Wednesday evening lenten service. Retiring president Mrs. C. Staunton presided. There was a splendid attendance and encouraging reports were read. Pleasant comments were made regarding the newly decorated primary room with its cheery colors and gay tables and chairs for the little ones. A very hearty vote of thanks was extended to the volunteer workers who gave so generously of time and effort on this project. New iron railings outside the church door have been installed and not only add to the beauty of the entrance, but are of great value in frosty weather. It was with pleasure that Mrs. David Whittaker, who has recently returned from the west, was received as the new president. Entertainment was contributed by soloist Miss Mabel McLarnon who was accompanied on the piano by Mr. Dennis Dorrington. Refreshments were served by the weeks and days with Mrs. Harold Howell as hostess.

Carol Thibadeau Brownie Wins Golden Hand

St. Alban's 7th Peterborough Brownie Pack presented the Golden Hand Badge to Carol Thibadeau in a lovely candle-lit evening service.

The guests were greeted at the door by Carole Drury and Norma Jean Baer. Opening with the Commissoner song the pack welcomed their special guests who included commissioner Mrs. J. Epping, Mrs. R. Whalon past commissoner and now tester for the Golden Hand, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Thibadeau, Mothers Auxiliary and mothers of the girls.

Following the opening, the pack formed two long lines each holding a yellow ribbon tied in bows and knots representing the different tests of Intelligence, Handicraft, Physical Health and Service needed for the Golden Hand Badge.

Packie Marie Bowler followed Carol through the Golden Road explaining each bow and knot.

Brown Owl Mrs. Nellie Maskell met her at the end and pinned on Carol's Golden Hand Badge. Carol lit her golden candle and renewed her Brownie pledge.

Running back down the Golden Road the pack greeted her with clapping hands and the Grand Howl.

Mrs. Whalon and Mrs. Epping each spoke briefly to the girls. Closing was followed by president, Mrs. J. Gray and Mrs. L. Post of the Mother's Auxiliary served lunch.

W.A. Displays Fancy Aprons

ROSENEATH (ENS)—A display of fancy aprons for sale, was the highlight of the business period of the March meeting of Centenary WA. Mrs. Ernest Burrison is convener of the apron committee and every year sells upwards of 100 aprons.

The meeting was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. J. R. Wheeler with Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Wilbert Smith as joint hostesses. The president, Mrs. Dawson Timlin presiding over the devotional and business period, with Mrs. Arnold Elder as organist.

The roll call was answered by a verse of scripture beginning with the letter "M".

Mrs. Reginald Timlin read a letter acknowledging $10 sent to the European Flood Relief Fund.

Plans were made for a social evening at an early date, the committee in charge are: Mrs. Arnold Elder, Mrs. Woodruff, Mrs. Ernest Burrison and Mrs. Walter Lean.

The executive were appointed a committee to see about a play. Two quilts had been quilted during the past month by the members.

During the program period Mrs. J. W. Lovelace and Mrs. Ernest Burrison gave readings.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. Lunch was served by the hostesses.

Silver Cross Tea To Provide Bursary Funds

Silver Cross Chapter meeting was held Wednesday evening at the YWCA. President Mrs. A. S. Williams presided.

Final plans were made for the annual spring tea which is being held next Wednesday afternoon, March 18th, at the YWCA. Most of the money realized from this project will be used for educational purposes in the form of a bursary.

It was after considerable thought and discussion the decision was made to donate a bursary. The details will be made public at a later date.

Welcome to the tea is to be extended by ladies representing the army, navy and air force. Mrs. Williams will represent the army, Mrs. Alex. Martin the navy and Mrs. M. Fee the air force. Convener of the tea is Mrs. T. G. Nice and servers are to be daughters of chapter members.

Mrs. A. M. Fitzgerald read a letter requesting that ten delegates attend the annual convention of Silver Cross Women being held at Ste. Agathe, Que., May 12 to 14. Also a letter inviting members to a tea given by London branch on April 17th.

Letters of thanks from men in Korea for parcels sent at Christmas were read by Mrs. E. Pruner. It was decided to send more parcels as soon as possible. The Chapter would appreciate receiving the names of men now in Korea and they may be telephoned to Mrs. Pruner at 8674.

Mrs. W. G. Morrow reported on visits made and thank-you messages for flowers sent to ill members were read.

It was planned to hold a picnic at Riverside in June to commemorate the 6th anniversary of the founding of this Chapter.

Tamworth Girl Gets Trip To Coronation

STIRLING (ENS) — Flora McLaughlin of Tamworth has been chosen to represent her school at the coronation. Flora is 17 years of age and a 12th grade student. She is one of 13 Ontario school girls chosen for the trip, and will go to England as the guest of Garfield Weston.

DOROTHY DIX:

Sorority Most Important To Girl Going To College

DEAR MISS DIX: I am entering college in the fall, but am heartbroken over my mother's lack of interest in my future there. I know it is essential to one's social life to belong to a sorority, but mother says college is costing enough, and she can't afford the additional expense of a sorority.

PATTY

HELP TO FINANCE DEAL

ANSWER: You have a one-sided sense of values, Pat. Apparently, you are going to college just for the social whirl. If you have no more serious motive than that, save your mother's money and give up the college idea. Sorority life is a very pleasant aspect of a college career, but it certainly isn't essential. Moreover, if it is so important to you, what's the matter with earning some money to finance the deal? At least half the girls in college work part time to pay some of their expenses, and practically every college has a placement bureau to help you find a part-time job. Going to college is a wonderful experience, and so is the social life that goes with it. Don't be a campus snob, however. Be an all-around girl and you'll have lots more fun, to say nothing of the richer experiences you will gain.

DEAR MISS DIX: Three years ago, at the age of 40, I married a girl much younger than myself. My family went all out to be nice to her. The marriage was successful, until recently. My place of business is near my mother's home, so I frequently go over to have lunch with her. My wife protests vigorously over this practice, and has told me that I am to visit my mother only when she, my wife, says I can. I'm not the type to take this sort of bossing, so at present we're having some hot arguments over it. What can I do?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The little woman is just putting out feelers to see how much she can get away with. Glad to see you aren't the yielding type. Stick to your guns, let her see you intend to use your lunch time as you see fit, and you're taking no orders.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Through a friend of mine, I acquired a pen pal in Korea and we've been corresponding for several months. Recently, he sent me an engagement ring and wants me to marry him when he returns, which will probably be this summer. I've never seen him, and hesitate to enter into an engagement on such short acquaintance, though I have come to think highly of him through his letters. Could a marriage like this be successful?

MILDRED

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Although correspondence alone is a frail basis for marriage, it has been known to result in happiness. However, I would urge that you postpone a formal engagement until the boy comes home and you have some opportunity to become acquainted in a more conventional way. You'll probably find that the mutual interests fostered by mail will hold up very nicely under closer scrutiny.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: The 17-year-old daughter of a friend has been invited for a drive, and to spend the evening, by a classmate. Her mother doesn't know the young man, and refuses to let her daughter go out with him unless he has spent an evening at their home first. While I know the young lady is thoroughly trustworthy, I am in agreement with the mother. The girl, however, says it would be embarrassing to propose such a thing to the boy.

D. N.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The girl is undoubtedly wrong in her assumption. Most young men are perfectly willing to accede to parents' wishes when dating young girls. If the girl didn't want to make too much of an issue of the matter, she could suggest that the boy come to dinner on the evening of their date. This should give her mother a good opportunity to appraise him. I agree also that it's a fine idea for parents to know the boys who date their daughters, but it isn't always feasible for a mutual acquaintance to be developed before a first date.

DEAR MISS DIX: Two years ago my husband became dissatisfied with things at home and left to get a job in another city. I haven't seen him since, though he sends money regularly for the children. Now he has asked for a divorce, since he has fallen in love with another woman. I still love him and want him back, so I've refused the divorce. His family agree with me and keep telling him he should come home.

WANDA

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If your husband is sincerely in love with someone else, your refusal of a divorce won't bring him back to you. There is always the chance, however, that his feeling for the other woman is infatuation, and if you want to take a chance on that eventuality (which in this case seems remote), holding up the divorce may bring him to his senses.

BARGAIN COATS

EASTBOURNE, England (CP)—The members of Eastbourne's silver band this summer will wear policemen's overcoats. Thirty-six of the coats were turned in by the local force in exchange for new ones, and the chief constable sold them to the bandsmen at 12 shillings apiece.

Women In Synod Considered Big Step Forward

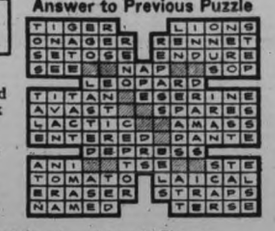
TORONTO — (CP)—Anglican women regard their admission as lay members to the synod of the diocese of Toronto as a big step forward.

Next May, women elected by their respective churches will sit for the first time as full-fledged members with the same voting privileges as men.

To date 17 women have been elected by their respective churches, representing a cross-section of women of the church, both home and career women.

Mrs. F. E. Hooper has been elected by the vestry of St. John's Anglican Church, Peterborough, and is the only woman representative of the city this year. She is the president of the Women's Auxiliary of the church. The rector, Archdeacon W. P. Robertson, said "I am very glad that women are to be admitted, and I was insistent that our church should appoint a woman delegate." There are five delegates to the synod from St. John's each year.

"I feel the women will be a very small voice for a good many meetings," said Mrs. Hooper. "Our role will be mainly listening and learning, but it will be interesting."



Another woman delegate will be Miss L. Grace Nicholls, managing director of the Toronto Mutual Life Insurance Company.

"Women have always played a large part in church organization work; they have been allowed in the vestry meeting and in general synod, but up until now there has been a gap in regard to the Toronto synod," Miss Nicholls said.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Change Of Diet In Spring Just As Good As New Hat

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

It's just about spring again—time to houseclean, to do over old clothes, buy new ones and look the old world in the face with a gay new outlook.

Health experts say, too, that a change in diet is every bit as good as a new hat.

Salads rather than heavy meat and potato combinations, jelly instead of starchy puddings—these are the dishes to put one in trim for sunny days ahead.

Gold and white salad is recommended by the poultry products institute. It's light but full of food value.

Ingredients: Two tablespoons unflavored gelatine; one-third cup cold water; three hard-cooked eggs; one tablespoon French dressing; 1½ cups salad dressing or mayonnaise; one-third cup finely-diced celery; one-third cup diced green pepper or sweet pickle; one teaspoon onion juice (optional); one-quarter cup chopped stuffed olives or canned pimiento.

Soak gelatine in water five minutes. Dissolve over hot water, allow to cool until syrupy. Separate yolks and whites of eggs. Press yolks through a sieve and mix slightly with French dressing. Oil mould and arrange design of sliced olives, strips of green pepper or pimiento on the bottom. Cover with yolk mixture. Mix gelatine with mayonnaise, pour half the mixture over egg yolks, combine the rest with finely chopped egg whites and remaining ingredients and spread on top. Chill. Unmold on bed of lettuce and serve with additional mayonnaise. Grated carrot makes an attractive accompaniment also. Yield: six servings.

Prune or apricot whip is a first-rate dessert for these figure-conscious days.

Ingredients: One-half cup prune or apricot pulp; few drops of lemon juice; sugar to taste; two egg whites.

Steam fruit until tender. Rub the fruit through a sieve. Add lemon juice and sugar. Fold in the stiffly-beaten egg whites. Pile in serving dishes and chill before serving.

HOSE INSURANCE

The Canadian Association of Consumers is distributing a booklet to tell women a few facts about nylon hosiery and how to get better wear for their money.

"Canadian full-fashioned hosiery manufacturers—there are 39 of them—are often unjustly blamed when women claim that stockings today just don't wear as long as they did a few years ago," says the booklet. "The reason for this is simple—you are wearing on the average a higher proportion of sheerer hosiery than ever before."

The booklet says a stocking wardrobe—including hose for every occasion—is not as expensive as it might seem. It recommends service weights for service use.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Friday Column

QUESTION: . . this is the first time I have written . . I would like recipe for homemade cottage cheese sometimes we can't get it in a small town and of course it would be much cheaper to make . . Mrs. Jas. S.

ANSWER: No, it is not cheaper to make—unless you have left-over sour milk.

HOMEMADE COTTAGE CHEESE

Twelve cups sour milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup cream. Very slowly heat milk to 115 deg. Fahr. (a little too hot to hold your finger in.) Let stand off heat for a few minutes then drain in a cloth bag suspended over a strainer over a bowl. Let stand overnight to drain thoroughly. When drained almost dry crumble the cheese curds finely and add salt. When ready to use add the cream and mix. This amount makes nearly 1 lb.

QUESTION: . . writing to ask for a few recipes and to thank you for those you have written: Simplified white bread, boiled rice and raisin pudding, fish and chips (particularly the batter), lemon squares, Mrs. E. LaR.

ANSWER: I have mailed you the recipes for white bread and lemon squares.

BOILED RICE AND RAISIN PUDDING ("creamy Rice")

Wash ¼ cup rice and mix with 3 cups whole milk in top of double boiler and cook over boiling water, covered, until rice absorbs milk and is very tender and soft. Beat 1 egg, and add to it ½ teaspoon salt and ¼ cup sugar. Stir this into the rice mixture and add 1-3 cup washed raisins and, if desired, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Cook minutes longer. If desired add ½ teaspoon vanilla. Raisins may be cooked with rice and milk if desired—this makes them very plump.

BATTER (for fish fried in deep fat)

One and one-quarter cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1 beaten egg, 2-3 cup milk. Mix and sift dry ingredients. Add beaten egg to milk. Combine mixtures and beat until perfectly smooth. Dry fish very well, and dip in this cover batter and drop into deep fat at 380

Doubly Blessed

A Bowmanville couple announced the birth of a daughter and a grandson in the same birth notice in the town's weekly newspaper, the Canadian Statesman, this week. The birth notice reads as follows:

VANSTONE—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vanstone are happy to announce the birth of their daughter, Debora Charlene born Jan. 28, in Memorial Hospital, Bowmanville, also their grandson, Elroy John, born Feb. 3, 1953, to Mr. and Mrs. John Trimble.

Sells 13 Horses Of Racing Stable

Alex Stewart sold all but three of the standard bred horses of his racing stable at a dispersal auction Thursday afternoon at his farm east of Newcastle.

Top price was in excess of $8,000 for Mighty Cox, and Popular Wayne brought $6,000. They are both Volomite get. A mare with a mark of 2.05, that placed second in a 2.02 race sold for $5,200. A five-year-old son of Billy Direct brought $3,800, and a brood mare of the same line went for $2,100.

Mr. Stewart disposed of all but three head. He refused to part with them at the bids. One of the Peterborough horsemen who went down for the sale said it was largely attended. He counted seven Cadillacs with N.Y. licenses.

Estimates of the gross receipts were between $25,000 and $30,000. Three of the Standard breds went to Lockport, N.Y., two down near Yonkers and there were others crossing the border.

Mr. Stewart is a brother of Hugh Stewart of Hilltop Farms, Peterborough.

Tribal Chief Slain By Mau Mau In Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—A killer of Mau Mau warriors murdered an African tribal chief Thursday night because he co-operated with white authorities.

The band numbered about 30 and was armed with pistols.

They shot down Chief Joshua at Kichuga near Embu in North Kenya.

In Nairobi, an African policeman died today and three others lay injured in hospital, victims of a Mau Mau ambush Thursday night in a native settlement. The terrorists had opened fire on a six-man police patrol.

Army headquarters announced Thursday that British reinforcements will be flown here for a new drive to crush the terrorists.

NATO Chiefs End Indoor War Exercise

PARIS (Reuters)—Atlantic Pact commanders today completed the greatest "indoor war" exercise in history—the defence of Europe against a Soviet attack in a third world war.

More than 300 Allied officers participated in the five-day exercise inside a heavily guarded moviehouse near supreme Allied headquarters. There was no immediate statement on results.

Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, deputy supreme commander, headed the exercise.

Pastor Says Youths Tried To Burn Church

TORONTO (CP) — Belief that youths were responsible for an attempt to burn down the United Church at nearby Malton Wednesday was expessed today by Rev. David Reece, the chuh minister.

Papers were scattered on the floor and set on fire. The intruders wrote obscene remarks on the walls with lipstick, tore all the keys off the piano and knocked over chairs.

The congregation has been planning to move to a new church in about six weeks.

Out Of Action

A Parkdale family hadn't noticed any signs of life around the house of their neighbor. In a spirit of wondering whether help was needed they went over to see whether everything was all right. What they learned was that the whole family was down with the flu; husband, wife and two children. They were temporarily out of action and community circulation.

Portrait Ready For Unveiling

Howard Macdonald, chairman of the Kenner memorial committee, was a one-man delegation to the Board of Education on Thursday night.

This committee is composed of old boys and girls of the Peterborough Collegiate who were students of the late Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, who for 50 years was connected with the school, 40 of which he was principal.

It was for Dr. Kenner that the new Collegiate on Monaghan Road was named.

Mr. Macdonald reported to the board that painting of Dr. Kenner by Kenneth Forbes, Toronto, noted Canadian artist, was completed, and there was a sum of money on hand to establish a Kenner memorial scholarship. The fund is being kept open until the end of the month for those who may still want to contribute.

He was given permission to plan for the unveiling of the portrait on Saturday, April 25, and the supervision committee of the board was named to assist the Kenner memorial committee in making arrangement.

Price Morris Lakefield Chief

The Lakefield village council Thursday appointed Price Morris, former Ontario Provincial Police inspector, as chief constable of the village.

Mr. Morris is to take up his new duties immediately. He will replace Leslie Foster who was fired by the council a few weeks ago.

Community Fund Totals $40,704

Today's total for the Red Cross and Community Fund Campaign is $40,704.

Dvisions totals to date and objectives are: Special Names, $12,670 ($27,850); Industrial, $21,550 ($41,800); Retail, $2,982 ($19,250); Women's, $2,807 $5.500); Penny-a-Day, $695 ($600).

Board Of Education Hires 4 Teachers

Three new secondary school teachers and one primary school teacher have been hired by the Board of Education.

Two of the secondary school teachers will go to PCVS: W. E. Bergey, a graduate of McMaster University now attending the College of Education, will teach machine shop. Miss Marcella Buck, a graduate of the University of Toronto now attending the College of Education, will teach commercial subjects.

R. D. Hodgins, an honor graduate in history from the University of Western Ontario now attending the College of Education, will teach English and social studies at Kenner Collegiate.

Miss Mary Rose, with two years' experience, has been hired for the public school staff.

Two resignations of teachers at Kenner Collegiate were accepted: J. A. Cullis and Miss M. A. Morrison.

Audience Enjoys Comedy By Grace United

Members of the congregation of Grace United Church, under the direction of Mrs. S. Close, presented a three-act comedy, "Meet the Husband," to an appreciative audience Thursday evening in the church.

The theme of the play revolved around an elderly woman who fell heir to a large sum of money, but with one stipulation attached to it. She must be married to receive it, but not to her sweetheart.

She picks a lawyer at random in the telephone book, and engages him to find her a husband who is quite on in years and won't live much longer. And in payment for this, her spouse will receive $25,000.

After she leaves, the lawyer's friend arrives, and is being persued by collectors. He asks his friend to help him out. The only solution the lawyer can offer is for him to play the roll of the old man, and marry the heiress.

At first the lawyer's friend hesitates at the idea, because he is engaged to be married, but at the thought of his bill collectors, decides to marry the lady, and disguises himself as an old man. From there the play goes on in confusion, but all ends happily.

ENJOY SCENES

Thomas Busby played the bogus old man and Mrs. Maurice Beasley his nurse, and their scenes together gave the audience their biggest laugh. The rest of the cast was made up of Eve Morris; Mrs. Gordon Lawrence; Mrs. Harold McMahon; Thomas Busby; Mrs. John Grey; Mrs. Maurice Beasley; Mrs. Robert Latchford and Thomas McQuigage. Jack Bailey, Jr., entertained the audience between acts with his guitar and a lunch was served after the show.

Labor Dispute Ends In Assault

TORONTO (CP)—A year-long labor dispute erupted into violence Thursday night when a garment factory operator and one of his employees were beaten up by what they called a union "goon squad."

Edmund Goldberger, 53, owner of the Best Outer Wear, and his son-in-law, Andras Jacob, 30, told police they were assaulted on a west-central street.

Lowrie (Red) Rosen, 32, international representative of the Ladies Garment Workers Union, Harold Cuttler, 25, and Graham Robinson, 32, have been charged with assault occasioning bodily harm. They were released on bail of $1,000 each.

Goldberger and Jacob were attacked when they sought to deliver some work to an employee's home. Police said three men jumped the older man and attacked his son-in-law when he came to his aid.

The fight was broken up by police.

The mail man delivers to Mayor Waddell quite a variety of correspondence in the course of a week, and even day by day. This morning for instance came a letter from a young man of 20 in Peterborough, England, who would like to correspond with a Peterborough, Ontario, girl of approximately his own age. On the surface there is a community of interest which might result in a pen friend, and from there on, who can tell? His Worship has the young man's address if any girl of this Peterborough is attracted by the prospect of an acquaintance through Her Majesty's postal service.

MAKE 150 PURSES WEEKLY

At Arte Mexicano a working day is from 9 to 6 with one hour off for lunch. During the lunch hour I chatted via an interpreter, with supervisor Roman Sanchez at the main plant. He is in charge of the purse department. Eight or nine people will produce 150 purses in a week he told me.

* * * *

All products made here have a guarantee of perfect work when they are sold. For a long time there were many claims received by authorities from U.S. tourists because they found much of the merchandise sold in the streets and stores of Mexico was not standing up. There were few claims in the factories.

* * * *

GOVERNMENT ASKS HELP

"I remember one group of tourists who bought purses in the Xochimilco market. It was during the rainy season and the purses came apart because they were just made of glue and cardboard. After a great number of claims were received, the Tourist Board asked our factory to open a shop in the downtown area so tourists could have guaranteed work," Guzman said. There is no bargaining in these show rooms. But the medium wholesale price is given to buyers at the plant and they get articles from 40 percent to 100 percent cheaper there than at downtown stores. A suede jacket selling for 600 pesos at the factory will be ticketed at 1,200 pesos downtown.

* * * *

Besides placing some of their goods in better downtown shops, this plant exports to a Chicago firm and they have salesmen who go to the Mexican border towns and take orders for products. They always make certain, however, that any store which handles their goods is a reliable one.

* * * *

In the main factory upstairs, you see a group working on the designing and tooling of leather. From the street it sounds like an anvil chorus as the men and boys in that section pound the heads of chisels with their wooden mallets. One man draws on the leather and the others do the tooling work. In another section of the room several boys about 13 or 14 were putting pieces together and sewing them by hand.

UN Blames Reds For PoW Deaths

TOKYO (AP)—The United Nations command today charged the Reds with responsibility for the deaths of any Allied prisoners of war killed in Allied air attacks.

The Communists repeatedly have charged that Allied bombs killed UN prisoners in PoW camps north of Pyongyang, the Red Korean capitol.

Their latest charge was contained in a Feb. 23 protest from Gen. Nam Il, senior Red negotiator.

Lt.-Gen. William Harrison, senior UN truce negotiator, termed the note a "propaganda letter" which repeated a "fraudulent charge." His reply was designed "to set the record straight."

Harrison told the Reds it was up to them to see that prisoners in their hands are provided adequate protection from air raids, as outlined in Article 23 of the Geneva convention on war prisoners.

OSC Cancels Licence Of Toronto Broker

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario securities commission has cancelled the registration of C. A. Begg as an investment counsel.

The February OSC bulletin released today said Begg failed to disclose his interest in a stock which he was recommending and that he was being subsidized by promotional interests.

Begg purchased 10,000 shares of stock July, 1952, and later recommended it in 20 bulletins to 32 subscribers to his service, the bulletin said. When he bought the shares, his account was guaranteed by "an individual known to the commission as a writer of promotional literature." Begg was allowed to withdraw $600 from another account at a time when it was undermargined by nearly $3,000.

"The circumstances surrounding the operation of this extraordinary account are still under investigation."

Remand Player In Manslaughter

BARRIE (CP)—Eighteen-year-old Walter Fines of Aurora was today remanded on bail to March 30 when he will appear at Collingwood on a manslaughter charge in connection with the hockey-game death of Robert Gillies, 17, of Stayner.

The manslaughter charge against the Aurora Bears defenceman was laid Thursday by Charles Seagram the acting Crown attorney at Collingwood.

Collingwood Police Chief Lewis Elliott sent constable C. Lawrence to Aurora where Fines was arrested. He spent the night in jail here.

Gillies died March 4, a few hours after crashing head-first into the boards during a junior C playoff between the Aurora and Collingwood teams.

Referee Bill McArthur gave Fines a match penalty on the play. His testimony coupled with that of many fans who saw Gillies injured, prompted the charge to be laid against Fines.

Belleville Juniors Awarded Playoffs

TORONTO (CP)—A best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association junior B playoff between Belleville Black Hawks and Kingston Vics has been awarded to the Belleville club by an OHA subcommittee.

The OHA stepped into the picture after a game at Belleville Saturday night. The contest was defaulted to Belleville by referee Maurice Walsh after the Kingston team walked off the ice. Belleville had already led the series by two games and were winning the third game 6-4 when Kingston walked off.

The OHA sub-committee decided to forfeit the series to Belleville at a meeting here Thursday night.

Jailed Six Months

SICMOE (CP)—In a sequel to a Christmas Eve traffic accident which took two lives, Karl Alan Churcher, 17, of Tillsonburg, today was sentenced to six months definite and three months indeterminate for dangerous driving. He was also prohibited from driving anywhere in Canada for two years.

Parked Truck Hit, Driver Faces Charges

William Bronson, 22, RR 2, Peterborough, answered two charges of leaving the scene of an accident and one of careless driving today. He pleaded not guilty to the careless driving charge and hearing of all three was adjourned until next Wednesday.

He was charged with being driver of the car that left the scene and in addition with being the owner of the car that left the scene.

The charges arose out of an accident shortly after midnight at Stewart St. and Parkhill Rd. when the righ rear fender of a pick-up truck, owned by Ralph J. MacGibbon, 679 Stewart St., was smashed with damage estimated at $60.

LICENCE NUMBER

A resident living near the scene of the accident said he heard a loud bang shortly after midnight and went out of his house in time to see a car driving north on Stewart St. with its lights out. He was able to take the license number of the car and phoned police.

The car was registered in Bronson's name. Constable William Scott and Edward Stephen went to Bronson's home and. after a talk with him, placed him under arrest at 2 a.m. today.

Bronson admitted to police that he was driving his car Thursday night and said he left a downtown restaurant at approximately 12:15 to go home. He denied being on Stewart St., however.

Police said there was about $40 damage to Bronson's car. The left front fender was damaged and the reflector glass of the left headlight were broken.

PC Scott, who investigated the scene of the accident, said marks on the road indicated that the car which hit MacGibbon's was travelling west on Parkhill Rd. and in making a wide right turn to go north on Stewart St. went right over the west curb of Stewart St. and collided with the parked truck.

QUESTION: Would you kindly send me the recipe for brownies. I lost mine. Enclosed is my favorite oatmeal cookie.

OATMEAL COOKIES (Contributed by P.M.)

One egg, ½ cup shortening, ½ teaspoon each salt and baking powder, ½ cup shredded cocoanut, 1 cup quick-cooking oatmeal, ½ cup each white and brown sugar, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup chopped nutmeats, 1 cup all-purpose flour. Cream shortening and sugars well. Beat in egg. Add flour which has been sifted with the baking powder, soda and salt. Blend in oatmeal, cocoanut and nutmeats, also vanilla. Place on greased cookie sheet, flatten a little. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 15 minutes.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think this is the recipe you refer to. Thanks for recipe.

BROWNIES:

Two squares unsweetened chocolate, 1-3 cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 beaten eggs, ½ cup flour, ½ teaspoon each salt and baking powder, 1 cup chopped nuts, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Melt chocolate and shortening together in top of double boiler. Beat eggs and add sugar. Combine egg-sugar and chocolate mixtures and beat well. Sift the sifted flour with the baking powder and salt twice, and add to first mixture. Add chopped nuts and vanilla. Spread in buttered pan about 8x10x1½ inches. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 30 minutes. Cut into squares or bars when slightly cool. If desired these may be frosted with Frosting (for brownies): Melt 2 squares chocolate in top of double boiler and add 1 cup icing sugar, 1 egg beaten, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Remove from heat at once and beat. Pour thinly over hot brownies (above). Let cool in pan, then cut into bars or squares.

U.S. Planes To Fly Near Border

Won't Follow Lead Set By RAF; "Not Giving An Inch"

WIESBADEN —(Reuters)— United States planes in Germany, undaunted by the loss of two Allied planes to Communist guns this week, will continue to fly right up to the Iron Curtain on routine patrols, a U.S. Air Force spokesman said today.

He was asked whether the U. S. Air Force planned to follow the British second tactical air force, which Friday ordered its planes to keep at least 10 miles away from the border of Communist East Germany.

Britain's action came a day after two Russian planes shot down a four-engined Lincoln bomber over Germany, causing the death of six RAF fliers. Two Czech MiG jet fighters shot down an American F-84 Thunderjet over the U S. zone Tuesday. The pilot parachuted safely.

KEEP WATCH

The spokesman said U. S. planes are continuing their watch on the border—running along Communist Czechoslovakia and part of the Russian zone of Germany—and "are not going to give an inch."

At the same time, USAF headquarters here issued a formal statement that it had re-emphasized to its pilots that, if they are attacked, "they should protect themselves and their planes by firing back."

One possible reason for the new British ban, the spokesman said, is the fact British pilots do much of their training in Germany, whereas American pilots are fully trained and many of them Korean veterans.

PROTEST MOCK RAID

Reports circulating in Bonn today said Britain would deliver a second strong protest to the Russians, this time against a mock attack by a Russian MiG-15 on a British European Airways civil airliner.

Tracer bullets from the MiG were fired across the bows and alongside the airliner, carrying eight passengers from Munich to Berlin along the neutral air corridor, just 30 minutes after two planes shot down the Lincoln bomber Thursday, a spokesman said in London Friday night.

Britain accused Russia of "murder" and "brutal aggression" in shooting down the unarmed bomber in a protest note delivered Friday.

PRESIDENT KLEMENT GOTTWALD of Czechoslovakia died today of pneumonia he contracted shortly after Stalin's funeral. Second major Communist leader to die in the past nine days—Stalin died March 6—Gottwald recently conducted a purge of his party, removing many of his rivals.

Second Top Red Passes In Nine Days

Strongest Satellite Leader Was Stalin's Close Friend

VIENNA (AP) — Klement Gottwald, 56, the Communist dictator-president of Czechoslovakia, died in Prague today just five days after the funeral of Joseph Stalin.

The heavy-set peasant-born Moravian, who even looked like Stalin except for the mustache, was taken ill Thursday morning and died of what the Prague radio said was pneumonia and pleurisy, complicated by a chest haemorrhage. He had been in poor health for nearly a year. The broadcast hinted that the icy winds in Moscow, where Gottwald attended Stalin's funeral Monday, brought on his fatal illness.

COINCIDENCE

But the sudden demise of the dictator who succeeded the late Eduard Benes as president in 1948 struck Western observers as a queer coincidence. There were some here who hinted that he might have been "purged" by the new regime in the Kremlin because it feared he might become a Tito.

Perhaps significantly the Prague radio followed up the announcement of the death by declaring, "those attempting to destroy the unity of Czechoslovakia will be mercilessly wiped out."

This was after the pattern of Moscow's radio appeals for unity around the new Soviet prime minister, Georgi Malenkov, after Stalin's death.

NO HINT OF SUCCESSOR

There was no hint as to who will succeed Gottwald. There is a possibility that the post of president may be abolished and ruling power placed in the hands of a group of likely contenders for the No. 1 spot.

The four likeliest contenders for the throne are Antonin Zapotocky, the prime minister; Vilem Siroky, deputy prime minister; Karol Bacilek, national security minister,

Reds Veto Pearson As New UN Secretary-General

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A Soviet veto by representatives of the new Malenkov regime threw UN delegates once again into a wide-open scramble today for a successor to Trygve Lie as secretary-general of the United Nations. The Russians cast their 56th veto in the 11-country security council Friday night to wash out a powerful nine-vote majority for Canada's L. B. Pearson. The Canadian external affairs minister and president of the UN assembly was backed by Britain and France.

The United States managed to muster only five votes—less than a majority—for its candidate, Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines. The lack of a majority made it unnecessary for the Russians to use the veto in his case, as they had threatened to do.

Russia's candidate, Polish Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzeszewski, got only one vote—from the Russians. There were three votes against him and seven abstentions.

After four hours of wrangling, council members decided to adjourn attempts to find a generally acceptable candidate until next Thursday.

HOLD CONSULTATIONS

Meanwhile, the five permanent members — Britain, the U. S., France, Russia and Nationalist China—were to hold private consultations in an effort to break the deadlock.

Any one of the five can veto a candidate and all five must be among the majority voting for a successful nominee. If a candidate fails to get a majority, a negative vote by one of the five does not constitute a veto.

Unless some agreement is reached during the big-five consultations between now and Thursday, all three candidates may come up again to a vote. Other compromise choices might also be named.

Some diplomats felt the defeat of Romulo put the U.S. in a humiliating position and demonstrated that all countries in the West do not meekly follow U. S. orders.

But Romulo said he was confident of only five votes before the meeting and was certain of a Russian veto if he reached a majority. The Russians were believed to have cast one of the two votes against him. There were four abstentions.

FAVORED ROMULO

Those reported to have voted with the U. S. for Romulo were Greece, China, Colombia and Pakistan. It could not immediately be learned who besides Russia voted against him.

Secret Gunsight Aids Sabres To Down MiGs

SEOUL (AP)—Allied Sabre jet pilots knocked down three Communist MiG-15s today and the air force announced that the Korean war's top jet ace, Col. Royal N. Baker, would fly no more combat missions.

The air force said Sabre pilots, utilizing a secret radar gunsight, shot down three MiGs, probably destroyed two more, and damaged two additional Red jets.

A spokesman said Baker, of McKinney, Texas, decided himself not to fly any more. As commander of the 4th fighter-interceptor group, he had completed more than 125 missions. The usual number of combat missions is 100.

The air force said its fighter-bombers swept almost to the Yalu river border of Manchuria during the day and plastered Communist supply and troop facilities.

FIGHT AT 43,000

The Sabre pilots hit the MiGs in a series of swirling fights as high as 43,000 feet over MiG Alley. The battle swept to the Yalu river as the Red pilots fled for safety.

The swirling air battles and fighter-bomber strikes climaxed the second straight day of relentless Allied blows on Red Korea.

B-29s hammered a big Red troop and supply centre in northwest Korea just before midnight. The big bombers roared to within 25 miles of the Manchurian border and dropped 120 tons of high explosives on the built up area 25 miles east of Sinuiju.

Ground action was extremely light. Allied troops threw back three small Communist probes on the muddy central and eastern fronts.

Jury Approves Continuing Roadblock Policy

TORONTO (CP)—A Port Credit provincial policeman Friday was commended for his prompt action in setting up a roadblock Feb. 17 when a car smashed into a truck placed across the road, fatally injuring two of its three occupants.

Constable William Puffer was commended by coroner Dr. W. H. Bryden at an inquest at nearby Cooksville into the death of Robert Getty, 29, one of the occupants. The jury found he died of blood flooding the lungs from a fractured jaw. It recommended that the practice of roadblocks be continued.

Getty's brother, William, 24, died 18 hours after the crash. Eldon Rhyno, 26, was severely injured.

Police officers testified that while on patrol duty east of Oakville, their cruiser was overtaken by a car travelling at 70 to 75 miles an hour. They started in pursuit and during the eight-mile chase the car reached a speed of 98 miles an hour. Unable to overtake the car, they radioed Port Credit police.

Constable Puffer said he ordered the transport turned across the highway as soon as he was notified of the speeding car. He saw the auto about 1½ miles down the Queen Elizabeth highway and began waving his flashlight and a flare.

"When the car was 300 feet from me, I jumped," he said. "As I landed on the shoulder, I heard a crash."

Rhyno testified that Robert Getty was driving. He said he fell asleep shortly after Getty got behind the wheel and did not remember anything more until he woke up in hospital.

Rhyno said he and the Getty brothers had been to a night club with three girls in Hamilton and were on their way back to Toronto. They had been drinking beer, but he said he did not know how much the Gettys had drunk.

Dr. Ward Smith said Robert Getty's blood revealed that he would have had to consume 12 to 16 ounces of liquor to correspond with the alcoholic count found. Persons consuming that amount would have impaired judgment, a slowing of reaction, and restricted vision.

H. Polland, consultant engineer and auto accident expert, said that of the 30,000 cars he had examined in the last 15 years the Rhyno car was the worst as far as mechanical condition was concerned.

Say Americans Egineered Jet's Flight From Poland

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—A former Maryland governor told Friday night how he and two of his wealthy business friends took a financial flyer in free-enterprise espionage which robbed the Communists of a top-secret jet fighter plane. The amazing financial venture of three well-known American business men into the cloak-and-dagger land of Eastern Europe espionage circles caused a series of diplomatic upheavals between the Danish government and enraged Polish officials. The business men, all officers of Fairchild Aircraft Company here, are former governor William Preston Lane, Jr., a member of the board of directors; Richard S. Bouttelle, president of the firm, and Arthur F. Flood, executive vice-president.

A retired United States Army officer, Col. Ulius (Pete) Amoss, who lives on Gibson Island, a quiet little retreat about 20 miles southeast of Baltimore, master-minded the plan.

The plan, which began about a year ago, was climaxed March 5 when a Polish Air Force lieutenant landed on the Danish-owned island of Bornholm with a Soviet-built MiG-15 jet fighter plane.

The American business men were said to have put up about $10,000 to finance it.

NO BRIBING

One member of the spy group said Col. Amoss, who formerly headed the East Europe division of the U.S. office of strategic services, made at least two trips to Europe to lay plans for the venture, which involved no bribing.

His chief of operations was described as a "brilliant intelligence officer, not an American," but was otherwise unidentified.

Just how they did it remains a mystery for "security reasons," but a member of the U.S. spy ring said the Polish flier's end of the task was done for "patriotic reasons," and not for money.

Jap Government Thrown Out, Election Called

TOKYO—(AP) —Japan's rebellious Diet threw out the government of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida tonight and immediately afterward the wily politician dissolved the Parliament and called for a general election.

The lower House of Parliament passed, 229 to 218, a motion of no-confidence in Yoshida and his cabinet.

Yoshida's Liberal party had held a slim majority, 245 of 446 seats, in the lower house.

But more than 20 members of two dissident factions inside his bickering Liberal party bolted to vote against him. Many other Liberals "boycotted" the vote.

Yoshida dissolved the Diet last Aug. 28. At that time the prime minister was struggling with Ichiro Hatoyama for leadership of the Liberal party.

Informed sources said he dissolved the House and called for new election for the following Oct. 1 because he felt his hand would be stronger against Hatoyama than if he waited.

Technically Emperor Hirohito is the only one who can dissolve the Diet, but he always follows the suggestion of his prime minister.

Representatives debated today in a tense chamber as three major opposition parties pressed the motion against Yoshida.

Two factions inside the Liberal party opposed to Yoshida joined with the Progressives, Right-wing and Left-wing Socialists to bring down the 74-year-old Conservative leader.

Four-Year-Old Twins Die As Shack Burns

BIGWOOD, Ont. (CP)—Nelson and Nellie Skinner, four-year-old twins, lost their lives early today in a fire which swept through their parents' log shack six miles west of this community 35 miles south of Sudbury.

They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. John Skinner.

The father has lived in the Bigwood-French River district for 20 years since coming as a youth from Southern Ontario.

Details of the fire, believed to have started at dawn in the isolated log shack, are scanty. Provincial police said radio communication with the area is poor today.

Fifth Crewman Of U.K. Bomber Dies In Red Zone

BAD EILSEN, Germany (AP)—The last surviving crew member of the British bomber shot down by Soviet fighter planes last Thursday has died, British officials here were informed by Soviet authorities today.

This raised the death toll of the Soviet attack to seven—all British airmen.

An RAF spokesman said the Soviet announcement of the death gave no details as to where or when he died.

TO REGAIN BODIES

The spokesman said arrangements have been completed with the Soviets to recover the five British bodies in Soviet hands. A group of British officers has gone into the Soviet zone of Germany with Soviet military escorts to get the bodies, which probably will be taken into Berlin and then sent to Hamburg by train, the spokesman said.

Two of the bomber's seven crew members parachuted into West Germany before their plane crashed just across the border in East Germany about 30 miles southeast of Hamburg. But they died of their injuries.

Narriman Gets Permission For Early Return To Egypt

GENEVA, Switzerland (Reuters) —Princess Narriman, estranged wife of ex-king Farouk, has received permission to return to Egypt and is expected to leave Tuesday, a reliable Egyptian source said here today.

The 19-year-old former queen sent a message to Prime Minister Mohamed Naguib last night asking permission to come back so that she can begin divorce proceedings against the portly ex-king. She walked out on him in Rome, Thursday and has been staying here with her mother since.

Naguib replied that she could come back whenever she wanted to.

The source said Narriman would probably take off for Cairo Tuesday. It will be her first trip home since she went into exile in Italy with Farouk last July.

Meanwhile, in Rome today, a spokesman for Farouk stated that it would be impossible for the princess, on her own behalf, to obtain a divorce from the ex-king.

Carlo D'Amelio, Farouk's lawyer, said that under Moslem law, it is "absolutely impossible" for a woman to start divorce proceedings.

If a Moslem woman wants to end her marriage, D'Amelio said, she must ask her husband to do so. So far, he added, "nothing of this sort has happened."

He was commenting on a statement made in Cairo by an uncle of 19-year-old Narriman. The uncle, Mohamed Aly Sadek, said Narriman had applied for permission to enter Egypt where she would ask for a divorce from Farouk.

The uncle said that only by getting a divorce can Narriman obtain custody of year-old King Fuad II. The infant monarch was left with Farouk when Narriman and her mother departed in a huff from Rome several days ago. Narriman now is in Geneva awaiting her Egyptian entry visa.

Suspect Fraud In Bingo Game

OTTAWA (CP)—City police Friday seized the two major prizes—a new car and $200 in cash—awarded Thursday night at a bingo game sponsored by the Ottawa Kinsmen Club, and questioned the winners.

The winner of the car had given his name as James Riley of Ottawa. The $200 winner identified himself as Arthur Morrisey of Ottawa. Police said both are from Detroit and both have other names. They were released after five hours' questioning.

No charges have been laid in what police suspect was a confidence game, but police said they believe a third person who acted as a checker of bingo cards in the game may be involved.

The police investigation started when one of the Detroit men tried to sell the new car registered in the name of James Riley.

The prizes were handed back to the Kinsmen Club.

Suggests Montreal Quit Quebec, Turn Province

MONTREAL (CP)—A Montreal city councillor proposed Friday night at a council meeting that Montreal secede from the province of Quebec and become a province in itself within the confederation.

Councillor Herve Ravary, one of the 33 councillors representing public bodies and who sits as one of three members of the Retail Merchants' Association, distributed copies of a thesis on the subject and said he will pursue the project in council by a notice of motion at the next meeting.

Mr. Ravary said he wanted to see Montreal leave the province because the city now served as a milch cow for Quebec. The provincial government collected the bulk of its taxes from Montreal but little of it found its way back.

Open Suez Talks, US Represented

CAIRO (Reuters) — The long—awaited talks between Britain and Egypt on withdrawing British troops from the Suez Canal zone began here today — with United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffery present.

Britain was represented by her ambassador, Sir Ralph Stevenson, and Egypt by Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi.

Preliminary moves leading to today's talks have been held between Stevenson and Fawzi. The subject was discussed at a meeting between the two Friday, Fawzi announced afterwards.

British troops have been in Egypt since they occupied the country in 182. Their position in the canal zone was reaffirmed in the Anglo-Egyptian treaty of 1936, but since the Second World War successive Egyptian governments have demanded their withdrawal.

The way was cleared for today's talks by the Anglo-Egyptian agreement on Sudan self-government signed Feb. 12. This was one of the "twin aspirations" voiced by Egypt for many years. The other is canal zone evacuation.

UN Investigates Bombing Charge

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — United Nations command liaison officers and Allied war correspondents travelled eight miles behind Red lines today to investigate Communist charges that an Allied plane bombed the neutral city of Kaesong before dawn Friday.

The investigation that followed was like many that preceded it in the early days of the now suspended armistice negotiations.

The Reds produced bandaged witnesses and pieces of tail fins from what they said were Allied bombs. They dramatically whipped canvas or straw mat covers off small craters and they said they were bomb holes. They displayed damaged buildings and debris — some fresh-looking and some looking old and weatherbeaten.

The UN command officers declined to comment on the Red charges. Later everybody went back to Panmunjom where the Reds and Allied officers held another session. What transpired there was not immediately revealed.

Kaesong is the headquarters of the Red armistice negotiators and was the scene of the first truce talks many months ago. The talks were broken off by the UN command Oct. 8.

Two British Airmen Bolt To Russian Zone

BAD EILSEN, Germany (AP)—2 British airmen have bolted into the Russian zone of Germany with a stolen British staff car, it was officially disclosed today.

An RAF spokesman said that the two airmen took a staff car from the headquarters of the 2nd Allied tactical air force here just after midnight March 8 and drove into the Soviet zone at Helmstedt.

Apparently, they were welcomed by the Communists when they arrived at the Red barrier a short distance out the Helmstedt-Berlin autobahn although they had no papers.

The source said that the Russian officers in charge of the checkpoint told British officials that the two airmen had asked for political asylum but the vehicle might one day be returned.

One of the men was believed to have been a clerk to a senior officer at the air headquarters here.

Talks On Oil Move Near New Collapse

Diplomatic Officials Expect Refusal From Iran Premier

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anglo-Iranian negotiations to settle their two-year-old dispute over Iranian oil nationalization have virtually collapsed, United States diplomatic officials reported today.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh of Iran is expected shortly to reject the settlement proposals presented him Feb. 20 by Prime Minister Churchill's government.

Authorities said Mossadegh's behavior is so unpredictable that no one can say definitely he will reject the British proposals. However, all available information in Washington leaves no reasonable doubt that he has decided on such action

What effect this would have on Iran's internal political fight in relation to the Russians is a matter of speculation here, some of it apprehensive.

SETTLEMENT RESULT

Settlement of the oil dispute would give Mossadegh quick control of large sums of money—up to $100,000,000 advanced by the U.S.—to put his economic system on its feet, and thereby perhaps ease the political situation.

Iran broke diplomatic relations with Britain last fall. The U.S. has acted as go-between since that time. The current round of negotiations began when U.S. Ambassador Loy Henderson went to Tehran in December after lengthy consultations in Washington.

Britain's Feb. 20 offer was endorsed by the U.S. last Saturday as "reasonable and fair."

Mossadegh has told Henderson, however, that in his opinion the proposals would saddle Iran with "economic bondage" for years.

DECISION HELPED

Although Britain offered modifications in February to meet such fears, Mossadegh apparently felt it was not politically feasible to settle. His recent attitude appears to have been strengthened by a decision of an Italian court at Venice earlier this week. The court ruled that the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company could not attach a tanker load of Iranian oil just arrived there from Iran.

The British company, which has not been paid for its properties taken over by the government in Iran, claims that oil sold by Iran now is company property. The AIOC served notice of appeal of the court decision.

In the light of the Italian court decision, Mossadegh may well believe he can find buyers for Iranian oil without the co-operation of the British and American governments.

Rampaging Twisters Kill 17, Sweep Texas, Oklahoma

HASKELL, Tex. (AP)—Rampaging tornadoes killed at least 17 persons in west central Texas and Oklahoma Friday, smashed seven towns and caused damage expected to run into the millions of dollars. Fourteen of the dead were in Texas. Scores were injured as the vicious twisters struck the towns in a zig-zag pattern. A hospital was wrecked, but all its patients escaped serious injury.

Three small Texas towns and their farm areas—Jud, O'Brien and Knox City—bore the brunt of the wild, dancing winds. A woman was killed at Bradley, Okla., as a twister smashed southeastward across that state and took heavy punches at Rush Springs, Lawton, Fort Sill and Dickson, Okla., where two other persons died.

HUGE HAIL STONES

A fourth Texas community, Rochester, received minor damage.

Hail as big as golf balls lashed Lawton, Okla., and Fort Sill with damage estimated at more than $1,000,000.

The weather bureau would not say that the Oklahoma and Texas twisters were the same, but their directions and time indicated they were spawned of the same deadly weather.

The wild winds wrecked homes, farm buildings and power and communication lines and smashed a hospital at Knox City.

None of the 27 patients in the hospital was seriously injured, Dr. D. C. Eiland said. All were taken to nearby areas as doctors and nurses of the badly damaged hospital set up an emergency aid unit in the wrecked building. Eighteen persons received emergency treatment after the tornado passed.

300 HOMES DAMAGED

"We gave them blood and hypos and did what we could," said Dr. Ben Bowden. Doctors and nurses poured in from nearby towns. Blood donors gave transfusion on the spot.

An estimated 300 homes were damaged in Knox City, population 2,000, and R. H. Howell, 39, a farmer who lives north of the town, said at least 25 homes were destroyed. At the hospital a serious fire threatened for a time because of a broken gas main.

Howell's mother said she saw the tornado funnel roaring toward her about 3:30 p. m. but that it hit before she could get to the storm cellar. A neighbor's automobile was tossed 75 yards by the wind, she said.

NOTHING INTACT

At the I. B. Ashley home near Jud nothing was left intact. Six desolate-looking chickens squatted forlornly on the wet ground. A big white sow and her shoat were killed. Sideboards of a truck were wrapped around the trunk of a battered tree. Parts of the truck were scattered for nearly a mile.

The sheriff's office at Haskell said Mrs. Ashley, her son and little daughter were among those killed.

Bill Mowell, a railroader, said he saw it first about 2 p. m. — about the time Jud was struck. "It looked to be about 300 yards wide," he said. "It moved very slow . . . I'd say about 20 miles per hour. It would travel on the ground awhile, then pick up some. It was boiling and very black."

OBITUARIES

JOSEPH J. CLANCY

The death occurred today of Joseph J. Clancy, 70, at his residence, 99 Rubidge St., after a long illness.

He was born in Asphodel township, son of the late William Clancy and Ann Allen. He moved to Peterborough from Percy township in 1913 and was an employee of CGE until his retirement several years ago.

He is survived by his wife, the former Rose Keating; one sister, Mrs. Teresa Grisdale, Peterborough, and two brothers, John of Peterborough and Edward of Hastings.

He was a member of Sacred Heart Church and of the Holy Name and St. Anthony societies.

The funeral will be held from his late residence on Monday to Sacred Heart Church for requiem mass at 9 a.m. Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

W. A. F. STEENBURGH

MARMORA (ENS)—The death occurred in Peterborough Civic Hospital on Thursday evening of W. A. Floyd Steenburgh, of Marmora, at the age of 69. He had been in indifferent health for about five years.

Son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Steenburgh, he was born in Belmont township. Besides farming for some years, he also engaged in mining at Cordova Mines and at mines in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Alabama. He was a member of the Free Methodist Church.

Besides his widow, he is survived by four sons, John, Belmont township, Roy, Stone Ridge, New York, Floyd, Marmora, and Harrison, at home; and two daughters, Mrs. Herman Blum (Mary), Ohio, and Mrs. Ernest Goddard (Luzetta), Belmont township.

The funeral will take place on Monday, leaving his late residence for service at Havelock Pentecostal Church at 2.30 p.m. Burial will be at Maple Grove cemetery, Havelock.

Plan 20 Clinics For Alcoholics In Ontario Cities

TORONTO (CP)—Expanded facilities for the treatment of alcoholics in Ontario is being planned.

The provincial government, through the alcoholism research foundation, intends to set up more than 20 treatment clinics during the next 10 years.

Health Minister Mackinnon Phillips said in the legislature Friday these clinics will be small at the start, but will be expanded as the needs of the communities grow.

Cities with medical schools will be the first to get clinics. Included in this group are Ottawa, London, Kingston and probably Hamilton, where a medical school is planned.

Next in line are cities of sizable population with large surrounding territories, such as Fort William, Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury, North Bay, Timmins and Windsor.

Dr. Phillips also tabled the second annual report of the research foundation, which showed that 53 per cent of the persons treated at the foundation's Toronto clinic in the last two years have remained sober.

FIVE-YEAR WAIT

But the minister cautioned against over-optimism. He said definite conclusions on the success of treatment cannot be obtained until the foundation has been operating at least five years.

He said some measures should be taken against the unrestricted sale of barbiturates and other sedatives, because alcoholics often turn to them after they stop drinking.

Dr. Phillips said Alcoholics Anonymous has proven of great value in the foundation's work. AA often sends patients to the foundation, and takes up the work of rehabilitation after medical treatment is over.

MUST STOP

"Once a person becomes an alcoholic he can never drink again," the minister said. "Rehabilitation goes on as long as he lives. You can see the job AA is doing."

He said studies showed a high percentage of alcoholics have better-than-average education. Thirty one per cent of these studied by the foundation had grade 13 or better, about twice the proportion of the average community.

During the 90-minute sitting, Joseph Salsberg, Labor-Progressive member for Toronto St. Andrew, said the government's proposed increase in pension payments to widows and children of workmen killed in industrial accidents should be made retroactive to Jan. 1.

Labor Minister Daley said this was impossible. It would mean assessing the employers on a retroactive basis and in many cases, the employers would no longer be in business.

Woodstock Crash Kills Two Youths

WOODSTOCK —(CP) Two youths were instantly killed early today on No. 2 Highway just east of the Woodstock city limits when a car in which they were riding struck a tree and split in halves.

The car was estimated travelling at approximately 80 miles an hour at the time.

One victim was Jim Morrison, about 20, of Woodstock. The other was tentatively identified as Ralph Anderson, 23, of RR 1 Norwich.

From articles contained in the victim's wallet, it was believed that Anderson previously lived in London, Ont.

The two young men were believed to have been returning to Woodstock from a dance in Princeton, about 14 miles east of here.

Bits of wreckage were found 200 feet from the scene of the accident. One end of the wrecked vehicle was separated from the other by about 50 feet. One body was found pinned in the back section of the car. The other was lying near the front section.

Fire Levels Warehouse In Northeast Quebec

ST. JOSEPH D'ALMA, Que. (CP) —Fire early today destroyed a warehouse and $100,000 worth of construction equipment belonging to the Aluminium Company of Canada, Ltd., at Chute du Diable, 30 miles north of this northeastern Quebec community. No one was injured, a company official said.

The warehouse contained equipment being used for construction of an adjacent near-completed hydro-electric power station. The project was undamaged by the fire.

Start Of Smelt Run Seen In Niagara River

FORT ERIE (CP)—The smelt run, observed some springs and skipped in others, is under way in the Niagara river. However, only small catches have been reported so far.

Many dead fish have been washed up on shore in the Tonawanda, N. Y., area. It is believed waste from factories along the river has killed them.

Reds Veto

Had it not been for the Russian veto, Pearson's nine votes would have put him in the job that pays $40,000 a year plus $15,000 for housing and other expenses. Lebanon was believed to have been the one country that abstained on his vote.

In Ottawa, the external affairs department said Mr. Pearson would have no comment on the vote.

Before the council began balloting, Soviet delegate Valerian Zorin announced he did not want the question to come to a vote at that time. He warned he would veto both Western candidates if they were put to a ballot. Despite this warning, the U.S. pressed for the vote.

and Alexei Cepicka, Gottwald's son-in-law and defence minister.

The Prague radio announced that Gottwald died at 10 a.m. GMT (5 a.m. EST) today.

At his bedside, said the announcement, were many famous Soviet specialists, together with the country's top doctors.

The announcement was broadcast to the Czech people at 1:11 p.m. GMT (8:11 a.m. EST) by the Prague radio.

It was read after the radio delayed its regular noon newscast for one hour and 11 minutes.

News of his death had been expected hourly. It was clear from medical bulletins issued last night that he could not live for more than a few hours.

The first announcement of his death did not give the reasons for death. But he had developed a haemorrhage of the thoracic cavity Friday and was given blood transfusions. He lost consciousness at 7:15 a.m. today and apparently died without regaining consciousness

PEASANTS' SON

Gottwald, born Nov. 23, 1896, in the province of Southern Maehren, was the son of humble Austrian peasants.

As a young man he became a carpenter in Vienna where he went to live with relatives.

In 1922, at the age of 26, he saw an advertisement in a Communist party newspaper seeking a clerk. He applied for and got the job, thus beginning his career as a Communist.

Gottwald's death was significant for all European Communists. He was the man who engineered the bloodless seizure of power in Czechoslovakia in 1948. He did so with the aid of former party secretary Rudolph Slansky. Only a few months ago, Gottwald sent Slansky to the gallows after a bitter personal struggle for power.

NAMED IN 1948

Gottwald was appointed by Parliament June 14, 1948, following the resignation of Dr. Eduard Benes, who had been president since Dec. 18, 1935.

Benes, a veteran Czech statesman, had been forced by Communist pressure to quit.

It is possible that Gottwald's death will cause considerable unrest within Czechoslovakia.

From the top to the bottom of the party and state bureaucracies, there have been purges in the last two years.

There were two factions—one supporting Gottwald and the other supporting Slansky. The differences between the two groups have not been wiped out. The nation, Zapotocky himself has admitted, has been in a state of latent unrest.

Accommodation Short For Woman Jurors

COBOURG (ENS)—The advent of feminine jurors into the sittings of Supreme Court next week, poses a problem for Sheriff Fred C. Richardson.

Ten ladies received jury selection notices and six exercised their right to decline jury service. However four have responded and if they are chosen to sit on a jury, Sheriff Richardson will have a problem on his hands.

The property committee of Northumberland and Durham counties council arranged a rest room for the lady jurors but all the committee provided was a new table and five chairs. How more than five feminine jurors would be able to make out with five chairs and a table is something to be reckoned with. There is an ancient sofa in the room which would provide emergency seating room.

There is a large ladies' rest room off the court room but it is for witnesses and court spectators. Therefore, as far as a complete and exclusive rest room for the lady jurors is concerned, there just isn't any. All of which adds up to a headache for Sheriff Richardson.

Barrie Quartet Wins Snowbird Trophy

GUELPH (CP)—C. Meredith's Barrie rink Friday night carried off the Snowbird Trophy, main event in the five-day Snowbird bonspiel at the Guelph Curling Club. The Barrie entry nosed out C. Cooper of Hamilton, 9-7, in a keenly-fought final.

Second honors in the spiel went to Allan Jones, of Guelph, who defeated clubmate Bruce Freure 11-5 and took possession of the Steele Trophy.

Another all-Guelph final featured the third competition, with Stewart Brown outpointing Chris Robinson 11-8 for the Federal Trophy.

Consolation winners were C. Renwick's rink from Belmore, who won the Leland Trophy with a 12-7 win over Al Hutchinson of Fergus.

Charge Former Nazis Had Liquidation List

BRUNSWICK, Germany (CP)—Two former Nazis were formally accused today of preparing a list of Jews and other "dangerous" persons to be liquidated on the day Nazis return to power.

Former SS fuehrer Heinz Anders and rightist youth leader Dieter von Klann were charged in a preliminary hearing with preparing a card index of more than 100 persons to be wiped out on the "day of Nazi comeback."

The prosecutor said most of the names on the list had no connection with East Germany or communism. Most persons named were Jews, he said.

Holden Scores Winner For Burnley Club

LONDON (Reuters) — Star forward Bill Holden today scored Burnley's winning goal to defeat Manchester United 2-1 and give his team a clear lead at the top of English League Division One.

Burnley's win over the reigning league champion puts the team one point ahead of Wolverhampton Wanderers, held to a 1-1 draw by Middlesbrough, in the tightly-packed race for the final leadership.

Sharing third place with 40 points, two behind the leader, are Preston, 4-0 winner over Portsmouth, and West Bromwich Albion, which defeated Charlton 3-1.

Sheffield United downed Birmingham 2-1 to increase its lead to four points at the head of the Division II. Huddersfield, in second spot with 45 points, was held to a 1-1 tie by Bury. Luton is four points behind in third place after a runaway 6-0 victory against Barnsley.

Bristol's two teams heading the southern section of Division III both won their games to draw further ahead of the outside opposition. Bristol Rovers defeated Ipswich 3-0 and has 55 points; nine more than Bristol City, 1-0 winner over Shrewsbury.

In the northern section, Oldham Athletic lost its fifth successive league game, going down to a 4-2 defeat by Carlisle. With 44 points, Oldham now is only two ahead of Grimsby, which defeated Rochdale 3-2.

The key team of Scottish League Division A were engaged in the fourth round of the Scottish Football Association Cup competition today. Hibernian, leader of the division, was held to a 1-1 draw by Aberdeen, 10th in the table.

The leadership of Division B, which has no teams left in the cup competition, remains unchanged. Hamilton was heavily beaten 6-1 by Kilmarnock but with 38 points still is one ahead of Stirling, defeated 4-2 by St. Johnstone.

Three Pay Fines On Liquor Charges

William Morewood, 67, 646 Gilchrist Street, was fined $50, and $2.50 costs, today when he pleaded guilty to a second offence of being drunk.

Paul Crough, 19, 223 Perry Street, was fined $10, and $2.50 costs, when he pleaded guilty to obtaining liquor while under the age of 21.

Mrs. Vivian Rowan, 33, 154 London Street, was fined $10, and $2.50 costs, for being drunk. Magistrate W. R. Philp recommended that she be placed on the interdicted list.

The flier, Lieut. Francsizek Jacrewski, will probably be given the protection of formal recognition as a political refugee Monday, according to an announcement Friday night from the Danish foreign office.

TRIED TO CLAIM PLANE

Shortly after the young Pole dropped his prize on Western soil, the angry first secretary of the Polish legation at Copenhagen rushed to Bornholm to claim the plane.

He didn't even get to see it.

Heavily - armed guards surrounded the jet until it was loaded on a ship and sent to Copenhagen under armed naval escort.

The Polish secretary, Mieczyslaw Lakomy, spoke of "grave consequences" if the plane were not returned, but the Danes replied bluntly: not until they get a good look at it.

STRIP FIGHTER

Meanwhile, air experts from the West calmly stripped the fighter plane of its vaunted secrets.

Only Friday night, a Danish foreign office announcement said the examination of the MiG had reached "such an advanced stage that a final report is expected this week-end."

The Danish government also indicated it would tell Poland next Monday it can come and get its no longer secret fighter plane.

The amazing Col. Amoss, whose military career includes a span as deputy chief of staff of the U.S. 9th air force in the Second World War, won't say how the job was done.

GIVE NO DETAILS

Both Amoss and Lane refuse to reveal any details of the plot for fear of endangering those who helped.

Private financing was the only method through which the scheme could be accomplished, Amoss said, because it would be useless for obvious reasons to approach the U.S. government with such a plan.

The spy group was described by one of its members as "temporary." He said developments in Poland of "a year ago" indicated there was a "bare chance" of getting a plane out of that Russian satellite country.

Until the Polish lieutenant flew the plane into the welcoming arms of the West, Allied countries had been unable to get one of the fast planes in good enough condition to learn much about it.

Doused With Poison

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP)—A four-year-old boy died Friday after he was doused with a poisonous plant spray. Little Bobby Lommer, his clothing drenched with the fluid, staggered home and gasped: "The other kids threw it at me." He died on the way to hospital.

2 Crew Members Flee East German Express

BERLIN (AP)—The U. S. high commission newspaper Neue Zeitung reported today that a locomotive engineer and fireman halted their east zone express train on its way through West Berlin, got out and asked for political asylum.

The Neue Zeitung said the incident occurred two days ago when the two men, ignoring Communist orders to pass through the Western sectors without halting, stopped at the Charlottenburg station in the British sector. They left the train there.

Plan To Transfer Canadians From Hannover

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HANNOVER (CP) — Plans are being made to transfer the Canadian Army's base installations in Europe from this German city to the Antwerp area in Belgium.

Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of the general staff, is in Brussels today discussing the transfer arrangements with Brig. John Pangman, commander of the Canadian 27th brigade, and Canadian diplomats.

(Boss in his cable gave no reasons for the projected shift of base installations. However, the 27th brigade will leave the Hannover area this summer. Four camps for it are being built in the Soest area 100 miles southwest of Hannover and about 200 miles due east of Antwerp. Antwerp is the nearest major port to Soest. It was the base for Canadian troops on the continent at the end of the Second World War.

(The Soest area is about 70 miles from the nearest Russian occupation troops.)

Gen. Simonds will leave Brussels Sunday for a 10-day series of conferences. He has been on a three-week tour of North Atlantic Treaty Organization installations in Europe. The Canadian 27th brigade is under NATO's over-all command.

At Paris he attended top-secret planning exercises for Nato's combined service commanders down to corps level.

Gen. Simonds' wartime command experience was exceeded at that meeting only by that of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, deputy supreme Allied commander. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the supreme Allied commander, was commander of a division when Simonds had a corps and temporary command of the 1st Canadian Army.

New Jersey Fire Razes Block Of Industries

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—A block-square industrial building was destroyed by fire today, its walls collapsing on to a nearby furniture warehouse, a viaduct and two parked vehicles.

The blaze was one of the worst industrial fires in Jersey City in 26 years, fire officials said.

Nine families were evacuated from nearby dwellings as a precaution.

There were no reports of any casualties.

Freezing Rain Causes 350 Montreal Mishaps

MONTREAL (CP) — Freezing rain snarled traffic and caused numerous accidents Friday night and early today, and weathermen attributed it to an unorthodox heralding of spring.

Police were called to the scene of more than 350 mishaps between 4 p.m. and midnight, and hospital treatment was the outcome for many of the participants.

New Mexico Fire Does Damage Of $1,000,000

DEMING, N. M. (AP) — Fire swept through the downtown district of this southwestern New Mexico city early today, destroying four majour business houses. The loss was estimated at $1,000,000.

The flames broke out following an explosion of a furnace in a dry goods store.

Russia Unmoved Eden Declares

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, arriving from New York today, said "the Soviet bloc has not gone one inch toward meeting us" on a Korean settlement.

"I only hope higher policies will prevail both in China and Russia," he told reporters at London airport. "We cannot decide these policies. We can only hope for them."

Eden conferred with President Eisenhower and other U.S. government officials on world political and economic affairs. He also attended the United Nations Assembly in New York during his 10-day stay in the U.S.

Eden was accompanied to Washington by Treasury Chief Richard A. Butler, who is due back tomorrow after talks in Ottawa. Together, they sought U.S. co-operation in the Commonwealth's new plan to expand world trade and to lower trade barriers.

Eden said he felt certain that the exchanges had brought Britain and the U.S. "Closer together this moment than we ever were on the many issues which affect all parts of the world."

Canadian Jet Ace Awarded US DFC

OTTAWA (CP)—Flt. Lt. Ernest A. Glover of Leaside, Ont., Canada's top jet fighter ace, has won the United States Distinguished Flying Cross to add to the DFC he was awarded earlier this year by the Queen.

The 31-year-old native of Niagara Falls, Ont., and another Canadian jet pilot, Flt. Lt. J. C. A. Claude Lafrance, 23, of Chateau d'Eau, Que., won the U.S. decoration for service in Korea with the U.S. Air Force.

Flt. Lt. Glover shot down three Communist MiG-15 aircraft and damaged two others in 50 missions in Korea. Flt. Lt. Lafrance shot down one MiG-15.

Flt. Lt. Glover was cited for "extraordinary achievement" in destroying one Communist jet and damaging another in a flight Sept. 8, 1952 near the Yalu river.

Drew Launches New Attack On 'Social Dividend' Budget

OTTAWA (CP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, has launched a new attack on Finance Minister Abbott's 1953-54 so-called "social-dividend" budget.

The Opposition leader, riding out a number of noisy interruptions in the Commons Friday night, reiterated charges that the budget gives no tax relief to the small-income man and does nothing for the farmers, while helping those with high incomes and providing tax relief for corporations.

It was for those reasons, Mr. Drew said, that the Progressive Conservative party plans to support a CCF motion of non-confidence in the government, moved by M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, in the budget debate last Feb. 24.

FOR "RICH MEN"

The CCF motion, a sub-amendment to a similar Progressive Conservative motion, describes the annual government financial statement as a "rich man's budget."

It regrets that while tax cuts were made retroactive to Jan. 1 and exemption levels were double for corporations, the same was not done for income tax payers. It regrets also that while credits allowed on dividend income were doubled, the same was not done for those who work for their income.

The Commons also heard Trade Minister Howe say the government's policy on use of natural gas and oil resources is one of not only Canada first, but "Canada always."

He said the government believes the only continuous supply of Alberta natural gas for Ontario and Quebec will be through an all-Canadian pipeline and he hoped one soon would be started. Meantime no permits will be issued for the export of gas to the United States before Canadian needs are met.

RESUMES MONDAY

Mr. Drew will resume his budget speech Monday. It is probable that a vote will come early in the week on the CCF motion and a little later on the Progressive Conservative amendment.

The Progressive Conservative motion says the government took no steps to deal with waste and extravagance, to give tax relief to the needy, to offer encouragement to farmers, or to permit an independent inquiry into administration and accounting in the defence department.

Mr. Drew said if it was appropriate to make a retroactive provision for corporations—and he believed it was—it was equally appropriate to make a similar provision for the individual income tax payer.

"We believe there could have been very much greater reductions all along the line," said Mr. Drew.

The government would find it hard to explain why those on $2,000 and $3,000 a year earned income got little or nothing while the person with $10,000 a year from corporation dividends paid no income tax.

REITERATES CHARGES

The Opposition leader reiterated charges of waste and extravagance in government and demanded again that an investigation be made of the defence department.

Also in the debate William Bryce (CCF—Selkirk), a retired western farmer, urged appointment of a committee to investigate prices for farm implements. The committee could also determine if standardization of such implements would reduce their cost.

Implement companies, he said, were charging too much as was shown by their huge profits. The Massey Harris Company, for instance, made a $10,000,000 profit after taxes in 1952, compared with $1,000,000 after taxes in 1943.

Victor Quelch (SC—Acadia) said a two-price system should be adopted for marketing agricultural products at home and abroad and a national agricultural products marketing board should be established. Changes should be sought in the Bretton Woods agreement to provide for convertibility of currencies.

Wounded Soldier From Korea Arrives Home

HAVELOCK (ENS)—Pte. David Menzies, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Menzies, arrived home Friday after a year on active service with the Royal Canadian Regiment in Korea.

Private Menzies went overseas March 9, 1952, arriving in Korea early in April. He received shrapnel wounds in the right hand at the battle of Little Gibraltar, requiring two operations.

In January his left arm was badly injured when it was pinned under a truck. He received treatment at the Seoul hospital in Korea, later going to Kure, Japan.

From Kure he began the first lap of his homeward journey on February 18, going as far as Tokyo where he remained until February 27. From there he came by air via Honolulu to Travis, California, and then to Tacoma, Washington.

He was brought by Operation Airevac the twice monthly RCAF ferry transporting wounded Canadian soldiers from Korea via McCord Field at Tacoma to military hospitals in Canada.

Pte. Menzies is home on leave for the weekend and will return to the military hospital at Kingston for further treatment to his arm. He enlisted January 18, 1951, training at Toronto, Kingston and Petawawa. He received his paratrooper's wings at Rivers, Manitoba, going from there to Churchill. About a month before he went overseas he took part in Sun Dog Exercise 3 at Goose Bay, Labrador.

Separate Schools Should Get Fair Share Of Taxes

OTTAWA (CP)—J. O. Gour (L—Russell) said Friday night separate schools in Ontario should be given a fair share of taxes.

Speaking in French in the Commons during debate on the budget, Mr. Gour said Franco-Ontarians do not want special favors; they want equal treatment with English-speaking citizens.

He said part of taxes paid by the federal and Ontario governments on public buildings or property are given to public schools. None was given to separate schools.

Mr. Gour said George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, is giving the people of Europe the impression that there are not good schools in this country. Mr. Drew placed his two children, in their early teens, in a school in Switzerland last fall.

(Mr. Drew said in an interview on his return from Europe that he was placing the children in the Switzerland school to enable them to study languages.)

Mr. Gour said he could understand adults going to Europe for post-graduate courses, but he could not understand why Canadian children should be sent there.

He urged establishment of separate schools for the children of Roman Catholic parents living in married quarters at airports.

Airborne Wardens "Terror Of Poachers"

By BERNARD DUFRESNE

QUEBEC (CP)—Tracking down moose and deer killers. . . finding a schoolgirl lost in northern Quebec bush. . . arresting delinquent anglers a year after an "outrageous" trout catch.

These are some of the activities of Quebec's flying game wardens who are making a name for themselves as the "terror of poachers." They say it is a flattering term which serves as a back-handed compliment for their work started three years ago.

"Poachers themselves admit they've never had it so tough since we started using planes to track them down," a provincial fish and game department official said.

OUT OF THE BLUE

"They say 'you never know when a plane will come swooping down on you,' and they're right."

Flying patrols, except in the Lake St. John district, are carried out everywhere in the province at irregular intervals.

At Roberval, on Lake St. John, A. A. Lavoie, 53, the only warden to hold his pilot's licence, makes regular patrols because he has more than 12,000 square miles to protect.

Using one of three government planes or a chartered aircraft, two or three wardens and an experienced bush pilot can in a few hours of winter sunshine cover an area that would take a month to patrol by dog team or on snowshoes.

At an average cruising altitude of 1,000 to 1,500 feet, wardens can spot tracks left in the snow by poachers, moose, deer and even hare.

SKI-EQUIPPED PLANES

Special attention is paid to man-made tracks in areas where deer and moose are plentiful, for they usually are signs of poaching activity. If they sight anything unusual, wardens land their ski-equipped planes, if possible, or send dog-team patrols to investigate.

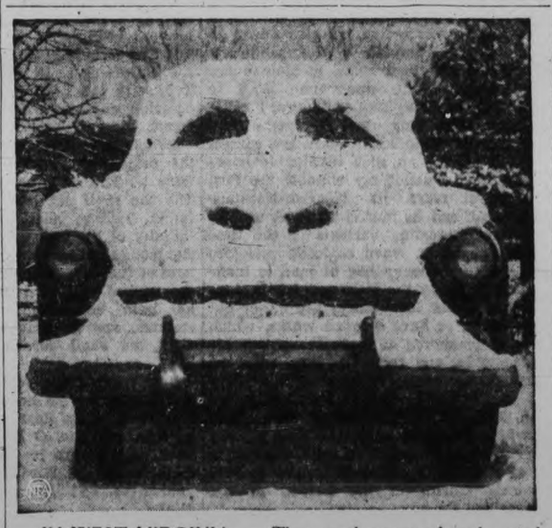
Deer and moose killers are most active in February and March when the snow is deep and constitutes a swamp-like trap for frightened or wounded animals. Poachers use home-made spears to wound deer and moose and axes to finish them off when they bog down in the snow.

Some 50 cases of poaching were solved last year, most of them "big stuff," as a result of the flying patrols. Many involved moose killing and sale of moose meat to lumber camps in northern Quebec.

About a year ago, Mr. Lavoie spotted tracks in snow left by three men suspected of poaching. Next day wardens flew 70 miles in a chartered plane to the tent settlement of three Indians. They found moose meat, guns and hunting equipment. The wardens set fire to a log camp used by the poachers, who were sentenced to jail when they were unable to pay fines.

RESCUED SCHOOLGIRL

Last autumn Mr. Lavoie was the hero in the search for a young girl from Chambord, Que., who was lost in the woods several days. He found her alive.



There is considerable international co-operation among game wardens. Roland Clusiault of Lake Megantic, in southern Quebec, regularly joins Maine wardens in flying patrols along the Canada-United States border.

In the summer of 1951, a group of Vermont anglers flew to La Tuque, Que., and made an illegal trout catch. They made a mistake when they advertised it by having their photograph printed in a home-town newspaper. The photo came to the attention of the fish and game department and a warrant was sworn out for their arrest.

Last summer, they attempted another flight to La Tuque. Canadian immigration authorities tipped off the Quebec officials when the fishermen registered their names and flight plans at a border point.

Warden Georges Bonin flew to La Tuque, served the warrants, collected $600 fines from five men and closed the case.

The air patrols also are used to keep tab on deer and moose populations in Quebec and their migratory moves.

IN WEST VIRGINIA — The weatherman played weird tricks when he brought a blizzard to Wheeling, W. Va., and dealt out some real spring weather to normally cold Minnesota. The "monster" at left is an auto victim of the Wheeling snow. The car gots its "face" when sections of the snow were wiped away.

IN MINNESOTA—Unseasonably warm weather in Minneapolis proved that boys WILL splash in the mud. Paul Harris, left, and Robert McCurdy, both eight years old, had themselves a time in the melting slush.

RCAF Man Sentenced For Theft, Vandalism

BELLEVILLE (CP)—Harry W. Kerr, 20, of Montreal was sentenced Friday to a year in reformatory for car theft, breaking and entering an air force mess and doing wilful damage to mess furnishings.

Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan told the court Kerr's actions appeared to be a "deliberate attempt to get out of the air force."

Kerr pleaded guilty to charges of breaking into the mess hall and throwing furniture into the swimming pool. He was sentenced to a total of nine months, running concurrently with the car theft term.

Sir William Fergusson, eminent Scottish surgeon who died in 1877, was the inventor of many modern surgical instruments.

Huge Plant

OSLO (CP)—A group of Norwegian engineering firms has been awarded a contract to build a hydro-electric plant in Brazil to produce 100,000 kilowatts of energy. The station will be located about 320 miles northeast of Rio De Janeiro.

Mrs. Jones is all washed up!

HER HUSBAND bought her a nice new washing machine, but he, like most men, forgot that a wife has to have someplace where the clothes can be soaked a bit beforehand and rinsed out afterward.

Her idea was that a combination kitchen sink and laundry tub would be just the thing, so she spent two cents and sent us a postcard. We sent the convenient, easy-to-choose-from catalogue which thousands of Canadians also asked for last year, together with our price list showing at least 30% less for plumbing fixtures, and we added our budget plan outline. Presto, Mrs. Jones got her much-needed convenience for, believe it or not, only $10.48 a month for six months, and now she's all washed up in a fraction of the time it took before.

For a two cent postcard, you can get the same time-, labour- and money-saving information from

A Philatelic Fright

The forthcoming Coronation has caused most of the countries of the British Commonwealth to order new stamps bearing the charming head of Queen Elizabeth. Some of these are of extraordinary philatelic interest, as they are created from photographs rather than from engravings; the British stamps, which have been the subject of many philatelic articles, are reproductions, if we are not mistaken, from photographs taken by our own Yousuf Karsh, and they are beautiful combinations of photography and engraved ornament. They are light in appearance, youthful and charming, as befits a young Queen.

* * *

We have reproduced in this newspaper stamps issued by New Zealand, and the threepenny stamp, bearing a profile of the Queen, is a stamp any country might be proud of. If we are able to believe our eyes, it also is photographically reproduced.

* * *

What about our Canadian stamps? We expect that by this time our readers have seen pictures of them in this and other papers. A four cent stamp appears on May 1, and so far as we can judge, it is a fair, though not a distinguished piece of work. But on June 1, the day before the Coronation, we are to have another stamp, which can only be described as hideous, and a libel upon Her Majesty, who is a beautiful young woman. It is a profile, purporting to be that of the Queen, but in fact it looks like nobody so much as the late George Arliss.

* * *

Why does Canada have such miserable stamps? Remember the Citizenship Stamp, in which the supposedly typical Canadian was depicted with only three fingers on his right hand? Remember the muddled Bell commemorative? In recent years we have had only one good-looking stamp, and that was a reproduction of our first stamp, the one with the beaver on it. Incidentally, that stamp was designed by Sir Sandford Fleming, though the fact does not seem to be widely known. Look through any representative collection of British Empire stamps, and certainly Canada's are a depressing manifestation of the national spirit.

* * *

Stamps go everywhere, and they carry the name of Canada to the ends of the earth. Everybody looks at them, whether with the collector's magnifying glass, the eye of the artist, or simply with the glance of the ordinary man or woman who takes them as representative of the country from which they come. Why are our stamps so bad? Who chooses them? What artists are commissioned to design them? When our country possesses lithographic designers of world-wide reputation, why are our stamps designed by people who obviously do not know their business? Canada's beer labels, Canada's canned-goods labels, Canada's candy-boxes, are on a far higher artistic level than Canada's stamps.

* * *

We have at hand the fourth annual of Advertising Art, produced under the auspices of the Art Directors' Club of Toronto. It contains work that makes our stamps look dowdy, old-fashioned, unimaginative—and just plain bad. And the botch that will appear on June 1 caps the collection. If the Postmaster General doesn't know a good stamp when he sees one, there are at least a hundred first-rate men in the country who would advise him, and do it free, rather than see Canada internationally disgraced and the Queen insulted.

An Historical Bill

Last week a bill was passed through the British House of Commons in all its stages in one day, a bill which is comparable with the Statute of Westminster as a landmark in British constitutional history. This is the Royal Titles Bill. The Statute (passed 1931) recognized the existing fact that the British Dominions had independent governments. The Royal Titles Bill recognizes the fact that the Dominions of the Commonwealth have become independent realms with a sovereign of their own.

The Royal Titles Bill makes constitutional the styles and titles with which the Dominions through their own Parliaments have signified they will variously invest the Queen. For Canada, Queen Elizabeth is to be "Elizabeth the Second, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom, Canada and Her other Realms and Territories Queen, Head of the Commonwealth, Defender of the Faith." The style and title were assented to by the Canadian Parliament in a bill put before it last January, and will be established by Her Royal Proclamation under the Great Seal of Canada. Other Dominions and members of the Commonwealth will style the Queen somewhat differently (for instance, Australia will omit "Canada" and substitute "Australia", and drop "Defender of the Faith"), or very differently. On the fringes of the Commonwealth the Queen will be known as merely "Head of the Commonwealth"—not even Queen.

Thus the Commonwealth has reached, as one observer pithily says, the Athanasian stage in which there is not one crown but seven crowns. Yet there are not seven Queens but one Queen. One wonders how nicely this situation would be analyzed in early generations addicted to scholastic disputes! One might have indulged in very pretty arguments about the attitude of Queen Elizabeth II of the United Kingdom, should Queen Elizabeth of South Africa declare war on Queen Elizabeth of Pakistan. But our times are not given to philosophic or religious disputes about how many angels can dance on the point of a pin, or into how many parts one Queen can constitutionally be divided.

The delicate matter was settled in essence and quietly at the Prime Ministers' conference in London last December. The preamble to the Canadian bill is a level-headed, non-disputatious summary of what today's parliamentarians consider a practical matter of form rather than substance. It read: "recognizing that the present form is not in accordance with present constitutional relations within the Commonwealth, concluded that, in the present stage of development of the Commonwealth relationship, it would be in accord with the established constitutional position that each member country should use for its own purposes a form suitable to its own particular circumstances but retaining a substantial element common to all."

The Royal Titles Bill passed through the British Parliament in all its stages in a few hours. There was a little discussion. Some British parliamentarians said it meant the end of any real binding force by the Crown, others that it meant a new opportunity for the Queen to become really a Queen in her Dominions, and not a Queen over the waters.

As the British Empire was built on sailing ships, the new Commonwealth may be held together by jet planes. The Queen can now visit any one of her Realms—as Queen of that Realm in person—in as short a time as it took Queen Victoria to sail to Dublin. It may be that long, heavy Royal Tours of Dominions, such as the King and Queen made in Canada before the War, as Princess Elizabeth and her Royal Duke made after it, and as the Queen and her Consort propose making to the Antipodes next year, are unnecessary survivals. Shorter tours and more frequent visits are now possible. And the Queen may within twenty-four hours take personal residence for whatever time she desires in any one of the Dominions over which she is differently and distinctively being crowned Queen.

Mao And Malenkov

Mao Tse-Tung, Communist ruler of China, considered himself the political equal of Stalin, as head of the Republic of China. As a fellow-Communist and a pupil of the Soviet system (he was trained in Russia), Mao regarded himself as a disciple of Stalin. Now that Stalin has gone, Mao may feel that the mantle has descended on him, not on Malenkov, as senior leader of world communism. The personal relationship between the two and the turns this relationship takes may offer aid and comfort to western democracies. Mao and Malenkov could fall out with a crash which would redound to the rest of the world's advantage.

Mao will not consider himself a disciple of the younger man. Malenkov has much less prestige than Mao, and Mao has proved his power. His China is probably the third most powerful nation in the world; next only to the U.S. and the U.S.S.R.; for while China is not as industrially advanced as half a dozen other countries, it has men and guns, and Mao has demonstrated how, using them, he could conquer half a continent.

Malenkov and Beria may be able to impose on Russia. They will not be able to impose themselves on China. Mao will insist on China's being treated as an independent sovereign power, not as a satellite. A hint of the strength, stand and repercussions of Red China has been indirectly given by the new regime in the U.S.S.R. when the high-powered Kuznetsov was forthwith despatched to Peking as envoy.

Czech Plane Down In Austria

This is the kind of Communist plane intrusion we like to read about, and not those rash and barbaric intruders who have been shooting down American and British planes. Three young members of the Czech Communist Air Force flying a war-time training plane landed at Graz in the British sector of Austria. They had come from Bratislava, 115 miles away beyond the border, seeking political asylum and life according to democratic precepts. What we particularly liked about the report was this: the Lieutenant and two sergeants were "grinning and evidently pleased with themselves."

The Journal of Samuel Marchbanks

SUNDAY: A visitor to my dwelling expressed inordinate admiration of a lamp I own this evening, which amused me greatly. When he asked for details about it I said that it was a lovely old Chinese vase of T'ung En-Ch'eek workmanship, and he was more impressed than ever. It would have been cruel to disillusion him. The lamp is an old blister which I bought at an auction for $2.50; it was then of pale blue pottery, with a design of varicose veins. I covered it with papier-mache, giving it a somewhat crackled surface, and painted it with a cheap commercial lacquer. But when people decide to admire something there is no point in telling them that it is not so fine as they think. Their enthusiasm hurts no one, and as they are not professional appraisers of objects of art, it cannot pervert anyone else's taste. Besides, I was complimented that my piece of junk could excite such raptures.

✧ ✧ ✧

MONDAY: Was able to do a couple of favours for a visitor from Toronto this afternoon, and as he took leave of me he said "Next time you're in town let me buy you a drink". He meant it well, but this is a phrase I do not like. I am perfectly well able to buy myself a drink. I like to be offered drinks, not bought them. I am old-fashioned in my attitude, I know, but I think that the pretence should be kept up that no form of hospitality involves anything so disgusting and beneath the notice of nice people as money. The people I like are those who pay the waiter on the sly, and who pretend that there are no prices on the menu. I know the rules of the game: I know that I must not choose quail stuffed with crushed pearls when eating with a friend of modest means. But I think that we should pretend that I do not take quails and pearls because I prefer two sausages and some boiled cabbage. Certainly I always pretend when I am host that money does not enter into my head, and that my chats with the waiter are about his painful feet and his wife and children. Foolish, perhaps, but it oils the wheels of life.

✧ ✧ ✧

TUESDAY: This evening I went to a double feature movie made up of two old films by Noel Coward. I was never one of those who swooned at the magnitude of Coward's genius when he was at the top of the tree; neither am I one of those who mock him now that he has slipped to a lower branch. He is a wonderfully deft craftsman, and although the world he writes about is a thing of the past, I am ready to accept it as a suitable sphere for a lot of amusing monkey-business. The people who now scorn Coward are those who once took him for a realist, who showed the world as it is; he was never anything of the sort, and like many another able writer of comedy he invented a world which superficially resembled the real one, but which was in fact governed by quite different laws. In the real world adultery and cheating at cards and biting people's heads off with satirical rejoinders are never very funny; on the stage they can be delightful. There was once, not so long ago, a sphere in which wealthy people had lots of servants and wasted lots of money; but wealthy people were never as amusing as Coward made them. They were just as dull as people of limited income, in better clothes and bigger houses.

✧ ✧ ✧

WEDNESDAY: Eavesdropped at a conversation between two women today, in which they discussed the excellence of flaxseed, consumed at breakfast, as a treatment for dry hair. No worse than oats, I suppose. They also talked about a new pack for the face, which must be mixed with milk; this reminded me of that wonderful old melodrama of the French Revolution in which the heroine is described as "she who bathed in milk, and spent a fortune on a single pearl". I am glad I am not a woman. Milk taken internally disagrees with me, and if I had to smear it on my face in order to be beautiful I think I would hastily seek some other highroad to fascination. What is the good of a beautiful complexion, if you smell like a baby? They also nattered happily about the new pinpoint high heel, made from aluminum; it sounded like a dreadful thing to be kicked with, but I shall watch with delight the attempts of the female sex to walk on it. Very few women can manage high heels; when they wear them they adopt a short-stepping, stiff-kneed gait which is unattractive and rather comic. The most attractive female gait is a kind of graceful lollop.

✧ ✧ ✧

THURSDAY: News today of the death of Josef Stalin. I am not one who gasps and pops his eyes when news comes of a death among the great ones of the earth; they are as mortal as I, or the man next door. But it is one of the charming and endearing things about mankind that there are plenty of people—a majority perhaps—who are astonished at every death, and delighted at every birth. A baby, however wrinkled, puny and doomed by circumstance, throws them into cooing tizzies. A death, even when the party of the first part is an unenchanting dictator, strikes them solemn. This is good-hearted, and I wish I could join in the fun, but I can't. I was born once myself, and birth seems to me to be an interesting but by no means rare feat. Unless I am fated to repeat the early aeronautical experiment of the Prophet Elijah, I shall certainly die, and if anyone as clumsy as I can do it, certainly Joe Stalin can. So I took the news calmly, and pondered whether, in his last hours, Joe had wondered if perhaps atheism had been too sweeping a philosophy.

✧ ✧ ✧

FRIDAY: Became involved in a game of Old Maid this afternoon, at the house of a friend who had preserved a wonderful set of cards, designed in the days of the Comic Valentine, and in the same convention of drawing. The characters were superb. Grocer Smallpound was there, and Harry Holdwire (who was talking on a telephone of the early, wall-instrument type). Fred Freversmoke wore a high collar and a derby hat, and was right out of the period when the smoking of cigarettes was a sign of a degenerate character. Arthur Arguemuch was obviously a lawyer, and Flossie Flirtsome carried me back to a day when a generalized amplitude of figure was a mark of beauty. Nora Newtogs was dressed in the height of fashion, probably by Miss Botchie Misfit, a dressmaker whose teeth, rather surprisingly, were marked "False" in large clear letters. Some children were playing, and I was astonished at their precocious gift for cards. One of them had so accurately memorized the creases and distinctive marks in the back of the Old Maid card that she was always able to avoid drawing it. That child will go far, but I hate to think where.

✧ ✧ ✧

SATURDAY: I retrieved my watch yesterday from the man who had been cleaning it, and I find that he has not regulated it; it still gains an exact five minutes every 24 hours. I do not complain of this; while my watch gains a known space of time every day, I can be sure what time it is to within five minutes. That is to say, I could be sure if I had any other timepiece from which I could periodically learn the correct time. But I have no such invaluable horological friend. Outside my window the Post Office tower rears its Moorish-Norman-Gothic head, and its four clock faces usually offer four interesting variants of the time of day; sometimes, when an icicle gets into the works, or a heavy bag of mail is inadvertently hung on the main weight, it stops altogether. Other local clocks are either out of my range, or have wooden works, which are being preserved as examples of pioneer craftsmanship, and treat the time with the utmost irreverence. So, although I bear upon my wrist the world's most honoured watch, I might as well use an hour-glass, and when I want to know the time I make observations of the moss on trees, the condition of the leaves of the arboricus Marchbankensis (shrub in the garden at the Towers) and the sun.

YUGOSLAVIA TODAY V

No Soviet Central Bureaucracy

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL

THE leaders of Tito's Yugoslavia, determined to accomplish the goal of Communism, but shocked by the growth of a new bureaucratic caste in the Soviet Union, are forever wrestling with one problem: how to encourage genuine self-government at all levels while maintaining one-party rule. In a now famous speech made in the Federal Parliament on April 1 last year, Edvard Kardelj, who is not only the Foreign Minister but also the most systematic thinker of the Party, admitted for the first time that some countries would probably start and develop the socialist transformation under the parliamentary forms of a multi-party system, but added that "in a comparatively backward country like Yugoslavia, struggling with great internal economic difficulties, and at the same time exposed to aggressive pressure from abroad, such a system would inevitably destroy not only the socialist foundations of the country, but its very independence." In view of the risk of national parties reviving the traditional antagonisms between the peoples constituting the Yugoslav Federation, that is probably true. The alternative method of fostering self-government, which the Yugoslav leaders have chosen, is a return to the original Soviet system of the early years of the Russian Revolution, or to the still earlier model of the Paris Commune of 1871, as interpreted by Marx and Lenin.

With that end in view, a number of important constitutional changes were prepared last year. First, the forms of local government—the People's Committees in the communes, cities and districts — were to be strengthened. They are henceforth to be the only administrative bodies in their respective areas, with no centrally appointed state officials competing with their authority, and will benefit by the transfer to them of some of the trained personnel that is becoming redundant at the centre. This means that such a basic task as the assessment of the peasants for the new fixed land tax, based on average cadastral value over a number of years (which is to replace the present income tax so as to give the peasants added incentive for producing more) will be carried out entirely by local authorities. There are obvious advantages in giving so much scope for local self-government, but there is also a danger of neighbourly spite intruding into public administration.

SECOND, the titles "Government" and "Minister" are to be abolished by a reform of the central authorities. What is really intended is a stricter separation of the administrative functions of the Government and the policy-making and controlling functions. The former are to be entrusted to administrative agencies headed by senior officials such as the National Bank, the Federal Planning staff, etc.; the latter are to be handed to the Presidium of the National Assembly, consisting of forty members, and supervising the various branches of administration through special committees. The Chairman of the Presidium will at the same time be the Chief of State, appointing Ambassadors and commanding the Armed Forces, while retaining his seat in the Assembly—a position evidently tailored for Marshal Tito. A similar separation between the administration and the policy-making body has existed for a long time in Sweden, where the ministries are small law-drafting offices, and only the Cabinet as a whole can give orders to the administrative agencies; whether the replacement of the authority of a political minister by the authority of a committee really leads to more effective control of "the bureaucrats" is open to doubt.

Third and most important, "Producers' Councils" are to be created on all levels above the commune, as second chambers both to the city and district "people's Committees" and to the National and Federal Assemblies. These councils, elected locally by the workers councils and the peasants' co-operatives (not only the collective farms, but the ordinary old-style co-operatives which include the bulk of the individual peasants) of the area, and centrally by delegations from the district and city councils, will become the primary authorities for discussing and voting the economic plan, the budget and all economic and social measures. It is hoped that the local Producers' Councils—they will probably be elected for the first time in October—will decide many issues concerning the local application of the plan, which were formerly settled by order from above, and are at present largely left to the discretion of the National Bank; for instance, the division of a given planned quota among the various local production units, or, in future, the permission to use profits for local investments. According to the sponsors of the scheme, the National and Federal Producers' Councils might then better understand the points of view of opposing local interests.

THE question, of course, arises as to whether if this system is allowed to develop freely, the interests of Yugoslavia's constituent nationalities will not clash almost as openly as they would in a party system. But care has been taken to ensure that, while in the lower councils each production unit votes according to the value of its product, in the Federal Councils each national republic will be represented in proportion to its population, so as to avoid an outvoting of the backward by the more developed regions. That, indeed, is the basic difficulty of decentralization; the difference between the economic and cultural standards of, say, Slovenia, with its prosperous peasants catering for many small towns, its old industries and long tradition of literacy, and Bosnia, with its traditional poverty, bad communications and hangover of Islamic conservatism, is so big that Yugoslavia has almost a "Point Four" (aid for underdeveloped territories) problem within its own borders.

There is always a danger, too, that such a difference of standard and tradition might find ideological and political expression. Even inside the Party it seems that the Slovenes most solidly accepted the break with Moscow in 1948, and show the greatest interest in the ideas of the Western labour movement, while the poorer and more backward regions were at first bewildered. The transition from an administrative to a market economy threatens to accentuate this difference; while all goods were administratively distributed on the principle of "fair shares", supplies were bad, but everybody was equally poor; now, the more productive areas have a higher standard of living and the backward regions grumble about the "egotism" of the Slovenes.

Meanwhile the Government has difficulty in persuading much-needed teachers, doctors, technicians and skilled workers to go to Bosnia, a key area for the building of Yugoslavia's new heavy industry. How far will economic and political decentralization be allowed to go in face of these problems? Only the future can show.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

The word of the Lord came unto me again, saying, What mean ye, that ye use this proverb concerning the land of Israel, saying, The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge? As I live, saith the Lord God, ye shall not have occasion any more to use this proverb in Israel.

Behold, all souls are mine; as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine . . The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son; the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him. But if the wicked will turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die . . .

Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye have transgressed; and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel? For I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: wherefore turn yourselves, and live ye. (Ezek. 18:1-4,20,21, 31,32.)

Letters To The Editor

ARE OTONABEE FARMERS DUMB CATTLE

Sir: From time to time, we, in your paper see complaints of citizens about their Councils; but few from country make this effort, —and that in spite of jumping taxes on land and soil.

A part of an elegy from school days I remember, runs like this, "Not like dumb cattle be, b . a hero in the strife." Is it that the Otonabee farmer resembles his dumb cattle? Driven without even a moo or baa?

Because of present councils Otonabee has the highest land tax; land, soil, already is worked, committed and in debt to high machinery and other costs; this land at the present rate of tax, will, in very few years, have been eaten up to its full value and more in tax. It's safe to say that, if prices we sell at continue downward and up in what we buy, this farm at present rate of tax cannot continue to produce or even exist; and if we try now to sell our land, no one because of tax would buy. Must our farms be then confiscated in lieu of taxes and given to some foreigner—and not our son or grandson?

Should a land be taxed in disregard of rate of expense, or assets, or price of produce sold? Admittedly the council is in predicament due to new schools; but there are some living and working in Otonabee who, with no expense of farming, make more money, yet pay little to schools by tax. Yet it seems unfair to tax homes—should not education costs be shouldered by governments—what else are they for?

And another thing our taxes are raised because of road expense; in Otonabee is over a hundred miles of roadway to keep up and some thirty odd for the county or urban road of travel.

This thirty odd costs more to keep than the hundred or more for country or township—but the township pays without a squawk from ratepayers. Is it that they do not know or care?

LOCATION FOR ARENA

Dear Sir: This would be a nice year to have the Memorial Arena built.

It is the Coronation of our Queen.

I wonder what outside fans say when they come from Kingston, Belleville, Toronto and other cities the size of Peterborough to see games and look at the barn we have.

There are properties around the bycentre of Peterborough to build an arena.

You don't have to go outside of the city limits to find land.

Travelling along streets you find land such as these:

Auburn Street at Parkhill Road.

Park Street facing London Street.

McDonnel Street at Stewart.

Barnardo Street at C. N. Railway.

It would be nice to see it on Burnham Street East side facing the bowl.

It could have lots of parking space around the outside which could handle all the parking, not only for hockey, but in other games of ball and lacrosse.

It could have the best bus service at all times, as the barns are just a stone's throw.

Couldn't we have the Memorial Arena this year?

One of these lots may be bought or looked into.

I remain yours truly,
SPORT FAN.

Bancroft School A Centre For North Hastings Adults Work Kindles Enthusiasm

NICK NICKELS

BANCROFT — A week ago Thursday evening three commercial travellers teetered on their heels in the lobby of the hotel and cursed the weather. It was snowing so hard they could barely see across the narrow street. They had parked their cars and decided to stay for the night. The various trunk highways they had driven on that afternoon would be impassable they said.

The roads were heavy indeed but the weather was not bad enough to stop 210 adult night students from attending "open house" at their North Hastings District High School. Many of them drove through the blinding March blizzard from such far-off communities as Combermere, Lake St. Peter, Fort Stewart, Maple Leaf, Highland Grove and Coe Hill as they had done for the past 12 weeks. Their numbers were swollen by town folk students and some 200 friends. By 8 p.m. the spacious auditorium of the $320,000 high school was filled.

The gathering listened to guest speaker Dr. Norman High of Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, who told them of the educational opportunities that were not available to people in other parts of the world. The audience understood his message, for, until the fall of '52 they found themselves in the same position as millions of other intellectually starved people throughout the free world.

CHANGED OUTLOOK

The offer of night courses in their own district, changed their outlook on life, however, and they took avidly to night instruction in various subjects. The North Hastings County people had their choice of instruction in commercial work, sewing and dress making, machine shop and carpentry, beginners and advanced art, leather craft work and home nursing.

"Open House" night following the assembly was the culmination of their efforts and they were justly proud of the results. And so were their eight teachers. The initial encouragement of the teaching staff was the enrolment of adults in the classes. They equalled two-thirds of the student body and of the first enrolment in November less than ten per cent dropped out. One teacher is busy three nights a week, one two nights and the rest a night each. Further encouragement was gained in the high quality of work the adult students turned out.

"CONSUMER SKILL" COURSE

The heaviest class, under the instruction of G. F. McKelvey, father of former Queen's University football star Ross McKelvey, is comprised largely of married women. He calls it a "consumer skill" course, one that enables the wives of business men to learn typing, the art of letter writing and bookkeeping. There are 30 machines in the classroom and students also rent equipment for further home study. Some are buying typewriters outright. Standards reached, Mr. McKelvey says, are excellent but he feels that all students should take a second year to become really proficient.

The next largest class is home dressmaking headed by home economics teacher Marjory Coats of Winnipeg. Beginners make pyjamas, house dresses and sample books and the advanced workers, children and women's dresses for family wear. Wife of the principal, Mrs Gordon Wragg, assists in this course.

HOME NURSING

Fourteen adult women completed a fairly comprehensive course in home nursing. One corner of the home economic department is equipped to demonstrate various phases of this course and is in charge of Mrs. J. S. Hattin, R. N. and assisted by Mrs. R. L. Ramsbottom.

In the shop 30 students, including three women, are engaged in technical problems and in the making of simple furniture. Teacher Eric Sandilands finds his hands full going from one student project to another but he is very pleased with the progress they are making

Leather craft work was shown in one of the classrooms in attractive wall displays of ladies' hand and shoulder bags, purses, wallets and embossed writing sets. Some of the ladies said that they were able to do a lot of this type of work at home; they found their products sold readily, too.

TWO ART GROUPS

Oscar Schlienger of Lakefield instructs both beginner and advanced art groups and many fine sketches of still life subjects and landscapes were proof of his teaching ability and the students' creative talents. At "open house" Mr. Schlienger displayed many of his own paintings together with student work, mostly strong landscapes of the North Hastings country. He finds their art appreciation refreshing.

Prior to 1947 secondary education was carried out under most difficult conditions. Classrooms were spread everywhere about the village. They were located in the United Church basement, the barroom of the Bancroft Hotel, two rooms in the Public School, A. Hewitt's basement and both upstairs and down in the Community Hall. The need of a new building was most pressing and plans and financing were arranged and work started in May of 1947 at the southern entrance of the village.

The handsome modern building was completed 15 months later. Students are drawn from the following townships: Farrady, Dungannon, Mayo, Monteagle-Herschel, Bangor-Wicklow. McLure, Wollaston, Limerick, part of Tudor-Cashel and Cardiff in Haliburton county. The school and equipment cost $320,000.

There have been three board chairmen, J. L. Churcher, 1947; Dr. D. M. Rouse, 1948, and Guy Bentley, present head. R. W. Hillis has been secretary-treasurer from the start and the first principal was W. R. Robinson.

The teaching staff has been increased from five to 12 during the past seven years and the current principal is Gordon Wragg, B.Sc., formerly of Shelbourne, Ont. Present enrolment is 318 pupils.

A handsome bronze plaque set in the north wall of the entrance hallway proclaims the names of the original school board who were responsible for the planning and financial arrangements of the new building. It didn't seem to be dedicated by anyone. I asked one of the teachers about this.

"Oh," said he, "the school has never been officially opened."

THE MAKING OF SIMPLE SHOP TOOLS, in the above case a centre punch, is demonstrated by student Glen Keller. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gaebel, both students in other departments, watch his progress with interest. Science teacher and night school treasurer W. A. Morrison, right, gives kindly encouragement.

PROFESSIONAL - LOOKING LEATHER HANDICRAFTS display are admired by students Mrs. Leo Freiburger, left, and Mrs. Arthur Towle who both find this course fascinating work.

UP-TO-DATE BUSINESS PRACTICES are taught by G. F. McKelvey, above, to the largest night class in North Hastings District High School. He is shown explaining some of the fine points of business letter writing to Mrs. W. H. Rutledge, centre, and Mrs. Peter McColl.

HOME DRESSMAKING classes showed a variety of work. Home economics teacher Marjory Coats, left, adjusts a dress on a Grade 11 student, Marlene Mullet; it was made by student Mrs. Robert Maxwell, right.

ART CLASSES ARE DIVIDED into beginners and advanced workers by instructor Oscar Schlienger, of Lakefield, right. Displaying an oil wash canvas of his own of a district scene he explains the proper painting technique to Mrs. (Dr.) Oswald Anderson and Gordon Groves, both students.

A·F·I·E·L·D with NICK NICKELS

At last weekend's annual convention of the Ontario Horticultural Society in Toronto guest speaker Mrs. D. W. Boucher of Kingston deplored the gradual disappearance of wild flowers due to the building of new highways throughout the province. She encouraged home gardeners to cultivate wild flowers in home plots and stated there was no chart or booklet illustrating Canadian wild flowers. Mrs. Boucher said further that the latest book illustrating them was put out in 1788 by the Rev. Gilbert White.

We in Peterborough would like to enlighten you further, Mrs. Boucher.

One of our pioneer authoresses Mrs. Catherine Parr Traill, sister of Susanna Moodie, wrote the text for a large bound portfolio entitled "Canadian Wild Flowers." The writing was done at her home "Westove", present residence of Reeve W. C. Grant of Lakefield, in 1869. The illustrations were made by her niece, Mrs. Agnes Fitzgibbon, and the book, at the request of Canadian women wild flower lovers, ran through four limited editions. The mechanical difficulties of those days and how they were overcome are interesting.

Hand Engraving and Coloring

The artist found that when her sketches were ready no lithographer in Canada would touch them. She was determined that the complete work should be of Canadian workmanship and raised the money for the initial 500 copies from friends and merchants who would buy the complete set.

With no former knowledge of lithography Mrs. Fitzgibbon borrowed printing stone material and made the engravings herself. Her next difficulty was the coloring process after the books had been printed in Montreal. With two or three young friends she tinted the first edition, and the subsequent ones, by hand.

A price of £1,500 stirling was quoted by an English publisher to do this work providing she could get government aid. Apparently the firm had worked on this basis with other colonies on a similar series with great success, to the publisher.

Unpublished Material

After the fourth limited edition of "Canadian Wild Flowers" in 1895 both author and artist had had enough of financial and production difficulties. Mrs. Fitzgibbon said, however, that she had accumulated more than 200 sketches of Kawartha wild flowers and that her daughter Mrs. Moodie (not the "Roughing it in the Bush" author) had an equally large collection of sketches of wild flowers of Manitoba and the North West Territories available. Someone in Nova Scotia at that time also had a fine collection of drawings. But, none of these have been used since then.

Librarian William Graff informs me that a great many of Mrs. Moodie's floral sketches are framed and on display in the office of the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto.

Copies of this book are collectors' items now. There are five under lock and key at the Public Library in Peterborough. They were purchased, from district people, in various states of repair, from $1 to $15. Toronto dealers are asking $25 a copy now. There are a few autographed copies in old private homes of Lakefield people today who wouldn't think of parting with them, just yet. It is hoped they will consider leaving them to the Peterborough Public Library.

Vegetable Garden Plans

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

The best time for making this spring's vegetable garden plan is now, instead of when time is at a premium later on in the spring.

The first step in planning a garden is preparing a list of vegetables the family wants to include.

Then a plan, sketched on a piece of paper the same shape as the garden space, is the best way to outline your garden. If it can be done according to scale, it's all the better. Last year's garden can be used to furnish some ideas for the new one. If these plans are kept on hand from year to year, it makes planning much easier.

The most important point is deciding where each vegetable will be planted. In deciding this, it's important to consider the method of cultivation. If tractor equipment is to be used, plans can be made for wide rows and room at the ends of rows.

For hand cultivation, the garden rows can be spaced from one to three feet apart, depending upon the vegetable.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

The George Goulding who was among oldtime athletes honored at the sports celebrities' dinner last week in Toronto is the father of Bev Goulding, cage and grid coach at PCVS. George Goulding was the 1,000-metre walking champion at the Olympics in 1912. Walking and running races were quite popular in many countries around that period and for some years afterward. Dave Hartley, a Peterborough painter, won a special walking race in Toronto's Mutual St. Rink, doing some 57 miles in a 12-hour grind to average 4¾ m.p.h. back in those horse-and-buggy days. A clipping we got a space back from Ernie Brumwell tells all about it. They had such races in the old Brock, too.

* * * * * *

A big $10,000 marathon was held in New York's Polo Grounds in 1909 with such ace runners of the time as Alf Schrubb, Dorando Pietri, Frenchy St. Ives, Tom Longboat and others competing before 30,000 people. Longboat won it, and followed that up by setting a world's record for the rough 25-mile Boston course of two hours, 24 minutes and 24 seconds in a field of 102 starters. The Brantford Indian once beat his sister and brother-in-law to their bushland home from Hamilton, but he was on foot and they drove a horse! High honors came to him in Canada and abroad, and much money for that time. Heavy bets were laid on those races, with talk of "a fix" at times, too.

* * * * * *

When Running Was Fun

This was maybe a decade before a Chemong Indian named Albert Smoke jogged to marathon fame and had a chance in the Olympics. Jim McMartin, Charlie Thorpe and other fine distance men around here helped keep racing popular for many years, and later there were fellows like Ab Frick, Johnny Ward and Dick Bates, just to mention a few. Can't begin to recall them all, many of 'em being before our time. Though we did compete in a few of the many annual Examiner Thanksgiving Day road races, the five-mile variety. This paper also sponsored 10-mile runs for the older athletes. We recall one lad asking Jim McMartin—who was coaching them—if No. 13 (which Jim was pinning on the back of his gym shirt) was a lucky number. The laconic reply was: "It is if you win."

* * * * * *

They took their sports seriously in those days of dusty city streets, many board sidewalks, privies galore, blacksmith shops and bar-rooms in abundance, long-skirted ladies, moustached men, street cars, dollar-a-day labor and the rest. It was a much smaller city, Peterborough, in the days when Goulding, Longboat, Smoke and the other young athletes were in their prime, and the general living pace was more leisurely. But even as today they enjoyed their sports, such athletic competitions as field lacrosse, baseball, football, boxing, hockey and racing. But walking races and distance runs are now a thing of the past in Peter Robinson's borough.

Tough Refs Coming Up

Al Watkins of the OMHA assures us that there'll be no rough stuff permitted when our bantam Shamrocks and midget Aces play return semi-final games Monday in Scarboro against the Marlboros. Shamrocks have a four-goal lead from the first fray but Aces are down a goal after a very rough session here Thursday. A terrific free-for-all had refs and police nearly nuts trying to restore order. Al informs us that the OMHA will have two of the toughest referees in the business at Scarboro and players will behave, or else. If our bantams come through, they'll go into provincial finals 'gainst the Stratford-Galt winner. Half a dozen midget clubs still in the throes of playdowns. Games in Scarboro go at seven and 8.30 p.m. Monday, bantams first.

Still no word on Petes' post-season puck series. Kingston Goodyears beat Belleville Glens 5-3 to take that series, the K's now clashing with Oshawa Truckers (who have Percy Nicholls back) for senior "B" group honors. A best-of-seven set. Some talk of the Glens and Petes now tangling in the runners-up series, while Orillia and Clippers meet in another set, ultimate winners taking each other on. But nothing definite at this writing. Kingston Vics lost two games to Belleville Hawklets and were trailing in the third when an argument developed and the Vics left the ice, defaulting the game. Then the OHA stepped in and awarded the junior "B" group title to Hawklets. Tch, tch, Kingston, you shouldn't default games.

Junior Crown To P Of W Against May's

Prince of Wales defeated May's 6-1 to capture the Public School Hockey League junior championship in Civic Arena yesterday. They went through the season without a reverse, playing fine hockey from start to finish.

Roddy Parker led the champions with two goals, Joe Todd and Paul Cannon each counted a marker and assisted on another. The other tallies were racked up by Jeff Andrews and Ricky Buckton. Andy Beavis got an assist and played a steady, hard-checking game throughout. The victors had neat goaltending and defensive work to keep their rivals down to one counter. Teams:

Prince of Wales: Patterson, Owen, Trotter, Beavis, Andrews, Marchen, Buckton, Daynes, Cannon, Todd, Curvin, Parker.

May's: G. Park, Grant, Hamilton, Bell, Armour, Johnston, Hutchison, J. Park, Hopkins.

Referee—Pat Doherty.

No Fixed Races In 1952 Meets

TORONTO (CP)—Magistrate S. Tupper Bigelow, chairman of the Ontario racing commission, said Friday not a single case of a "fixed race" was uncovered on Ontario tracks last year.

Called before a legislature committee on government commissions Magistrate Bigelow said he was of the opinion there were no race of this kind, because the commission kept a tight check.

He said race films in future will be developed immediately after the finish so judges and stewards can inspect them on the spot. Previously the films were not ready until the following day.

Magistrate Bigelow proposed a compulsory savings fund be set up for jockeys. He said riders made up to $700 a week, but are careless with their finances.

Collis Gets Senior Crown Against Nurses, 49-26 In YW Girls' Cage League

Breezing through the round robin series with Civic nurses and Blacks, Irv Cipin's Collis colleens easily won the senior girls' city basketball championship Friday night. The Collis quintet after a slow start swept the championship with a convincing 49-26 victory over the Nurses. Meanwhile in the second game Barb Luther went on a scoring spree in the last quarter to give CGE lasses a close 26-25 win over Lindsay. That victory tied their best-of-five series for the city junior title at one game each.

NOT A REVERSE

Collis under coach Cipin found the oposition quite easy this season and went through the league undefeated, running up some large scores. Nurses and Blacks will now begin a best-of-three series for the intermediate cup.

Joan Dunk, Wilma Byers, Marg Borland and Polly Stewart provided Collis with points in the first half as they took an 18-11 half time score despite the work by Nurses' Bev Dawe, Jean Bell and Betty Jaquith.

But the smooth-working Collis team started to romp in the second half, led by Byers with 13 points and Stewart with seven. The Nurses never threatened.

Byers easily led the scoring with 17 points, followed by Stewart with 13. Nurses' best were Jean Bell with 10 and Bev Dawe with nine.

A CLOSE FIT

CGE had their hands full in their junior game with Lindsay. In fact for a while it appeared that the Lindsay girls would win their second straight.

The Lindsay crew, in a low-scoring first quarter, took a slim 4-3 score at three-quarters on points by Doona Copp and Mooch Owen. Ruth Gilson started to hit the hoop in the second quarter with the result Lindsay kept ahead 10-8 at the half.

Gilson kept up her scoring pace in the third, coupled with points by Shirley Algar and Owen, and Lindsay went further ahead 18-12. At this point it appeared that Lindsay were probable winners and possibly by a larger margin.

But Bill Dadson's CGE lasses came to life in the fourth with Barb Luther leading the way. M. Jones, Dot Jackson, P. Gaskill, joined Luther in their rally and when the final whistle blew CGE held a one-point lead despite the scoring of Lindsay's Gilson and Owen.

Lineups:

Fenelon Falls Rink Wins Empress Hotel Trophy As All-Week 'Spiel Ends

The all-week opened mixed rink bonspiel came to a successful conclusion at 11 o'clock last evening, with the presentation of prizes. The main event, the Empress Hotel Trophy, was won by James Curtis' Fenelon Falls rink, with Dr. A. Walkey, Hamilton Vics, runner-up. George Gabel's rink took the Calvert Trophy, with R. F. Downey's rink the runner-up. Both rinks were from Peterborough.

The T. Eaton Trophy went to Dr. M. McCartney's rink, with Garth Braund's rink the runners-up, both rinks being from the local club.

WON FRASER CUP

E. Free from Sunderland took the Gordon K. Fraser Trophy, with B. Finlay of Gravenhurst the runner-up.

Of the four trophies competed for, two went out of town and two stayed with the local club. As for the rest of the prizes, they were, on the whole, fairly evenly distributed.

Fred Stenson and his committee, assisted by the ladies, did a big job in a big way. It was a great week—good curling, keen competition, good sportsmanship, and the bonspiel was followed by large crowds each day.

MAN MOUNTAIN DEAN, JR. (above), ferocious bearded grappler who battles the hard-hitting colored star, Bobo Brazil, in the main event at the Brock next Wednesday. This will be a sizzling encounter packed with dynamite. The semi-final brings together two of the smoothest wrestlers in the game, Sammy (Mr. Canada) Berg and Don Beitleman, the Buffalo flash. Both boys are great favorites here being fast, rugged and clever performers. Ovila Asselin, another smoothie, meets up with Steve Stanlee in the opener. With this array of talent a crowd-pleasing, action-packed evening seems certain.

Predict Approval For Shift Braves, Browns

By JACK HAND

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Major league baseball's first franchise shift in 50 years—the transfer of St. Louis Browns to Baltimore—is expected to receive the formal approval of the American League owners when they meet at Belaire, Fla., Monday.

On the same day, at Tampa, the National League owners will listen to Lou Perini's reasons for wanting to move the Boston Braves to Milwaukee.

It is in the realm of possibility that the transfer of both clubs—unprecedented in major league history—will take place on the same day.

The Browns' transfer, however, seems more probable since a source high in baseball said Friday night American League owners will vote unanimously for the transfer, contingent on the ironing out of a few details.

THREE-FOURTHS VOTE

Then too, American League rules call for only a three-fourths vote for approval. That means Bill Veeck, owner of the Browns, needs only five other club owners to agree with him. The National League, however, requires unanimous approval for shifting of a franchise.

Before the Browns can move to Baltimore, consent will be needed from the International League.

The International League executives have been called to a conference in Clearwater Monday by prsident Frank Shaughnessy.

Today George Trautman, president of the minor leagues, confers with Shaughnessy and Bruce Dudley, head of the American Association, at Deland, Fla.

Dudley's interest in the matter is because Milwaukee is a member of the American Association. Some reports have both Milwaukee and Baltimore moving to Toledo, which dropped out of the AA last season when the franchise was moved to Charleston, W. Va. Others have Milwaukee going into Toledo and Jack Dunn taking his Baltimore Orioles to either Quebec, Hartford, Conn., or Providence, R.I. There also was a possibility that Dunn would be included in the Browns' organization in Baltimore.

Rene Lemyre, general manager of Quebec Braves of the class-C Provincial League, said he knew nothing of the possible shift to the Canadian city.

Church Puck Tilts

Church Hockey League playoffs are listed for this Saturday in the arena, running from eight on, an hour each. St. James' peewees meet Grace, followed by Knox peewees vs. All Saints in semi-finals. In bantam, it will be St. James vs. Murray St., and then Knox vs. Park St. The Grace midgets tackle Mark St. at 12, playing till one. These games are announced by W. E. Bell, chairman for church hockey in the Boys' Work Board.

Citadelles Owner Said Through With Hockey

OTTAWA (CP)—The Citizen says today in a sports page story that Frank Byrne, owner of Quebec Citadelles junior hockey club, is through with hockey.

The newspaper says its report, from a "closely informed" source, is that Byrne has been "fed up" with the way hockey has been run in recent years.

The dispute between the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association and the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association was the "last straw" for Byrne, the story said.

In Quebec, Byrne said he had no immediate comment.

Harold Page Leads

Harold Page rolled a perfect score of 450 this week in the Mercantile Bowling League, and his 918 triple was easily highest of the night. Elsie Penrose led girls of the league in singles with a 291 effort, as Hilda Lacey hit 716 for top three for lasses. High pinnage went to Braund's team, a 3099 chore.

Nichols blanked A & P, as Braund's applied the brush to the A & P No. 2 team. The other counts were 3-1 victories for Austin's over Crowe's, Neill's against Prudential, and Empress over the East City Market five.

From Pugilist To Pastor Remains Boxing Supporter

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP)—Eighteen years ago—Jan. 21, 1935—in a ring in Quebec City, Greggy Gregersen cut down Aurelien Lamothe with a slashing, two-fisted attack and won the Canadian flyweight boxing championship.

Today Rev. Greg Peter Gregersen, pastor of the United Church at nearby Windsor Mills, still finds favor with the sport.

"I believe boxing is one of the best sports in which a boy can develop physically, and as a minister I would go all the way with amateur boxing. The tendency today is towards professionalism and there is not much we can do about it. But my own experience in professional boxing was all good."

INTERESTED IN CHURCH

The pugilist-to-pastor metamorphosis wasn't so strange. As a teen-ager in his native Denmark Greg Gregersen's proficiency at gymnastics led him to boxing. But he was also interested in the church and its work.

When he came to Canada in 1930 he preferred church attendance and gospel meetings to the boxing world. Nevertheless, he continued to fight as a professional. He won the Montreal City and the Quebec provincial titles before going on to win the Canadian flyweight championship.

Armed with this victory, he told Sammy Gibb, his manager: "Sammy, this is only the first lap. Next is the world title."

Later that year he was preparing to leave for England and a crack at the British Empire title as a stepping-stone to the world championship. Then he told Gibb he was through with fighting, that he wanted to fulfil a life-long ambition to serve God.

With the financial help of friends he studied at Toronto Bible College and McMaster University in Hamilton. He sold Christian literature from door to door, and in summers he tramped the isolated areas of Nothern Ontario on gospel pilgrimages.

MINISTER IN WEST

He became a Baptist minister in 1948. Later that year he joined the United Church, hoping he would have greater opportunity to serve among new Canadians in the west. He was appointed to a church at Pangman, Sask. Later his pastorate was at Aberdeen, Sask.

There he started a boxing club and the young boxers had to attend church regularly. They sat in the front pews.

A few weeks ago Mr. Gregersen accepted a call to Windsor Mills, a town of 5,000 where he now lives with his wife, the former Bernice Wallace of Montreal, and their three-year-old twin sons.

The former flyweight champion is 44 years old. He weighs 146 pounds, 34 over his championship fighting weight.

Looking back over his experience, he says:

"I maintain that boxing not only does not make a boy a bully but that once a boy learns how to handle himself he is less apt to get into trouble. Some boys are naturally belligerent. It is better for them to work off this steam in a gymnasium or a ring than on the street corner."

Name Hopefuls For 79th Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Racing's most promising sophomore speedsters were among the 137 nominees for the 1953 Kentucky Derby announced today by Churchill Downs.

The 79th derby will be run May 2, the traditional first Saturday in May, at the Downs.

As usual, the $100,000-added 1¼-mile test collected nominating fees for last year's most successful juvenile campaigners as well as a full quota of untested youngsters.

In the first group are such up-and-coming hopefuls as Native Dancer, last year's unbeaten king of two-year-olds; Chanlea, winner of the recent Santa Anita Derby, and Straight Face, best three-year-old to come out of winter racing in Florida.

Nevertheless, the nominees include a formidable group of three-year-olds that are still developing and could push all three out of the picture. This group includes Navy Page, owned by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, Royal Bay Gem, second to Straight Face in the recent $100,000 Flamingo; Merryman and Correspondent, second and third, respectively, to Chanlea in the Santa Anita Derby, and others. In all, 20 horses that won stakes races last year were made eligible.

Calumet Farm will go after its unprecedented sixth Derby crown with Chanlea and four other hopefuls.

Fallen Leafs Come Back, May Be Too Late To Get Toronto In Playoffs

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs welcomed back their battle casualties today and hoped they hadn't returned to the wars too late. At full strength for the first time since Jan. 1, the Leafs face Boston Bruins tonight after a six-day layoff, at the start of what they hope will be an uphill climb to a National Hockey League playoff berth.

Only four clubs qualify for Stanley Cup play, and the Bruins currently own fourth place by a three-point margin over Toronto. Both clubs have six games to play.

Yet the Leafs' most likely target is not Boston but the third-place Chicago Black Hawks, who lead the Bruins by a single point but have only five games left—three of them against the fearsome Detroit Red Wings and one against the Leafs themselves.

HAWKS MEET WINGS

Chicago pairs off with the first-place Wings for a home-and-home doubleheader starting at Detroit tonight, while the Leafs stand a fair chance of victory when they face the last-place — though occasionally troublesome—Rangers at New York Sunday.

The Rangers are at Montreal Saturday night and the second-place Canadiens, assured of their playoff berth, travel to Boston Sunday.

Back to help the Leafs in their stretch drive are centres Ted Kennedy and Max Bentley and right-winger Howie Meeker. Coach Joe Primeau says they'll all take their regular turns if they can stand the pace.

Reports from the Boston camp say captain Milt Schmidt hurt his side when he crashed into a goal-post at Detroit Thursday night while the Bruins were tying the Red Wings 2-2. But Primeau, with unhappy recollections of what the veteran centre has done to his club on previous occasions when he was supposed to be a virtual cripple, isn't counting too much on Schmidt's injury.

Remember When—

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Tiger players went on strike after winning the NHL championship 28 years ago today because the club executive refused a bonus to players to meet Victoria Cougars for the Stanley Cup. Montreal Canadiens, who finished third, then beat the second-place Toronto St. Patricks for the league honors and in the Stanley Cup Victoria beat the Montrealers.

Syracuse Goose-Eggs Hornets, Lead Hershey

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Syracuse's playoff chances in the American Hockey League were given a boost Friday night when goalie Gordon Bell celebrated his 28th birthday by shutting out Pittsburgh Hornets 1-0.

The victory gave the third-place Warriors a four-point bulge over Hershey and jolted Pittsburgh's hopes of catching the league-leading Cleveland Barons.

Harry Pidhirny's goal in the first period on an assist from Kelly Burnett was the game's lone score.

God's All-Seeing Eye Symbol Of His Presence, Judgments

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

Nothing stands out more strongly from the Hebrew Scriptures of the Old Testament than the fact God's all-seeing eye.

The eye, is symbolic of the presence and judgments of God as He observes the actions of men and discerns between right and wrong.

The Psalmist expressed it in tense and memorable words: "Whiter shall I go from They spirit? Or whither shal I flee from Thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, Thou art there; if I make my bed in hell, behold, Thou art there. The darkness and the light are both alike to Thee." (Psalm 139:7-12).

The consciousness of the Presence filled thoughful men with awe. That inexorable Eye upon them quickened a sense of fear. "The fear of the Lord." one wrote (Proverbs 9:10), "is the beginning of wisdom." There is much in the Old Testament concerning the fear of God.

Thus, they prayed: "Search me, O God, and know my heart: try me and know my thoughts: and see if there be any wicked way in me, and lead me in the way everlasting" (Psalm 139:23).

It takes courage, as well as knowledge and faith, to make a prayer like that. But the judgments of God have a meaning and significance beyond individual character and conduct. A world without judgement would be a world without moral sanctions.

For many years the late Dr.

BAHA'I

"Know thou, verily, God hath preferred the insight to the sight; because the sight sees the material things, while the insight apprehends the spiritual. The former witnesses the earthly world, while the latter sees the world of the Kingdom."—Abdu'l-Baha.

Mexico City's Cathedral Oldest On Continent

MEXICO CITY. — When Cortez and his men conquered the Aztecs they promised to destroy all the great temples and replace them with Christian churches. So Montezuma's magnificent temple to the God of War was destroyed and the Cathedral of Mexico was built in its place.

* * * *

This cathedral is the oldest church in North America and probably the largest. The original church was built in 1525 but the present one was started in 1573. Many of the handsomely carved stones of the pagan temple went into its construction and it was consecrated in 1667. Not until 1813, however, was it finally completed. The architectural harmony of the building is remarkable considering that during the long period of construction many architects and sculptors worked on it.

* * * *

The exterior of the building is a combination of Doric, Ionic and Corinthian architecture freely treated. The three figures which decorate the facade—Faith, Hope and Charity —and the large dome were the work of the famous Spanish architect-sculptor Manuel Tolsa.

* * * *

Great iron-studded wooden doors guard the entrances, memories of a bygone era. Inside, the principal dome and the double row of Doric columns are particularly beautiful. The 14 chapels which flank the aisles contain some splendid examples of Churriguueresque carving. The Altar of the Kings, copied from a chapel in the Seville Cathedral by Balbas, the man who did the original, is the finest in the building. The apse has the effect of a lofty grotto heavily encrusted with gold in every part. No altar in the Cathedral makes a stronger impression of dignity and solemnity.

* * * *

SUBJECT OF MANY LEGENDS

Another notable and much frequented altar, Del Perdon, behind the choir contains Churriguerésque decorations and a large painting of the Virgin, the origin of which is subject to various legends.

* * * *

One of them relates that this painting is the work of a Spanish-Jewish artist, who was condemned to death by the Inquisition because he rebelled at having to paint only religious pictures. As a last favor he asked for materials and painted this beautiful religious image on the door of his cell, but he was not pardoned.

For centuries, the Cathedral was the church of the elite where grand masses were held and from which magnificent processions went into the streets. Until about a century ago there were trees in the atrium which was surrounded by posts connected with chains, now replaced by an iron fence. A picturesque promenade took place in those days on moonlight nights known as the "promenade of the chains." Now, though it is attended by all classes, the poor are more in evidence. The time sightseers are admitted is strictly limited.

* * * *

The twin towers of the cathedral are beautiful and they contain some fine bells. At least one of the towers should be ascended for the view which is perhaps the finest in the Valley of Mexico. A caracol stair, whose entrance is outside at the base of the East tower leads to the roof.

* * * *

CALENDAR STONE BURIED FOR YEARS

The Aztec Calendar Stone was buried for many years at the base of the west tower, because church officials were afraid of the effect upon the Indians if it were seen. Now that wonderful object and certain of the sculptured objects in the Hall of the Monoliths are at the National Museum. The latter were also found buried at the base of the tower.

* * * *

The Sagrario Metropolitano next to the cathedral is a beautiful building. It is built of pink tezontle and the facade is almost like a piece of lace with its elaborate stone carving. The contrast with the more severe lines of the church emphasizes its attractiveness. This is actually a church in itself and is one of the three best examples of Churriguesque church exteriors now existing in the capital. The elaborate chiselled work illustrates the skill of the early artisans.

THE CATHEDRAL of Mexico City is the oldest and largest church on the North American continent. Building of the present edifice was started in 1573, replacing an earlier one built in 1525. —(American Airlines Photo)

SAD, BUT NO TEARS—Rusty, a sad-eyed blonde spaniel, appears quite reluctant to Dr. Doug Smith looking into her eyes for symptoms of distemper. It's distemper time for dogs throughout the Peterborough district and already veterinarians have been busy treating family pets. Many cases have been reported throughout the area so far this year. Rusty is one of the many brought in for a checkup. Just like humans when entering a doctor's office, the pup shook with fright. After the checkup, still very sad-looking, Rusty was apparently quite happy; her stubby tail wagged quickly back and forth.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Junior Farmers May Curl Here

Ontario Junior Farmers Association may approach the Peterborough Curling Club to arrange for their annual bonspiel to be held here at the Charlotte St. rink.

These young farmers of the province have been only discovering the game in the last winter or two, although in some areas it has been receiving rural attention. The boys of the Hastings county rink here two weeks ago are said to have played their first stanes when they stepped on the Peterborough ice. They learned something about the game fast enough for they won one of three assignments.

The association has appointed the following committee to plan next year's games and consider their bonspiel prospects generally: Keith McIntyre, Otonabee, chairman; Murray Brummell, York county; Hugh Imrie, Woodville; Ross McMillan, Ontario county; Robert Brown, Simcoe; George McFayden, Bruce county, and Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, Peterborough.

GIRLS' BONSPIEL

They also suggest that an effort be made to set up a girls' bonspiel at Lindsay playing the same days on which the young men are in Peterborough next March.

At the end of their day here, the Junior Farmers paid their tributes to the Peterborough hospitality personified by Ira Moore of the Curling Club, Gordon Marshall of Canada Packers and Dick Levick of Quaker Oats.

COUNTY COUNCIL BUDGET

The Peterborough County Council will meet on March 25 to bring down their 1953 budget. It will be a two-day session at least, county officials predict.

Damp Weather Brings On Early Increase In Distemper

This past month has seen a far greater number of distemper cases among the dogs in the city, than there has been all winter. Dr. D. C. Smith, local veterinarian, attributes the increase of distemper cases to the exceptional damp weather of the last couple of months.

Distemper is considered to be a virus infection and is strictly a canine disease and is normally encountered during the latter part of September and the early part of May. The first signs of the disease are usually a slight cough and a series of vomitings. After a week a high fever develops and a great deal of puss forms around the eyes and nose. By the third week the dog has lost a considerable amount of weight, due to the dehydration that has been going on in his body and goes into a series of fits and dies in a coma.

Most people recognize the later symptoms but that is usually too late. Distemper can only be cured if caught in the early stages.

The use of aureomycin is the greatest help in fighting the disease. Vaccination when the dog is quite young will protect the dog.

Lately, more and more people are becoming conscious of preventive medicine rather than waiting for a disease to strike.

However if a dog reaches the age of five without being laid low by distemper he will have built up a resistance and is immune.

Queen Mary Shows Slight Improvement

LONDON (Reuters) — Queen Mary, Britain's 85-year-old royal grandmother showed a slight improvement in her general condition today. She has been in bed with an unspecified gastric complaint for three weeks.

The Queen had "a fairly comfortable night," added the bulletin issued from Marlborough House, her London home.

Charged Bigamist Found Not Guilty

COBOURG (ENS)—Magistrate R. B. Baxter yesterday dismissed a charge of bigamy against Mrs. Ella Menzies, of Hampton, Ont. She was alleged to have gone through a form of marriage in 1951 at Hampton while her first husband was alive.

The only evidence before the court was the statement of her first husband that his wife left him 26 years ago but came back to see him two years ago. The accused denied the return visit and said she had not seen him in over seven years.

The magistrate commented that the court was in a peculiar position. The psychiatrist who examined her found that she was not mentally ill but doubted if she knew the meaning of bigamy. The magistrate declared that her evidence in court indicated that she was aware of the significance of the charge but he felt, nevertheless, that there was not enough evidence for a conviction and he felt bound to accept her statement that she had not seen her husband for seven years.

"I am finding you not guilty but don't let it happen again," said the magistrate.

Two City Soldiers Return From Germany

Two Peterborough and one Brooklin veteran will be among 51 members of Canada's 27th Infantry Brigade Group who leave Hannover, Germany, March 19 for home.

Lt. R. L. Kift, Otonabee Apartments, Pte. J. F. Perrow, 403 Sheridan St., and Rfn. D. Wiseman of Brooklin are expected to arrive in Halifax with other brigade members March 28. They will board trains there for home.

Historical Society In City Active At Turn Of Century

Some reference has been made recently to the prospect of forming an Historical Society in Peterborough. That recalls the similar society here after the turn of the century. The officers of that group were: Judge Charles Weller, Hon.-Pres.; Lt.-Col H. C. Rogers, president; R. Hall, 1st vice-president; J. B. McWilliams, 2nd vice-president; Mrs. Birdsall, 3rd vice-president; T. A. S. Hay, secretary; Mrs. Wilson, treasurer.

It may not be commonly known to this generation that the old Historical Society assembled and supervised a museum in the former Dennistoun home at Inverlea Park. It was the old home of Judge Robert Dennistoun of Peterborough county. The late R. M. Dennistoun grew up in that pleasant estate which extended down to the Otonabee River north of Parkhill Road. He was a member of the law firm of Dennistoun, Peck, Kerr and Stevenson, and afterwards went to Winnipeg and became a Justice of the Court of Appeal.

MADE A GIFT

Apparently that was the manner in which Inverlea Park became a gift from the Dennistoun family to the city of Peterborough. It might become an early interest of the proposed Historical Society to make at Inverlea Park some permanent record of the Dennistoun family gift.

Apparently the museum gradually declined in interest, and this historical society slowly dissolved, and eventually the Dennistoun house was torn down, and its grounds since then have been used as a park, and especially as a public bathing place.

$800 Stolen From Office Of Hotel

Money In Cabinet While Combination Of Safe Changed

The Windsor Hotel was robbed of between $800 and $900 sometime Thursday afternoon or evening.

The loss, which was discovered Friday consisted of beverage room receipts for the first three days of the week.

The money was taken from the drawer of a steel filing cabinet in the hotel's upstairs office. It was being kept in the cabinet while the combination of the hotel's safe was being changed.

When proprietor Ed Johnston put the day's receipts in the drawer on Thursday night he did not notice whether Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday's receipts were there, because they had been put in the rear compartment of the drawer.

SOME MONEY LEFT

But when he opened the drawer Friday morning to count the money, he discovered that while Thursday's receipts were there, the money from the previous three days' operations was missing. This led to the assumption that the money had been taken sometime Thursday afternoon or evening.

There was no evidence of force having been used in getting access to the money.

Sergeant of Detectives John Stevenson and Detective Dennis Traynor of the city police are investigating.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

DIRTY DISHES

Five Oshawa public eating establishments Friday were each fined the minimum penalty of $5 and court costs for serving food on "dirty dishes." One of them was the Genosha Hotel. The charges were laid by the medical officer of health.

CONSERVATION TALK

"Conservation of wildlife and forests is essential to man's very existence," said Alex Kay, instructor of conservation of wildlife for the Department of Lands and Forests for Ontario, guest speaker at the Friday Night Club at the YMCA.

SCHOOL COLLECTION

A school collection for the Junior Red Cross and for the relief of children in the Far East has been approved by the Board of Education. The other two annual collections for public school children during the year are the penny-a-day for the community fund and the Legion poppy fund.

OIL ESCAPES

The fire department was called out shortly before noon today to wash a quantity of oil from the pavement when an oil truck backing out of a laneway at 319 Burnham St. backed into a car and broke a valve which allowed the oil to escape.

EGG PRICES INCREASE

The increase in egg prices this week of five cents at the city market, caused the market to be a bit slower than usual. Grade A oversize eggs are selling for 65 cents, Grade A large 60 cents, medium large 55 cents and small 50 cents. Chicken prices remained at their usual 55 cents a pound.

SUPPLY OF SHAMROCKS

A Peterborough matron is playing fast and loose with the boundary lines of nationality. A Scot by birth, Mrs. Sophia Fontaine, of 428 Water St., is a post-war resident of Canada, and Friday she received a box of shamrocks from Ireland so she could celebrate the 17th with the appropriate Irish emblem. A relative in Scotland placed the order for "the wearin' o' the green."

$43,694 Collected

Today's total for the Red Cross and Community Fund is $43,694 in the $95,000 campaign. Division totals and objectives are: Special Names $12,670 ($27,850); Industrial $21,550 ($41,800); Retail $4,571 ($19,250); Women's $4,206; Penny-A-Day $697 ($600).

Oshawa To Buy Two Ambulances Undecided Here

Oshawa ambulance service is being assumed as a responsibility of the city through a special committee effective April 1. It will be operated by the fire department. Two Cadillac ambulances have been ordered at $8,500 each for delivery in two months. Meanwhile the Ajax ambulance will be used in Oshawa.

As reported in the Oshawa Times Gazette: "Oshawa has a hospital but no ambulance, and Ajax has an ambulance but no hospital. Details of the operation of the municipal service will be given later."

Peterborough's ambulance service is evidently undergoing a change at the beginning of April but not as a municipal department.

About three weeks ago, the Comstock, Belleghem and Kaye funeral directors informed the city council that they wished to withdraw from this service. It was understood that the Nesbitt funeral home was of the same intention, but it is now reported that Norman Nesbitt's son wishes to continue responding to ambulance calls.

TRIAL PERIOD

There is no undertaking with the city council, as the Examiner was informed, but two ambulances will be available on 24-hour duty. The city has not given Mr. Nesbitt a franchise, but there has been an understanding that the present arrangement is a form of experiment for six months under the council's observation.

It is assumed that at the end of this month some announcement will be made to the public definitely acquainting them of the ambulance service.

Harold Scott Gets Hand At Committee Meeting

A pleasant little aside took place Wednesday when the Special Committee of the Legislature heard resolutions from fish and game groups from all over Ontario.

J. Houck, MPP, Niagara Falls, stood and remarked that while he was the only Liberal on the committee it gave him great pleasure to move a motion of appreciation to Harold R. Scott, MPP, Peterborough, for his splendid work while minister of Lands and Forests, and also for the fact that Mr. Scott was present at the two-day sessions, thus showing his continuing interest in fish and game matters.

The seconder to the motion was Blake Uren, Orillia, an officer of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters, and the applause to the motion rocked the room where the committee was sitting.

Investigate Death Of Small Baby

Codrington Infant Found Unconscious Post Mortem Held

COBOURG (ENS) — A post mortem on an infant girl who died Thursday on the way to Trenton hospital was conducted in Belleville Friday.

The two-month-old child was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Lord, of Codrington. She was discovered unconscious in a carriage by her mother and died shortly afterwards.

No results of the post mortem have been announced by the Cobourg Crown Attorney. It was performed by Dr. H. Lucke, provincial pathologist at Belleville.

Dr. Gordon Johnston, of Trenton, the Lord's family doctor, said the baby had been in good health.

OPP Constable G. Lyle, of Brighton, is in charge of police investigations.

Young Grain Men Here For Show

Sixty-one rural boys of grain clubs in eight of the counties comprising the Central Ontario Spring Show territory are due at the market hall Wednesday morning for the grain judging competition of the show.

County representation is: Durham 10, Hastings 10, Prince Edward 9, Peterborough 9, Ontario 8, Frontenac 6, Northumberland 5, and Victoria 4.

John Dawson, Ottawa, of the Federal Department of Agriculture, is chairman of the committee in charge of this junior feature of the show. To assist him, he has invited A. H. Martin, Ken Fallis and R. Goodin of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Douglas L. Parks of Kemptville Agricultural School, and agricultural representatives Arthur Grubbe, Lanark, and F. Q. Dench, Renfrew.

Lack of accommodation at the Exhibition Park required the transfer of this competition to the market hall up town beginning at 10 a.m. The entry fee is one dollar for each boy, and they are all guests at lunch Wednesday at the Empress Hotel.

HELP TO MAGAZINE

A full page advertisement is once again being bought in the PCVS annual magazine The Echoes by the Board of Education. The cost is $30, approved by the board, and Chairman Stanley R. Adamson will give a message from the board.

TO KOREA—Sqdn. Ldr. John MacKay, DFC, 33, of New Westminster, B.C., has been transferred to Korea for a tour of duty with the United States Air Force. The 17th RCAF pilot to go to the Far East, he recently led 416 Squadron from Ottawa to France as part of Operation Leapfrog II. Under the exchange program with the USAF, RCAF pilots serve a six-month or 50 mission tour of duty—whichever is the shorter.

Few Small Gains Spark Hopes Of Spring Rise

By HARRY KINGDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A few small gains sparked speculation this week about a spring rise on the Toronto stock market.

Golds, however, didn't appear to believe the rumors.

The exchange's indexes, which measure price trends, showed an average gain on the week of almost two points for industrials, base metals and western oils. Golds dropped slightly more than two index points.

Exponents of the spring-rise theory say that even a small gain of two points is significant in view of the adverse influence of international events on the market. They point out that prices slipped after the announcement of Stalin's illness and also after news of Western aircraft being shot down over Germany.

INVESTMENT TRENDS

Now that the market appears to have recovered from the "penny boom" more interest is likely to be displayed in investment rather than speculative stocks.

During the boom, activity concentrated on low-priced speculative issues. Between Jan. 5 and March 13, the index—measuring the movements of established stocks—dropped an average of 6.30 points.

Many observers believe that the loss would have been greater if it had not been for bargain-hunting "institutional" buyers. The institutions—insurance companies, investment funds and trust funds—took advantage of low prices to buy for long-range investment, thereby helping support the market.

Now, say the spring-rise theorists, general investment interest is being added to the institutional buying and prices should go up.

Montreal and Toronto markets did not follow one another this week. Toronto showed moderate gains Monday while Montreal slipped. Tuesday, prices weakened in Toronto while industrials and papers rose in Montreal. Industrials weakened in Montreal Wednesday and gained in Toronto. Thursday losses in Toronto were matched by gains in Montreal.

MOVE CLOSER

The two centres came closer Friday when Toronto prices rose and Montreal were mixed.

In New York, prices rose slowly Monday and turned mixed Tuesday. A rise started Wednesday, weakened Thursday under stress of international news but started up again Friday.

From Friday to Friday, the Toronto exchange indexes showed industrials up 1.48 at 320.40 golds down 2.30 at 79.94, base metals up 1.68 at 175.51 and western oils up 2.64 at 122.39.

In the Montreal averages, banks were up .23 at 33.50, utilities up .8 at 95.7, industrials up .6 at 206.9, combined up .7 at 169.2, papers up 4.71 at 712.76 and golds down .54 at 64.73.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks on the New York market was up $1.20 at $115.00.

PRINCESS MAY—This photo of Queen Mary was taken when she was Princess May of Teck, shortly before she became the bride of the Duke of York, later King George V. Queen Mary, who will be 86 on May 26, has been in bed with gastric trouble since February 24. She has been visited by her granddaughter, the Queen, and her children, the Duke of Windsor and the Princess Royal.

NB Premier Sees Bright Future For Province

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New Brunswick may have a bright future.

Premier Hugh John Flemming said in the legislature at Fredericton Friday that for the first time in generations the province may have "an adequate economic foundation."

He based his prediction on the large base metal discoveries in New Brunswick, the projected development of Canada's largest army camp, plans to use the St. John river to supply power and other capital programs to be carried out by his administration.

Highways will soon be a common topic for representatives from British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

At Edmonton, Highways Minister Gordon E. Taylor announced that ministers in charge of highways construction in the three western provinces will meet in Edmonton March 21 to discuss federal aid for highways—"especially of military highways."

SEEK BETTTER WAY

The Saskatchewan house heard Provincial Secretary J. W. Burton state that his government is still paying compensation for the use of surface rights in the province.

He said they are studying ways of giving owners of freehold mineral rights more protection from so-called "slick operators."

The CCF party in the Manitoba house demanded that the province pay a supplementary allowance to old-age pensioners whose incomes are limited to the pension of $40. The motion was defeated 28 to 17.

The Nova Scotia house agreed on a voice vote to shelve a bill which would allow appeals against decisions of the public utilities board. Among other things, the board sets rates on bus fares, electrical and telephone services and milk.

G. I. Smith (PC—Colchester), who introduced the bill, said board members were human and can make mistakes. There should be some avenue of appeal.

DENY CHARGES—Preparing a denial after charges of being "Russian spies" were made in the House of Commons are Ray Gardner, of Vancouver, and his wife, Kay. Tom Goode, the Liberal member for Burnaby-Richmond, made the charges. Gardner, a former newspaper man, is an official of the Canadian Peace Council. The Gardners recently attended a "peace rally" in Peiping and a similar conference in Vienna.

Would Purchase Land For Park

ELORA, Ont. (CP)—A survey made by the watershed conservation authority recommends paying $15,000 for the purchase of 401 acres along the Elora gorge on the Grand river for use as a public park. The assessed value of the land is $11,875.

The recommended purchase price would apply to 312½ acres of privately-owned land.

Acquisition of the Elora gorge as a public park will be the main item on the agenda when the conservation watershed authority holds its annual meeting late this month.

The report says the gorge has become increasingly popular with residents of the surrounding cities as a site for summer homes.

Western Ont. Anglers Oppose Fishing Ban

HARROW, Ont. (CP)—Members of the Anglers' Club of Colchester South passed a resolution Friday night "bitterly opposing" any legislation which would ban United States residents from fishing in the waters of Southwestern Ontario.

Such legislation was recommended in a resolution presented to the Ontario legislature's fish and game committee recently by the Kent County Sportsmen's Association. The resolution won approval of F. R. Richardson of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters on behalf of its Essex and Lambton county affiliates.

The Colchester south group said their resolution will be forwarded to the government.

Central Drama Meet Starts In Toronto

TORONTO (CP) — Housewives, business men, students and other Little Theatre enthusiasts will step into the spotlight Monday when the central Ontario regional drama festival starts.

Seven plays are to be presented by the amateur theatrical groups competing for a place in the Dominion Drama Festival to be held in Victoria May 4 to 9.

John Allen, distinguished British actor, director and playwright will be adjudicator for the plays which include "The Late Christopher Bean" by Sidney Howard, Oshawa Little Theatre and "Blithe Spirit" by Noel Coward, Oakville Arts and Crafts Inc.

Saunders Too Modest —Governor-General

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—The governor-general told hydro chairman Robert Saunders Friday that he is far too modest.

"You should tell more about this great project to Canadians," Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey said after seeing the Sir Adam Beck generating station No. 2. "You are hiding your light under a bushel."

Mr. Saunders said it was the first time in nearly a decade that he had been accused of modesty

Ontario House Aims To Prorogue April 2

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario legislature, aiming for prorogation April 2, will start its stretch drive Monday and several night sittings will be held to deal with three major issues of debate.

They are the budget, bill 80 which will set up a metropolitan council in the Greater Toronto area to unify essential services and the departmental estimates.

It is understood that Premier Frost intends to have several night sittings on bill 80. He said earlier that the bill will require 15 sittings. The first will be held Monday when the make-up of the metropolitan council and corporation and the tenure of office will be debated.

London Group Stages W.O. Festival Entry

SARNIA (CP)—"Dark of the Moon" was presented by the London Little Theatre Friday night at the Western Ontario regional drama festival.

Adjudicator John Allen said it deserved detailed adjudication and said this was a great compliment, one which could be paid only when a production reached a high level.

"I thought this production had marvellous pace and fire," said the British actor-playwright, "though some of the dramatic moments were a bit smudged over."

He said the play, produced by Mary Ashwell, owed a great deal to the way the music was handled.

Promises To Help

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Frost told the 13th annual meeting of the Credit Union League Friday he will help the league in any way he can. Mr. Frost was apparently referring to a statement made earlier by A. F. Dalgleish, league president, suggesting the transfer of the Credit Union Act from the department of agriculture to the administrator of insurance under the attorney-general's department.

Newsboy Rubs Hands, Suffers Flash Burns

TORONTO (CP)—Bobby Moore, 15-year-old newsboy, rubbed his hands together Friday and suffered severe flash burns to his face.

Police said they believe he created enough friction with his hands which were coated with some chemical, to cause the flash fire.

Hospital attendants said there were traces of white powder around the burns, which might have been phosphorous.

Moore went to the street corner from chemistry class where he may have got the chemical on his hands.

Would Beautify Roads

ST. THOMAS (CP)—The St. Thomas District Horticultural Society passed a resolution Friday asking the Ontario department of highways to give some attention to the landscaping and beautification of provincial highways in Southwestern Ontario. The resolution suggested the use of flowering dogwood, found growing wild in local woods, and asked that a start be made on the new three-lane highway to Port Stanley.

Vegetable

The next step is making a list of vegetables planted first in the spring. These early plantings include onion sets, lettuce, radishes, cabbage, carrots, peas and other frost-hardy plants. Then plans for the rest of the garden can be made.

Quick - maturing vegetables planted early can be used for double cropping. Tomatoes can be planted between pea rows, since the peas will have reached maturity before tomato plants make much headway. There are lots of doubling-up possibilities to save space in small gardens.

Almost any garden is big enough to include 10 vegetables that are liked and used by the whole family. The old gardener lists the 10 most common vegetables as bush green beans, beets, cabbage, carrots, lettuce, onions, green peppers, peas, radishes and tomatoes. None of these take much space except tomatoes—and they can be staked and tied to fit in a smaller place.

If there's more room available, many families add cucumbers and sweet corn. Squash, broccoli and pole beans are also popular, although they require much more room than row crops.

If space is available, there are up to 40 varieties of vegetables that can be planted in a home garden. If the whole family likes to work in the garden and has a varied taste for vegetables, it's a good idea to plant as many different kinds as the family will use.

Some gardens have permanent plantings of asparagus and rhubarb—plants which come back each spring. These perennials make good additions to any garden and when planted along a fence or in some other out-of-the-way place, they produce for many years.

Gardening Questions

Q—How can I analyse my garden soil? I want to grow both vegetables and flowers.

Home analysis of soil is seldom satisfactory unles one has an expenive test kit and some knowledge of the subject. I suggest you take a sample to your local county agricultural agent. He will forward it to the soil laboratory at the OAC, Guelph.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—Is it necessary to punch holes in the soil with a crowbar when fertilizing large trees?

A—No. Fertilizer will be absorbed into cultivated soil faster and better than by the crowbar method.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—Can Okra be grown in northern gardens?

A—Yes. Sow seed when the ground is thoroughly warm. Sow sparsely, cover about ½ inch deep. When plants are 2 inches high, thin to 12-15 inches apart; use pods when young, 2-5 inches long.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—On our yearly trips to Florida we have become interested in the beauty of the Long-leaf Pine. Why do we not see it growing in the northern woods?

A—The Long-leaf Pine, pinus palustris, thrives only in the light sandy soils of the coastal plane from southeastern Virginia to western Texas and south to the Gulf of Mexico.

PARENTS FINED

KITCHENER (CP)—The parents of a 15-year-old boy were fined $25 and costs in juvenile court Friday for not keeping proper supervision over their son. The boy, who police said was involved in a break-in at a cleaning plant, was given three months in which to mend his ways.

Preparing a list of vegetables to plant is the first step in planning your new garden.

Charged With Break-In

KITCHENER (CP)—Police said Friday Donald Edward Larsh, 22, of Hamilton has been charged with breaking and entering in connection with the March 1 robbery of the Strand Bowling Alley here. Larsh was taken into custody Thursday night in Hamilton. Facing similar charges in connection with the sam robbery are Robert Dunlap Hooker 23, of Hamilton and Donald John Michalofsky, 22, of Toronto.

GLOWING EXAMPLE OF INGENUITY—Bernard J. Patton of Los Angeles, has fashioned the glowing out-of-doors room, above, of revitalized fluorescent lamps. Patton has devised an electronic device which gives new life to about 80 per cent of burned-out fluorescent lamps. The feat, once considered "impossible," gives as much as 2,000 hours of usefulness to the tubes, and has supplied Patton with a fast-growing business.

INTERESTED IN DRAMATICS—Young Prince Philip of Greece, now the Duke of Edinburgh, was interested in dramatics when he attended the Salem School at Gordonstoun, Scotland. The Duke (left) played the role of Donalbain in the school's presentation of "Macbeth." P. Ebert, another pupil, played King Duncan.

VERSATILE SPORTSMAN—The Duke of Edinburgh, fifth man in British history to be the husband of a reigning queen, is possibly the most versatile sportsman ever closely associated with the crown. He is an all-round athlete who can put up a good show at anything from soccer to skittles. His interests in sport began when he was a schoolboy. Here he examines his running shoes before taking part in inter-school games at Edinburgh in 1935. He attended Gordonstoun School in Scotland. He still has trophies won at school for swimming, diving and high jumping.

Duke All-Round Sportsman Can Put On Good Show At Practically Every Sport

(The British people love an "all-rounder." In the Duke of Edinburgh they have possibly the most versatile sportsman ever closely associated with the Crown. This story, last of a series, describes the Duke's taste for rugged recreation.)

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The Duke of Edinburgh is an all-round athlete who can put up a good show at anything from soccer to skittles. The only sport he doesn't like is golf.

"Can't see any point in it," he said at a golfers' dinner, with customary candor.

To make up for the omission, he has played field hockey, is a fair bat at cricket, enjoys squash, snooker and skittles and shines at sailing. Then there is his fondness for polo, which he learned to play in less than two years despite friendly warnings it would take at least six to play for a team of any standing.

SCHOOLBOY ATHLETE

Even as a schoolboy, Philip was a success in sport with his quick eye, power of concentration and muscular co-ordination.

At Gordonstoun School in Scotland, he captained the cricket team. Later, as a cadet at Dartmouth Royal Naval College, he was on the first soccer eleven, usually playing goal because he was tall and agile; the first fifteen at rugger and the cricket eleven.

He still has trophies won at school for swimming, diving and high jumping.

With his growing responsibilities as husband of the Queen, Philip can devote less time to playing games, but is a keen spectator. He pays an annual visit to a boxing show sponsored by British promoter Jack Solomons and last December attended his first ice hockey game in Britain. The teams were Canadian-staffed clubs of the English National League.

LIKES HOCKEY

The Duke first saw hockey during the royal tour of Canada in 1951. He brought home glowing reports. Another favorite spectator sport is speedway, a type of motorcycle racing popular in this country.

When at the Royal Family's estate, Sandringham, Norfolk, Philip likes to roam the 1,700 acres, casually dressed in tweeds and brogues, gun at the alert for stray pheasants, wild pigeon or woodcock. Sandringham folk say without malice that the "new gaffer," as they call Philip, is no great shakes at shooting. The late King was a crack shot.

The Duke attends the royal race meeting at Ascot and usually makes a special effort to be on hand for the Duke of Edinburgh Stakes, a two-year-olds race named in his honor. But his ardor for racing is said to be slight compared to the dyed-in-the-wool enthusiasm of the Queen, who has always been interested in horses and likes a flutter on the races.

Sailing and yachting are more in the Duke's line. He has his own racing yachts, the Coweslip presented by the people of Cowes in the Isle of Wight, and Bluebottle, a wedding gift to the royal couple. He has personally steered the Bluebottle in races in home and foreign waters.

Philip greatly enjoyed his visit last July to the Olympic Games at Helsinki. He served himself at a cafeteria in the huge tent dining room for competitors and paid an informal visit to the Canadian camp in the Olympic village, pausing to chat with sharpshooting George Genereux, then 17, Canada's only gold medal winner.

LICENSED TO FLY

The Duke's latest outdoor activity is flying. He took to this with his usual zest and quickly mastered the 120-mile-an-hour elementary Chipmunk trainer. His RAF flying instructor classed him as "above average."

The Duke's decision to fly, taken last October, was probably explained when it was announced this year that, among other things, he was to receive the rank of Marshal of the RAF. Without a pilot's licence he would have had to wear his RAF uniform without wings.

The Duke is an enthusiastic cricketer. When he and the Queen had their house in Windlesham Moor, one of his first acts was to lay out a rough-and-ready cricket pitch on the lawn. The gardener, the handy man and the policeman on duty sometimes joined the game.

Philip is what is known as a fair bat, and Australia's Sir Donald Bradman, reverently remembered here as perhaps the greatest baseman of them all, once made some flattering comments on the Duke's style as a bowler. For all that, Philip takes a modest view of his talents. He says he is just a reasonably good club player. He retains connections with the sport through the "Lord's Taverners," an association of cricket spectators of which he was named patron. Until recently, too, he was president of the Marylebone Cricket Club, the sport's highest authority.

REPRESENTS GUIDES — A Canadian girl, Joyce Douglas, 18, of Flin Flon, Man., has been chosen to represent the British Commonwealth Girl Guide movement at the Coronation ceremonies in Westminster Abbey June 2. A normal school scholarship student at Tuxedo, Man., Miss Douglas was considered a "typical representative" of Canada's 90,000 Girl Guires by the Canadian Council of Girl Guides Association.

Clan Chief Dies

CAMPBELTOWN, Scotland (AP)—Col. Alexander MacDougall, chief of the MacDougall clan and Thane of Argyll, died Friday at his home in Dunlollie castle. He was 81. He is succeeded by his eldest daughter, Mrs. Grahame Thomson, who bears the hereditary title of the Maid of Lorn.

Active Troops Work In Reserve

OTTAWA (CP)—The army told Friday the story of the four double-barrelled soldiers.

They soldier in the regular army by day. They soldier in the reserve army by night—for free.

All four served in the Governor General's Foot Guards in the war, stayed in the regular army and now are stationed at army headquarters.

Now that the Guards, a reserve unit, are training hard for a Coronation Day ceremony on Parliament Hill, they have "re-enlisted" temporarily in their old unit and are getting set to take part in the big event. The four, all of Ottawa, are CSM. Claude Brown, Pte. R. Ahearn, S. Sgt. Ted Gardham and Cpl. Royal Cousineau.

They draw no pay for time spent training with their reserve force unit. Army regulations state that a man can draw either active or reserve pay but not both.

Trenton Musical Given In Norwood

NORWOOD (ENS)—An appreciative audience in the town hall on Wednesday evening enjoyed the "Rondeaunettes" of Trenton as they staged their musical production, "Can't Help Singing."

With this theme song, they introduced and concluded a musical evening which sparkled with showmanship. The group was under the direction of William Long. At the piano and electric organ were Miss Colletta O'Keefe, ATCM, and Miss M. McDonald.

The program was divided into 11 scenes, with frequent changes of scenery, enhanced with good lighting effects, especially noticeable in excerpts from "Oklahoma" and "Showboat," in which popular hits from these shows were sung.

Miss Marlyn Woodcock, youthful ballerina, displayed talent in her two batlel solos, "Daydreaming" and "Dancing in the Dark."

Jack Wallace, harmonica player, provided a repertoire that ranged from a very clever impersonation of a locomotive to a reverent rendition of Gounod's "Ave Maria."

Although the predominant flavor of the show was musical comedy hits, the choral group showed a diversity of taste and talent in several novelty numbers, Negro spirituals and South American melodies.

The entertainment was sponsored by St. Paul's Church as a Lenten relaxation in anticipation of St. Patrick's Day.

Numbers Racket Charges Fail

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan Friday dismissed a charge of engaging in the business of betting against Charles Garrell and said the law covering the operation of numbers rackets does not offer sufficient protection against such rackets.

He criticized the federal government for not providing legislation to allow closer restriction of numbers rackets.

He said there was evidence the rackets were creeping into Canada but "as yet, apparently, they have not crept as far as Ottawa."

Garrell was charged last January following a roundup of alleged members of a widespread ring of numbers operators.

Mason Jasper, one of those arrested, was sentenced recently to three months for engaging in betting.

When the charge against Garrell was dismissed the Crown offered no evidence against four other men similarly charged and the charges were withdrawn.

The others are: Ernest Browning, Wilfred Harris, Sherman McDowell and James Foster.

Springville WMS Holds Meeting

SPRINGVILLE (ENS) — The March meeting of the WMS was well attended with 25 present. Following the opening exercises, a short WA business period was transacted by Mrs. E. Johnson. Letters of appreciation were read from Mrs. Ken Hall and Mrs. Visec. Arrangements were drawn up for the Federation of Agriculture dinner which will be held at Springville Church March 26. Mrs. E. Johnson and Mrs. M. Cathcart were appointed to purchase more supplies for the kitchen. Mrs. Larke spoke of "Stewardship."

Mrs. M. Cullen announced the Easter thankoffering the evening of April 12. Miss Jean Hammond, of Peterborough, will show slides of Trinidad where she recently visited.

Mrs. Cullen also spoke of the CBMC sectional rally to be held in George St. Church April 25 and 26. She asked for support and attendance at these meetings.

Mrs. Gordon McIntosh was in charge of the devotional period, taking as her theme "Thoughts for the Lenten Season." She was assisted by the following members: Mrs. C. Neals, Mrs. H. Davis, Mrs. P. Johnson, Mrs. Lytle, Mrs. M. Cathcart and Mrs. W. Bowles.

Mrs. O. Dunford spoke on Red Cross work and invited the ladies to meet at her home for the April meeting. Mrs. B. Preston read the study book. Mrs. C. Neals moved the vote of thanks to the hostess.

Father Lax, Let Child On Street

TORONTO (CP)—A father was held Friday to be 30-per-cent negligent in allowing his three-year-old son on to a road where he was struck by a car.

Mr. Justice Wilfred Judson awarded the child, Ronald K. Beckerson, $1,500 damages and the father, Jack T. Beckerson of Hamilton, $640 after deducting for negligence.

The claim was against Walter Doughtery, driver of the car.

Ronald and a companion were riding tricycles in Hamilton June 10, 1951, when Doughtery hit Ronald.

Mr. Justice Judson, holding that the father was "guilty of contributory negligence," said he inferred from the evidence that the child "was not supervised, or not adequately supervised."

An Open Letter:

The Canadian Red Cross Society

PETERBOROUGH BRANCH

TO THE CITIZENS OF PETERBOROUGH:

Once again the Red Cross appeals to you to support the Red Cross and Community Fund Campaign. It is through this organization that the Red Cross receives the funds that enable it to carry on its humanitarian services, both at home and abroad.

Peterborough Branch continues to fulfil its obligation as part of a world-wide organization. In its work room regular quotas of clothing are made. Many warm garments are knitted of wool supplied by the Red Cross, by the women of Peterborough for use where needed.

These supplies, as well as numerous gifts of quilts, knitted articles, and new clothing received from individuals and women's groups throughout the district, are shipped to the central Red Cross warehouse in Toronto. Many of them went to comfort the sufferers in the terrible floods in England and the Low Countries a few weeks ago.

In our own Community the Branch stands ready to help in any disaster, large or small. We are active in Civil Defense, in soldiers' and civilian welfare work, in Home Nursing training, in our Swimming and Water Safety programme, in our work for the Apsley Red Cross Outpost Hospital and in various other ways.

Blood Donor Clinics are held regularly twice a week all year to provide free blood to the citizens of this district. Hospital beds, wheel chairs, crutches and many other useful articles are supplied, free of charge, for use in homes where there is sickness.

All these services are for the benefit of suffering humanity. The Red Cross knows no barriers of creed or colour, geography or politics. Such services cost money. Please think of this when the volunteer canvasser calls on you. Give to the best of your ability—give generously.

Sincerely yours,
FORRESTER BLACKWELL,
President, Peterborough Branch,
Canadian Red Cross Society.

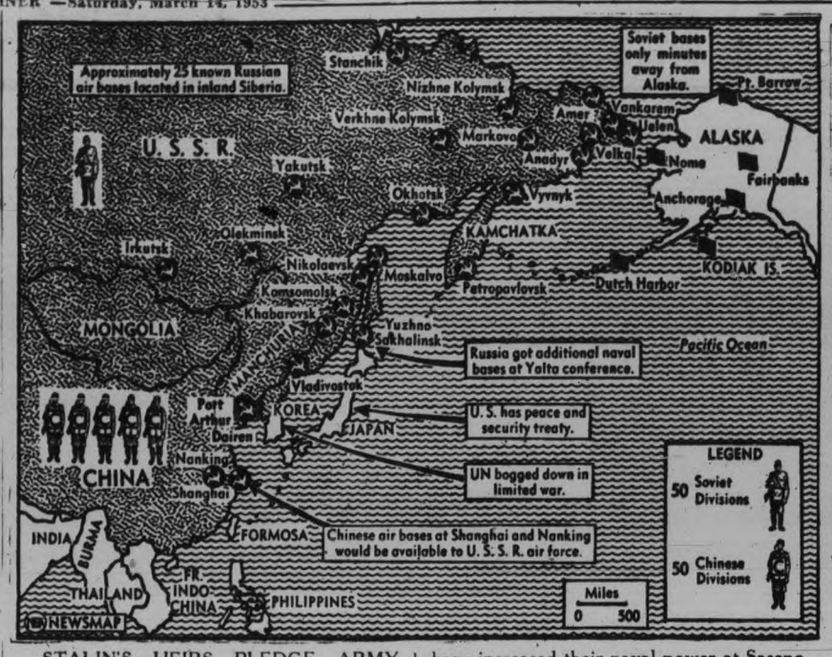
Spring Weather Promises Early Shipping Start

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The exceptionally mild weather throughout Eastern Canada during the last few weeks gives promise of one of the earliest openings of Great Lakes navigation on record.

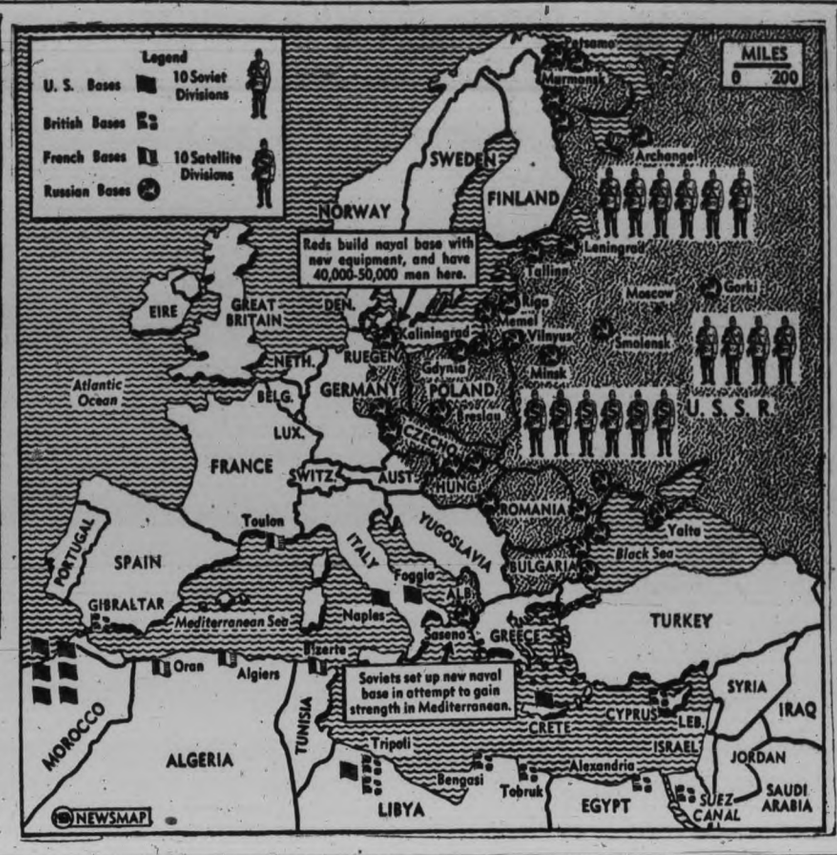
Recent spring-like sunshine and warm rains have cleared most of the lakes of heavy ice and only in sections of Lake Superior and Lake Huron, the St. Mary's river and Montreal harbor could ice cause a possible holdup in vessel movements.

Lake Ontario, Lake Erie and the St. Lawrence river are almost entirely free of ice and most ports expect to officially open by April 1 at the latest.



FIRST TWO

At least one fishing trawler has made the trip through the Detroit river and the St. Clair waterway from Lake Erie to Lake Huron. The sandsucker Charles Dick cleared Port Weller into Lake Ontario March 11. It was the earliest locking in the Welland canal's history. However, ice reported in sections of Lake Superior and Lake Huron, the St. Mary's river and Montreal harbor has shipping officials worried. They fear that unless the warm spell continues, navigation may be delayed in these sections.



Icebreakers are working daily in Montreal harbor. The western quarter of Lake Superior is still frozen solid.

The Sabin Lock on the United States side of the Sault Ste. Marie ship canal will open Sunday on a stand-by basis. The Canadian side of the locks is to be drained and cleared of ice next week.

The Welland canal is completely free of ice and the annual spring repair program is near completion. Scheduled to open March 31, the maintenance schedule will prevent earlier sailings.

STALIN'S HEIRS PLEDGE ARMY BUILD-UP—Immediately following Stalin's death, key figures of the regime asserted that "the party is in every way strengthening the Soviet army, navy and intelligence organs . . ." These Newsmaps show the more important Soviet military bases in eastern Europe, right, and the Far East, left, from which an assault against the free world could be launched. In addition, the Soviets have increased their naval power at Saseno, in the Adriatic Sea, and have a huge air force in the Far East of about 4,500 planes. This, when added to the Chinese Reds' 2,500 planes, greatly outnumbers U.S. airpower in the area. To meet this world-wide thrust the western powers have constructed bases around the Soviet periphery, and are attempting to weld their forces into a unified army capable of repulsing Soviet aggression.

Childhood Fears Speaker's Topic To Parent Group

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS)— The Home and School Association of Norwood were guests of the Campbellford association Wednesday night in the High School auditorium. Mrs. Ted Peake, president, presided.

Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Norwood, guest speaker, presented the topic "Fear and Your Child". He urged that the parent-child relationship be one not of authority and submission but well-balanced with companionship, humor and interest. Such comradeship gives a child confidence in his parents which offsets feelings of rebellion at disciplinary action. He asked parents to accept the bungling of children while they are learning as the knowledge they gain is the important factor.

Young children, Rev. Duncanson explained, have difficulty in separating the real from the fanciful and become upset by nightmares and figments of their imaginations. He illustrated the need of first discovering what the fear was, then bringing it into the open that the child might face it and handle it. It is of prime importance that these fears are not ignored or ridiculed but met with understanding and assistance.

Mrs. Jack Clark led the group in community singing with Mrs. Lorne Watson at the piano. Mrs. John Knox of Norwood sang "Smilin' Thru" and "Dear Little Girl" with Mrs. William Garden Jr. accompanying her. An amusing monologue of the trials of getting a family off to school was given by Mrs. Little and Gerald Sills showed the color film "Call of the Kawarthas" obtained from the Peterborough Film Library.

Reports were received from the home nursing, smocking and crocheting classes.

A vote of thanks to the speaker and others on the program was moved by Mrs. Sid Hopping.

An invitation to attend the school fair at Norwood Public School, Friday, April 24, was extended to the Campbellford group by Norwood's president, Mrs. J. J. Stewart. A lunch was served.

Strike Disrupts Jet Production

CINCINNATI (AP)—Production of jet engines used in U. S. war planes was partially disrupted today as 1,100 AFL machinists went on strike at the General Electric plant at Evedale.

Another 4,500 production workers, members of the CIO United Auto Workers, were scheduled to strike at midnight Sunday. But many would be absent from work today, refusing to cross AFL picket lines.

The company manufactures about 60 per cent of the jet engines for U. S. military aircraft.

An hour before the strike went into effect, the General Electric Co. announced it was giving wage increases "similar to the offer made to the union members" to some 6,000 non-union employees, effective Monday.

The company had offered the unionists six to eight cents additional an hour. The striking machinists' present scale is from $1.65 to $2.33½ an hour. The wage increases to unorganized workers were made on a percentage basis and were not reduced to "cents" by company spokesmen.

Just what the union demands are has never been made clear publicly.

Stolen Shoes Pinched, Returns Them, Fined

HAMILTON (CP)—A male shoplifter who helped himself to a pair of shoes and brought them back to the store three days later because they pinched, pleaded guilty this morning before Magistrate Beamer W. Hopkins and was fined $25 with costs.

The accused, Edmund Roberts, 36, of Thorold, was apprehended in the department store Thursday while he was endeavoring to exchange the shoes and after he had stolen $30.27 worth of other merchandise.

A store investigator said that Roberts was carrying a large canvas bag and into it had slipped five pairs of children's shoes, eight pairs of children's socks and a potato slicer. He had put a pair of pliers into his coat pocket.

Roberts, who is employed, said he didn't have enough money to supply shoes for his four children.

Britain Wants 10 Per Cent Fewer Accidents In 1953

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Despite the world's densest traffic and other hindrances, Britain wants her roads 10 per cent safer in 1953.

The goal may seem wishful thinking in view of the annual climbing traffic death toll around the world. But accident casualties showed a drop last year and the lowest number of deaths—4,700—was recorded since statistics were started in 1926.

The government, sometimes criticized because of light financial treatment accorded highways since war and austerity, has promised help in several ways. Attempts will be made to remove 1,000 of the worst trouble spots on the country's 185,000 miles of road. More school crossing supervisors will be provided. A revised and simpler highway code is a possibility, along with a new road traffic bill.

The rest will be up to Britain's pedestrians, cyclists and the people who drive its 2,500,000 private automobiles and 2,100,000 other motor vehicles.

BIGGCEST PROBLEM

Biggest problem of course is the traffic hazard involved in the combination of dense population and roads hemmed in by cities, towns and villages. Britain spent last year about $210,000,000 on roads—about half by the government and the remainder by local authorities.

The government gained in gasoline, vehicle and other road taxes and revenues about 10 times as much as it spent on roads.

The Times commented in a recent article that one main traffic artery still is just wide enough to satisfy the standards of Norman times—standards which called for a width sufficient to allow 16 armed knights to ride abreast, two ox carts to pass or two exherds to touch their whips across the road. The Times said the country's traffic gets worse every year as more cars are bought.

Motor vehicles increase by about 100,000 annually. An estimated 70 per cent of the privately-owned vehicles are pre-war and up to 20 years old.

Casualties for 1951 totalled about 216,000—or 8,000 more than 1952—while deaths were about 5,200 in 1952.

A safety device is credited with some of the good work. It's called the zebra and consists of white strips painted diagonally on pedestrian cross-walks. Theory is that motorists will stop when the walk is occupied. In practice, pedestrians usually bunch and cross.

The Duke of Edinburgh has lent his weight to the mass attack on traffic casualties with some plain talk on what could be done.

Organizations such as the Royal Society for the Prevention of accidents are promoting safety contests, recruiting members for young children's safety clubs.

On the preventative side, speed limits aren't as high as they are in Canada, heavy trucks are limited to 20 miles an hour. Drunken driving is a particularly bad offence and draws jail terms and fines.

30 Years In Customs, Toronto Man Dies

TORONTO (CP)—William Ryder, 78, of Toronto, with the Dominion customs department at Ottawa for 30 years, died in hospital Friday.

Born in Lucan, he taught school at several Ontario centres including Kingston, Pembroke and Renfrew, before joining the civil service.

He had lived in Toronto for the last nine years.

Plans were made for a euchre.

A delicious tea was served by Mrs. Walter Bitten and Mrs. George Bitten.

Concrete Crushes Car

VANCOUVER (CP)—Helen Trethewey, 23, stepped from her parked car Thursday to wave goodbye to friends who were sailing from one of Vancouver's wharves.

Seconds later an 11½-ton slab of concrete slipped from a dockyard crane and crushed the automobile, driving the wheels and frame of the car eight inches into the ground.

Elderly Woman Beaten

GLENCOE, Ont. (CP)—An elderly Glencoe woman, 72-year-old Jane Hills, is reported recovering from what police termed a "brutal beating" inflicted by a prowler who broke into her home early Friday. She said a man had entered her bedroom while she was asleep. Her assailant "beat and choked" her, she told police.

Reporter Fined

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Richard Michael (Turk) Smith, reporter for the Arizona Republic of Phoenix, was fined $50 Friday for contempt of court in forging commitment papers to the state hospital for the insane. Smith had himself committed to get material for a series of newspaper articles.

Dismiss Appeal On Guard Bribing

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. Justice R. E. Laidlaw dismissed Friday an appeal by Frank Watson, a member of the Boyd gang who was sentenced to 12 years in penitentiary for possessing counterfeit money and for trying to bribe a Don jail guard.

Mr. Justice Laidlaw said there was ample evidence of conspiracy between Watson, James Morrison, the guard, and Leonard Jackson, another member of the gang who was hanged along with Steve Suchan for the murder of a Toronto detective.

The trial judge was correct in making consecutive Watson's sentences of nine years on the bribery charge and three years on the counterfeit money charge, Mr. Justice Laidlaw said.

Defence counsel Arthur Maloney said he would ask leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada.

Hamilton Flier Leads RCAF Group

OTTAWA (CP)—A 32-year-old Hamilton officer, Wing Cmdr. Jack Vincent Watts, DSO, DFC, with a brilliant Second World War record as a navigator, will head the RCAF contingent to the Coronation, air force headquarters announced Friday.

The contingent will consist of 207 officers, airmen and airwomen, who will march in the Coronation parade or line the streets near Canada House. The contingent will include 116 personenl from Canada, and 91 from bases in the United Kingdom and on the continent.

A feature of the RCAF representation will be 15 women members of the regular and reserve air forces, headed by Sqdn. Ldr. Sylvia Evans of Edmonton, senior woman member of the service.

Noted Engineer Dies

TORONTO (CP)—D. Forbes Keith 67, formerly of Toronto and a prominent electrical refrigeration engineer, died Tuesday at his home near Fort Pierce, Fla. Mr. Keith was graduated from the University of Toronto and later invented Keith's electrical refrigerator, which went on the market in 1923.

Kelly Stricken

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) The condition of movie actor Paul Kelly, 53, stricken with a heart attack Thursday, was reported good today by his agent.

OPERA STAR — George London, Montreal-born bass-baritone of the Metropolitan Opera, has scored a personal triumph in the role of Boris Godunov. He was called out for 11 curtain calls on the Met's opening-night revival of Mussorgsky's opera. Critics said he was the "triumph of the evening." Earlier this year London, 31, appeared with the Metropolitan Opera Company as Don Giovanni in the Mozart opera.

Sportsman's Show Provides Entertainment For All Kinds

TORONTO (CP)—The outdoor life is what the Canadian National Sportsman's Show stresses, but it also provides plenty of other attractions for those who like less rugged living.

This combination has made the annual show at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds an outstanding success in the past.

Exhibits in the biggest show of its kind in North America range all the way from prefabricated cottages and concrete sidewalks to thermos bottles. There are four sections of exhibits for the sportsmen, with the latest equipment for outdoor activities, including fishing, hunting, boating and swimming.

For the fishermen a feature this year is a hook which no doubt was developed for those who don't seem lucky enough to catch the big ones. The hook is cunningly concealed in a rabbit's foot.

All types of boats are being shown, from streamlined, custom-built craft that travel 50 miles an hour to a skimboat which looks like a surfboard with an outboard motor attached.

Some of the features of other years, such as the log-rolling, canoe-tilting and wood-chopping contests, are back but other attractions have been added to lend variety to the eight-day show, presented by the Toronto Anglers and Hunters Association to promote conservation of Ontario's wildlife.

This year the crowds are expected to flock to see a trained seal, an ostrich race, a horse that dances, a child that plays a xylophone atop a 10-foot pole and a precision-drilled Scout band.

Intercept Escape Plot Note For Accused Slayer Of Jeweller

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Sheriff Arthur D. Britt said Friday his men had intercepted a note he described as part of a plot for the escape from Erie county jail of a Canadian accused of first-degree murder.

Britt told a meeting of the board of supervisors finance committee the note was intended for Maurice (Digger) O'Dell, 27, of Hamilton, charged with the holdup-killing of jeweler Donald F. Hurd.

Britt said the note from Sam Hibbitt, 24, and Homer Johnson, 26, was intercepted last week He did not say which day.

He read it to the committee as follows:

"If you can think of anybody you can trust, I'll give them the gas and also my car. If you don't know anyone, keep thinking about it. It's your only way out and mine also.

"You know this as well as I do. What have I got to lose, or yourself? If we do get out, I can get some more money and guns."

Britt said the note was slipped from cell to cell inside a magazine. He did not explain how he knew it came from Hibbitt and Johnson.

Hurd, 45, was shot and killed by one of three gunmen who held up his downtown store here last December.

Buried Under Garbage London Boy Rescued

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A three-year-old boy buried alive by a bull dozer today under a truckload of garbage was rescued unconscious by neighbors and taken to Victoria hospital where he is expected to recover.

Carl Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Hamilton, had no apparent pulse when plucked by neighbors from beneath city garbage fill. Then he started to cry.

The boy was playing at the rear of his home in the vicinity of the fill project with a toy baby carriage.

Reports Crerar Likely Ambassador To Spain

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of General H. D. G. Crerar as Canada's first ambassador to Spain was reported in the offing Friday night.

The 64-year-old wartime commander of the 1st Canadian Army in Europe has been living in retirement in Ottawa for the last seven years.

Canada and Spain agreed a few weeks ago to exchange ambassadors and General Crerar is reported to be the likely choice of the Canadian government to fill the post in Madrid.

New Food Problems Arise By Use Of Fertilizers

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

No one needs to be told that the food we eat is important to the maintenance of health. In recent years a whole new set of problems has arisen with regard to our daily diet.

Briefly, these may be considered to be the effects of artificial fertilizers on the foods raised in soil so treated, the effects of dusts or sprays aimed at animal or vegetable pests, fungi or weeds, and finally, the influence on the body of chemicals added to foods to preserve their freshness, softness, or other qualities.

It is not possible to consider all these things in a brief newspaper column, and it must be confessed that the answers to many questions raised on these subjects are not known.

Some people feel, for example, that the artificial fertilizers may have a serious effect on the health of the nation, through altering the food products grown under such circumstances.

There is, however, little definite evidence that the effect is either harmful or healthful, and until the scientists are able to obtain more information, there is not much we can do about it. Personally, I am not unduly alarmed.

With regard to the substances used to attack insects and other pests on food-bearing plants or animals, it has been recognized that hazards are created. Two of the scientific councils of the American Medical Association have been interested in this subject, as have other organizations.

It is recognized that when pesticides are poisonous to insects they are usually poisonous to man. They are less poisonous to human beings than to insects, of course, but pesticides carry possible dangers to those who come into direct contact with them. Every effort should be made to keep the amount which is eaten with the food down to the lowest posible level.

In closing an editorial discussion of this subject in the Journal of the American Medical Association it was said:

"Now physicians ask that foods be free from toxic residues of pesticides . . ." This is a subject that requires continued study and in which the efforts of all should be engaged in order to guard our foodstuffs from dangerous contamination.

STUDY OTHER CHEMICALS

Another enormous question relates to the addition of chemicals to various foodstuffs. Work on this subject is also going forward under the auspices of many agencies. In closing a report on this subject, for example, the Council on Foods and Nutrition said:

"Intentional chemical additives, especially those likely to find their way into basic foodstuffs or to find widespread appilcation in a variety of foods, each of which may be infrequently eaten, must not be permitted until the complete harmlessness of these agents can be demonstrated beyond reasonable doubt. Furthermore, the use of additives which lead to a significant decrease in nutritive value should not be permitted."

Begin Commission For Montreal

QUEBEC (CP)—The first step toward making a commission for study of Greater Montreal's problems a working reality was announced Friday by Premier Duplessis, in naming a chairman—chief municipal judge Roland Paquette— at the city's request.

Other appointments are expected shortly.

The commission will have no power to enforce solutions of Montreal's problems; it could only make suggestions to the city administration.

Mr. Duplessis also announced adoption of an order-in-council that may make it tugh for Quebec husbands who attempt to escape alimony payments by moving to another province.

The order-in-council, based on legislation adopted at the last session of the legislature, gives the government authority to reach reciprocal agreements with Ontario and the three Maritime provinces.

The agreements would allow the Quebec courts to attach the wages of a delinquent husband living in one of the provinces and deduct amount of the court-ordered alimony.

Montreal House Fire Kills One, Hurts Three

MONTREAL (CP)—One man died and three others were injured early today when fire raced through a downtown rooming house.

Dead is Norman Renaud, a roomer, in his fifties. Injured were proprietor Mrs. Yvonne Lalonde whose hair caught fire, roomer James Williams, 63, who jumped from his second-floor window, and a Mrs. Macdonald.

Cause of the fire, which apparently started in one of the rooms, was not known. It spread quickly and lasted only 40 minutes.

Renaud was dead on arrival at hospital. He was seen attempting to climb out a window. Smoke and flames were shooting out around him and he was found lying on the floor when firemen were able to make their way in.

Japanese 'Frig' Ship Sinks In Chill Arctic

TOKYO (Reuters)—The 9,329-ton Japanese refrigerator ship Settsu Maru sank in the Antarctic Friday after springing a leak in the engine room, according to reports received here today from the Japanese whaling fleet. Japan's fishery board said all the crew were picked up by another ship.

The board estimated loss at almost $3,000,000.

WARKWORTH —(ENS) —The Municipal Council of the Township of Percy met Tuesday in the Town Hall with all members present—Reeve George Broadworth; Deputy Reeve Cecil Grills; Councillors J. S. Atkinson, Eric Merrill and William Johnston.

It was decided that the Council grant the Federation of Agriculture the sum of $75 for 1953.

The Council decided to advertise for tenders for buldozing and scraping on township roads on an hourly rental basis. Tenders to close April 7.

It wasm oved by J. S. Atkinson and seconded by Eric Merrill that the Council authorize the Reeve and Clerk to execute an agreement with the Village of Warkworth for fire protection in the township of Percy at the rate of $300 per year for ten years as a standby charge plus $25 per call for the first hour and $20 for each additional hour or fraction thereof. All that part of the township on the line between concessions seven and eight and south, to be covered.

The Council voted to advertise for tenders for a concrete culvert at lot 21, concession 13, subject to approval of the district engineer.

The Council voted to construct a concrete culvert at lot 4, concession 2, township of Percy and the district engineer be requested to prepare plans.

Oak Heights WA To Hold Quilting

WARKWORTH (ENS). — The Women's Association of Oak Heights United Church met on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. W. H. Porter, with 12 ladies present and four children. President Mrs. L. Tucker opened the meeting. Mrs. S. Lawrence, devotional convener, chose for her topic "God, the Maker of Earth, Sea, and Sky." True-to-life stories were used throughout the topic to illustrate more fully its deeper meaning.

Mrs. Tucker presided over the business period. Mrs. A. P. Sayles read the minutes in the absence of the secretary Mrs. Alvin Pratt.

Mrs. W. H. Porter, Good Cheer reporter, reported receiving two Thank You notes and three cards sent. Mrs. G. Pratt reported for the visiting committee, and the buying committee report was given by Mrs. Bruce Porter.

It was arranged to have a baking sale at the next meeting, the committee to be composed of Mrs. A. McMurdo, Mrs. Edward Covert, Mrs. L. Tucker, and Mrs. W. H. Porter.

Mrs. W. H. Porter donated material for a fancy quilt, she having pieced the top herself, and it was arranged to hold an all-day meeting with pot-luck meals at the home of Mrs. Edward Covert to quilt the quilt.

Mrs. Bruce Porter, program convener, presented the following program: Reading, "What is a Girl?" by Mrs. A. P. Sayles; an Irish jumble word contest by Mrs. Charles Killingbeck, with Mrs. L. Tucker getting all correct answers. Mrs. B. Porter presented a bean contest, with Mrs. A. Sayles being the winner. Mrs. Porter thanked the hostess. Lunch was served by the hostess and the lunch committee.

WMS To Bring Clothes To Prepare Bale

WARKWORTH (ENS) — The Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's United Church held their monthly meeting on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Clarence Massey with an attendance of 38 members and visitors.

Mrs. Grant Allen, president, conducted the meeting.

The ladies were asked to bring clean used clothing for the bale to the April meeting.

The study book was discussed and several suggestions were given regarding methods of receiving the best ideas from the book.

It was decided to have a pot luck supper for members and associate members and their families on March 16, a silver collection to be taken; a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the supper at 6.30 p.m.

Mrs. Harry Kelly read a letter from the Cobourg Presbytery thanking the WMS for meeting their obligation. It was requested that special remembrance prayers be given for Miss Florence Murray the society's adopted missionary, who is now in Korea, and the WMS selected Mrs. A. L. Sisco to write encouraging letters to her from this society.

A discussion followed regarding having a play and a committee composed of Mrs. Douglas Rowe and Mrs. Samis was appointed to make arrangements for one.

Mrs. Lorne Evans, devotional convener, conducted the devotional period. Mrs. A. E. Harwood led in prayer. Mrs. J. Bound read the scripture. Her lesson thoughts in part were: "Sometimes we are more thrilled by taking the message across the sea than we are in taking it across the street." There was missionary work to be done at home, she said.

Mrs. George Bowen spoke on "Using the Talent of Friendship to the Lonely." Mrs. Young spoke of the opportunity to bring forgotten children to Sunday school. Mrs. Howard Evans spoke of using a talent to help show women to do fine sewing. Mrs. Stanley Brenton spoke of welcoming the Dutch families; Mrs. Hutchinson spoke of teaching Christianity to the Chinese, and Mrs. M. Peterson told of a lady using her money to send poor boys to camp. Mrs. Bound, in her summary showed that these are just a few of the ways to be a missionary at home.

Mrs. Howard Wilson sang a vocal solo. Mrs. W. B. Baker gave a reading expressing the viewpoint that "by being cheerful and smiling will help lift many a load in the crowded ways of life."

Mrs. Lorne Evans, assisted by Mrs. Charles Diamond, Mrs. W. B. Baker, Mrs. Harry Allen and Mrs. Doug Rowe, presented a pageant, "showing how we should use our talents in the service of the Master—joyfully and willingly."

Mrs. W. Hatcher sang a solo at the closing of the pageant. Mrs. Hutchinson moved a vote of thanks to the hostess and committee. Mrs. L. Evans thanked the ladies who had helped with the program. Mrs. Howard Evans and Mrs. Glen Hancock, Mission Band leaders, brought cards for the Mission Band members to sell.

A short social period followed the meeting.

Oil, Gas Policy Always Favors Canada–Howe

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe said Friday the federal government's policy on use of the country's huge resources of natural gas and oil is not only one of Canada first but "Canada always."

Mr. Howe said in the Commons that the government believes that the only continuous supply of Alberta natural gas for Ontario and Quebec will be through an all-Canadian pipeline. He hoped one could be constructed soon.

Consistent with that policy, the government will not issue any permits for export of Canadian gas to the United States before Canada's needs are met.

"Anything the government may do will be dictated by what the government believes is in the best long-range interest of Canada," he said.

Mr. Howe made the statement as he discussed a private bill to incorporate Mid-Continent Pipelines, Ltd. The company plans a gas pipeline from Alberta to Winnipeg and then to Eastern Canada.

SELL TO U.S.?

However, Progressive Conservative and CCF spokesmen opposing the measure have suggested that the company plans to pipe gas into the United States.

Mr. Howe's statement left following speakers at a loss as to whether they should continue opposition to the bill.

J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Toronto Greenwood) said he welcomes the minister's statement but said it is not clear how it will affect the Mid-Continent application. He adjourned debate on the bill.

Mr. Howe said Canada's policy is to move natural gas and oil from the area of production to refineries in the most economical manner and to arrange for markets for any surplus which Canada cannot use.

One pipeline company had arranged to deliver oil at Sarnia through a pipeline going south from Canada to Superior, Wis., and then through U.S. territory around the southern end of Lake Superior. This was consistent with Canadian policy.

Mr. Howe said an all-Canadian pipeline around the north shore of Lake Superior would have added $67,000,000 to the cost.

Eight-Year-Old Gets Own Back On Police With Counterfeit Tale Of Child's Murder

NEW YORK (AP). — When you speak to Joseph Bryant, 8, speak softly, stranger. He's a little man, but he broods big.

A week ago a policeman chased him from a street corner by ordering him:

"Get away from there; you'll have your head chopped off."

Joseph brooded over this a whole week.

Friday he got his revenge.

He told police he saw two youths choke a boy to death on Wednesday night and bury his body in a ruined building. Two little boys backed up his story.

That did it.

Twenty-four policemen came swarming over the building, puffing and panting as they dug where Joseph directed.

Just to keep things lively, Joseph switched locations on them and they had to start digging all over again.

Finally, after two hours of toil, the cops got suspicious.

Joseph stuck to his story, however, until he was promised he would not be punished.

Then he admitted he made the whole thing up.

The perspiring cops went away.

And Joseph went home, brooding no more.

Casino Bans Man Who Won $14,500

MARRAKECH, Morocco (AP)—John Archie Johnson, 33-year-old carpenter, has been barred for life from the gambling casino here because he won too much, it was learned today.

Johnson, employed by a construction company building U. S. air bases in Morocco, was reported to have won more than 5,000,000 francs ($14,500) on the roulette wheel in three months.

His system—playing the numbers one, two, three, nine and zero, doubling his bests when losing and progressively betting the house limits when winning.

Casino directors explained: "We are trying to build a hotel and a swimming pool here. If you continue to play we won't be able to afford it."

Johnson now is headed for Monte Carlo.

Protests Ban On Vegetable Oil

The bill before the Ontario Legislature which would permit the cabinet by order in council to ban food products made from vegetable oil brought a statement yesterday from Mrs. W. R. Walton Jr., president of the Canadian Association of Consumers.

"This seems to be an attempt to padlock the pantry shelves of the province," said Mrs. Walton. "This act is so broad the cabinet could prohibit such vegetable oil products as peanut butter, salad oil, olive oil and shortening — even lard."

"No one interest or industry has the moral right to request legislation to ban or outlaw a competitive product in order to protect itself, not even an industry as vital as our own dairy industry," she continued, stating that the CAC position is based on the root principle of democracy and free enterprise.

She felt the proposed legislation might lead to the same kind of "informer" legislation the Province of Quebec has been obliged to invoke to enforce its anti-margarine law.

Home and School Association News

ELM CORNERS

J. H. Moebus, vocational guidance director at PCVS, was the guest speaker at the March meeting of the Elm Corner's Home and School Association meeting Thursday night.

Mr. Moebus outlined the advantages of an industrial education. He explained that the vocational course was no longer, "a poor relation" of the academic course.

Now it is the inclination and future plans which determine which course a student will take, Mr. Moebus said. He went on to point out the need for preparing youngsters for the industrial as well as the professional world.

In vocational school, 50 per cent. of the time is spent in practical subjects. At the end of the four-year course the vocational student receives junior matriculation.

Mr. Moebus reviewed the history of vocational training and enumerated the many fields to which it may lead.

Following his address the speaker answered questions. He was introduced by Mrs. G. Knox and thanked by N. Young.

Mrs. Norman Head of the publications committte gave an outline of the pamphlet, How Home and School and Community Can Develop Good Citizens, by Dr. Shayrock. She emphasized that example, teaching and practice were all essential in this work. Other pamphlets on similar subjects were available to the members.

Mr. J. Butterworth reported that there were 221 children of 14 years and under and 93 families in the school section. He also explained that there were nine six-year-olds to attend school in September as well as 19 five-year-olds and four children who are attending other schools this year.

An invitation to attend Lakefield Public School Open House was read.

Nominations forms were filled out by the members and were returned to the committee, Mr. J. Butterworth, convener; Mr. Gilmore, Mrs. A. Nichols and Mrs. J. Crawford.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Dunbar and her committee. Mrs. Alex Nichols was pianist for the evening.

'52 Immigration Set Record, 43,000 From U.K.

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Canada's expanding economy absorbed a record number of United Kingdom immigrants last year amid indications that the flow of new citizens annually is increasing.

L. G. Cumming, Canada's superintendent of immigration services in London, places the approximate 1952 total at close to 43,000, a "healthy" immigration rate that he said is increasing as British settlers satisfy themselves about Canada.

The previous record was in 1951 when 32,000 immigrants came from the U.K. Canada that year took in 194,000 persons in all.

Speaking of 1953 prospects, Cumming says that last month was the "busiest January we've ever had."

He doesn't agree with suggestions for drastically increased immigration put forward periodically by organizations interested in filling Canada's wide spaces and thinning Britain's densely-packed population.

SHIPPING SCARCE

"Shipping, for one thing, is a very definite problem," says Cumming.

He maintains, however, that the main objections lie in the possibilities of disrupting Canada's economy and obtaining a less adaptable immigrant.

"As it stands now," he says, "we don't advertise for immigrants and we tell prospective citizens the facts of Canadian life insofar as we can.

"That way, they don't expect too much and fit themselves better into Canadian life." Kickbacks are "negligible."

Cumming added: "I don't think any British government, regardless of party, would be enthusiastic about whole le emigration of Britons."

Turning back to the shipping problem, Cumming said the ideal time to bring in immigrants is April to October inclusive, when they can best be worked into the Canadian economy. That period is usually the top tourist season, however, when space is scarcest.

Since only about 15,000 of last year's British emigrants wer workers and the remainder were wives, children or other dependents, shipping space is a greater difficulty.

"You can't pack families into the space that troops occupied during the war or that immigrants took up in earlier days," Cumming says.

He declines to estimate the maximum immigration rate that may be reached in the next few years but thinks the rate will increase steadily—if only because satisfied settlers write back to friends and relatives.

British settlers seem to like it in Canada even though they are warned that "it may be cold, hard to find housing and a long way to the nearest pub in some places."

Queen Mother, Margaret Visit Rhodesian Centennial

BULAWAYO (Reuters) — Within a month of the Coronation of her eldest daughter as Elizabeth II, Britain's Queen Mother, together with Princess Margaret, will be in Africa attending a three-month festival here marking the 100th anniversary of the birth of Cecil Rhodes, the diamond king who founded Rhodesia.

The Rhodes centennial, to take place in a 50-acre site carved out of the virgin forest on the outskirts of this southern Rhodesia city, will open May 30.

It will feature everything from native witch doctors to Parisian night club entertainers, to British opera and ballet companies and a concert orchestra.

Nearly all the territories and large cities of East, Central and Southern Africa will be represented at the festival exhibiton, including Zanzibar and French, Belgian and Portuguese. The Union of South Africa will have one of the biggest exhibits and Britain also will have one.

CENTRAL EXHIBIT

Northern and Southern Rhodesia will provide the central exhibit with a large pavilion roofed by a huge steel dome rising over a giant baobab tree. Around the dome will be inscribed quotations from Rhodes and from David Livingstone, the discoverer of Southern Rhodesia's famous Victoria falls.

Elsewhere there will be an automobile show, fashion shows, model homes, beer gardens and open air dance halls, demonstrations of gold smelting and examples of native hut construction, ivory carving and diamond cutting.

The territory of Kenya will have a small version of the famous tree tops hotel where Britain's young Queen, as Princess Elizabeth, spent the night with her husband before hearing in the morning of the death of her father.

Spring Shoes Match Cosmetics

NEW YORK—Ladies of fashion, you are about to have heard everything — next spring's shoes will be matched to next spring's cosmetics!

The Kid Leather guild, representing New York's top shoe designers, gave their annual spring fashion show today, featuring footwear that is color-matched and co-ordinated to go with rouge, lipstick, and eye makeup.

It's true! The smartest pumps and sandals will come in shades such as deep pink, cyclamen, and the orange tones that team up with lipstick colors; or in blue-greens, olive-greens, and pale blues to match eyes; or in powdery beiges, off-whites and blush pinks to team up with makeup bases.

They'll be called "powdered kid" shoes in honor of the new alliance between face and footcoverings.

Other shoe trend demonstrated were these: Medium heels are coming back, but they'll be as slender and delicate as high spikes; the new look is the closed toe with open heel; pumps are no longer plain, but rather draped and tucked and bowed; and the T-strap sandal will makes its revival of the decade in 1953.

'Nylon Nighties' Troops' Term For Battledress

HANNOVER (Reuters)—"Nylon nighties" is the nickname which troops of the Canadian 27th Brigade have given to the brand new olive-green nylon battledress which they are testing here.

Some 900 men of the brigade recently went on a four-day exercise about 20 miles north of Hannover without their winter overcoats.

The weather was cold and damp but, as Maj. W. G. Milne said: "The problem was not how to keep warm, but how to keep cool."

The new uniform consists of seven pieces.

Apart from the outer cover, trousers and jacket have two sets of linings, one light and one heavy, which can be buttoned in. Another version of the uniform, with a hood for wear in Arctic regions, has been made, but has not been distributed in Germany.

In warm weather, the outer covering of this new uniform can be worn with the sleeves rolled up.

The troops to whom the new nylon battledress has been issued have to make four reports during the coming year on what they think of the new uniform.

They will have to fill in a 34-question questionnaire which will then be sent to the Canadian war office.

The questions include:

"Has it enough pockets?"

"Are the braces satisfactory?"

"Does washing your hands in it affect the waterproofing, color or fit of the uniform?"

But the Canadians are pleased with the nylon uniforms for another reason than their warmth and comfort.

Pte. Ken Herbert was overheard to say: "Hey, sarge, this is nylon isn't it? Then we don't have to keep it pressed, do we? . . ."

Find Language Colorful In Oil Business

SASKATOON (CP)—Colorful language used in the oil-drilling business is enough to make a greenhorn scratch his head in dismay.

It's possible to walk into a drilling supplies firm here and hear a drill boss order some "mud," a "Christmas tree," a "boomer" and maybe even a "pig."

All can be bought in Saskatchewan and if they're needed in a hurry they can be flown to the buyer at no extra cost.

But the original cost might strike the layman as fantastic. Mud ranges in price for $1.70 a hundred pounds to $1.15 a pound. To regular customers who can't do without it, the money is unimportant.

TREE COST $1,200

The price of Christmas trees will rock the steadiest nerves, running all the way from $275 to $1,200. They'd never look quite right in the corner of a living room.

The oil business understands mud as a mixture of betonite clay and chemical used when drilling with rotary tools. The Christmas tree is a weird contraption of valves fitted on top of the production casing in a flowing well. Oil flow is controlled through it.

The pig, also known as a "godevil" is a cylindrical apparatus with blades fitted to the forward end. It is forced through pipelines under pressure as a means of cleaning and scraping the inside.

Crews also use "snakeskins," pliable fittings used to join two ends of wire cable and a "boomer," a lever used for tightening chain.

Women Oppose Edible Oils Act

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Association of Consumers Friday criticized proposed Ontario legislation that would empower the government to ban manufacture of all edible oils except margarine.

Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr., of Oakville, national president of the association, issued a statement concerning the organization's stand concerning the government bill, introduced in the legislature Feb. 25.

The proposed amendment to the Edible Oils Products Act, while giving the government power to ban edible oils, would also allow it to exempt certain classes of edible oils if it so desired.

Mrs. Walton said the change carried with it powers so broad that the Ontario cabinet "could prohibit such vegetable oil products as peanut butter, salad oil, olive oil and shortening—even lard."

She said not even as vital an industry as the dairy industry has the moral right to ask for legislation to ban a competitive product to protect its own interests.

Bilingualism Aim Of Welsh Education Group

LONDON (CP)—Bilingualism as a basic aim of education in Wales, with stress on vigorous steps to keep the Welsh language alive, is urged in a report brought down by the central advisory council after a fact-finding inquiry lasting two years.

The report, third of a series undertaken by the council on the future of secondary education in Wales, describes as "catastrophic" the decline of Welsh-speaking pupils in some areas. The most serious decline, it declares, has occurred in Merthyr and the Rhondda valley and that of the total number of school-children between the ages of five and 15, only 21 per cent could speak Welsh.

In the council's opinion disappearance of the Welsh language would be an irreparable loss to Welsh culture.

"The only feasible way it can be kept alive and saved for posterity," the report says, "is to see that the children of Wales and Monmouthshire are taught both English and Welsh."

It submits that the more suitable of the two languages should be taught as an essential second language at all junior schools and carried into the secondary school curriculum as a continuous process.

To implement the policy proposed, the council urges the university of Wales to undertake special research into all phases of bilingualism and to initiate a more progressive policy towards the use of Welsh in teaching. It also recommends establishment of a Welsh teachers' training college.

The report regards the advent of television school lessons as a danger to a bilingual policy unless the specific needs and characteristics of Welsh schools and the language are taken into account.

Spring Hats Elaborate Bright Colors And Flowers

Flowered hats will bloom atop pretty heads in vibrant colors this spring, reviving interest in trimmings that are more feminine and elaborate than in the past.

For color itself is deeper and more glowing this spring, thanks to the coming Coronation. Bold blues, pinks, yellows, greens and a rich garnet are seen singly or even in combinations. Replacing the pallid pinks and blues of seasons gone are aqua and coral, torrid greenish-blues, and eye-catching purples.

The emphasis on color and trimming this year stems naturally from the fact that spring ready-to-wear is essentially trimmed down, lacking fuss or feathers. This spare silhouette makes an ideal companion for accessories that are brighter and more elaborate.

Texture is developed, too, in interesting straws that are sometimes combined with an interweaving of shaggy yarn for an effect that's nearly angora. Or, there are the sheer lacy straws, pleated straw casuals, yarn embroideries, small shells used effectively on smooth toyo, shiny basket-weave straws studded with white or pastel-colored souffle or woollen beads.

Silhouette stresses the small, pretty hat with some subtle changes rung on the past—narrower, longer lines from back to front in sailors; crowns that are blousier, and back propeller tabs.

But there's also belief in the importance of the bigger hat for spring. This means wide, undulating brims, big bonnets and shallow, wide-brimmed sailors. In many of these big hats, black horsehair promotes a sheer, see-through look.

DOROTHY DIX:

Father Neglects His Home To Do Odd Jobs For Mom

DEAR MISS DIX: At the age of 25, I have been married for three years and have two children. My husband is a fine man, and there is only one flaw to our happy marriage — my in-laws. We live across the street from them, and they seem dedicated to the premise that my husband and I should never have any time to ourselves.

He hasn't taken me out in months, because every time we plan on going to the movies, his mother comes up with a repair job that must be done at once; then he goes across the street for the rest of the evening. The same thing happens if we have a date with friends. Just let my in-laws hear of our plans, and that's the end of the outing. We own our home, so moving is out of the question. I don't care for lavish entertainment—just an occasional evening to ourselves, or with frien s.

PENNY D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You certainly should bring to your husband's attention the fact that he is unpardonably rude in breaking dates with friends. I can see where his folks have a thorough hold on his attention, but when he has a commitment with someone else, family repairs should wait. When he is in a reasonable mood, suggest that he set aside one evening, or a Saturday afternoon, to work at his mother's. He should let her know that this is all the time he can spare for her odd jobs. Another evening should be set aside for a movie date with you, and there should be a clear understanding that nothing is to interfere with it.

STAND UP FOR YOUR RIGHTS

Your husband is a pliant man and will follow the line of least resistance. His mother is the aggressor, and until you can cope with her demands on common ground, you'll get nowhere with your husband. Show a little determination to get the consideration you deserve.

Make a few demands of your own, and bolster him up to take Mon's complaints without flinching. Establish your marriage on a more equable basis now; don't let the difficulties pile up any further.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am terribly in love with a boy who doesn't care two cents for me. The reason I know is that he is always standing up up on dates, and offers only a feeble excuse. When he asks for a date, I can't refuse for fear he will stop asking me. How can I make him care?

CANDY T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If there is a way to make the boy care for you, I'd suggest in a few words that it would be for you to completely reverse your present attitude towards him. He has no incentive to be pleasant to you, since he knows that no matter what he'll do, you'll be around. Being abjectly submissive is a dismal trait in anyone. He can't find dating you very pleasant if you spend your time with him in a state of constant humility — pleading for a fond glance, another date, an encouraging word. One thing you can be sure of, he'll date you spasmodically until he finds a gal who'll keep him guessing a bit.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife and I have been married for a dozen years. I have a good job, we have a pleasant home, marred only by her groundless accusations of infidelity. I tell her she has an inferiority complex and should get out more. She never has her work organized, so whenever I'm home there's always housework to be done.

HOWARD T.

ANSWER: It's so easy for a man to accusc a woman of mismanagement when he may have secretaries, office boys, and file clerks on hand to tackle the day's details for him. A wise and efficient housewife can, and does, manage her home so that no major jobs are done when Dad is home. But women of these rare qualities are no more abundant than are high-powered business executives. Are you one of the latter? If so, you can afford help for your wife, who has her hands full caring for three youngsters; if not, stop carping until you know more about the complaint.

Instead of criticizing, why not come home cheerfully, help with the clearing-up, at least occasionally, hire a baby-sitter and take your wife to the movies! Don't make her provide all her own recreation.

ENCOURAGEMENT OF READING should be a 52-week-a-year job and does not belong just to Book Week. The Public Library is one of the best places where young Canadians can get books both interesting and educational.

FOR PARENTS ONLY:

Librarians Require Plenty Of Tact

By NANCY CLEAVER

"I want a book on elephants!" announced Jimmie, aged six, to the librarian of the boys' and girls' division. Jimmie after a few weeks in grade one was almost bursting with pride in his new ability to read. The school readers were illustrated with colored pictures with one or two simple sentences with brief, easy words under each illustration.

The librarian could locate only one book on elephants, and she suggested to Jimmie that he ask Mother to read it aloud to him. But that was "baby-stuff" to Jimmie. He wanted to read himself! Now he had seen the elephant book, he certainly was not going to be persuaded to change in his choice of literature. The librarian feared it was too difficult for his reading ability, but Jimmie insisted on striding off with the chosen volume.

The following afternoon after school a somewhat crest-fallen Jimmie returned the elephant book. The sympathetic librarian asked, "Was it too hard to read?" Jimmie shook his head, and said bravely, "N-No, but this book has more in it about elephants than I care to know!"

Librarians need a great store of understanding, tact and interest in people, and they usually possess these fine qualities to an exceptional degree. One very good way that Jimmie's mother or any other parents could celebrate Book Week would be to visit the boys' and girls' section of the library and say a very warm 'thank-you'. Take time to express your appreciation in the adult section, too, for the constant thoughtful and courteous service provided to anyone in search of reading matter!

Encouragement of reading does not just belong to one week but to every day in the year. The "Library Lady" is one of the best loved individuals in a small child's circle of acquaintances if he has had the chance to visit the library regularly. Fitting a library call into each week's schedule is one of the best investments in time and effort any adult or child can make.

In many public schools the classrooms take turns in going to the library and taking out and returning books. Teachers do their best to encourage good reading, but there is no substitute for a cultivation of a taste for books in the home. In Book Week why not "take stock" of the family library? How recently has a new book appeared on its shelf? Are birthdays marked by at least one good book gift? Is reading material for each member of the household included in the family budget of necessary expenditures . . . or does it get crowded out by all kinds of other things? Is the pile of dog-eared comics the only really treasured books belong to the "small fry" in the home?

Among the new books on literature is an inexpensive little volume which is excellent reading for any parent. It is called "Recipe for a Magic Childhood" by Mary Ellen Chase. The author grew up in a family on a Maine farm with three other children. Money and toys were scarce, but there were books. The mother read aloud to her children and so did the father. In later life the author would certainly agree with Gibbon's comment: "My early and invincible love of reading, I would not exchange for the treasures of India."

Every child should have his own book shelf in his room. If dad is handy with tools he can make one, and if necessary an orange crate can be painted and converted into a book case. Purchasing a new volume for the child's collection . . . and there are quite a number of excellent juvenile books written by Canadians available . . . Would be a very thrilling way to mark Book Week. Nancy Byrd Turner must have been thinking of a child when she wrote:

"The bookshop has a thousand books
All colors, hues and tinges,
And every cover is a door
That turns on magic hinges."

The first regular television programs in the world started at London, England, in 1936.

QUESTION: Would you mind sending me a recipe for Orange, grapefruit and lemon marmalade?

MRS. N. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

THREE-FRUIT MARMALADE

One each medium-sized grapefruit, orange and lemon, sugar, juice of 1 lemon. Wash the fruits, dry them, cut in halves, squeeze out juice and reserve seeds. Add the raggy part clinging to skins to seeds. Cut the rinds into finest possible strips. Put the rind and squeezed out juice in large bowl or enamel kettle, add 3 cups boiling water, cover and let stand overnight. Cover seeds and "rag" with 2 cups cold water, cover and let stand overnight, in morning boil 25 minutes, then strain and reserve the liquid. Boil rinds and water 25 minutes. Now to the rind add 2 cups water and boil 20 minutes longer. To the drained seeds add 1 cup water and boil 20 minutes. Drain water from seeds and add it to the first amount of water drained from the seeds and add both of these to the rind; bring to boil. (At this stage it is advisable to test for pectin: Mix together 1 teaspoon each juice and methyl hydrate. This is a poison (wood alcohol) and can be bought at the drug store. Be very cautious with it—throw it out and wash spoons as soon as you have made the test. If the juice is ready to add sugar it will coagulate into a soft lump in the methyl hydrate.) Measure the pulp and juice; for every cup add 1¼ cups heated sugar; stir until dissolved; cover, heat to boiling, then boil uncovered 10 to 20 minutes or until syrup will jell when tested on cold plate. (While waiting for syrup on plate to cool remove marmalade from heat.) Add lemon juice and remove from heat. Pour into sterile jars and seal with double coating of paraffin.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: As a child I remember my mother's potato salad as being wonderful . . she used no salad dressing, but heated vinegar and other ingredients and sprinkled them over finely cut potatoes. Seems to me there were onions and hard-boiled eggs in it too. —Kay.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The salad you describe is called

GERMAN POTATO SALAD

To 4 cups hot diced cooked potatoes add: saute in frying pan 2 slices side bacon cut into half-inch pieces. When bacon is crisp and golden add 3 or 4 tablespoons very finely sliced onion and remove from heat. Then add 4 tablespoons vinegar, 1 teapsoon salt, 1 tablespoon sugar and a generous shake of fresh pepper. Quickly heat this through and pour slowly over surface of potatoes to moisten all of them. Cover and let stand until dressing penetrates potato. Serve hot. This is good cold, too. Some recipes call for hard-cooked egg and more fat.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: Could you give recipe for Spice Squash? Interested when you said your Father was from Buckinghamshire as I am too.—F. E. C.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Greetings, neighbor. I am not sure but I believe you want a recipe for making spiced squash as spiced watermelon or citron is made. Is that correct? If so, here is the method. It is the only one of its kind I have ever seen.

SPICED SQUASH

Pare dice and seed enough winter squash to make 4 quarts. Add 8 cups cold water and simmer half-hour. Drain. Make syrup: Boil together 8½ cups sugar, 4 cups water, seven 3-inch sticks cinnamon, 2 tablespoons each whole cloves and whole allspice, for 5 minutes. Add the drained and boiled squash and boil gently for 10 minutes. Lift out pieces of squash into sterile pint jars, strain spices (or leave them in if you wish) from syrup, bring syrup to boiling and pour over squash in jars to fill. Seal. This is ready in about 2 weeks.

ATTERSLEY WINS TROPHY

TORONTO (CP)—Left-winger Bob Attersley of Oshawa Generals Friday night was named the winner of the Tilson Trophy as the most valuable player in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

He nosed out Jim McBurney, Galt Black Hawks' forward, by two votes. Attersley was given 49 votes, McBurney 47. All but one of the 10 Ontario sportswriters polled named Attersley as their first, second or third choice. Only two left McBurney off their selections.

Eleven players were named by the sportswriters for the trophy, put up for competition by the Toronto Globe and Mail in memory of "Red" Tilson, who starred in junior ranks with Regina and Oshawa before being killed in combat while overseas with the Canadian Army during the Second World War.

Brian Cullen of St. Catharines Teepees placed third with 15 votes.

The 195-pound, five-foot-nine Attersley, who sparked the Generals through the final two months of the regular schedule from eighth place to the sixth and last playoff position, finished fourth in league scoring, counting 45 goals and 43 assists for 88 points.

The 19-year-old native of Oshawa has one more year of junior hockey left. However, he will try out with Boston Bruins, parent club of the Generals, next season in a bid for a place with the National Hockey League club.

McBurney, who comes from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., led the league in scoring with 96 points from 61 goals and 35 assists. He had a one-game trial with Chicago Black Hawks of the NHL this season.

VARSITY, McGILL TIE

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Varsity Blues finished their Senior Intercollegiate league hockey schedule Friday night by holding McGill Redmen to a 3-3 overtime tie. The Blues finished in last place in the four-team league.

ASSUMPTION WINS TITLE

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Assumption High School Purple Raiders, undefeated in 14 starts, won the Windsor Secondary Schools Association senior boys basketball league championship at Kennedy Collegiate gym Friday night, edging Walkerville Collegiate Tartans 41-39 in a sudden-death tussle.

Both Assumption and Walkerville will represent the WSSA at the gala WOSSA Senior A basketball tournament in London, Ont., next Friday and Saturday.

OK WHL-QSHL PLAYOFF

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton exhibition board, operators of Edmonton Flyers of the Western Hockey League, has approved in principle a playoff series between the WHL and the Quebec Senior League winners. But board members said they felt such a series wouldn't become a reality until the 1953-54 season. Next year the WHL's 70-game schedule might be shortened to make room for the East-West playoff.

LICK'S BOOKS—Willie Lick, a crack football, hockey, baseball and lacrosse player at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y., stands out equally as [illegible] in the classroom. BOXER DIES AFTER BOUT

CHICAGO (AP)—An inquest is to be held today into the death of James Jones, 22, Negro amateur boxer, who died Thursday, two days after collapsing in a gym ring. Jones lapsed into a coma after sparring with Clifford Williams, 27, Negro laundry worker and professional boxer. In hospital it was reported Jones suffered a skull fracture.

HORSE DROPS DEAD

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ted Atkinson, one of the leading jockeys in the U.S., escaped injury Friday when his mount, Ballinclea, dropped dead during the sixth race at Gulfstream Park. The five-year-old Irish-bred horse, owned by A. J. Fralinger, was in front during the first quarter-mile of the six-furlong race, then backed up sharply. He was trailing the field when he went down. Atkinson quickly regained his feet.

Bethany And Mounts Win Bush Loop Frays

MILLBROOK (ENS) — Bethany and Mount Pleasant, with wins over Bailieboro and Millbrook, will now lock horns with Scott's Corners and Fourth Line in Bush League semi-finals on Friday evening. It was 7-5 in the Bethany-Bailieboro encounter while a never-say-die Millbrook crew forced Mount Pleasant into overtime before going down under a 6-5 score. Some protests in this series will be aired by the committee but it is doubtful if strong enough cases can be presented to alter the play-off picture. Goal-getters for Bailieboro were Cook (2), Lingard (2) and Harris, while the Bethany lamplighters were Gillis (2), Edmonds (2), Corkery, Magill and Brown.

Eleven penalties, all minors, were handed out.

Bethany: Goal, Challice; defence, Edmonds, Magill; forwards, Corkery, Pomeroy, Gillis. Alternates, Brown, O. Challice, Sargeant, Fallis, McGill, Sinclair.

Bailieboro: Goal, Smith; defence, Halstead, Jewison; forwards, Carruthers, Cook, Lingard; alternates, Lingard, Sidey, Clement, Sanderson, Harris, Gray, Hogg, Halligan.

Mount Pleasant and Millbrook matched goal for goal until the seven-minute mark in overtime when K. Bryan took a pass from Carr to slap in the goal that put Millbrook out of the picture. Wright of Millbrook's top production line, didn't see action in this game because of injuries. For Millbrook, Ginn and Handley had a pair each and Guthrie a single while Armstrong topped the Montaineers with three and Thornton two. Twelve penalties were handed out in this one by Crichton and Dawson, who were blowing authoritative whistles in keeping things in hand.

Mount Pleasant: Goal, B. Evans; defence, J. Evans, Fisher; forwards, Armstrong, Jamieson, Thornton; alternates, G. Bryan, Carr, Lowes, K. Bryan, Parker.

Millbrook: Goal, Blair; defence, Powell, Edmonds; forwards, Ginn, Handley, Lunn; alternates, Guthrie, Kent, Lowery, Smith.

Hastings Victors

NORWOOD—(ENS)—Hastings defeated Asphodel 4-1 in the Hastings Arena Wednesday evening. Oliver for Hastings scored two goals and got one assist. McMillan got one goal and one assist, Laver also counted one. Peoples was Asphodel's lone goal getter.

Referees were John Hamblin of Norwood and James Morrow of Hastings. Teams:

Asphodel: Goal, H. Stinson; defence, L. Wrightly, O. Brown; centre, D. Fredericks; wings, L. Peoples, G. Coughlin; alternates, H. Wilford, D. Rusaw, D. Smith, H. Mathews, E. Van Volkenburg, A. Buck.

Need $100,000 To Send Team To Vancouver

By ARCH MacKENZIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—A former college sprinter is plugging away in a money-making marathon to produce more than $100,000 needed to finance England's British Empire Games team trip to Vancouver next summer.

This is nothing new for 40-year-old K. S. Duncan, secretary of the British Empire and Commonwealth Games Association.

Duncan, who doubles as secretary of the British Olympic Association, wangled $196,000 for athletics expenses at the Helsinki Olympic Games last year. In 1949-50, his first campaign, he raised $61,000 to send England's team to the 1950 Empire Games at Auckland, N.Z.

FUND-RAISING EVENTS

His latest funds-finding series got under way early in March with a sportsmen's dance. Duncan plans to follow this with more of the same, plus various amateur benefit games, a possible film premiere and other gimmicks.

Planning these tactics, he admits, gives him little rest between Britain's Olympics and Empire Games jaunts.

"I tore the map of Helsinki off my office wall when I got back from Finland last year, and stuck up one of Vancouver," says Duncan.

"I don't know it as well yet but I imagine I will soon."

England expects to send about the same number of athletes to Vancouver as the 84 that "did very well" at Auckland. But Duncan doesn't expect it will cost any less, even though the travelling distance may be shorter.

For one thing, he expects at this point to fly the entire team to Vancouver in at least two planes. Last time, one contingent travelled by seat, a cheaper method, and one by air.

QUITE A DISTANCE

"And," says Duncan of a travelling distance, "the games couldn't be held much farther away from England and still be in Canada."

In hoping to raise more than $100,000, the far-sighted Duncan has in mind the 1958 games, expected here to go to Cardiff, Wales. Anything left over from the Canadian trip will be banked for them.

His target sum isn't meant to cover the entire cost involved because Canada, as host country, will give grants to the visiting teams on a per head basis. These, varying by Commonwealth, never cover the full cost. None has been announced yet.

Duncan's first trip to Vancouver will take place sometime this year, to see about games detail. As a member of the 193 touring Oxford-Cambridge athletic team, he's visited Hamilton, Ont., and has been in Montreal and Toronto. Meanwhile, he's eager for all the details about games arrangements he can get.

Duncan says he understands that the United Kingdom—he raises money for England only—will be fully represented this time with Northern Ireland sending a delegation. Scotland had 24 athletes competing in 1950 and Wales three.

Underdog Vejar Clips Martinez In 10 Rounds

NEW YORK (AP)—Aggressive Chico Vejar, a 17-to-5 underdog, set a fiery pace Friday night to gain an upset 10-round unanimous decision over Vince Martinez of Paterson, N.J., in a bristling bout at Madison Square Garden. Vejar, of Stamford, Conn., weighed 152¼ to Martinez' 149½.

A noisy crowd of 11,184 paid $45,779, both figures being the highest for a Garden fight in 17 months.

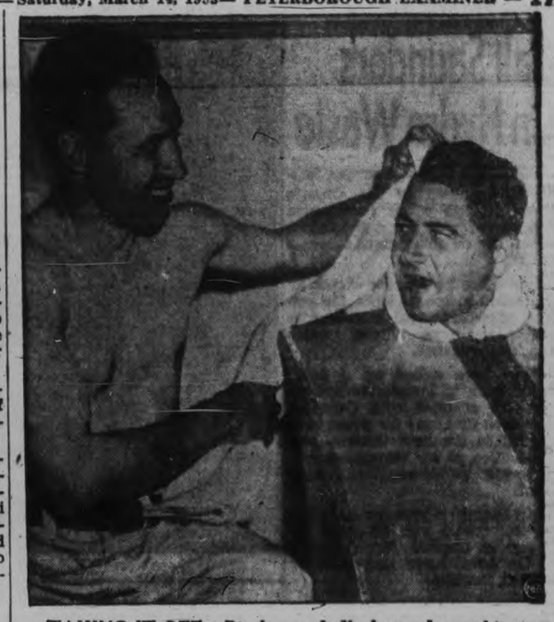
All three officials voted for the 21-year-old collegian by the same count, five rounds to four with one even.

The bout was broadcast and telecast across the U.S.

Although there were no knockdowns, there was seldom a dull moment as they whaled away at each other from the opening bell.

St. Patrick's Dance Held By Ball Team

COLDSPRINGS (ENS).—Plainville girls' softball team held a St. Patrick's dance in the Coldsprings Hall Wednesday evening, with Minifie's Rice Lake Islanders supplying the music. The ladies were presented with green bows for their hair and the gentlemen were given green pocket handkerchiefs.



The spot dance prize was won by Pauline Drope and Elizabeth Bates, Harwood. The birthday prize went to Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Greenwood, Port Hope. Hot dogs and cold drinks were sold by members of the team.

Oshawa Signs Ex-Yank As Playing Manager

OSHAWA (CP)—The Oshawa Baseball Club announced Friday it has signed Mike Garbark, catcher with New York Yankees in 1944-45, as playing manager of its team in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League.

The Oshawa team has been granted a conditional membership in the league this season after four years of seeking admission.

The 35-year-old Garbark played for Rock Hill of the class B Tri-State League last year and hit .320.

Collins Named Editor Of Guelph Mercury

GUELPH (CP)—J. F. Collins has been appointed editor of the Guelph Mercury, General Manager R. L. Hamill announced today. He replaces A. M. Macilister, who retired recently.

Mr. Collins joined the paper's staff as a reporter after serving in the First World War. He became sports editor and later news editor.

Other appointments:

Frank Turner as news editor. Formerly city editor, he came to the Mercury from the London, Eng., News Chronicle three years ago.

Ken Wilson as city editor. He has been with the paper seven years and until recently was head of the photographic department.

Mother Given Custody Of 3 Children

Mrs. Anne T. Simmons, 24, of 75 Ware Street, has been awarded the custody of her three small children and an allowance of $12 a week to maintain them according to the terms of a judgment in Surrogate Court by Judge John de N. Kennedy.

By a previous court order Mrs. Simmons gets $11 a week—making $23 in all—from her husband, Edward George Simmons, a salesman who lives at 704 Orpington Road. The $11 is for Mrs. Simmons' own maintenance.

Mrs. Simmons is a theatre cashier.

The case was heard early in February by Judge Kennedy, who said that he hoped that before he handed down judgment a settlement would be reached between husband and wife. But this didn't happen.

None of the children is more than five years of age. The eldest Edward Douglas is five years, Donald James is four years, and Anne Mary is just 22 months. For some time now the two boys have been living with their father and the baby girl has been with her mother.

RELIGIOUS DIFFERENCES

Religious differences were said by Mr. Simmons to be the main cause of the breakup in their family life. Though a member of the Church of England, he agreed when he was married to have the children brought up in the Roman Catholic faith. At the direction of a priest, Father Kay, he signed a paper not to interfere in any way with the religious training of the children.

Later disagreements arose.

Giving his judgment, Judge Kennedy said:

"In my opinion both husband and wife are decent, honest and reliable people and either of them would do his or her best to provide for and to bring up the children in a sensible way; but since the three children are all very young — the eldest being only five years old—it seems to me that having regard for the welfare of the children....the three children should be placed in the custody of the mother."

Mrs. Simmons must permit her husband to have custody of the two boys for four weeks in the summer holiday season, for a week during the Christmas holidays, on their birthdays, and on Saturday afternoons.

Mr. and Mrs. Simmons separated in July, 1942, after a series of quarrels. At the time they were living at RR 3, Peterborough, a mile from the city.

Edward Fanjoy was counsel for Mrs. Simmons, and W. B. (Pete) Gordon was counsel for Mr. Simmons.

TVL Tilt Postponed

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—Soft ice caused postponement of the sixth Trent Valley Hockey League (northern division) final at Campbellford last night. The Campbellford club leads the best-of-seven set at present by three games to two, and need one more victory over Marmora Millionaires. It is hoped to have this game staged here on Monday night.

Collingwood and Campbellford begin their home-and-home OMHA midget "B" semi-finals here this Saturday evening, with the return tilt slated for early next week in the northern town.

T.P. Threatens Remove Lights, Ottawa Baseball

OTTAWA (CP)—T. P. Gorman, Ottawa sports promoter, threatened the Central Canada Exhibition Association Friday with the prospect of no International League baseball here this summer in an argument with the CCEA directors over use of facilities at Lansdowne Park.

Gorman owns the lighting facilities at the ball park which is home ground for Ottawa Athletics, a farm club of Philadelphia Athletics. The CCEA owns the grandstands and park grounds and leases to Gorman the right to assign their use for baseball.

The argument, almost an annual event, centres around the Gorman-owned lights. The CCEA directors voted Thursday night to inform Gorman they must insist he allow anyone to use his lights for sporting events that do not interfere with ball games and practices.

In a statement Friday, Gorman said he may take his lights out of Lansdowne Park and install them in Connaught Park, a race track he owns across the Ottawa river in Quebec province, for night harness racing.

Enter 270 Horses In Harness Meet

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian horsemen have entered 270 horses in the 12 stake events at Thorncliffe Raceway's 34-day 1953 harness race meeting, which opens Saturday July 4.

The $2,500 International Race, scheduled for opening day, has drawn 26 entries and probably will be raced in two divisions. Largest field—47—has entered the Ontario Pace July 10.

The $7,500 Canadian Cup pace has drawn 20 entries including Argyle Grattan, voted Canada's horse of the year in 1952. The Canadian Cup will be raced in two sections July 25 and Aug. 8.

The secondary feature of the meeting, the $4,000 Maple Leaf Trot, has drawn 12 entries.

Canadian-Born MD Stricken After Delivery

NEW YORK (CP)—Howard C. Moloy, a prominent, Canadian-born obstetrician, died of a heart attack Friday 15 minutes after he completed a delivery at Sloane Hospital for women here.

Moloy, 50, received his doctor's degree from the University of Western Ontario. He interned at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Centre and in 1932 became assistant resident at the centre's Sloane Hospital.

He was widely known in medical circles for his research and writings in medical journals here and abroad. He and another doctor developed a precision stereoscope said to be of invaluable aid in connection with infant delivery.

Casey Sees 5th Flag For New York Yanks

MIAMI (AP)—Manager Casey Stengel of the world champion New York Yankees predicted Friday that his team would win an unprecedented fifth straight American League pennant.

Ignoring the fact that it was Friday the 13th, Stengel said nobody would catch his team because the Yankees were improved over the winter while the other clubs stood still.

First Woman Director

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Margaret Chase Smith (Rep. Me.) is the first woman senator ever to direct a major congressional investigation. She is chairman of the special Senate sub-committee investigating ammunition shortages in Korea and elsewhere, with four male members as her assistants.

Jeweller Kidnapped

NEW YORK (AP)—A wholesale jeweler said he was kidnapped in mid-afternoon Friday from a busy midtown street, taken on a 25-mile ride into Long Island and robbed of $67,000 in unmounted diamonds and $200 in cash. The jeweller, Kalman Loewenthal, 48, told police he was accosted by a man as he left a bank and forced into a car at pistol point.

Call Saunders On Hydro Waste

TORONTO (CP)—Chairman Robert H. Saunders of the Ontario hydro electric power commission will be called before a legislature committee on government commissions.

Hydro has been under attack by opposition members since the session opened. Liberal members in particular have alleged waste and extravagance.

They have called for a royal commission to investigate hydro's cost-plus contract with Canadian Comstock Company for power conversion in Southern Ontario, and elimination of an "expensive and elaborate" public relations department.

Mr. Saunders' appearance before the committee was proposed by George H. Challies, vice-chairman of the commission and minister without portfolio.

DIES AT 96

TORONTO (CP)—Henry Alexander Drummond, 96, former Toronto stock broker, died Friday. Born in Toronto, he engaged in the lumber industry in the Gatineau river district and was in the civil service at Ottawa before becoming a stock broker.

Sends Conscience Cash To Windsor Customs

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—An Oshawa resident has added $8.75 to the "conscience money" fund at the Windsor office of customs and excise.

Harold Beardmore, collector of customs and excise in this border city, received the money and a note by registered mail. It will be forwarded to the receiver general of Canada.

The enclosed note said:

"Enclosed please find $8.75 which is duty on $25 worth of gifts which I failed to declare at Christmas time. Upon returning home I felt that this duty should be paid."

It was signed: "A law-abiding citizen."

Spring Brings Seasonal Drop Unemployment

TORONTO (CP)—Unemployment in Ontario is dropping rapidly with the approach of spring—now 20,000 compared with 31,000 registered unemployed this time last year, the national employment service reports.

Highly skilled mechanics and machinists, domestics and stenographers are most in demand and there are more vacancies than persons to fill them.

The growing television industry is a leader in domestic electrical products and helps keep cabinet plants in Kitchener busy. Confectionary manufacture is up and more female help is being hired.

The textile industry is improving on the secondary level. Avro Canada is still short of skilled aircraft workers and auto plants are taking on new workers.

General construction is reported to be lagging, but employment in this field will open up in April. Bricklayers and carpenters are finding it difficult to obtain employment.

The shipping season, expected to start several weeks earlier than last year, will provide jobs for many.

Chimneys Inside Buildings Declared More Efficient

From its foundation to its top, a chimney is an integral piece of masonry and may contain one or more flues and fireplaces. A flue is a space or passage in a chimney provided for the purpose of conducting smoke, fumes or gases to the outside air. The fireplace is the opening built into a chimney to contain an open fire and so designed that it will radiate heat into the room and deliver all smoke into its flue.

The effective operation or draft of a flue is influenced by its size, height ,and freedom from leaks and obstructions. The minimum height of a chimney is established by its relation to nearby structures and therefore, the top of a chimney should extend at least three feet above an adjoining flat roof or parapet wall and at least two feet above the highest ridge of a pitched roof, unless otherwise required by the local building ordinance. This is to prevent down drafts resulting from air currents curling over walls and roofs. Nearby trees will produce the same results and consideration should be given to this condition.

Chimneys located entirely inside a building are more efficient because they do not become chilled by outside air but retain their heat and consequently give a better draft For this reason, chimneys built in exterior walls may be made more efficient by increasing the thickness of the flue walls to retain as much heat as possible. No change in size or shape of the chimney should be made within six inches above or below the roof construction where they intersect.

BUILD FLUES STRAIGHT

Flues should be built as straight as possible, since offsets increase friction, collect soot and may create a fire hazard. If offsets are necessary, their slope should not exceed an angle of 30° from the vertical and the full area of the flue should be maintained throughout. For the safest and most efficient operation, flues should be smooth and contain as few joints as possible. Fireclay flue lining is excellent and is required in many building ordinances. It produces smooth inside surfaces, few joints, is highly fire resistant and simplifies the construction of the chimney.

Not more than two flues should be built in the same chimney space and additional flues should be separated by smoke-tight dividing wall of brick, four inches thick. When two linings are set together, their joints must be staggered at least seven inches apart. With flue serving a heating boiler, furnace or fireplace should be separated or surrounded by at least four inches of brick masonry. The best chimney design provides for the separation of every flue with four inches of brick, which provides more satisfactory draft, greater fire safety and increased stability of construction.

SIZE OF FIREPLACE

Careful consideration should be given to the size of fireplace best suited to the room in which it is located, not only from the viewpoint of its appearance but of its operation as well. If it is too small, it may function properly, but will not produce a sufficient amount of heat. If too large, a fire that would fill the combustion chamber would be entirely too hot for the room. Moreover, it would require a larger chimney and induce an abnormal infiltration of air through doors and windows to supply the needs for combustion and so waste fuel.

A room with 300 sq. feet of floor area is well served by a fireplace with an opening 30 inches to 36 inches wide. For larger or smaller rooms the width may be increased or decreased proportionately.

The building of a fireplace that will perform properly and satisfactorily is not a mysterious operation nor dependent upon luck. On the contrary, the essentials of correct design are but few and simple. The principal results to be achieved are:

1. Proper combustion of the fuel.
2. Delivery of all smoke and other products of combustions up the chimney.
3. Radiation of the maximum amount of heat into the room.
4. Simplicity and fire-safeness in construction.

Fireplace openings should not be too high; for the usual width of opening, the height above the hearth is seldom more than 32 inches. This dimension may be varied slightly to meet regular brick courses and joints, especially where the facing or trim is of brick.

Compensation Board Pays Out $29 Million

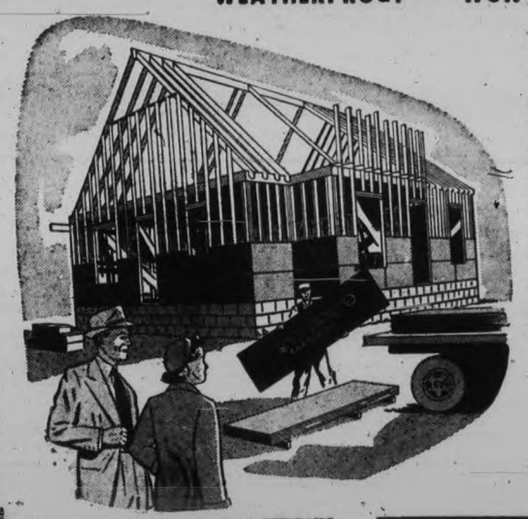
TORONTO (CP)—The workmen's compensation board gave compensation and medical aid totalling $29,000,000 in 1952 compared with $25,000,000 the year before, Labor Minister Daley said in the legislature Friday.

In 1952, 209,974 work injuries were reported to the board of which 428 were fatal, compared with 202,645 accidents in 1951, 421 of them fatal.

50-50 Club Meets

NORWOOD —(ENS)—Some 65 members attended the meeting of the 50-50 Club on Wednesday evening in the Sunday school room of the United Church.

The President Jack Stewart was in the chair. Margaret and Earl Bongard and their group were in charge of the program. A ladies' quartet of Mary Knox, Helen Garden, Ruth Scott and Marion Perry sang. Several Irish songs were heard by the group dressed in Irish costumes.



Norma Warner conducted two contests followed by a mock wedding. Lunch was served. The next meeting will be in charge of John and Grace Hamblin.

Statesmen Seized With Crown's Value: Massey

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey said Friday night the greatest Canadian statesmen "have not merely accepted, they have been profoundly seized with the significance and the value to us of the Crown and all that it stands for."

The governor-general, in an address prepared for the Canadian Club of the Niagara Frontier, said the Canadian race has been "singularly happy" in being the first people to embody "the monarchal principle in a federal system."

In this he was thinking not of the connection with Britain "but of our Canadian Crown." It was true to say that the more profound the belief of Canada's past leaders in Canada as a nation "the more insistent have they been in supporting the Crown and in developing its Canadian character."

OFFERS JOB

He held out to Canadian Clubs the job of building a bridge across the American frontier, the "furthering of our common operations" with the U.S.

He continued:

"We, like the United States, cherish law and liberty. Our manner of cherishing, our constitutional and symbolic expressions are different. We have much to learn, and we have learned much, from the American's sense of freedom and equality, from his idealism and his insistence that all should have the good life, the best life; from his determination and his successful efforts to provide the necessary material foundation for that life. . .

"But we have something of our own, too, which is different and valuable; we express the common good, the public welfare, in parliamentary institutions. With the Parliament we associate the Crown. . . .

"We, in Canada, admire American ideals, and so far as lies in our power, we strive to emulate American achievements. But we do not forget that the institutions of Crown and Parliament, embodying in a symbolic fashion as well as in their practical operation, the ideals of liberty and authority are, on this continent, peculiarly ours. It is we who have cherished and preserved them in the New World. It is we who can offer them in our own Canadian translation, as our contribution to civilized life on this continent."

CONFERENCE — Lester B. Pearson, right, Canada's Minister for External Affairs and President of the United Nations General Assembly, and Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary-General, appear in deep meditation as they sit together on the rostrum at UN headquarters in New York prior to the opening of a recent general assembly session. Mr. Pearson is one of the three nominees for the post of Secretary-General soon to be vacated by Mr. Lie. Final action on the selection of a new UN chief rests with members of the general assembly.

Ice Gives Way, Traps Wolf For Warden

PERTH (CP)—A wolf chased by three dogs across Clear lake near this eastern Ontario city got something he didn't bargain for when he turned to fight.

All four animals crashed through the ice, the dogs came up and clambered out. The wolf couldn't make it and game overseer Forrest Richardson, leading a hunting party, pushed a boat out on the ice and shot the animal.

The party bagged five wolves, two of them weighing over 60 pounds.

Open Lake Links To Move Grain

OTTAWA (CP) — The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence canal system will open earlier than usual this year to help move a pile-up of grain from the record prairie crop, the transport department announced Friday.

The Sault Ste. Marie canal between Lake Superior and Lake Huron will open March 23 compared with April 1 last year and downstream canals will be correspondingly earlier. The mild winter was partly responsible for the early reopening of navigation after the winter freeze-up.

A statement from Transport Minister Chevrier said it has been necessary to relieve grain congestion as early as possible this year because of a strike of Vancouver grain elevator operators, which has halted movement of grain to Pacific ports. Last year's crop was still largely held on farms and in country elevators.

The department announcement said the Lachine, Soulanges, Cornwall and Williamsburg canals will be open to navigation April 6, earliest in 50 years. Last year they were opened on April 19 and 20.

The Welland canal between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario is scheduled to be opened for traffic March 31. Last year it opened April 1.

Communcations Head Newcomb Carlton Dies

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—Newcomb Carlton, 84, a pioneer of the American communications industry and one of its top figures for many years, died at a hospital here Thursday night.

He had been ill for many weeks.

Carlton retired 10 years ago as chairman of the board of the Western Union telegraph company, after 33 years in the telegraph and cable industry. He was president of Western Union from 1914 to 1933.

God's All-Seeing

George A. Gordon was minister of the famous Old South Church, in Boston. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, a notable preacher himself, once assured me that Gordon was the greatest preacher of his time.

"Judgment," Dr. Gordon said, "is part of the Divine education of the world." He likened it to examination and he pictured two boys entering on a business career. One is afraid of examination lest his mistakes be discovered and he suffer humiliation. But the other, anxious to excel, welcomes the examination that he may know and correct whatever is amiss.

"Judgment," he said, "is the hope of the world." He added, "The judgment of God is the benignity of God. It is part of the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ."

Man is at his highest and best when he can say, "Judge me, O God."

Award $7,344 In Damage Suit

KITCHENER (CP)—A judgment for $7,344, representing 60 per cent of total damages assessed, was awarded Friday to William Dale Mitchell, 21, of Kitchener in settlement of a pedestrian-car collision.

Mr. Justice Wishart Spence found Mitchell 40-per-cent negligent in the accident which occurred Oct. 7, 1951, at nearby Hespeler.

The defendants were Ronald Reid and James Costigan, both of Guelph. Costigan was driving Reid's auto at the time.

Mr. Justice Spence awarded a total of $12,240 damages, but Mitchell's negligence netted him only the $7,500 for general damages while $4,740 went for medical bills and loss of wages.

According to Japanese legend the empire of Japan was founded by Emperor Jimmu Tenno in 660 B.C.

Warehouse Burns, Damage $250,000

ORILLIA (CP)—Fire caused an estimated $250,000 damage at the National Grocers Company warehouse Thursday night. Four firefireman Earl Tennant were revived Lee Edwards, were overcome by smoke. The building was gutted.

Chief Edwards and volunter in hospital. Othn volunteers who were overcome, James Devlin and Robert Woodrow, were treated at the scene by a doctor.

Archie Ferguson, company manager, said damage will probably reach $250,000. Street lights in the town 80 miles north of Toronto were put out for half an hour when the protective coating around hydro wires at one end of the building was burned off.

Withhold Shield At Drama Meet

SARNIA (CP)—The Hanna shield, formerly awarded for the winning play in the Western Ontario regional drama festival, will not be presented at the 1953 festival, which ends here tonight.

The shield now is designated as an award for outstanding contribution to the theatre in Western Ontario, awarded by the executive of the Western Ontario drama league "from time to time."

At an executive session Friday presided over by the president, Prof. R. H. Ozburn of Guelph, it was decided to defer the placing of this important award until further consultation and possibly with some guidance from the Dominion Drama Festival regarding the Bessborough Trophy.

Latest Type American Jets Sent To Germany Will Patrol Red Border

Sabre Jets Rushed From British Bases Match For Russian MiGs Blamed In Shooting of West's Planes

WIESBADEN, Germany (CP)—The United States Air Force announced today it has rushed its latest-type jet fighters from Britain to patrol the Iron Curtain border. The F-86 Sabre jets—air force headquarters did not reveal the number involved—had been attached to the 81st fighter wing stationed in Britain. An announcement said the transfer was a temporary measure. The move follows the loss of two Allied planes to Communist guns over Germany last week. An American F-84 Thunderjet was shot down by Czechoslovak MiGs over the U.S. zone Tuesday. Seven British airmen were killed Thursday when two Russian MiGs shot down their four-engined Lincoln bomber over the East-West border.

ON EVEN TERMS

Arrival of the Sabres for the first time gives the U. S. Air Force in Germany a plane which can fight on even terms against the fast Soviet MiG-15s which made last week's attacks.

Previously only the older, slower F-84, Thunderjets were based in Germany. The air force announced last week that 25 Sabres will come to Germany "very soon" under a program of replacing all the Thunderjets here with Sabres.

But today's announcement indicated the air force decided not to wait until these jets could arrive from the United States.

They took "a number" of Sabres from the 81st fighter-bomber wing stationed in England and flew them to Germany for "temporary duty."

STANDING OPERATION

The air force announcement did not specifically link their arrival with the recent shooting incidents. But it left no doubt about their purpose.

They "may be used as required to supplement other aircraft available in the performance of the normal missions of the 12th air force," the announcement said.

"The investigation of unidentified aircraft flights over the U. S. zone of Germany is a standing operating procedure of the 12th air force. These F-86s may participate in such investigations when appropriate."

Soviet Confirms Malenkov Prime Minister

MOSCOW (AP)—The more than 1,000 members of the Supreme Soviet Sunday unanimously confirmed Georgi M. Malenkov as the Soviet Union's prime minister and cheered his inaugural assertion that all "troublesome and unsolved" issues with other countries can be solved peacefully.

As in his funeral oration over Stalin's bier a week ago, Malenkov Sunday, again stressed a policy of peace.

"At the present and in the future," he said, "there is no such troublesome or unsolved question which cannot be solved by peaceful means."

This, he continued in a specific reference, applies to the Soviet Union's relations with all countries including the United States.

Not once did Malenkov refer to "warmongers" or to American "imperialists." Both these terms have been absent from pronouncements of Soviet leaders and the Soviet press since Stalin's death.

Malenkov said his new government's foreign policies are based on respect for the rights of other countries, "strict adherence to all treaties" signed by the Soviet Union, and co-operation and development of business relations with all nations, whether communist or capitalist.

The Soviet Union, he went on, will draw even tighter its links with its allies, and especially with Communist China and the "people's democracies" of Eastern Europe.

FIVE GOALS

On the home front, Malenkov said, his government will work for five things: To make the state even more powerful, tighten the bonds among the Soviet Union's various nationalities, strengthen the armed forces, better standards of living and guarantee the "unity" of party and government.

The two legislative houses—the Soviet of the Union and Soviet of Nationalities—met for only one hour and seven minutes, then adjourned and headed for home. During the session they also con-

Father Helpless As Five Die

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP)—Unable to find a ladder, a father of nine watched helplessly as five of his children, trapped in an upstairs bedroom in their flaming home, burned to death.

Four other children and the wife of Donald McElhaney fled to safety through second-floor windows.

McElhaney awoke at 4 a. m. Sunday and smelled smoke. He jumped through a window to the ground Unable to find a ladder he yelled to awaken his family.

His wife, nightclothes aflame, appeared at a window. She collapsed and dropped 10 feet to the ground. Shortly afterward the dwelling exploded in flames. She is in critical condition at hospital suffering extensive burns and shock.

Neglected

LONDON (Reuters)—Irate passers-by kept noticing the same baby in the same carriage outside a tavern in a crowded London district. The manager inside had dozens of complaints. Now the carriage has a note attached: "I'm not being neglected—I live here." The baby girl's mother, Mrs. Rosalind Wilkes, is the wife of the landlord, and a teetotaller at that. "What else can I do. We don't have a back yard here," she said.

Old Shell Explodes Kills Youngster, 8

SHERBROOKE, Que. (CP) — Louis Andre Lacourse, 8, was killed in the cellar of his home Saturday when a two-inch souvenir shell he was playing with exploded. The child's father, Gerard Lacourse, told police the shell was found during construction of his home six years ago. He thought he had rendered it harmless by removing the detonator.

Miner Hacks Off Mother's Tongue

ALES, France (Reuters)—Georges Seul, mineworker in this southern French town, hacked off his 80-year-old mother's tongue with a kitchen knife Sunday while in a drunken rage and then attempted suicide. The mother died in hospital Seul, stabbed in the chest, is recovering.

NORWOOD UNITED CHURCH was destroyed by a fire that broke out sometime before 4 a.m. Sunday and raced through the structure while Norwood and Hastings firemen could do little but prevent surrounding buildings from being ignited. This picture shows the fire still burning fiercely even though most of the interior had collaps d into the basement. The lower photo shows the church as it looked Saturday and as it was built in the early 1890s. A previous fire in 1937 burned off the roof and it was replaced.

Double Trouble

CHICAGO (AP)—Laundry truck driver Nathan Blumenthal, 65, had collected $85 Sunday when two youths robbed him. Half an hour later he had collected $10 when another youth held him up. That is when Blumenthal called it quits for the day.

Sick Queen Mary's Condition Unchanged

LONDON (AP)—Doctors attending Queen Mary said today the 85-year-old Queen grandmother had a less comfortable night but her general condition remains unchanged.

She has been confined to bed for the last three weeks at Marlborough House, her residence, with a recurrence of gastric trouble.

Queen Mary's eldest son, the Duke of Windsor, who interrupted a Florida vacation to visit her, went to Paris by train Sunday night on business. He is expected back in Britain in a few days before sailing back to the United States.

Allied Planes Bomb Rail Yard Far Behind Lines

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR

SEOUL (AP) — Allied planes roared into the dawn today and plastered a rail yard deep in northwest Korea into a smoking shambles.

Other U. S. fighter-bombers swarmed down on the supply route between Wonsan and Yangdok on the east coast. Pilots reported 26 Red trucks destroyed and 75 damaged.

Screening Sabre jets tangled with Communist MiG 15s and shot down one of the Red fighter planes.

F-84 Thunderjets hit the rail yards at Chongju and set off a series of secondary explosions. Chongju is about 60 miles from the Manchurian border.

No major engagements were reported on the ground front.

Allied searchlights flushed Red infantry on two fronts just before daybreak and at least 50 Communists were chopped up in a hail of explosives from UN artillery guns.

Sunday night 18 B-29 Superforts smashed at two Red supply centres near Pyongyang, the Red Korean capitol, in the biggest Superfort raid of the month. Invader bombers also blasted a big supply and personnel centre near Hungnam on the northeast coast.

A weekly report showed Allied tanks and guns destroyed or damaged 845 Red bunkers and smashed 740 Communist gun positions.

Hunt Hotel Ruins For Fire Victims

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C. (CP)—Firemen picked through the ruins of the King George Hotel today for more bodies in a $100,000 fire which claimed at least three lives.

The bodies of a young man and woman and an elderly man were recovered early Sunday. Police feared that more persons may have been trapped. The victims were not immediately identified.

The hotel register was lost in the blaze and the owner was unable to provide a complete list of tenants. There were 40 persons in the hotel. Most escaped by jumping from second-storey windows.

Fire Chief Earl Becker said the fire broke out shortly after midnight in the boiler room of the 40-year-old apartment-hotel.

Reds Free 30,000 Japanese To Return To Homeland

By SAM SUMMERLIN

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China is wooing Japan's masses with piecemeal gifts of the world's most precious bargaining commodity—human lives.

Four large Japanese ships were bound today for Chinese Red ports. They will pick up the first batch of 30,000 Japanese nationals whom China has offered to repatriate. In all, the Japanese government figures 50,000 civilian nationals have been stranded on the China mainland since the Second World War.

Why did the Red rulers suddenly agree to let thousands of Japanese go home?

SEEKING SUPPORT

The answer seems to be to win friends in the island empire, long China's worst enemy. Japan long had sought repatriation but Peiping turned a deaf ear until late last year.

Trade may be the key explanation, some authorities believe. As the U.S. and Britain tighten their economic blockade on the mainland, Red China flirts more and more for commerce with Japan.

With 30,000 hostages, Red China saw a golden opportunity to drive a wedge between the Japanese people and the pro-American government of Premier Shigeru Yoshida, observers say.

CALLED ELECTION

Yoshida is in a tight spot. He dissolved Japan's diet this weekend and called for new elections next month after that parliamentary body passed a non-confidence motion against him. Part of the opposition was based on charges Yoshida's ties were too close to the U.S.

The time appeared ripe for planting new seeds of discord.

A 13-member Japanese repatriation delegation flew back to Tokyo last Tuesday after a month of negotiations in Peiping. The Reds dictated the terms for the repatriation and delighted in snubbing the Yoshida government.

Father Dies In Attempt To Save Two Children

TORONTO (CP)—Trapped by a fire which roared through his four-room frame home in suburban Scarboro early Sunday, 29-year-old Allan John Cramp gave up his own chances of escape and in attempting to rescue two of his four children, ended up dying with them six feet from safety.

Hours later a fourth victim—a two-year-old daughter—died in hospital here of burns suffered in the blaze.

Cramp was found by firemen, lying close to a bedroom door along with Janice, 5, and Allan Jr., 4.

Mrs. Cramp was able to make her way out of the front door along with 15-month-old Evelyn in a carriage. Joseph Clement, a neighbor, smashed a rear window to pull Diane, the two-year-old, from her blazing cot and beat out her flaming clothing with his bare hands. However, she died later in hospital.

The fire is believed to have started when an oil space heater burst into flames when Mrs. Cramp turned it up after getting out of bed.

Clement noticed the fire when he was having breakfast at his house, next door to the Cramp home. He rushed to the burning structure while his wife tried to phone the Scarboro fire department. When she failed to get through, the two Clement children, in night clothes and raincoats, ran to the next nearest neighbor ¼ mile away.

However, by the time the Agincourt and Scarboro fire departments arrived at the scene, the building was in ruins.

The Cramps were planning to build a new home on their two-acre lot this summer.

Ten In One Car Hurt

TORONTO (CP)—Police said 10 persons were riding in an automobile that collided with another car in suburban North York Saturday night. Eleven persons were injured in the crash, none severely.

Appeal Rejected In Murder Case

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today rejected the appeal of Jim Kelsey of Welland, sentenced to be hanged for the murder of a Welland taxi-driver.

Kelsey's lawyer, Arthur Maloney of Toronto, had sought a new trial on the grounds that the 29-year-old war veteran and peacetime army deserter had faked a confession to gain publicity because he had a "morbid desire for notoriety."

Kelsey was charged with the hammer-and-icepick slaying of taxi driver Sam Delibasich in Decem-

He is sentenced to be hanged April 14.

He was picked up by police two years after the slaying and after he allegedly told friends that he and his brother had slain the taxi-driver to get his money and cab.

The brother was tried on a similar charge and was acquitted.

Jim Kelsey made a confession to police which he later repudiated.

Mr. Maloney appealed the conviction to Canada's highest court on the grounds that the trial judge erred in law by allegedly failing to present adequately the "theory of the defence" in his charge to the jury.

This theory was that Kelsey had deliberately lied to police in his confession to gain notoriety.

Of the seven Supreme Court benchers who heard the appeal, only Mr. Justice J. R. Cartwright dissented from the majority decision.

Mr. Justice Cartwright suggested Kelsey should be given a new trial.

$140,000 Building Goes Up In Flames Plan To Rebuild

By ROBERT HATTON

NORWOOD. — Norwood United Church, valued at $140,000 was destroyed by fire in the early hours of Sunday morning as firemen of Norwood and nearby Hastings could make only token resistance against the fierce flames. Only the smoke blackened stone walls were left standing less than an hour after the fire was discovered by a passing motorist about 3:45 a.m. Sunday morning the congregation of 210 families held a service in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church where their minister, the Rev. Harold K. Wright, spoke on "Life Is Your Battle," and broached the subject of rebuilding the church.

At a meeting after the service, key members of the congregation decided that the church would be rebuilt and an engineer will examine the ruins of the 60-year-old church to see if any of the walls could be used as a start on the new church. An insurance adjustor will also be consulted.

Without having an opportunity to examine the papers, Mr. Wright said he thought there was about $45,000 insurance on the building and some more insurance on the organ that is valued at an additional $6,000 to $8,000.

THREE LINES CONNECTED

Fire Chief Earl Hamblin said he received the call about 3:45 a.m. He ran to the fire hall and when he arrived his brother, John Hamblin and another volunteer fireman were there ringing the alarm bell.

The small fire truck was quickly put into action and three hose lines connected. The fire seemed to be burning in the basement near the front at the east side in the vicinity of one of the church's three wood-fired furnaces.

Spectators said there was little sign of flames in the main part of the building until the fire suddenly burst into a mushroom of flames that seemed to engulf the whole auditorium of the church.

Fire Chief Hamblin said it was apparent from the first that there was no chance of saving it. The 12-man volunteer crew with the help of many other villagers manned the three hoses and doused the neighboring buildings that were endangered by large hot sparks being carried by a stiff east breeze.

Trio Arrested At Gun Point

NORTH BAY (CP)—Two Timmins men and a teen-aged girl, arrested Friday at gun point near Timagami, were arraigned in court here today and charged with possessing offensive weapons.

Charged with the possession of a Mauser pistol and a .32-calibre revolver were Ross McKinney, 21; Raymond Gallant, 26 and Sandra Hickey, 18, all of Timmins.

They were remanded a week without plea. Bail for the men was set at $200 and $100 for the girl.

Provincial police apprehended the trio near Timagami after a chase resulting from a tip by a hitch-hiker who grew suspicious of their talk. The guns were tossed from the car during the chase, but later recovered.

In applying for bail, defence counsel H. J. Reynolds said the guns were the property of one of the men's fathers. He said they were left in the glove compartment by the father.

Tito Sets Foot In Britain As Guard Bristles

LONDON (CP)—Marshal Tito, Red dictator of anti-Soviet Yugoslavia, arrived by ship today for important talks while great numbers of policemen, many wearing bullet-proof vests, guarded his every move.

Security precautions without parallel in peace-time Britain have been imposed for the five-day visit of the Yugoslav president, hated by pro-Russian Communists since his break with Moscow five years ago.

The arrival at Westminster pier went off without incident but as the car carrying Tito and Prime Minister Churchill swung out of Whitehall into Downing street, a magnesium flare dropped onto a crowd a few hundred yards away. It flared fiercely and sent up clouds of smoke but did no damage.

BEGAN INVESTIGATION

The incident occurred about 20 yards from the gates of Scotland Yard.

Detectives began an immediate investigation to determine who had dropped the flare and why.

The burly Yugoslav president who led his country out of the Soviet sphere in 1948 arrived by launch a few minutes before 4:30 p. m. GMT (11:30 a. m. EST) after reaching Greenwich on a Yugoslav naval training ship.

Greeting him at Westminster pier in the shadows of the Parliament buildings were the Duke of Edinburgh, Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

Atomic Power Plant Predicted For 1956

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. D. A. Misener, professor of physics at the University of Western Ontario, predicted Saturday night that the first commercial size atomic-powered plant might be ready by 1956.

He said in a lecture to the Royal Canadian Institute it would be 15 to 20 years before a substantial portion of power in the United States is generated in atomic plants.

He said that prophecies of previous speakers to the institute on atomic energy had been fulfilled in much quicker time than they had predicted.

Face 37 Charges After Wild Party

LAKE WILCOX (CP) — Nine young Toronto men face 37 charges today following a wild party here Saturday night.

Police charge the men forced their way into a home occupied by five children and a baby sitter to hold a "wild drinking party."

They are charged with being unlawfully found in a dwelling, breaking and entering, creating a disturbance, and consuming alcoholic beverages contrary to the liquor control act.

An additional charge of assault was laid against one of the group by deputy police chief James Leeder of nearby Newmarket who said he was kicked in the stomach.

The gang will be arraigned Tuesday in Newmarket court. They are being held at the Don jail in Toronto.

Lake Wilcox is 28 miles north of Toronto.

Trapped In Elevator Three Men Burned

GLASGOW (Reuters) — Three men died in an elevator jammed between floors in a blazing Glasgow upholstery factory today. A fourth was missing and a fifth seriously injured.

The five were trying to reach the fifth floor to see if any girl workers had been trapped.

Firemen could hear them shouting for help but the flames got there before help reached them.

Scientists Discredit Belief Statesmen Most Susceptible To Brain Haemorrhage

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP)—Growing public belief that statesmen and high-powered executives are more susceptible to brain haemorrhage is unfounded, in the opinion of brain specialists.

Hard, thinking, even under the pressure of modern living conditions, is not related to the type of brain disease that killed Roosevelt and Stalin. The well-muscled day laborer, the lazy loafer, men and women in all walks of life and of nearly all age classes are just as likely to fall victims.

That is the view of top-ranking neurologists, who asked to be unidentified. They discussed their views with The Canadian Press at the world-famous Montreal Neurological Institute.

Cerebral haemorrhage and related types of brain diseases are considered in many quarters as Canada's no. 3 killer—after heart disease and cancer. In 1951, there were 12,880 deaths attributed to this category, out of 125,454 deaths from all causes in Canada.

The cause of cerebral haemorrhage is not definitely known. It is generally agreed that the haemorrhage is brought on by the bursting of one or more of the brain's tiny blood vessels. But just how this bursting occurs is something neurologists have not yet determined.

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

Except in rare cases where the condition is inherited, most brain haemorrhages are caused by some other condition in the body, sometimes high blood pressure.

Is there then such a thing as wear and tear on the brain from concentrated thinking?

There is a theory that during thinking parts of the brain which are otherwise active become inhibited or inactive.

On the other hand, all the brain is continuously active among people who do little concentrated thinking on specific problems. In such persons thoughts come and go helter skelter.

In support of this theory—that thinking is good for the brain—neurologists cite the cases of many of today's statesmen who though in their 60s or 70s are still as sharp as middle-aged men. They cite the cases of university professors and scientists who are advanced in years.

On the other hand, senility is frequently noted at 50 or 60 among persons who make little use of the brain's thinking powers.

In other words, when other organs in the body hold out, thinking men are more likely to enjoy full exercise of their brain at a late age.

Farm Unions Seek 2 Price Policy

Could Produce Food For World's Hungry

OTTAWA (CP) — The three Prairie farmers unions today asked the federal government for a two-price policy to support all-out food production for the world's hungry.

They urged a divorce of domestic food prices from the lower price levels of international trade.

The request was contained in a 6,000-word brief for presentation to cabinet ministers by the Interprovincial Farm Union Council, representing farmers' unions of the three Prairie provinces. The council delegation was headed by J. L. Phelps of Saskatoon.

The brief asked that domestic food prices be based on prices the farmer pays for goods and services, and that food surpluses for export be handled separately—even on a barter basis if necessary.

"As long as there are millions of people in the world who are underfed," the brief said, "...every encouragement—even emphasis — ought to be placed on an all-out production program to bolster dwindling supplies of much-needed foodstuffs.

"However, if as a result of such a program surpluses are built up, then provision should be made that such surpluses . . .are not allowed to interfere with the prices on our home market."

TIED TO LOW PRICE

The brief particularly criticized the government order which tied domestic wheat prices to the low world price of the international wheat agreement. Under this arrangement, it said, Prairie farmers had subsidized Canadian consumers to the amount of $36 233,423 in the last two crop years.

Domestic food prices based on farmers' costs would ensure agriculture a "fair share" of the national income and ensure production of essential supplies

Export food could be sold for cash, bartered if necessary by an export-import board, or handled through an international food clearing-house.

The brief urged that a national marketing conference be called to study the two-price policy and other issues "with particular reference to livestock and dairy products."

It also asked for:

1. A federal-provincial committee to devise "some adequate plan of over-all crop insurance coverage."

2. Immediate action on the proposed South Saskatchewan river power and irrigation project.

3. Government action to keep railway freight rates "in proper proportion. Otherwise there would be no alternative other than . . to nationalize the Canadian Pacific Railway, as well as to reorganize completely the financial structure of the Canadian National Railways."

4. A national livestock marketing board, with majority representation for producers, to set domestic meat prices.

5. A farm agency to make long-term loans to help establish young farmers.

Sparks landed on the roof of the King's Hotel across the street and had to be extinguished with fire extinguishers by employees of the hotel and others who formed a watch on the roof.

The roof of the frame home of Earl Cuthbertson started to burn but it was put out by firemen before the blaze had gained too much headway.

Hastings fire chief Len Switzer and his crew responded quickly when they got a call for aid. Within 25 minutes after he received the call at 4.20 a.m., said the chief, the Hastings crew was playing water on the church.

Firemen continued to play water on the blazing inferno to the interior of the church to try to end the danger of flying sparks as quickly as possible. Although the whole interior of the church collapsed into blazing red pile in the basement the bell was left in place on its platform in the tower over the main entrance.

Even after the sky-high flames had passed their peak, a dull red glow could be seen from the fire seven miles west on Highway 7. Nearer the red glow changed to a light orange and spread out over the sky until at the edge of town, the whole sky seemed alight.

After most of the village men, women and children who had come out of their beds to see the fire had gone home part of the front wall collapsed. An inverted V-shaped section of the east wall could be seen swaying in the breeze in the daylight of Sunday. A snow fence was erected around the area to keep people away from the dangerous building.

Pastor of the church, Mr. Wright said that two of the church's furnaces had been fired up by caretaker Gordon Parker about 5.30 p.m. Saturday to warm the church for services Sunday. He said apparently the fire originated in some manner from the furnace on the east side toward the front. Five or six cords of firewood were stacked nearby for fuel.

NOTHING WAS SAVED

The young motorist who first saw the fire and spread the alarm tried to go into the church, saying that he could put out the blaze, but he was held back because it was considered to be out of hand then. Nothing was saved from the building.

Mr. Wright said some of the more valuable articles lost in the fire besides the oak furniture and pews and the organ, were two pianos, a communion table with a large brass cross set in, silk flags, 35 choir gowns worth about $300, a slide projector, hymn books, and much good furniture in Sunday School. Ten stained glass windows burst in a rapid-fire series of explosions.

The congregation is determined to build again, said Mr. Wright after reporting that his congregation Sunday morning was larger than usual. Even while the church was still burning, the minister, dressed in coveralls and a peaked cap was planning with members of the board for Sunday's services. The Rev. R. D. Duncanson, minister of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church offered the use of his church in the morning.

Mr. Wright said that the church had been evaluated just last week and it was set at $140,000. The church cost in the neighborhood of $20,000 in early 1890s. It was built of hard-faced limestone, a material impossible to get now, the minister was told.

In 1937, a fire broke out in the roof of the church and burned off the roof and did other damage in the church but was stopped in time to save most of the interior.

A new pulpit and new pews were installed and the old church furniture and the old Bible were moved down into the Sunday School for use there.

Then last year, $11,000 was spent repairing the roof.

Mr. Wright was proud of his church and his congregation.

"It was believed to be one of the finest rural churches between Toronto and Ottawa," he said with conviction.

Choice veal calves 25-30; common to medium 14-24.

Hog prices not established

Plain sheep 5-7.

WINNIPEK GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP)—Prices generally took on an easier tone in early trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange, reflecting losses on U. S. markets and lack of good commercial interest.

The international situation also was a factor in the dull trade. Buying was mostly routine.

11 a. m. grain prices:

Withdrawal Of Veto Would Be Peace Sign

WASHINGTON — (Reuters) — Russia's prime minister, Georgi Malenkov, could show in one way the sincere desire for peace he expressed in Moscow Sunday by ordering withdrawal of the Soviet veto against Canada's L. B. Pearson as secretary-general of the United Nations, the Washington Post says today.

The Post says in an editorial that the Soviet veto had blocked "the excellent choice" of Pearson, Canadian minister of external affairs and president of the UN general assembly, as a successor to Trygve Lie.

"There is some indication that the Soviet delegate may have cast his veto simply because he had not received instructions from the new master of the Kremlin.

"There remains, therefore, a chance that the veto will be withdrawn. If Premier Malenkov is sincere in the desire for peace he proclaimed Sunday in Moscow this would be one way to show it.

Two Charges Laid

Double-barrelled charges of drunk and careless driving against William Robert McFarlane, of Keene, Ontario, will be dealt with March 23 in Magistrate's Court.

The defendant asked for a week's adjournment today when he appeared before Magistrate W. Russell Philp to answer to charges laid March 16 by city police.

RAF To Conduct Air Exercise In WestGermany

HIGH WYCOMBE, England (AP) The RAF bomber command will give Communist-controlled territory a wide berth when it launches a gigantic six-day exercise over Western Germany and the continent at dusk today.

This was announced by its leader, Air Chief Marshal Sir Hugh P. Lloyd, as the air crews made ready to take off. Sir Hugh said the planes, now as always, will not go within 30 miles of the line dividing East and West Germany. They will not use the international corridor to Berlin.

This was described as a "business-as-usual" move by Sir Hugh. The plans for the operation were worked out before the recent incidents involving Communist piloted planes and British and American aircraft. Seven British fliers died when an unarmed bomber was shot down and the United States lost a jet fighter in a similar attack by Communist planes Tuesday.

Sir Hugh said the British bombers "will carry ammunition during the exercise as usual." The exercise goes by the code name "Jungle King." Explaining the name, Sir Hugh said:

"Today we live in pretty much of a human jungle, and in this jungle the bomber is king."

The exercise is designed to give the bomber command its most intensive test of waging round-the-clock atomic war.

Tito Sets Foot

Tito was in naval uniform. After the welcome he walked along the Thames embankment with the Duke of Edinburgh.

Both he and the Duke saluted, as did the guard of honor which sprang to attention as the Yugoslav national anthem was played.

NATURE UNKNOWN

Tito is here for talks with British leaders. The nature of the parley has never been disclosed and as deep a veil of secrecy surrounds the purpose of his visit as does his movements while here.

However, Tito's knowledge of the workings of Soviet communism is expected to provide background for some of the conversations, particularly in view of the recent deaths of two Soviet leaders, Joseph Stalin and Klement Gottwald.

Extreme measures have been taken to protect the Red ruler from danger. Scotland Yard Yard clamped unusual security restrictions on London's 8,000,000 to protect the black sheep of world communism from possible assassins.

Welcoming ceremonies lasted only 10 minutes. Tito smiled broadly, shook hands with the Duke of Edinburgh, Churchill and Eden before they all entered their cars and drove off behind a motorcycle escort.

Among subjects which are expected to be taken up during talks with Churchill and Eden are the matter of Trieste, relations with Italy and the Vatican, his views on the impact of Stalin's death on world affairs, and economic matters.

Also possible is the question of a formal pact of some sort—economic, political or military.

Tito will be received by the Queen and later will be her guest at luncheon.

Tito arrived for his five-day official visit aboard the training ship Galeb (Seagull), which anchored Sunday night in the Thames estuary, 35 miles down river from London. The exact time he was to come ashore had been kept secret.

SECURITY PRECAUTIONS

The greatest security precautions ever known in peacetime Britain swung into action as Tito's little grey ship moved 50 miles up the River Thames into the heart of London. Bustling river traffic came almost to a standstill as Tito transferred from his ship to the launch at Greenwich.

Hundreds of Londoners lining the river banks from Big Ben past Blackfriars bridge watched fleet blue police launches patrol the banks for suspicious onlookers.

The great Thames bridges were closed to traffic and cleared of the public as the launch passed up the river in warm sunlight. Early morning fog had delayed Tito's scheduled arrival four hours

At Westminster pier, police kept the huge crowds at least 300 yards back from the anti-Soviet but Communist leader.

Even photographers and reporters were denied the usual privileges of approaching a visiting celebrity. Police lined the route from the pier to Churchill's residence at 10 Downing street where Tito went directly after his arrival

Tito, who had not left his homeland since his 1948 break with Moscow, glanced up at the Houses of Parliament, Big Ben, and many other historic sights close to the pier. He had never before been as far west as London although he once travelled extensively through eastern Europe as a Soviet agent.

$1,000,000 FIRE — Damages were estimated at $1,000,000 when fire destroyed the huge machine shop at Halifax shipyards in an early-morning blaze. Officials said machine shops across the harbor at Dartmouth will go on double shift to make up for the loss of output in the ruined Halifax plant. The fire was discovered shortly after 2 a.m. in a hose tower at one end of the 385-foot building. More than 200 workers employed in the demolished plant will be temporarily placed in other jobs, officials said.

Credit Union Asks Rigrt For Inspection

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Credit Union League will ask the provincial government to vest it with powers of inspection and supervision of credit unions.

Delegates at the league's annual meeting Saturday passed the resolution after directors reported they had asked the government to suspend further readings on a bill which would transfer jurisdiction over credit unions from the department of agriculture to the superintendent of justice.

The board of directors said they wanted suspension so the league could study the bill and recommend amendments if necessary. A league official said the resolution is not intended to eliminate the act, but to place its administration under the league.

The Peterborough Economic Educational Association Credit Union moved a resolution disapproving of competition between the central credit department of the league and the Ontario Co-Operative Credit Society in granting facilities to credi unions. The resolution, which asked for co-operation, was referred to the board of directors for study.

Soviet Confirms

firmed the other members of Malenkov's regime named after Stalin's death and approved a sweeping government reorganization streamlining the previous 54 ministries down to 26.

This unanimous action had been certain. Malenkov was chosen prime minister, and the government reorganization launched March 6 at a joint session of the nation's three most powerful bodies —the central committee of the Communist party, the council of ministers and the praesidium of the Supreme Soviet. The most important changes were announced then.

Malenkov's nomination as prime minister was put before the delegates by Lavrenti P. Beria, new interior minister and a first deputy prime minister.

After his speech, Malenkov said the new government reorganization all was planned while Stalin was still alive.

DEPUTIES

In addition to Beria, he designated foreign minister V. M. Molotov, Defence Minister Marshal Nikolai Bulganin and Lazarus M. Kaganovich as "first deputy" prime ministers. A. I. Mikoyan, minister for foreign and internal trade, was listed as "deputy prime minister."

Earlier in the session the Soviet also approved unanimously the previous selection of Marshal Klementy Voroshilov as chairman of the praesidium of the Supreme Soviet, the Soviet Union's titular president.

Chief among the organization changes announced was the merging of the separate navy ministry into Marshal Bulganin's ministry of defence.

Malenkov also announced creation of a new ministry of culture, headed by Panteleimon K. Ponomarenko, a former member of the Communist party secretariat.

Delegates also elected Andrei Andreyev to the Supreme Soviet's prasidium, filling the place vacated by V. V. Kuznetsov, now ambassador to Peiping.

Retired Fire-Eater Once Crowned King Of Albania, Fooled Nation 2 Days

OLDENBURG, Germany — (CP)— Otto Witte, 71, a retired fire-eater and sword swallower, Sunday celebrated the anniversary of a glorious day 40 years ago when he ruled Albania just for the fun of it.

In 1913 he dressed up as a Turkish prince and hoaxed the whole nation for two days.

All the people of Albania were eagerly awaiting the arrival of Turkish Prince Halim Eddin to take over the country's reign. Witte and a friend made themselves look very Turkish and presented themselves at court.

Everybody bowed and scraped and then Witte and his friend took the salute from the guard of honor. On Mar. 16 Witte was crowned King of Albania in a ceremony at Durazzo.

The next day the real prince showed up and was put out to discover he was too late for his own crowning. Witte dug a hole in the palace garden, buried his Turkish uniform and bolted.

Cars Destroying Lakeside Lawn

A little more of the spirit of respect for the joint property of citizens would save the cost of repairing the lakeside lawn around Crescent St. if the public would avoid driving off the road to make turns at this season, Ald. A. B. Burrows, chairman of the city's parks committee, said today.

"Some residents may be a little thoughtful about this, but they say that taxi drivers, in some instances at least, are not as careful as they could be. This is not a matter of trying to place blame, but simply to request the public to avoid cutting up that fine sward between the line of pavement and the top of the riprap bank. Some people also throw on the riprap brush clipped from their premises."

Ald. Burrows said: "The city has to spend money nearly every spring clearing off the riprap and repairing the lawn. We could spend the money where it is needed in other places if some persons were a little more careful about such matters of tidyness and care of a community property that is a real asset to the Crescent St. people, and is greatly appreciated by everybody."

Gen. Simonds To Visit Korean War Zone

HANNOVER (CP)—Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of the Canadian general staff, plans to visit the Korean war zone in May.

Gen. Simonds last was there in February, 1952. Having seen the operations of the Canadian 25th brigade in winter, he now would like to see the brigade's conditions in warm, dry weather.

The CGS completed Sunday a three-week tour of North Atlantic Treaty Organization installations in Europe. He spent one week with the Canadian 27th brigade in the Hannover area of West Germany.

In Northern Norway the sun does not rise above the horizon from the middle of November until late in January.

Robbery Suspect Arrested In B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Police said Sunday they have arrested a 26-year-old Toronto man as a possible suspect in the theft of gold bullion valued at $214,000 from Toronto's Malton airport last September.

Police said the suspect is being held for investigation after he was picked up on a routine check of three men and a woman in an Ontario car on a downtown street.

Prowler officer Pat Bowe said he linked the man's name with a photograph and name he had seen at police headquarters in connection with the daring robbery.

Police said the suspect and his companions, a 21-year-old Toronto man and a young couple from Timmins, gave conflicting stories as to their presence in Vancouver.

Mimico Driver Fined On Impaired Count

A Mimico driver was fined $50 and $2.50 costs in Magistrate's Court today when he pleaded guilty to an impaired driving charge.

The charge was laid Saturday following a two-car accident on Highway No. 28 in North Monaghan township. Calvin Roy Hodsdon, the accused, was found by OPP Constable Morris Baker to have been drinking.

According to the constable's evidence, Hodsdon's car had been facing west on the highway's south lane. Both cars involved in the accident suffered extensive damage to their left sides.

Trading Busy Prices Firm On Stock Market

TORONTO (CP)—Prices continued firm in busy early afternoon stock market trading today

Volume for the first three hours totalled 3,548,000 shares — highest in two weeks.

Heaviest trader of the session was Macho River, moving more than 350,000 shares to add pennies. Tungsten and Eastern Metals made good gains in turnover of more than 200,000 shares each.

Uraniums recovered strength after an uncertain opening but New Brunswick base metals were weak. Inspiration was firm.

Papers, steels and refining oils gained in industrials while foods, banks and miscellaneous issues slipped.

SENIOR GOLDS FIRM

Senior golds held firm but juniors weakened on losses in Discovery and Broulan Reef. Holding companies gained as Prospectors Airways rose.

Higher-priced issues buoyed the base metals aided by a few good gains in other issues. United Asbestos was strong and Dominion Asbestos gained.

Amurex sparked western oils with a gain of more than $2 and Fargo traded heavily for a good gain. Leading issues and secondaries turned upward.

Strike Endangers Baby Chicks

STRATFORD (CP)—The lives of baby chicks at the Swift Canadian Company's hatchery here were at stake today as striking members of Local 307, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CCL), tightened their pickets on the building.

W. D. Sinclair, plant manager, said the chicks will die if they are not fed or removed today.

Sunday night, three hatchery employees entered the building under police escort and fed the chicks. However, pickets were firm in banning entry to the hatchery today.

The 61 members of Local 708 have been on strike since March 6 in an attempt to gain higher wages. Thursday, their spokesmen turned down an offer of a six-cent increase and 3½ months retroactive pay.

The union offered to accept the six-cent boost if the retroactive period was lengthened or accept a higher raise, between six and nine cents, without a retroactive period.

Martin Denies Report Of Free X-rays

HAMILTON (CP)—Health Minister Martin today denied reports that the federal government is planning to provide free X-rays diagnosis and treatment.

He said the rumor was "fully inaccurate."

Mr. Martin said there will be an announcement of federal government health plans made in May. Until that time, he said, he is in no position to comment.

Mr. Martin will address the Junior Chamber of Commerce here tonight.

Woman Charged With Manslaughter

TORONTO (CP)—Bernice Trobridge, 29, was charged with manslaughter last night in connection with the death of her sister-in-law after what police say was an abortion.

Police charge that Miss Trobridge, an attractive blonde, performed the operation on Mrs. Edna Trobridge, also 29, of St. Catharines, in her Yonge street apartment yesterday. They say Mrs. Trobridge died last night in the apartment.

I.O.D.E. Sponsors Meat Demonstration

NORWOOD —(ENS) —Sixty-five ladies attended the meat demonstration sponsored by the Norwood I.O.D.E. held in the Legion Hall Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Basil Tucker, regent, welcomed the ladies and introduced the demonstrator who showed two films in technicolor, "Dutch Treat" a film showing a tour through a meat plant and the processing of meat. Also "The Skyway to Mexico". A lovely meat salad plate lunch was served by the ladies in charge.

A draw was made on a cake which was won by Miss Emily Drain.

Cobourg Man Nominated OSSTA Award

COBOURG (ENS)—A. C. Hodg[illegible] active on the Collegiate Institute board, has been nominated by the Chamber of Commerce for the Lamp of Learning Award given annually by the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation to the person who, in the opinion of a panel of judges, has made an outstanding contribution to secondary school education in Ontario. The name of Mr. Hodgetts was proposed at the monthly meeting of the local Chamber of commerce council.

W. N. Bradley, who was the delegate from Cobourg Chamber of Commerce to the annual meeting of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce at Niagara Falls, reported on what went on at this meeting. He also reported on the industrial zone meeting held at Lindsay.

ATTRACT INDUSTRY

A lengthy discussion was heard on how to attract industry to Cobourg and also what was required by industry in locating in a town this size. Cobourg had practically no buildings that were suitable for new industries. The answer was to invest in the construction of suitable buildings or find people with capital who were willing to invest in buildings for industry. On motion it was decided to get prices on cement block buildings suitable for industry, containing eight, ten and twelve thousand square feet.

The Chamber of Commerce endorsed the proposal of the Rice Lake Tourist Association for early opening and closing dates on Rice Lake, namely June 20, opening date, and October 1, closing date, and also that the minimum size of pickerel be raised from 13 to 15 inches; bass from 10 to 12 inches, and lunge 32 inches.

Goodfellow Trophy For Northern Division

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS)—The Hon. William A. Goodfellow, Minister of Public Welfare for the Provinec of Ontario, and member for Northumberland, has donated a handsome travelling trophy to be awarded annually to the winner of the Northern Division of Trent Valley Hockey League. Marmora and Campbellford are thus in competition for this trophy in its first year of circulation.

Frank S. Follwell, M. P., representing Hastings South in Ottawa has made a similar donation for the Southern Division winners.

The Thomas Bata Trophy is the prize for the team taking the honors in the North-South playoffs at the season's end.

Campbellford Ice Too Soft For Tilts

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS)—The sixth and possibly the final Campbellford-Marmora TVL playoff tilt is planned for Tuesday night on artificial ice in Belleville. This game was originally scheduled for last Friday in Campbellford, but had to be postponed due to soft ice. Campbellford leads the best-of-seven series 3-2 and a win on Tuesday night is all that is needed to clinch the series for the Campbellford "Silver Streaks."

The suspension given Wilson and Simpson after the game in Marmora a week ago Friday night has been lifted and Campbellford will have the help of these two valuable players on Tuesday night.

Campbellford's OMHA midget "B" entry will journey to Collingwood Monday to open the semi-finals in that group. The first game was to have been played here Saturday night, but soft ice forced postponement of this game also.

Kingston Army Band Plays In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS)—Colonel Robert S. Harewood, Chief Secretary of the Salvation Army of Canada and Bermuda was guest speaker at a combined service held in St. John's United Church on Sunday evening. After the service, the Kingston Citadel Salvation Army Band entertained the large crowd. The band also accompanied Colonel Harewood to service in the Salvation Army Citadel on Sunday morning and Burnbrae Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon.

On Saturday night, the band presented a programme of stirring brass band music before a large crowd in the High School Auditorium.

Activity On Front

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A Peiping radio commentary Sunday charged the Allied high command is "tensing up the atmosphere" along the Kore[illegible] battle front. The Red broadcast, heard by The Associated Press in San Francisco, said new Allied troops dispositions have been made along the whole battle line.

Italian Unemployment

ROME (AP)—The government's central bureau of statistics said Sunday Italy's unemployed now total 1,300,000 and not 2,000,000 the figure generally cited since the end of the war. The bureau said 19,258,000—or 41.1 per cent—of Italy's population of 47,138,200 are employed. Of the total employed, 42 per cent work in agriculture and fishing and a third in industry.

Unusual Theatre Evening In Queen Mary Auditorium

An evening of theatre of a type unusual in Peterborough was provided by the "Y" Children's Theatre and the Blue Triangle Players in Queen Mary Auditorium on Saturday night. Two mimes and a fanciful play were presented, and the whole entertainment was marked by a joyous and spontaneous quality which was appreciated by the audience.

The first mime, by the Children's Theatre, was "The Timorous Knight." The story was declaimed by Peter Dorrington, as a Troubadour, and was acted out by a large cast representing most of the characters of King Arthur's Round Table. Wendy Outram and Margot McCombe played Arthur and his Queen with a fine air of authority, Robert Hornal was appropriately sinister as the magician Merlin, and John White was a lively Dagonet. Jennifer Davies looked romantically forlorn as the Lady Elaine, dominated by the ferocious Black Knight, Miranda Davies. Marianne Gledhill was the mysterious Dame, without whom no such tale is complete, and Judy Honey brough immense charm to the character of the Magic Dog. The Timid Knight himself was excellently done by Rosalind Ross, and her fight with John Campbell, as a horrifying Chimaera was very properly the highlight of the piece.

Much of the effect of the production was supplied by Linda Swartz, Allison Low, Judy Moore and Catherine Nott as Knights, and by Susan McKay, Marlene Harrison, Marilyn Ephgrave and Rosemary Epston as Court Ladies. Sassy Waddell and Carol King as chefs, were admirable recommendations of the royal kitchen, and as a forest of trees Sonya Donaldson, Wyn White and Mary Hardill were a Ganaraska Afforestation Project in themselves. The direction was by Irene Campbell.

"The Confutation of Wisdom," by F. Sladen Smith is a play of charming atmosphere, well developed by the Blue Triangle group. The whole cast was thoroughly at home in the fantasy, but special mention must be made of the fine repose of George Booth as an obese Ancient, and of the jaunty, genial Dragon of Lynne Littlefield. Pauline Howard was statuesque and pretty as the Spirit of Wisdom.

The second mime, "Daughter of Bluebeard" was, like "The Timorous Knight," written by John Campbell, and both exhibited a high degree of humour and literary skill. When may we expect a play from this author? Canada thirsts for original work of this quality. Don Endicott, Irene Campbell, Sonya Donaldson and George Booth, assisted by Alex Sinclair, Stewart Ross, Mary Clifford, Marion McTeague and Pauline Howard, acted out the very amusing story with fine verve, and the audience was delighted, But having caused them to act so well, Mr. Campbell should now make them speak, and get into the play himself. The Blue Triangle Players should not allow him to rest until he was provided them with a script just as funny and theatrically effective as these mimes.

The lighting for the plays was provided by John Hoit, with appropriate originality, and Bruce Freelove made the many excellent properties.

St. Mark's WA Earns $93 From Sale

BONARLAW — (ENS) — St. Mark's WA met at the home of Mrs. George Mumby.

The president, Mrs. Ward McInroy, presided and asked Canon J. M. Brownlie to open the meeting. Prayers and the Litany from the living message, followed the singing of a hymn.

Mrs. Simon Matthews read the scripture lesson. The roll call was an Easter thought.

A Diocesan board letter was read by the secretary, Mrs. W. J. Barlow, and a letter from Mrs. Naughten, Diocesan prayer partner secretary. Mrs. Jennie Wellman was appointed prayer partner secretary for this branch.

The treasurer's report showed a balance of $93.38 from the sale and a bank balance of $240.68.

Mrs. Heath reported on Dorcas work and disiributed goods to be made for the bale and asked each member to make a quilt block for the next meeting.

A chapter of the study book was read by Mrs. Brownlie.

Mrs. J. Wellman was appointed to book another sale at Ray Williams' at an early date. Mrs. William Neal was in charge of the program which included a Pat and Mike contest by Mrs. W. J. Barlow.

Mrs. McInroy closed the meeting with prayer and the hostess served a dainty lunch. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Jennie Wellman.

Congregation Honors Memory Of Rector

MARMORA (ENS) —Members of St. Paul's congregation Sunday placed flowers on the altar in memory of the late Canon C. M. Harris, Friday being the 13th anniversary of his death.

Canon Harris was the first resident Anglican clergyman in Marmora, where he spent the whole of his ministry, a period of 44 years. The eastern memorial window, depicting "The Good Shepherd," was erected in his memory.

During Sunday's Holy Communion service, the hymn "O Strength and Stay," a favorite of the late Canon Harris, was sung. Brief but fitting allusion to his long life of service was made by the rector, Canon J. M. Brownlie.

Gift Elephant

CALCUTTA (AP)—Asha, a 15-year-old cow elephant, Prime Minister Nehru's gift from India's children to Red China's children, left for Hong Kong by sea Sunday en route to Peiping. Asha is carrying a message from Nehru to Premier Chou En-lai which she has been trained to hand over in her trunk.

Two Boys Escape Clad In Pyjamas

COBOURG (ENS) — Thieves broke into Perfect's store some time Saturday night or Sunday morning and stole cigarettes, chocolate bars, two loaves of bread and some cold meat.

Entrance was gained by forcing a window in a door. Over the weekend two boys escaped from the training school here, clad only in pyjamas. Police are checking to see if there is any connection between the two escaping and the break-in.

Foundation Gives To Many Groups

TORONTO (CP)—Religious, charitable and educational groups received $1,024,665 from the Atkinson Charitable Foundation between 1950 and 1952, it was announced today in the foundation's annual report.

The report states that a further $466,741 in authorized grants made on a term basis has still to be paid, making a total of $1,491,407 in the two years that the foundation has actually been operating.

The foundation received a charter in 1942, but until 1948 its work was mostly exploratory. The federal and Ontario governments authorized full-scale operation in the late summer of 1950.

In 1952, there were 61 new grants and payments were made on 11 others authorized in previous years. Authorized grants totalled $985,851 of which $670,310 was paid in 1952. Revenue was $690,263, and operating costs were $17,488.

The foundation was founded by the late Joseph Atkinson, owner of the Toronto Daily Star. On his death in 1948, he left the Daily Star and the Star Weekly to the foundation, the profits to be used for further religious, charitable and educational projects in Ontario.

Effects Of Atomic Blast On Houses To Be Tested

ATOM BOMB SITE, Nev, (AP)—A little white house is due to take a fearful pounding Tuesday, in an atomic attack.

Fortunately, this house is in the middle of sprawling Yucca flat, atomic testing grounds.

There — as 1,000 troops and a group of 20 picked reporters crouch in foxholes—the two-storey frame-and-concrete structure will be put to a fiery atomic test.

It may or may not withstand the blast from a tower less than 1½ miles away. Another house only 3,500 feet from the tower is expected to be demolished.

It may be a "bomb" to the average man, but the test object is still a "device" to Dr. Alvin C. Graves and his fellow scientists. He said neither a shell nor a bomb is being detonated. But the device will still pack a punch equivalent to 15,000 tons of tnt.

Troops and front-line newspapermen will be dug in two miles south of the tower.

There are 19 dummies in the home—seven of them in two bomb shelters in the basement. The rest are in the living room, dining room and an upstairs bedroom.

The typical family picture is expected to be rudely shattered, but civil defence project director Harold I. Goodwin and his aides hope that the bomb shelter groups will weather the explosion.

The pressure on the front-line soldiers will push with an extra force of one pound per square inch. The heat rise will be one calorie per square centimetre, enough to give "a slight reddening of the skin—like a good sunburn, nothing more," Graves said.

A few contain dummy families.

From all this, civil defence experts may learn which is safer under A-bomb attack, a home or a car.

The AEC is conducting its usual bio-medical studies on various animals placed in bunkers as close as 400 yards to the detonation tower. These animals include dogs, pigs, monkeys, rabbits, mice.

Taking A Look At Toronto

From time to time it is well for us to take a look at our fixed notions and our prejudices. Of late all of us in Ontario have had our attention forcibly drawn toward Toronto, by its own plan for expansion into a metropolitan area, and by the way in which the favours and funds of the Ontario government are being directed toward it. And as we look at Toronto afresh we recognize more clearly than before that it is a great city, not merely by Ontario standards, but by world standards.

* * *

It is population, primarily, which makes great cities. Get enough people together in one place, and the probability is strong that there will be enough of them of superior taste and intelligence to give the settlement an individual character, and that the tax-money of all of them will be sufficient to make the d ms of the planners come true. Toronto, including its suburbs, has a population of about 1,117,000. There are perhaps twenty markedly larger cities in the world, and only five of them (including Montreal) are on this continent. As for Ontario, Hamilton with 259,000 people, Ottawa with 281,000, and Windsor, with 158,000, are its nearest rivals, and they cannot be said to be very near.

* * *

Because of its geographical situation, Toronto is considerably more important than it would be if, for instance, it were a city of comparable population in the central U.S.A. It is, for example, a mining capital, with tentacles reaching far into Northern Ontario. It is not nationally overshadowed by any vast city like London or New York; Montreal, though larger, is not so much larger that it can diminish Toronto's importance, and as Montreal is lacking in many of the important attributes of a large city it must actually be said to suffer by comparison with Toronto in many ways. We who live in provincial Ontario are apt to repeat the old joke about Toronto—that it is not really a large city, but an enormous village; we shall have to revise that judgement, even as a joke.

* * *

Merely in matter of size, Toronto must be thought of in terms of Johannesburg, Melbourne, Glasgow, Santiago, Copenhagen and Brussels. In beauty it must rank low in such a list, disputing the bottom place with Glasgow; however, strainings toward beauty are observable in Toronto though the standards of the city planners seem to be stodgy and rather vulgar. It is the acknowledged cultural centre of Canada, though its reputation in this field is built almost entirely upon its music; sensitivity of ear is not enough in a city which affronts the eye. As a shopping centre it is excellent in all the main departments, although it still lacks shops for collectors and people of strongly individual taste, and in this respect is inferior to Montreal. In business it is very strong; in speculation it is of world importance; considering its magnitude in these fields it is remarkably free of elaborate crime, for it runs more to violence and the simpler kinds of vice than to large-scale swindling. It is the publishing centre of Canada.

* * *

Toronto is a remarkable place, and we suspect that it is more remarkable than it has itself fully realized. There is about it a deceptively provincial air; it lacks dignity and calm. It comports itself, civically, with the sort of clumsiness which we might expect of some smaller American town like Pittsburgh, Cleveland or Milwaukee. But the Sleeping Beauty of Ontario shows signs of stirring in her slumber, and very shortly she may wake up to how big a city she is. In any case, it is surely time that we in the smaller centres—we are thinking of Ottawa, Hamilton and Peterborough—began to take an intelligent pride in our big city. For Toronto really is big—much bigger than Babylon in her gaudiest days.

More Money For Our Hospitals

From the large surplus which Mr. Frost's budget showed, the Ontario Government will disburse a total of $8,500,000 to hospitals as special capital grants. This money is being divided among Ontario's 194 hospitals large and small. In general, the larger hospitals will get a larger share, the smaller a smaller. Thus the Toronto General Hospital is to get $145,100, the Bancroft Red Cross Outpost hospital $2,200. But size of hospital—that is, the number of beds provided—is not the only determining factor. If it were Toronto Western Hospital would not be getting $239,100—that is, more than the larger Toronto General. The grants are being paid, as Premier Frost explained in his budget address, on this basis: $400 for each bed for which a capital grant has not been paid since April 1st, 1947, and $100 for each bed for which a grant has been paid or approved since that date.

Thus Toronto General is being paid $100 each on 1,451 beds—its total number; Toronto Western is being paid $400 each on 550 beds, $100 each on 191 beds—making a larger total grant than Toronto General will get. Thus Peterborough Civic Hospital will get less than Peterborough St. Joseph's Hospital, although the Civic is larger. St. Joseph's has a new wing, on which capital grants have already been made by the Province. There are, according to Mr. Frost's figures, 75 beds in this new wing. For these St. Joseph's will get $100 each—total $7,500. In the older part of St. Joseph's are 91 beds, according to Mr. Frost's figures. For these it will get $400 each—total $36,400. In all, St. Joseph's will get $43,900. All the beds in Peterborough Civic Hospital are put at the $100 rate, since the hospital is new, and sizable Provincial capital grants were made towards its building. The Civic has 226 beds, according to Departmental figuring. Therefore the Civic will get in all $22,600.

The reason for and basis of the grants seem fair enough. The Provincial grant for building the Civic was $242,666. Last year the Province made special grants totalling $5,750,000 to teaching hospitals (connected with medical schools), such as Kingston General, none to general hospitals such as those in Peterborough. However, the grants for operation of the hospitals were increased, and Peterborough Civic received $40,251 more than its Board budgeted for. This year's special grants for renovation, rehabilitation of facilities and equipment of $22,600 to the Civic and $43,900 to St. Joseph's will be appreciated by their Boards. The Boards will also be interested in the conditions, which Mr. Frost stated on Thursday: "It is intended that these grants be used for the rehabilitation of buildings and the acquisition of more efficient machinery and equipment in order to reduce the cost of hospital maintenance and operation. We do not, however, propose to tie the hands of hospital boards, and they will be allowed as wide a latitude as possible."

Was Someone Collecting Ambroses?

Many older Canadians will remember reading about the mysterious disappearance of Ambrose Small; many more have read about it since. Mr. Small was reputed to have been a millionaire; certainly he was a wealthy man. He liked the theatrical business, in which he was engaged. There was no discoverable cause of great unhappiness in his life, no known entanglements of any sort. There was no hint of kidnapping, other than those offered by speculative writers. Mr. Small just walked out of his office and did not come back.

A recent letter to the editor of the Brantford Expositor, from Karl Kobel of Mesa, Arizona, contains information that leads one to wonder if the disappearance of Ambrose Small was a part of some weird crime or racket of the years immediately following the First World War. Mr. Kobel relates that Blackstone the Magician was positive he had seen Mr. Small in Ciudad Juarez in Mexico—and Mr. Blackstone knew the Toronto theatrical man by sight. And Mr. Kobel then tells of three other disappearances which add an almost incredible twist to the incident.

Just across the border from Ciudad Juarez, a few years before the Blackstone identification, a well-known American author named Bierce had disappeared. An obscure Greenwich Village artist named Kress, living at the time at Nogales, Arizona, disappeared about that time. A man named Pierce, a music teacher in Santa Barbara, California, also disappeared while on a vacation to Baja, California. And the first name of each was Ambrose.

That is the stuff of mystery. Four men named Ambrose disappeared or were seen, in or near Mexico, roughly about the same period of time. Surely, if Conan Doyle were alive and writing, he could make something out of that to surpass the case of the two Garridebs or that of the League of Red-Headed Men.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A bacteriologist says that danger from germs on money is slight. Pitifully true.

An anthropologist suggests that man first had a conscience about 3,000 B.C. Too bad that useful little accessory didn't last.

Stalin's real name was Dzugashvili; Lenin's real name was Ulyanov; Trotzky was really Bronstein; Molotov was born Scriabin. But Malenkov, astounding to relate, was born Malenkov and let us hope this marks the beginning of a new era of straightforwardness in Russian dealings.

The Scots are still complaining about the Queen's title as "Elizabeth the Second," on grounds that Good Queen Bess was never Queen of Scots. For that matter, she was never Queen of Canada, either, but we are not making a fuss about it.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

A CORRESPONDENT has sent me a most interesting letter in which he raises several points. I have dealt with most of these in a letter to him, as they are not all of general interest. One of his questions, however, puzzled me for some time until I stumbled across what I consider to be right answer in comparatively recent years. I refer to the prohibition of "consecutive fifths". Here I might explain to the lay reader what this means in as untechnical words as possible.

The student of harmony or counterpoint is told at a very early stage that some things are allowable while other things are not permitted. He is almost certain to be given exercises to be worked out for voices (not piano, though the rules for voices apply to other instruments more or less). Of the prohibitions one of the most important is the ban on two vocal parts moving from one note to the other at the interval of a perfect fifth (the distance in pitch between the first and third notes of the Blue Danube). Speaking by and large consecutive fifths have been avoided by composers from the fourteenth to the end of the nineteenth century.

Naturally when composers were writing for a large number of vocal parts some relaxation in the application of this principle was countenanced, notably as regards the so-called "exposed fifths", but I will not go into this highly technical topic. But it is noteworthy that Dufay, Bach, Palestrina and Brahms, to mention only four representative figures in this long period, all avoided consecutive fifths. Admittedly there are instances of their use here and there, but this does not weaken the general rule. On the other hand the diaphonia of the ninth century was largely based on this progression and it was revived with enthusiasm later by Dvorak, Grieg, Debussy and others at the turn of the last century.

❖ ❖ ❖

I HAVE IN my time come across several explanations for this seeming-arbitrary rule, and none of them really carried conviction until, as I have stated above, I hit on what seem i to me a reasonable explanation, which, even if it does not go all the way at least is not open to any serious objections. The art of every period has its own conventions. These conventions are of course constantly changing with the times and new conventions take their place.

The mediaeval painters portrayed the saints with halos round their heads as an "outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace". The renaissance, with its spirit of humanism, brought the saints down to earth, taking away their halos and portrayed them naturalistically. The ancient Egyptians endowed their profiles with eyes seen full-face. The ancient Greek theatre respected the "three unities" of time, place and action, while the modern theatre expects the audience to accept the convention of a drawing room with its fourth wall conveniently removed for an audience of eavesdroppers.

All these conventions are valid for their own period: some of them grew out of the nature of the medium, some of them can be traced to the moral or intellectual climate of the age, the structure of society or economic conditions, while others happened more or less fortuitously and were accepted by the majority. The prohibition of consecutive fifths is an artistic convention like the rest, and it is not really necessary to think up elaborate reasons to justify it when the most important reason, namely that it was observed for a period of six hundred years, is so obviously to hand.

There is no reason to suspect that the ban on consecutive fifths is part of the immutable order of things any more than halos or the three-walled drawing room. Halos in early Egyptian art or three-walled drawing rooms in classical Greek drama would be no more incongruous than Debussy purged of consecutives.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE MUSICAL WORLD has suffered a great loss last week with the death of Serge Prokofieff. This event was somewhat overshadowed by the news of the demise of another important Russian, but it was by no means entirely neglected. Most newspapers carried a fairly full summary of Prokofieff's life and achievements. A couple of years ago I devoted the larger part of this column to a brief resume of his career in connection with his sixtieth birthday, which was celebrated by a concert of his works in Moscow, and I do not propose to go over this ground again.

Poor Prokofieff; I think he must have regretted his decision in 1933 to return to his native Russia. It is strange that this apparently confirmed cosmopolitan should have felt the need to renew contact with his native soil, for his music is a synthesis of diverse elements. He was certainly the most "Westernized" of all contemporary Soviet composers, having much in common with Stravinsky; yet like Antaeus of old, who was invincible so long as he had his feet planted on his mother earth Prokofieff came back to Russia to renew the sources of his inspiration. Little must he have realized at the time the increasing stranglehold of the all-powerful Soviet state on all forms of activity.

MUSIC HAS OFTEN flourished under autocracy, while it has often languished in democracy. One of the reasons for this in the past has been the strict censorship of literature under autocracy, leaving music as a sort of safety-valve for the hopes and fears of the oppressed people. Music was also in great demand for state occasions and the pageantry of the court.

The modern autocracy, however, in its quest for "totalitarianism", that is, the meddling of the state in every department of life, has gone far beyond the wildest dreams of the old autocracies, and is endeavouring to regulate artistic inspiration to the demands of the particular political philosophy that happens to be in power, whether it be the race theories of the Nazis or the economic theories of Karl Marx as interpreted by Lenin and Stalin.

By alternately dangling the carrot in front of the composer and applying the stick to the other end they hope to obtain music that will glorify their tyranny. Party bosses who could scarcely be trusted to distinguish between God Save the Queen and Pop Goes the Weasel issue orders on how to write symphonies, and the wretched composer, knowing that his livelihood and even his existence is at stake, knuckles under meekly. Prokofieff suffered more than most of his Russian contemporaries from this treatment. He was forced to write ignominious recantations of his deviations from the "party line" (an expression which has a more sinister 'ring' to it in Russia than in the peaceful Ontario countryside!): now he is at rest, and he will be judged by posterity, who will, I think, be kinder to him than the Commissars.

❖ ❖ ❖

THIS REGIMENTATION of music in totalitarian regimes has had very disappointing results. Russia, which was bursting with great and nearly-great composers in 1914 is now, so to speak, in a backwater. The same thing happened in Germany under the Nazi dictatorship. Heaven forbid that we should pat ourselves on the back; the position of the artist in a free democratic society is by no means ideal: but if we look at results nobody can seriously deny that it is the free world that leads in creative work, and in particular the countries that were looked down upon not so long ago by the musical snobs as being completely unmusical.

AYE, AYE, SIR

The Burden Of A Crown

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

THE QUEEN has commissioned a leading British historian, John Wheeler-Bennett, to prepare a biography of her father, the late King George VI.

It is well that such a life should be written. It will disclose how great a price, in strain and tension, King George VI had to pay, in order to serve his people as his duty required.

After the death of George V the British historian, John Gore, was commissioned to write a biography. He did his work extremely well. And what deepened respect for George V was the revelation that he did not actually possess the nervous strength or emotional composure that his role demanded.

He was constitutionally given to anxiety and worry. He found extreme difficulty in keeping his problems from haunting his mind. "King George," wrote John Gore, "was always highly strung, always his emotions were near the surface, tears came easily to his eyes and, when much moved, his voice would often fail him."

The ceaseless and inescapable round of ceremonial appearance weighed heavily upon him. Very revealing is the account in his first opening of Parliament, which he describes as "indeed a terrible ordeal, as the House was crowded in every part and I felt horribly shy and nervous . . . My voice was somewhat husky."

Nor did he become more at ease with experience. Indeed, he found it necessary to give instructions that the Speech from the Throne should always be printed in very large type, for he could never control the nervous trembling of his hands.

It was, however, characteristic of him, as John Gore showed, that he endured without complaint these physical and temperamental difficulties and habitually (and unconsciously) underemphasized his distress and his labours.

When the biography of his son, George IV, is published, people will realize far more than they have ever done what he, too, faced and endured with patience and courage, in order that he might play the role to which destiny called him.

Young Evangelist

(Fort William Times-Journal)

The mother swears she will become maturely grey if her five-year-old boy does not soon climb down to normal pursuits.

Typical of her trials was the adventure of the little lad recently, after two people had called at the house in the interests of a religious group.

The boy had evidently listened to the conversation during the call, because the next day his mother received a telephone call from a neighbor.

"I though you would like to know that your son Bobby is ringing door bells," the neighbor said. "When I opened the door, he asked 'Are you saved?'"

Weekend Education

(St. Thomas Times-Journal)

Weekend colleges offering instruction on a multitude of subjects to the general public are proving popular in Great Britain. Beginning in 1945 with one college operating on a shoe-string budget the plan has grown until now there are twenty-three throughout Britain with an annual attendance of forty thousand.

Most of these colleges are situated in old English homes which are loaned, leased or owned by local education authorities. Sometimes the regular universities offer assistance and class-room space, as well as the most outstanding lectures in many fields. The following is typical weekend fare: music, astronomy, current affairs, drama, transportation, historical and political subjects.

The idea is an excellent one and the success it has enjoyed is a true measure of the encouraging realization so many people today have of the need for never-ceasing education. A continuous process rather than a bothersome prerequisite to making a living is what true education should be. That forty thousand Britons are acting in accordance to this dictum is a heartening sign, especially since there are so many lesser important things about which a more excitable people in their predicament would be concerned.

REASONABLE

Father criticized the sermon, mother didn't like the organist and their daughter thought the choir terrible. With schoolboy instinct for fair play, the son chipped in with: "Well, I think it was a jolly good show for five cents."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Bless the Lord, O my soul. O Lord my God, thou art very great; thou art clothed with honour and majesty. Who coverest thyself with light as with a garment: who stretchest out the heavens like a curtain . . .

O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches . . .The glory of the Lord shall endure for ever: The Lord shall rejoice in his works. (Ps. 104: 1, 2, 24, 31.)

And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes. (Matt. 7:28,29.)

Letters To The Editor

BOBCAYGEON AIRSTRIP

Sir: The flying enthusiasts of this district take their hats off to the people of Bobcaygeon for the completion of the airstrip.

During talks of the past year with City Fathers it was noticed that Ottawa had stated that the Chemong Road property could be used as a small airport, and since then the Government has also convinced the same group that a large airport was prohibitive within a radius of twenty-five miles.

It is either a small airport adjacent to Peterborough or a large one for Lindsay. Thanks for your editorial and this space.

A DIRTY STORY

Sir: For the fourth spring, hip boots are needed to walk on Howden Avenue. At the present moment the C.P. Express truck is turning around because it is impossible to get through the mud even with cylinders. Just think what it is like for a 75 pounder to push a baby carriage through.

The City Engineer claims it is a waste of the taxpayers' money to do anything to this road until a permanent one is put down. The sidewalks are promised for the first of April but that isn't helping the road any. Our $156.00 is going somewhere but I still have to plough my way through.

Last summer the City put calcium on, at the end of the summer, but during June, July and August we had sand for dessert.

After one successful call to the Mayor, gravel was put down. But today the grader is out making mud pies with the sand.

Who wants to put new wheels on my $50 carriage used since Christmas? The bearings and wheels are clogged with mud and it squeaks like an antique.

We are ashamed to get on the City Bus, because we have to dress like hicks for our street, and then uptown people stare, and wonder what planet we come from.

So you Howden Avenuers, let's hear what you have to say. Do you enjoy scrubbing your floors each day? I don't. But unless we don't want to live like pigs in a sty, we have to. Ever try to sell your house?

Yours till the mud's gone,

Help . . . When Wanted

A short while ago a member of our firm received a letter from a friend of his asking for an appointment on a certain day to have a chat about the estate of his mother who had died recently. The friend was a teacher at one of the Canadian colleges and dealt with subjects which did not put him in close contact with business.

The teacher was just passing through Toronto . . . the next day he was to meet his brother who also was an executor and a beneficiary. There were quite large holdings of securities in the estate, and the teacher said that neither he nor his brother knew very much about these matters, that they would be needing help and wondered if we would mind if they called on us. Our partner wanted to know what kind of help he had in mind.

He said, "I don't exactly know; neither of us knows too much about securities . . . and neither of us has ever been an executor of an estate before."

Naturally we were willing to do everything we could and suggested that we might be helpful along these lines . . .

First, to provide a valuation of the securities in the estate as of the date of death. This valuation could be used for probate purposes. Second, when it should become necessary to raise money for succession duty purposes, we felt we could help in advising just what should be sold to provide cash, and what should be kept to fit in soundly with the diverse requirements of the beneficiaries. Third, because of our familiarity with security transfers we could tell them exactly the documents which each transfer agent would require in order to effect change of ownership on registered securities. Fourth, we could sell the securities to raise the necessary cash.

This direct, simple statement of what we could do seemed to clear the air and make our teacher feel better.

Well, that is just about the way it worked out, too. We did all the things we offered to do in exactly the steps outlined above. A good part of it to us was simple . . . routine things we are doing every day. But, when it came to advising what to sell, and what to keep . . . that was not routine. One beneficiary was our teacher, the other a medical doctor and they lived many miles apart. The positions and requirements of the teacher and the doctor were very different. We put a good deal of thought into what should be sold to raise cash and more thought on the division of the rest of the securities. Finally we came up with a suggestion which we felt best fitted the individual needs and desires of the teacher and the doctor, and on which they acted.

Most individuals who act as executors are members of the immediate family or close friends . . . usually, they have never been executors before. The unknown seems difficult and complicated. Our experience helped the teacher and his brother. To assist with estate or any other problems of investment there are experienced people in any of our offices ready to help you, too.

Bearded Ex-Clerk Most Feared Mau Mau Killer

By RONALD BATCHELOR

NYERI, Kenya (Reuters)—A 30-year-old, bearded Kikuyu with a missing middle finger on his left hand and a one-inch long thin scar scored across his left cheek bone has become the most feared Mau Mau terrorist in Kenya.

A former clerk in a dairy company here, Dedan Kimathi, alias Kimani, has assumed the role of the colony's public enemy No. 1 by the killing, or being responsible for the killing, of an estimated 52 Africans and Europeans since the declaration of the emergency last October.

For three months, the equivalent of a brigade of troops have been hunting the outlaw, believed to have his headquarters within 25 miles of the Queen's royal lodge at Sagano. So far, he has literally thumbed his nose at every attempt to root him out and kill him.

AUDACIOUS

Audacious, and cold - blooded, Dedan has inspired a dread and a respect among the Kikuyu of this Mau Mau-ridden area far beyond anything ever known in the past. His name has become a by-word for death and destruction.

According to police, Dedan, a former branch secretary of the Kenya African Union, began his Mau Mau activities long before the emergency.

He assembled a gang and settled down to a systematic plan of eliminating known "loyalists" and government sympathizers among his own tribe.

A skilled woodsman and tracker, Dedan gradually organized his small force into a guerrilla band which struck at night in the African reserves, killing, pillaging and burning.

TOP KILLER

Dedan's first big killing—and the one which placed him in the category of top Mau Mau killer—was the murder of Chief Nderi, senior Kikuyu chief of Nyeri reserve, just 24 hours after the emergency was declared last Oct. 21. Nderi was one of the three senior Kikuyu chiefs appointed by the government to rule over the 1,200,000 Kikuyus and his murder slashed the government's hold on the tribe to breaking point.

Hidden in the almost impenetrable bamboo forest, Dedan is slowly, but surely, being pinned down by government forces.

MORE RISKY

Each raid he is forced to make in search of food becomes more risky for him.

Recently, he ordered his followers to drop his real name. He has styled himself "General Russia," even going so far as to wear shoulder boards with crudely drawn insignia on them to denote his rank.

Police in his district have found and captured "despatches" from Dedan signed "General Russia" addressed to another Mau Mau gang leader operating in south Nyeri reserve. This leader is referred to by Dedan as "General China."

These "despatches" have been devoted almost entirely to bragging accounts of the two "generals" exploits. Dedan has bragged that he now commands an "army" of thousands, equipped with machine guns, grenades and even howitzers.

Pot Luck Dinner At WA Meeting

WARKWORTH (ENS). — The regular monthly meeting of the Norham WA group of St. Paul's United Church was held at the Community Centre Thursday with a pot-luck dinner. After dinner, Mrs. A. E. Harwood, president, opened the meeting. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. W. Brownson; Mrs. M. Peterson read the Parable of the Pharisee and the Publican. Mrs. Borne Evans, Sunshine convener, read several letters of thanks. It was decided to have the bazaar in the Council Chambers on April 4.

Committees were formed to preside over the linen, home baking, and miscellaneous tables, and for serving tea and lunch. It was decided to start an apron project for raising funds.

Mrs. Grant Clark, program convener, presented the following program: Reading, "Whistling is an Art" was given by Mrs. Oscar Laver, and Mrs. D. Honey gave a reading on "Thoughts on a Favorite Hymn." Mrs. Kenneth Gummer gave a reading entitled "Being An Everyday Citizen," and Mrs. Clark read a poem "Nancy."

Roseneath WMS Plans Thankoffering Meeting

ROSENEATH (ENS)—Planning their Easter thankoffering was the important item of business at the March meeting of the WMS of Roseneath United Church.

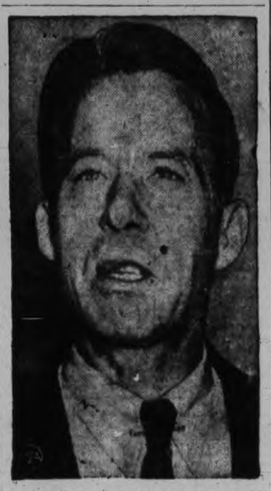
This special thankoffering meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wilbert Smith in April. Mrs. C. I. Varcoe will arrange the details with Mrs. Andrew Brown in charge of the special program.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Howard Macklin on Thursday, with the president, Mrs. J. N. Lovelace, presiding. Mrs. C. W. Varcoe was pianist.

The Community Friendship report, with Mrs. Howard Macklin as secretary, showed 23 cards, four letters sent, six calls made and two parcels given by the members during the month.

The final chapter of the study book was presented by Mrs. T. S. Coyle. Mrs. A. J. Campbell and Mrs. Delbert Brisbin were appointed a committee to represent the WMS at a community meeting in the township hall March 30. The hostess served afternoon tea.

Idea Of Brotherhood Growing—St. Laurent



OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Sunday he has noticed signs of a growing brotherhood among men of the western world.

"I see signs of fraternity and unity and a will to understand which are spreading, particularly at international meetings and conferences," he said in an address to the Ottawa council of the Knights of Columbus.

Mr. St. Laurent said he hopes the peace of the Western nations will be a strength which will "make it hazardous for any aggressor to start anything."

New Title

REGINA (CP)—Normal schools in Saskatchewan are to have a new name—"Teachers' Colleges." Education Minister Lloyd said this title is considered more acceptable among members of the teaching profession.

Native Rulers To Attend June Coronation

By SIDNEY TAYLOR

LONDON (Reuters)—Four sultans from Malaya, the queen of a coral island in the Pacific, an African king and many tribal chiefs will be among those representing Britain's scattered colonial territories at the Coronation June 2.

Side by side with richly-robed and jewelled royalties from Asia and Africa will be statesmen of many countries who sit on the executive and legislative councils of colonies which girdle the globe from Jamaica to Nigeria, Singapore to Kenya and British Honduras to Fiji.

Rubber, sugar and tea planters, Chinese and Indian business magnates, descendants of African slaves and Sarawak head hunters and representatives of aborigines all will be present at the service in Westminster Abbey.

Queen Salote Tupou of Tonga, the only woman in the Empire besides the Queen entitled to be called "Her Majesty," will bring from Captain Cook's "Friendly Isles" in the southwest Pacific the loyal wishes of 46,870 Polynesians.

The sultans of Johore, Kelantan, Perak and Selangor will represent the nine independent sovereign rulers of the federation of Malaya and 5,500,000 Malays, Chinese, Indians, Eurasians and aborigines.

The sultan of Johore, now 79 and in the 58th year of his reign, is reputed to be one of the world's richest men.

A fifth sultan will come from Lahej in the Aden protectorate on the south coast of Arabia.

The 27-year-old kabaka (king) of Buganda, Mutesa II, will represent, with Queen Damali, about 1,000,000 inhabitants of the Uganda protectorate of British East Africa.

At the Coronation will be many men who have suffered for their loyalty to the Crown.

Sir Han Hoe Lim, a member of the Singapore legislative council, was knighted for assisting the Allies during the Japanese invasion. The Japanese imprisoned him.

Two brave men in the Solomon Islands, J. A. Johnstone and J. C. Vousa, actively participated against the Japanese. Vousa was tortured in a vain effort to get information. Later, when rescued by Americans, he said: "I tell myself I do some good for my king." He was awarded the George Medal.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Not a snowball's chance of having the Memorial Community Centre built this year, but a definite start could be made on it in the way of settling on a site, getting clearance on it, obtaining the necessary authority, drafting a private bill —— if it's to be in Morrow Park— and raising more money. So that it could be ready probably for use by the winter of 1954-55. The site question, of course, has to be settled first. If all interested parties got busy on this now, before summer doldrums set in, that matter could be arranged within a reasonable time, we feel. Interested parties include the Community committee, city council, Morrow trustees, and exhibition board.

* * * * * *

But regardless of what site is finally selected, we need more money for the project. If the plans submitted by local Timber Structures Co. (at a cost of $491,600) should prove acceptible, we will need approximately $175,000 more in the kitty to pay for the place. At present, the fund comes to $247,363 with a potential credit of $75,000 on top of that to be raised by debentures when construction starts. Your total then is $322,363 while you would require $491,600, or close to half a million dollars. Meantime, bank interest comes to something like $6,500 annually. Expenses last year were nil but when action starts there will be some expenses, apart from the actual contract.

* * * * * *

How To Raise Money

Okay, so how's to raise that money? We see three methods toward that end. One is to apply for federal and provincial agricultural grants, if the building is to be in Morrow Park. If it isn't, we can't get a thin dime from either government. Second way would be to go out and seek donations from the public once more. A third way— and we rather like it— would be to raffle a "dream house" in the next year and a half. They did that and raised $200,000 toward their $1,250,000 auditorium and arena in Kitchener two years ago. They put the project over the top. Our committee could get all the information on it from the Kitchener committee.

* * * * * *

This "dream house" then was worth $48,500, having three bed rooms, two bathrooms, fine living room, kitchen-laundry combination, radiant heated, furniture, deep freeze locker, cellar jammed with frozen foods, garage complete with new car, etc. Lady volunteers for 12 service clubs sold lucky draw tickets, getting permission from the Attorney-General's Department, and these ducats went out to many cities. The mayor headed the finance committee. Tickets were a dollar each. Who wouldn't take a chance on that? They even had folks in Peterborough buying the pasteboards. There also were 25 consolation prizes worth a total of $2,000. A hot local committee could put the thing over here, we're sure.

Headin' For Scarboro

Local midget and bantam pucksters are off this e'en for Scarboro and return games in their OMHA class "A" semi-finals. Pat Doherty's Shamrocks have a four-goal lead to protect against Toronto Malboros, while Joe Rochetta's midget Aces are a goad in arrears as they face the Dukes tonight. Winners step into Ontario finals, while the losers hang up their gear for another year. Several midget clubs still in provincial competition, but the Peterborough-Toronto survivor will go against the Stratford-Galt victor in finals. A scout named Brown, from New York Rangers was at Civic for the last playoff double-header and he was inquiring of several local boys, bantam, midget and junior.

Two large pro grapplers will headline the main bout of the mat card at the Brock bump emporium this Wednesday night. One is Bobo Brazil, a tall, husky Negro with plenty of speed and a really hard head. When he bumps a rival, the latter stays bumped for some time. The other guy is Man Mountain Dean, a mammoth hunk of man, complete with beard. He's slower than Bobo but much heavier and stronger. Which should add up to an interesting struggle when they clash. Semi-final has Sammy Berg in against Don Beitleman, and it's a cinch that Montreal Sam will draw the fans' support against the rough German wrestler. Ovila Asselen meets Steve Stanlee in the prelim.

George Walton Rolls 1,149 In Tournament

George (Turk) Walton, of Peterborough, survived the first round of the Ontario five-pin bowling championship tournament in Toronto on Saturday with a total of 1149 in five games. His scores were 184, 211, 241, 245 and 268, to put him into the second round this week. The tourney winds up March 21.

Walton is representing this city and district as a regional winner, having cleaned up in the area with a high average of 251 to earn the right to compete in the CBA-sponsored competitions to declare a provincial winner for the first time in Ontario bowling history.

ROLL THIS WEEK

The competitions are continuing at the Toronto Sportsmen's Show, with the winner to get a cash prize and the Molson Trophy.

Murph Chamberlain of Ottawa tallied the best count so far at the tournament with 1,222 for five games. Dom Senese of St. Catharines was next with 1,209, Jack Wilson of Toronto having 1,165, followed by George Walton of Peterborough, and several with lesser counts than Walton.

Barons Champs Of AHL Blast Flyers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cleveland Barons won the American Hockey League championship Sunday with a home-town 6-1 victory over St. Louis Flyers. The Cleveland victory ended the challenge of the second-place Pittsburgh Hornets, last year's champions.

Eddie Olson, Cleveland left wing, picked up two assists and regained the league scoring leadership with 30 goals and 51 assists. Chuck Fielder, St. Louis centre, was held pointless, and has a total of 79. Olson has two games left while Fielder has four.

HILDEBRAND SCORES

Cleveland markers were scored by Ike Hildebrand, Steve Wochy, Ray Ceresino, Bob Chrystal, Fred Glover and Cal Stearns. Ken Hayden scored Flyers' lone goal.

It was the Barons second victory in two days over the Flyers. They defeated St. Louis 4-2 Saturday night.

Providence Reds defeated Buffalo Bisons 4-2 Sunday. Paul Larivee, Pat Egan, Al Baccari and Chuck Scherza were the Providence marksmen. Gordon Pennell scored both Buffalo goals.

In other Saturday games, Hershey Bears defeated Buffalo 5-2 and Pittsburgh won 3-1 over Providence.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

The lady curlers have announced the date of their annual banquet and meeting — Monday, April 17, at the Kawartha Club.

We expect, within the next few days, to be able to announce the date of the men's annual banquet. So when they start passing along information like that, it would appear that the curling season is rapidly coming to a close.

The next and final open bonspiel for this season is set for Wednesday, March 25. It's for the Ostrander Trophy and the first 28 rinks entered will complete the draw.

After a layoff of about 10 days, the ladies continue tomorrow with the Ostrander competition.

On Wednesday night it will be a double-header in the vice-skips' bonspiel. Consult the notice board.

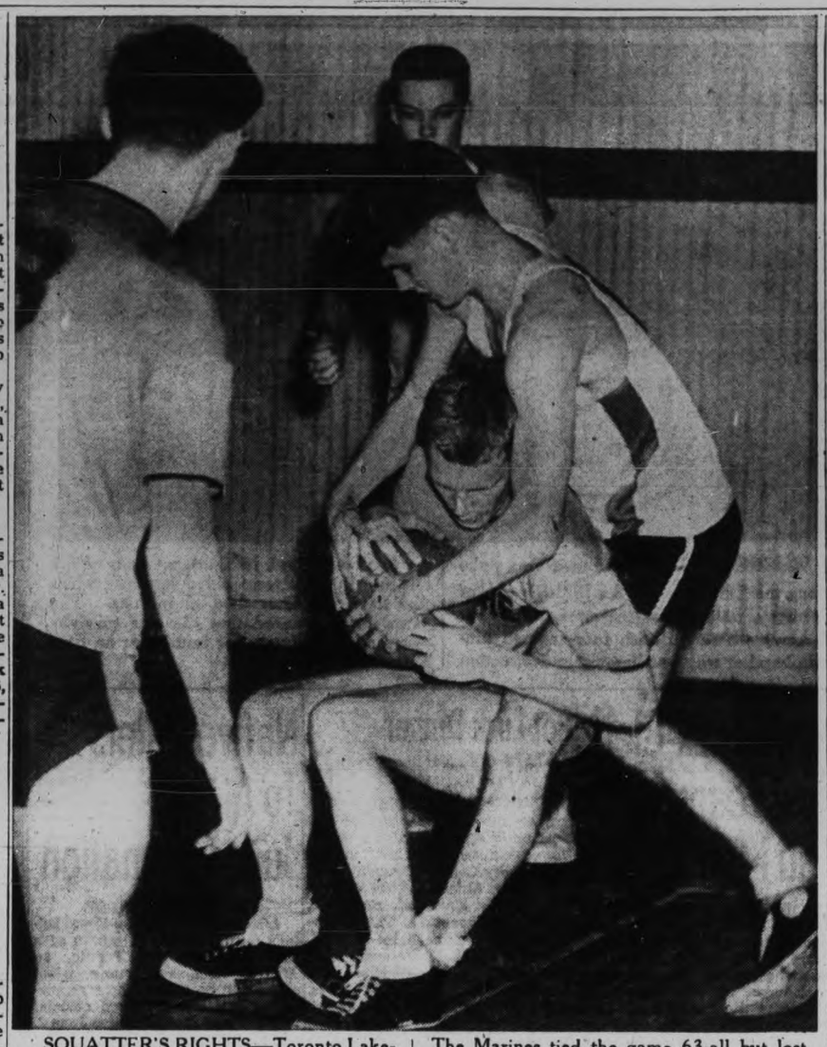
The winning skips in the men's bonspiel Saturday afternoon were: W. Harvey, H. Baptie, F. Batten and T. Ryan.

There were two rounds played Saturday evening in the Sturgeon Trophy bonspiel with the following results:

Sturgeon Trophy, main event—J. Dutton won from D. Carr; B. Harrison won from R. Downey; G. Gabel won from Dr. H. Worton; L. Reynolds won from Dr. M. McCartney; R. Johnson won from N. Hamley; O. M. Steer won from V. Brown; L. Reynolds won from G. Gabel.

Consolation event—B. Ashmore won from T. Doughty; A. Ingram won from D. Charlton; H. Hamblin won from A. Jones; D. Rankine won from B. Dench; F. Stenson won from Dr. R. Morgan; H. Dulmage won from R. Bastable.

The competition continues next Saturday evening.



Charlton-Emsley Lose Out In Finals

Two Peterborough badminton players, Ralph Charlton and Willard Elmsley, reached finals before losing out in the Whitby open invitation badminton doubles tourney last week. They finally fell to two Toronto aces, Stew Lawson and Russ McAllister (the latter is one of the Canadian senion men's doubles champion) by scores of 13-15, 15-9 and 15-11 in keen competition.

Previous to the finals, Elmsley and Charlton defeated Boyd and Jamieson of Uxbridge, then Stubbins and Kinton of Oshawa, and in semi-finals Jamieson and Gould of Uxbridge.

Ralph and Willard are rated among the stars of the Peterborough Badminton Club.

Paul Wright Teams For Badminton Title

Paul Wright of Peterborough, teamed up with Ken Smith of Oshawa to capture the men's doubles title in the junior Central Ontario badminton championship tournament in Bowmanville on Saturday. They beat D. Saul and D. Duley in the finals by 18-16, 19-15 and 15-12 after some fine, keen play.

In the first round, the pair won from Seanault and Lovemark of Port Hope, and took the semi-final from Webber and Varcoe of Bowmanville.

Mixed doubles saw N. Goddard of Bowmanville and Paul Wright win from Carole and Mustard of Port Hope, but they lost next to Laurie and Harrison of Port. M. Harrison won the men's singles first round from Wright. Paul was the only junior from Peterborough. Players from Port Hope, Bowmanville and Oshawa contested for the verious titles.

This Saturday evening the finalists of the St. Lawrence Valley district and the C.O.B.T. will meet at Market Hall. These players include some of the best players in Ontario and the matches will be well worth seeing.

Granite Rink Captures Anderson Trophy

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP)—Mrs. R. H. Smith skipped her Toronto Granite rink to victory Sunday in the fourth annual mixed bonspiel for the Anderson Trophy.

The rink which included Mr. and Mrs. F. Grant and Roy Smith, posted a perfect score of 30 in the three games won.

Each of the 30 rinks in this three-day 'spiel, which opened Friday was made up of two men and two women with a woman acting as skip.

In the final game the winning rink put down Mrs. M. F. Habart, Ottawa Glebe, 16-3. In Friday's opening round they defeated Mrs. C. A. Moyle, Hawkesbury, 17-2 and in the second round of play Saturday accounted for Mrs. C. Henninger, Smiths Falls, 22-5. No rink can count more than a plus of 10 points in any game in the competition.

In runner-up position with 24 points in three wins was Mrs. G. K. Hodges, Royal Montreal entry.

In Sunday's games Mrs. P. A. Dillingham, Prescott, defeated Mrs. Henninger, 9-8. Mrs. J. F. Saunders, Prescott, defeated Mrs. E. Shorey, Lachine, Que., 11-6. Mrs. Hodges downed Mrs. H. W. Keikle, Morrisburg, Ont., 15-6.

In second-round matches Saturday Mrs. W. Garrett, Montebello, Que., defeated Mrs. T. H. Smellie, Prescott, 15-7; Mrs. D. Curtis, Chicago, defeated Mrs. Saunders, 11-5, and Mrs. C. A. Louden, Morrisburg, downed Mrs. E. H. Wood, Ottawa Rideau, 17-7.

Nels Stewart, completing his first season with the Montreal Marcons, won the Hart Trophy for the most valuable player to his team in the NHL 27 years ago today. Stewart, who won the trophy again in 1930, set a lifetime record of 324 goals that was only recently surpassed by Maurice Richard of Montreal Canadiens.

Toronto Lakeshores Get Intermediate Series Over Outboard Marines

Spirit and drive by the youthful Toronto Lakeshores proved too much for Doug MacPherson's Marines Saturday in their intermediate "B" basketball series. Seemingly packed with a desire to win, the Lakeshores eked out a 63-all tie in the second game to win the series 126-113, by virtue of their win 63-50 in the first game. Lakeshores now advance into further Ontario playdowns as Marines bow out for another year.

Last year, youth from Queen's University crowded the Marines out of Ontario playdowns. It was quite apparent Saturday that it was youth again that was proving the difference between the clubs. Lakeshores broke quickly, backchecked as quickly, were on top of most loose balls and rebounded well.

At the same time, the older Marines relied upon their experience and played cagey from the opening whistle. But the fast pace set by Lakeshore proved too much for the Marines who also lacked bench strength, putting the pressure on seven players where Toronto had 12.

WHITTLED COUNT

Just the same, Marines gave Lakeshores many exciting moments. The first came in the opening minutes when Marines whittled the 13-point lead down to five, taking an eight-point lead in the game. Several times after that, the lead was shaved to five, but never any less.

The large gallery sensed that perhaps Marines had a chance in the last two minutes to at least tie the round. At that time Toronto was only six on the round, but they quickly made it 10 and 13, wiping out any chance for a Marine round win.

Marines went ahead 21-15 in the first quarter and still were ahead 37-32 at the half, always keeping the lead. Early in the third, the Lakesshores caught up and took a 49-45 three-quarter score. It was nip and tuck throughout the fourth.

NOT TOO HAPPY

Both quintets showed dissatisfaction over the erratic refereeing of Fred Welford and Joe Stewart, both of Peterborough. The Lakeshores, from the coach down, argued throughout the fourth on various calls, and in all received no less than four technical fouls for contempt.

The small YMCA floor and the pace set by both teams resulted in many fouls, most called and others not. Most frequent violation were body blows under the hoops; there the referees' calls were erratic.

A Stewart with a one-hand shot led Marines throughout the game, but hit his hottest streak in the first quarter. His team mates continually fed him the ball which he slipped neatly through the hoop for 23 points. The only other effective players for Marines were Bill Edger with 14 and Gord Burns with 10.

Meanwhile, the Lakeshores relied upon a more-evenly scoring distribution. Nick Dzupina and Patterson were the Toronto marks men, each with 14, while their team mates, all accurate shots, shared the other points.

Lineups—Marines (63) Northcott 9, Edgar 14, Dibben 7, Stewart 28, Burns 10, Frise, Gillespie, MacPherson.

Toronto Lakeshores (63)—M. Dzupina 4, Dzupina 14, Mills 4, Potter 4, Lytle 5, Patterson 14, Skeoch 3, McNeil 8. Dedrick, Parker 5, Fedosoff 2, Simpson.

Combines Win To Take 2-1 Edge In Jr. Playoffs

OTTAWA (CP) — Timmins-Porcupine Combines came from behind Saturday night to edge Eastview St. Charles 5-4 in the third game of their best-of-five Eastern Canada junior quarter-final playoffs.

The win gave the Northern Ontario champions a 2-1 leac in games. They won the opener 5-0 and dropped the second 5-1 The fourth game of the series will be played here tonight.

Porcupine rapped in three unanswered goals in the third period after trailing 4-2 at the end of the second period.

The turning point came after sub-goalie Frank Kobe took over from regular goalie Art Mousley when the latter took sick at the eight-minute mark of the second period. The lanky Kobe blanked the Ottawa and district champions the rest of the way.

Bruce Jones notched two goals for the winners while Paul Baleck, Graham Savord and Boby McNeil scored the others. Barry Cullen scored a pair for Eastview and Junior Presley and Ovila Benoit sniped singles.

TAKE LEAD

Baleck gave the Combines the lead at 6:50 of the first period on a faceoff pass from Merv Towers while Eastview's Ross Hudson was serving a minor penalty. A match misconduct was added when he pushed the referee in protest.

Presley evened the count 1-1 on a long waist-high drive before the period ended. Cullen gave Eastview a 3-1 lead on two fast goals within 37 seconds early in the second while Porcupine's Rick Albert was sitting out a high-sticking penalty. Benoit made it 4-1 at 7:47 before Jones put the Combines back in the game on a solo goal at 9:33. Eastview's Don McNabb and Don McDonald and the Combine's Hal Jarvis were serving penalties at the time.

Porcupine dominated the final period as Savord cut Eastview's lead to one at 5:34 and McNeil deadlocked the count at 8:38, scoring on his own rebound from in close.

Jones rifled in the winner at 15:17 on a wide-open net after Baleck faked goalie Rolie Sarault out and passed to Jones while Don Davidson was off for tripping.

Williams Triumphs In Badminton Open

TORONTO (CP)—Bob Williams of Buffalo scored a 15-11, 3-15, 15-10 victory Saturday over Dave McTaggart of Vancouver to win the men's singles final of the 20th annual Granite Club invitation badminton tournament.

Williams teamed with Bob Hardison of Niagara Falls, Ont., to win the men's doubles, defeating Grant Henry and Dick Sebbin of Toronto 8-15, 15-5, 15-11.

Mrs. Clare Lovett of Vancouver defeated her club-mate, Mrs. Joan Bardsley, 10-12, 11-15, 12-10 in the women's singles final.

Leafs On Brink Of Disaster After Push From Mackell; Tied By Last-Place Rangers

By ED SIMON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

If Conn Smythe ever suffers from bad dreams, he may spend a few summer nights contemplating the handsome features of Fleming David Mackell. To hockey-minded ladies of Boston's younger set, the vision of the 22-year-old Bruin centre might not qualify as a nightmare. But none of them runs a hockey club that Mackell knocked out of the playoffs. And if any of them had him under contract, they would be disinclined to trade him—even for a stalwart young defenceman like Jim Morrison.

Smythe's Toronto Maple Leafs aren't officially out of the National Hockey League playoffs yet. But in the space of nine seconds, Mackell transformed them from red-hot contenders into a club that needs a succession of near-miracles to make the grade.

It happened Saturday night at Maple Leaf Gardens, where Mackell plied his trade for years, first as a promising centre for St. Michael's College juniors, then as a hustling utility rightwinger for the Leafs.

About a year ago, Smythe decided Morrison had the makings of a top-notch defenceman and brought him up from a Boston farm club in exchange for Mackell.

The Bruins switched the crew-cut youngster back to centre this season and he began burning up the NHL. Also, he mentioned to a Boston reporter that he thought the Leafs would have got a lot more mileage out of him if they'd played him at centre and played him regularly.

Smythe laughed it off at the time, and kept trying to make a top-notch defenceman out of Morrison to take the curse off the deal. But he finally gave up Saturday night, benching the youngster in favor of an extra forward.

For two periods the tactics looked good. Ron Stewart gave the Leafs a 1-0 lead and it looked as if they were on the road to fourth place.

But early in the third frame, Mackell picked up a short pass from Eddie Sandford and beat goalie Harry Lumley for the tying goal. Nine seconds later he set up Sandford for another tally and the Leafs never recovered. Woody Dumart fired a third goal into an empty net in the last minute of play when Lumley had departed in favor of another attacker.

The stricken Leafs stumbled to a 1-1 tie against the last-place Rangers at New York Sunday night—Harry Watson managed to match an early goal by New York's Wally Hergesheimer — and the handwriting appeared to be on the Toronto dressing-room wall.

Meanwhile the Bruins grabbed a 2-1 victory at the expense of the second-place Montreal Canadiens and moved into a third-place tie with Chicago Black Hawks, who had grabbed a win and a tie in a home-and-home series with the first-place Detroit Red Wings. Hawks and Bruins lead Toronto by a comfortable six points

WHIP RANGERS

In a game that meant nothing in the final standings, the Canadiens formally clinched second place Saturday with a 3-2 victory over the Rangers. Maurice Richard, Dick Gamble and Elmer Lach sewed up the victory while Don Raleigh and rookie Ron Murphy countered for the losers.

Another rookie, Jerry Toppazzini, started the Bruins on another uphill climb Sunday as he fired the tying goal in the second period after Richard had given the Canadiens an early lead. Johnny Peirson salted the game away at the halfway mark of the third frame. It was Boston's eighth victory over Montreal against only three losses.

The Hawks, who hadn't won at Detroit all season, had to come from behind after Alex Delvecchio gave the Wings the lead in the opening frame. A couple of second-period tallies by Jim Peters and George Gee put Chicago in front and Jimmy McFadden made it certain five minutes before the game ended.

Both clubs were content to play defensive hockey at Chicago Sunday, ending in a scoreless tie—the ninth shutout of the year for Detroit's Terry Sawchuk and the seventh for Al Rollins of the Hawks.

No NHL action is scheduled until Wednesday night, when the Hawks get a chance to put the Leafs out of their misery at Toronto while the Bruins pay their last visit to New York.

AN IRISH TALE—Never challenge an Irish logger, says an old story that goes around the Blind River lumber camps. Bush workers tell about the time the great Dan Shanahan set out to build a record load of logs on a sleigh. Bets were made and Dan finally stacked 306 logs, cinched the wrappers and, with two teams, hauled the load more than three miles to the dump. Thousands of dollars in bets were paid off. It happened 36 years ago and this is the picture to support the story.

306 Logs Stacked On Sleigh For Record Breaking Load

BLIND RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Here's the story of the biggest load of logs that ever hit the skidway at an Algoma log dump.

A recent report claiming a record for a 175-log load rated a big laugh with veterans of the Algoma log lands who remember the fabulous Dan Shanahan.

With a picture to prove it, the old timers tell how Shanahan stacked 306 logs on a sleigh, cinched the wrappers and with two teams, hauled the load more than three miles to the dump.

The whole thing started 36 years ago when the Foley brothers crew offered to show J. J. McFadden Lumber Company loggers how to deck and load a record number of logs. The McFadden boys took up the challenge and loggers and lumbermen collected at a camp north of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., to watch the fun.

The Foleys proved formidable opponents and stacked 275 logs on one sleigh before Shanahan, McFadden's best loader, swung into action. He asked how many logs were on the skidway and found there were more than 300. "I'll load 'em all," said Dan.

Bets ran into the thousands against the stubborn Irishman. He passed the Foley's 275 mark with his load still growing and his opponents left in disgust. He finally added his third wrapper and reached his 306th log. With a double hitch the wooden pyramid started for the dump.

By noon it was at the cookhouse and everyone knocked off for lunch. After a tough three-mile haul in the afternoon, the driver jumped clear at the dump and allowed the horses to stop the load.

As it came to rest the wrappers let go with a crack and tumbling logs reduced the heavy sleigh to matchwood.

'Flu Germs Can Survive 16 Months To Strike Again

By ALTON L. BLAKESELL

CHICAGO (AP) The 'flu virus can sit around on a floor or table for 16 months and still be able to cause influenza.

Some other germs set loose by a person's sneeze or cough can live for 30 months and still pack a sickness wallop.

These are new findings from studies at the University of Chicago medical school by Dr. William Lester and associates.

Conditions must be just right for germs or viruses to survive that long, but tests show that sickness-causing germs can live much longer, on floors, clothing or other objects, than had once been thought.

This points to a new phase of the war against the spread of disease germs — ground warfare. Most people fear the aerial side of a sneeze or cough, the infection coming from breathing in germs floating in the air in tiny droplets of moisture.

But the germs which have settled down upon some surface apparently can be more dangerous if they become stirred up to float in the air again—long after the first airborne germs have died or disappeared.

Germs survive best when the relative humidity was 16 per cent or less. But even up to 35-per-cent humidity, many germs survived for many weeks.

A relative humidity of 35-per-cent or below is not unusual during winter months in many homes and buildings which have central heating.

A relative humidity of 50-per-cent is murder for many germs. They dry out slowly and salt in the water droplets poisons them. They also cannot stand changes in humidity, which affect the rate of drying.

Keep rooms at 50-per-cent relative humidity would seem to give some protection against the spread of airborne diseases. Ultraviolet lights, and chemical fogs such as triethylene glycol apparently help to kill airborne germs.

Most of the attention heretofore has been on aerial defence against germs. Now the ground defences are being buttressed to halt the spread of diseases.

One good weapon tested here, Lester reports, is orthophenylphenol, or O-syl, a germicide which is put into scrubbing water. When the water evaporates, the chemical is left behind. It is very effective, he says, in killing germs settling down upon the floor, shelves or other surfaces.

White School WI Holds International Meeting

WARKWORTH (ENS)—The White School branch of the Women's Institute met on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Edward Huycke with 14 members and 10 visitors present. Mrs. Stanley Brenton presided.

It was decided against forming a garden club for girls and also agreed that the Institute branch would not send a delegate to the Guelph conference.

Several conveners gave reports. Mrs. Clifford Skinkle reported from the auxiliary of the Campbellford hospital that blankets and pillows, also duck and goose feathers for making pillows, are needed for the new hospital. Sewing from the hospital was distributed among the members for sewing at home.

Exhibits of international articles were on display from Mexico, China, Holland, Italy, France and England. The articles included brassware, lustreware, silk handkerchiefs, shoes, linen and coins.

Mrs. Arthur Meneilley was convener for the following program: Reading, "The Federated Women's Institute of Canada" by Mrs. Owen Finlay; reading by Mrs. A. Meneilley entitled "The Lady From Pakistan."

A contest was won by Mrs. Floyd Finlay.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Earl Skinkle, Mrs. George Grills and Mrs. Ewart Huycke, served lunch.

Aid Farms

KARACHI (CP)—Work has started on a fertilizer plant for Pakistan to cost more than $20,000,000, including contributions from the United States. Pakistan has large deposits of gypsum, one of the major raw materials used to produce ammonium sulphate.

Find Spanish Cafe Noisy But Everyone Has Fun

By JEAN E. STENTON

MEXICO CITY. — A few days ago I spent "an evening in Spain," although I was actually still in Mexico. It was a most enjoyable experience and only one of the many delightful things that make eating in Mexico a pleasant adventure. Mexico is cosmopolitan and so are its restaurants.

* * * *

A Mexican friend, Senorita Georgina Torres took me to a Spanish cafe, Rincon de Goya at Toledo 41 off the Paseo de la Reforma, and at the end of the evening she told me that I had been living for a few hours exactly as I would have had I been in Goya, Spain.

* * * *

This was a small cabaret with a maximum capacity of about 50 people. Since night life in Mexico does not begin before 11 p.m. and we arrived for dinner at nine o'clock, we had plenty of opportunity to enjoy it. The waiters are all dressed in the costume of Goya—black dancing pumps, white socks, knee breeches, red velvet jackets, lace ruffled shirts and wearing on their heads something that looked like a kerchief in reverse.

* * * *

STRUCK BY THE NOISE AT FIRST

When you enter any Spanish cafe you think at first it's bedlam. But after a while you become accustomed to it and like it. There is an orchestra that plays continuously and in a small room the din is terrific. At this one there were two orchestras and when one got tired the other took over. There were singers who did Spanish and Mexican numbers on request and they were excellent.

* * * *

Since it has an intimate atmosphere everything was very informal. The orchestras wandered up and down, stopping by different tables to perform and you had a chance to get to kno and talk to them. One young man of about 18 was a brill...t guitar player. Spanish music is punctuated with a lot of hand-clapping and finger-snapping that is very rhythmic and attractive and the audience always joins in. In addition the artists do not find making music work—they love it and it's fun. They enjoy it as much as the customers. A floor show of good calibre started about 11:30 p.m.

* * * *

The food was good and we had giant shrimp done in egg (which you eat with your fingers) and a special chicken and rice dish, which was not hot. We ended up with a sweet liqueur that tasted like chocolate.

* * * *

Another of the nicest places in Mexico City is the Quid, run by Sr. J. Luis Ortega. It is one of the smartest places you will find anywhere and very popular with the international set. It not only has wonderful food, especially broiled steaks, but is noted for its original decor.

* * * *

Again, it is a small place with a maximum capacity of 74 at one time. The long lobby has an attractive pool with flowers. At the back there is a bar on one side and then the dining room. At one corner of the dining room is a glassed-in square where you can watch the cook work. Opposite is an open, walled garden with beautifully colored birds. By means of mirrors, no matter where you sit you get a fine view.

* * * *

SPECIALLY HONORED

I can vouch for the excellence of the food and the onion soup and steaks were all they were reputed to be. I was fortunate enough to be with a friend of Sr. Ortega's and he did me the honor of preparing a special dessert called Jubilee Strawberries. The preparation was truly a work of art. A metal saucepan was set over a flame and brandy and other liqueurs put in. Then the strawberries were dumped in and a little of the flame dropped in the liqueurs. As a final touch some orange was added. The the strawberry mixture was poured over ice cream. It would melt in your mouth. The whole restaurant enjoyed Sr. Ortega's artistic display.

* * * *

A young man about 41, he has made his originality pay off. He has been operating this restaurant for only two years and it is one of the most talked of and most popular places in the capital. I heard five languages spoken the day I was there.

* * * *

One of the most popular places with tourists is the House of Tiles or Sanborn's. It is a most attractive centre of sociability. Breakfasts are inspired and it is a starting point for most gastronomical explorers because it is easy to find. A waitress in a floor-length gown, a composite of several Mexican styles, brings you your order promptly and everyone speaks English.

* * * *

The House of Tiles is a fine example of Mexican Mudejar. It was built at the end of the 17th century by one of the descendants of the House of Orizaba, who according to legend, was a spendthrift. His father taunted him one day: "You are no good. You will never build a house of tiles."

* * * *

BUILT HIS HOME

His answer was this lovely building with its white and blue tile facade, sculptured stone doorway and niches. For a long time it was the home of nobility; under the Diaz dictatorship it housed the famous Jockey Club. Then two Americans bought it and had a pharmacy and restaurant known as Sanborn's. It grew and today it is a huge department store and restaurant which was recently sold to the Wallgreen chain in the U.S.

2 City Bills Before House On Thursday

One Will Confirm Annexation, Other Dissolves City Trust

Peterborough's two private bills requiring government warrant will be heard by the Private Bills committee of the Legislature on Thursday morning beginning at 10 a.m.

One of them confirms the city's annexation of a broad area of Smith township, and the other provides for the dissolution of the Peterborough City Trust Commission at the end of 1953.

Both parties have been reported from time to time. The Smith annexation has been developing for the last two years, and buildings are already constructed in one section of the new northern front of the city.

CHANGE IN FINANCING

The special service of the City Trust to Peterborough over something like a century is terminating as an effect of the change in financing the city's debentures, that is from the sinking fund plan to the serial form that has been in practice for some considerable period.

The Trust received annually from the city treasury sums sufficient to pay off the interest that was due on debentures and also the amount which had to be paid each year into the sinking fund to retire the principle at the end of the period for which the debentures were issued.

Interest from the sinking fund provided the Trust with monies that helped the city council through many a difficulty during all the years since the Trust was set up.

Serial debentures provide for annual payment of both principal and interest to the people who lend Peterborough their money for various municipal needs and purposes. So, there is no accumulation of fund. The annual payments are now made through the treasury office. Only some old debentures remain in the Trust's care, and it has been decided by the council that with the end of 1953 the Trust could be properly and safely dispensed with.

175 Veterans Of Rangers Attend Reunion

Between 150 and 175 veterans of the Prince of Wales Rangers' first battalion were in Peterborough Saturday and Sunday for the unit's second post-war reunion.

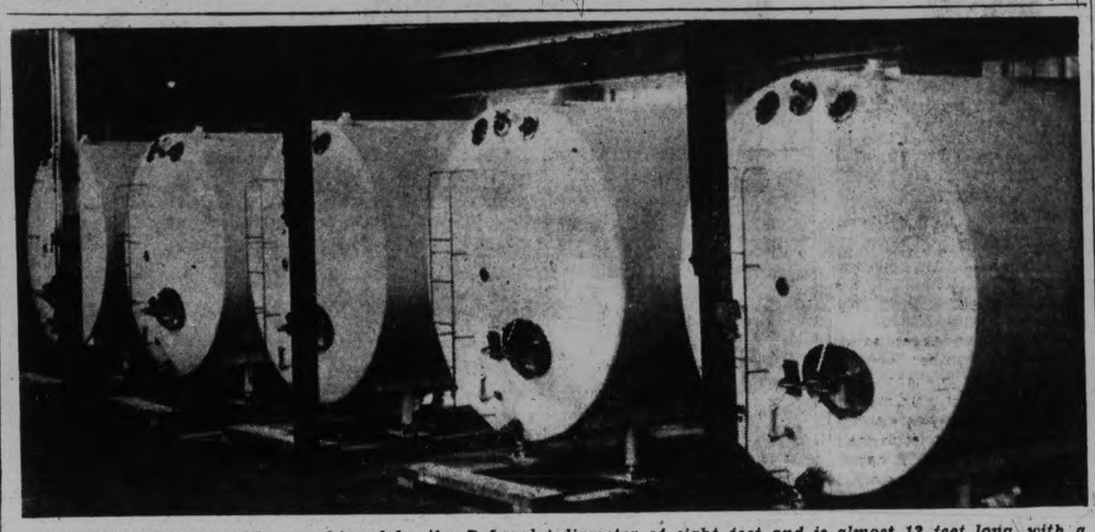
Members of the battalion came from as far away as London and Ottawa to attend the gathering. Featured was a banquet Sunday afternoon in Canadian Legion Branch 52 clubrooms.

Colonel J. A. Dewart, the regiment's original commanding officer, spoke briefly at the banquet. He congratulated the reunion committee headed by President Geddes Harper for its successful efforts, and welcomed Peterborough visitors on behalf of the city.

Also present at the dinner were Colonel R. J. Bolton and Major Robert Allin, subsequent regiment CO's.

Specially honored Sunday afternoon were five veterans of the Prince of Wales Rangers who had travelled furthest to attend the reunion. They were Bill Ford of London, Tom Lockhart of Ottawa, Clarence Lewis of Odessa, Arnold Mueilli of Thorold and Ken Pye of New Toronto.

Proceeds of a ham raffle Saturday night amounting to $18 will be turned over to the European Flood Relief Fund, the committee president announced. In addition, the group will attempt to raise the total donation to $50 with the aid of individual contributions. The ham was donated by Lionel Brown, local manager of Canada Packers, for the occasion.



Members of the regiment association will meet in the near future to decide on a slate of officers. Present officers are president Geddes Harper, secretary Les Reid and treasurer Watson Butcher.

Indian Saves 6,350 Coppers

ROSENEATH (ENS) —Robert Marsden, Sr., who recently moved back home to Alderville, after spending upwards of 40 years on Christian Island, brought a wooden box filled with coppers, weighing 46½ pounds. The other day he rolled the coppers up and took them to the bank. The box contained 6,350.

Mr. Marsden explained they were the surplus coppers he had accumulated in his store and post office during the past few years. He had never bothered to take them to the bank, as their nearest bank was at Penetang, 18 miles from Christian Island.

Mr. Marsden has erected a new service station and store at Alderville.

LARGEST EQUIPMENT ever shipped by the DeLaval Co. Ltd., these five horizontal milk storage tanks have been sent to Central Creameries in Prince Edward Island to be used in the manufacture of powdered milk. Each one has a diameter of eight feet and is almost 12 feet long, with a capacity for 30,000 pounds of milk. There was barely enough clearance to get three of them on to an automobile railway car. —(Roy Studio Photo)

City Will Test New Method Refuse Disposal

The landfill method of disposal of city refuse and garbage will probably be begun on the property in North Monaghan that is used now as a dumping ground, by agreement with the township authorities.

The sanitation committee of the council has been approaching this changing problem of refuse disposal, Ald. W. J. Beggs, chairman said today.

Bulldozer tenders have been received, but before any purchase is made the committee is obtaining the advice of R. A. Blyth whose work as contractor has given him a broad experience with these big machines.

"By reducing the level of the dump area about five feet, an idea which our committee has been discussing, we think we would have ground for about two years of the landfill system," Ald. Beggs said.

REPAIRS COSTLY

This question of landfill which means daily dumping and covering of city refuse, including garbage, has been thrust on the council by estimated repairs required at the incinerator on Townsend Street.

"Our committee feels that although this method of disposal has worked out satisfactorily in other cities, we should test and prove it ourselves," Ald. Beggs said. "That is one reason why we have the dump property in mind. It is our thinking, too, that as the landfill comes into use, we will not deliver any more garbage to the incinerator."

OVERTAXING CAPACITY

Ald. Beggs remarked that the switch to the landfill method has been forced on the attention of the council by the overtaxing of the capacity of the incinerator and the estimated costs of repairs that would have to be done.

"It is a matter of economy," the chairman said, "and the council authorized the committee 'to go into details and submit a report. The prospect is that the city eventually will discontinue use of the incinerator, but so far we have nothing definite to report yet on that detail."

Ship Milk Storage Tanks To Prince Edward Island

Shipment of five horizontal milk storage tanks, constituting the largest pieces of equipment ever supplied by the DeLaval Co. Ltd., has been made to Central Creameries of Prince Edward Island. Each of the cylindrical tanks has a diameter of eight feet and is almost 12 feet long with a capacity for 30,000 pounds of milk.

Four of the tanks have gone to Central Creameries' Charlottetown plant and one to Somerside. A 10,000-pound tank has been ordered by the same company for its plant at Souris.

The tanks are designed for the storage of milk, skim milk and other dairy products at controlled temperature before processing. They are lined with heavy 12-gauge stainless steel with two inches of cork insulation between the lining and the outer jacket of 10-gauge mild steel. They are the first such tanks made in Peterborough.

They are designed to store whole milk which is weighed and cooled before being pumped into the tanks from which it is sprayed on to evaporators for making powdered milk, as ordinary milk processing is not fast enough to supply evaporators.

With the increase in the production of dried milk brought about by expanding consumer demand, the need for equipment of this type has been growing steadily, De Laval Co. officials say.

Because of their unusual size, the tanks could not be crated for shipment and there was barely enough clearance on each automobile railway car to accommodate three of the tanks.

Chief Engineer Jim Frisken and Bob Lauchlin, foreman of De Laval's sheet metal shop, supervised production of the equipment.

Bette Davis To Have Operation On Jaw

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Bette Davis is scheduled to have a section of her jawbone removed in an operation today. Paul W. Benson, her personal press representative, said she is suffering severe chronic osteomyelitis of the jawbone. She has been at the hospital for more than a week. Miss Davis frequently was ill during the recently-concluded run of "Two's Company," Broadway musical in which she starred.

2 Women Die When Cars Hit Transport

OSHAWA (CP)—Police identified as Mrs. Reta Brown, 51, the second of two persons killed when two automobiles smashed into the rear of an unloaded car transport early today.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Robert Brown, 53, owner of the Oshawa Box and Lumber Company, who suffered facial injuries and possible concussion. His daughter Jean suffered face cuts and shock.

Alex Todosey, 29, was killed a few minutes earlier when the top of his car was sheared off by the impact with the transport.

Drivers Stage Treasure Hunt

Something new in the way of weekend driving was held on Sunday when several cars particiapted in a country-wide treasure hunt sponsored by the Peterborough Motor Sports Club. Following several hours of driving, directed by clue-hunting, Jack Worral and Chris Kallay were awarded first prize and Ray Titshall second.

Organizers R. L. McGee and J. Edmondson posted directive clues over a route that led drivers through South Monaghan, Bewdley, Welcome, Garden Hill, Millbrook, Ida and return to Peterborough. Some drivers wound up in Gore's Landing, Cavan and other parts. Contestant Dennis Williamson had blowouts in both a rear tire and spare tire.

On Good Friday and Easter Saturday, April 3 and 4, the club will hold a substantial road driving completition and will be governed primarily by provincial speed law rulings. The proposed course will take the drivers east to Kaladar, north to Barry's Bay and south to Peterborough, the starting point.

Outdoor Picture By Lyle Glover

One of the stories in Maclean's magazine this week is illustrated by Lyle Glover of Willowdale, Toronto, formerly of Peterborough.

It is an outdoor picture alive with action that is strikingly and cleverly portrayed. Mr. Glover is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Glover, 614 Reid St. He is a graduate of Peterborough Collegiate, was art director with Odeon Theatre, Toronto, and is now with United Artists.

It used to be told of him among his friends of teenage years that he used to exasperate the late Dr. H. R. H. Kenner by his preoccupation with freehand drawing while attending subjects in the academic schedule.

It is also told of him that as a choir boy at St. John's Church one morning during the sermon he drew a sketch of the rector, Rev. Dr. Blagrave which was so faithfully resemblant that the choirmaster, Mr. Fred Mann, has kept it as evidence and promise of a boy's talent.

Winter Weather Delaying Pierce Survey

Freakish winter weather in Algoma district has hampered the progress of cutting an aerial control mapping survey line, a project of the Department of Lands and Forests. Under the leadership of Peterborough surveyor John Pierce, O. L. S., some 40 miles of line have been cut and it is hoped that the party will be able to reach their destination, the Albany River, by the end of March.

The first cause of delayed action was a late freeze-up in that section of the province. When the weather finally turned to normal winter there was a heavy snowfall that caused treacherous slush conditions on lakes and rivers on the line of survey. The use of skiplanes to land supplies and move men was often impossible. It also made it very difficult for the experimental pack tractors to operate. Forest growth has been found more dense to cut through than was anticipated and the deep snow impeded progress further.

The survey parties have been often forced to walk seven miles back and forth from work to base camps. The original cook, always the key man in isolated camps, quit. He was Joseph de Foy of Peterborough.

Conditions improved by March 3 and the department engaged a helicopter to act as a shuttle aircraft. After experiencing just about all the types of winter obstacles in the book, suveyor Pierce hopes that the job will continue normally and that his party will be able to hack their way through to the Albany River intersection before break-up starts. Mr. Pierce's picketmen, Lorne Youmans, is also from Peterborough.

Moving Not A Big Problem

Moving with its packing, handling and misplacing is never pleasant, though well worth the discomfort if you are getting into a better place.

If you are particular about your belongings you can move them yourself by renting a truck from Hertz Drivurself and Call-A-Cab for only $1.00 an hour or $7.00 a day, plus 10 cents a mile. That is really combining satisfaction with economy. (Advt.)

Division Chairmen Campaign Fund Not Too Optimistic

Pessimism is spreading through workers in the Red Cross and Community Fund Campaign. Fund and division heads aren't too happy about results so far.

Today the total collected is $56,980—still a long way from the $95,000 objective and there are only two days remaining before the campaign's closing dinner, Wednesday.

"It's going to be touch-and-go whether or not the objective is reached," Alex L. Elliott, chairman of the fund's board of directors said today. "If we are going to make it, it's going to take every effort of every canvasser."

CORRECT TOTALS

Mr. Elliott also denied rumours circulating in the city that true information concerning totals is being withheld from the fund office.

"These rumours are positively without foundation" he said. "These figures that are released every day are a true picture of collection."

Two of the four division heads contacted today share Mr. Elliott's feeling that it's going to be a hard job to hit the objective. And only one division head, Mrs. J. E. Watters of the Women's Division, thought that her division's work would be finished by the closing dinner.

A WEEK TO CLEAN UP

Russ Baer, chairman of the Industrial Division, said that it would be a week after the closing dinner before his division would be through. He also was worried about the outcome.

"The majority of industries have been very good," Mr. Baer said. "Some industries have not only reached their objective, but have gone well over the top. However, there have been some important cases where we have been terribly disappointed in results. These few cases may mean the difference that will keep this division from making its objective."

OBTAIN OBJECTIVE

Mr. Baer quoted the following industries as having reached

HEARD ROBIN'S SONG

City Clerk Outram reported today that a robin was lilting in a tree at his home as he was leaving for the City Hall. He not only heard it, but also saw it. Several other robins were reported today in other parts of the city.

PASS COURSE

WO 2 G. A. Nokes, Sgt. R. S. Bonneville, Bdrs. J. Bolderson, G. F. Clark, R. J. MacGibbon and G. W. Gilders passed the senior NCO qualifying course (part one) held recently at the armouries. All are members of the 50th HAA Regiment.

SERGEANTS' MESS DINNER

Annual dinner of the Sergeants' Mess of the 50th H. A. A. Regiment will be held on March 27 at the Aromuries at 6:30 p.m. A guest speaker has not been chosen yet. It is expected that 150 members will attend.

TO INSPECT REGIMENT

Annual inspections of the 50th HAA Regiment and the 28th Technical Squadron, Peterborough's reserve army units, will be held May 5. The inspecting officer will be Brig. M. S. Dunn, OBE, D, commander of the Eastern Ontario area.

RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

Major H. R. Hammell, second-in-Command of the 50th HAA Regiment, presented last week Grade's certificates to bandsmen W. R. Buckwell, L. Murphy, J. W. Thirnbeck, G. A. Hatton, O. H. Johnston and R. P. Robinson, all members of the regiment band. These are the first gunners in the band to be entitled to trade's pay.

TAKE COURSE

A senior NCO course (part two, RCEME) was started on the weekend for 11 members of the 28th Technical Squadron. It will be conducted for the next two weekends, Saturday and Sunday, by Lt. W. D. Alexander, Staff-Sgt. Cyril Morehen and Sgt. George Watson, I and A cadre, Central Command, Toronto.

WEEKEND RAIL TRIPPERS

Some 60 members of the Peterborough Figure Skating Club went to Toronto on Saturday along with 400 members of Canadian General Electric Men's Bowling League. The bowlers took part in the inter-works tournament; following this they attended the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show. Next Saturday a large number of members of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Athletic Society plan to attend the show.

A MEAN THIEF

His sister had bought a small brother a station for his electric railway which Santa Claus had bought him last Christmas. The track and its train, plus other accessories of the playtime transport system were recently packed out on the verandah while household changes were being made. This morning when the boy sought them, they were missing. Somebody had taken the train and coaches, but had left the track and its electric generator. Imagine the depth of disappointment of the youngster in the discovery that some one had stolen his treasure.

Easter Music

A short program of music and poetry, suitable to Easter, will be given by THE COVENTRY SINGERS, with readings by ROBERTSON DAVIES, on Tuesday evening, of Holy Week, March 31, in the PUBLIC LIBRARY AUDITORIUM. The public is invited.

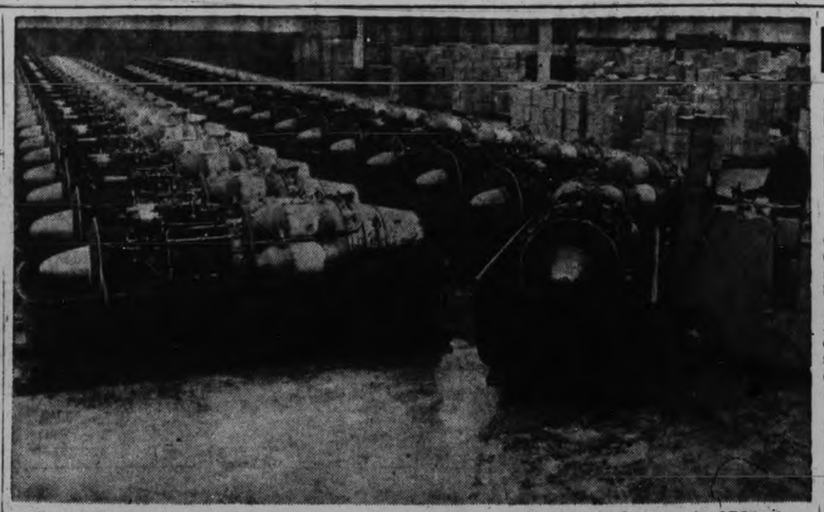
Canadian Writers Losing Self Consciousness In Work

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian writers have broken the bounds of their frontier self-consciousness, in the view of Frances Shelley Wees, Toronto writer of popular fiction, who introduced five Canadian authors over a CBC national network Saturday. "We have stopped hiding behind the woodshed door and come right into the parlor," Mrs. Wees said. It was up to readers to demand a true report of themselves from their writers.

Others on the program, a feature of Book Week in Canada, were Thomas H. Raddall, Nova Scotia novelist; Ethel Wilson, Vancouver fiction writer; Yves Theriault, novelist, critic and dramatist of Montreal; F. W. Rowe, Newfoundland minister of mines and resources; and Dr. W. G. Hardy, University of Alberta president.



Mr. Raddall said that, although Canadian writers must seek markets beyond their own country it was natural that any writer should hanker to be read by his own people. The greatest honor an author could have was to be read.

READ TO CHILDREN

Mrs. Wilson urged reading to children in the evenings. "Children brought up in homes where there are plenty of books are being given an investment in a lasting kind of happiness. . . In these families Canada is promised an increasingly literate and understanding generation."

BACKACHE May be Warning

Backache is often caused by lazy kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest or that tired-out and heavy-headed feeling may soon follow. That's the time to take Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Then you feel better—sleep better—work better. Get Dodd's Kidney Pills now. ad

MUSCLES FOR JETS — There is the equivalent of enough power on the floor of this Toronto plant to propel eight liners of the size of the Queen Mary or 80 locomotives. Each of these 45 jet engines, part of a month's output at A. V. Roe Canada, in Toronto's suburban Malton, develops 6,500 pounds thrust or better. At 375 miles an hour, this is the equivalent of 6,500 horsepower. At 600 miles an hour it rises to 10,000 horsepower. The Canadian-designed Orenda turbo-jet powers Avro Canada's twin-jet CF-100 fighter and soon will be installed in the F-86 Sabres being made at a Montreal plant.

Radio Censorship Growing Professor Warns

TORONTO (CP)—Censorship in Canadian radio will increase, Marcus Long, professor of philosophy at the University of Toronto, said Saturday.

In an address to the St. Patrick's Protestant Benevolent Society banquet, Irish-born Professor Long said: "Catholic puritanism has crushed the native genius of the Irish people."

He said there were signs which pointed to the growth of a similar trend in Canada.

A wave of protest was evoked by a recent series of talks presented by the CBC, he said. The speakers included Bertrand Russll, Fred Hoyle and Brock Chisholm.

The CBC had received letters from persons whose religious sensibilities had been injured, he said, and as a result a negative form of censorship had been imposed. Those three speakers will never again be allowed to air their views on the CBC, he predicted.

Forget Attempts To Woo Arabs, Westerners Urged

TORONTO (CP)—Joseph Nevo, Israeli consul-general in Canada, said Saturday it would be an act of moral bankruptcy and political miscalculation for the Western powers to compete with Soviet Russia in courting Arab favor by an appeasement policy at the expense of Israel.

He told an emergency meeting of the national conference for Israel and Jewish rehabilitation that "it is right and natural" for Israel to demand from the Western democracies the same principles they applied in supporting the democratic people in Europe and Asia in their struggle for freedom.

He referred to Russia's new policy of hostility against Israel and said seldom in the long history of the Jewish people "have we faced a greater danger to our survival."

Uphold Indian Hunters

REGINA (CP)—The Saskatchewan court of appeal has declared invalid those sections of the Saskatchewan Game Act which restrict the hunting rights of Indians. The court ruled Friday on an appeal brought by Thomas Strongquill of the Keeseekoose Indian reserve. Strongquill last December was convicted and fined $150 at Pelly, Sask., for killing a moose out of season in a forest reserve and fur conservation area.

Parents! what do you mean by "PROTECTION"?

. . . from HARM?
. . . from FEAR?
. . . from WANT?

THERE IS ANOTHER VITAL PROTECTION . . . IT IS FINANCIAL

Parents give their utmost to see that their children are protected from unhappiness in all its forms. But they often overlook the fact that someday children will no longer be little tots, but will be grown up and have to fend for themselves.

Wise parents know that Financial support is necessary for first-class education—or a start in business. That is why so many parents make sure of the later-year needs by investing in a Junior Security Policy with Dominion Life—while their children are little tots.

The "Baby" Premium is approximately a Dollar a Week. When "Junior" reaches college age there is a fund ready for his education. When he reaches "21" he will have the Financial backing of a substantial sum in Life Insurance ($5000)—and he can carry on the Policy at the same amazingly low Premium rate.

Two Oscars Go To Film Men Posthumously

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Things you may not know about Academy awards:

When the 1952 Oscars are handed out at the Pantages theatre Thursday night, two of them may go to film creators who have died. They are Gordon Hollingshead, short subjects producer, and Gile Steele, costume designer.

The first posthumous Oscar in Academy history was awarded Sidney Howard, who died before the great success of "Gone With the Wind." He wrote the screenplay.

Walt Disney is the top Oscar winner. He has drawn 13 of the statuettes for his short subjects, plus three special awards and one Irving Thalberg award for consistent production.

CONSIDERED BEST

Many film historians consider Charlie Chaplin and Greta Garbo the screen's greatest artists. But neither has won an Oscar for acting.

Garbo was nominated three times — "Anna Christie," 1929; "Camille," 1937; "Ninotchka," 1939. Chaplin got the nod twice, for "The Circus," 1927, and "The Great Dictator," 1940.

Chaplin's only award was a special one for "versatility and genius in writing, acting, directing and producing 'The Circus.'"

John Barrymore was never nominated for an Oscar. However, the rest of the Barrymores are represented. Lionel snagged the prize in 1930 for "A Free Soul", and Ethel won the supporting award for "None But the Lonely Heart" in 1944.

FOR DIRECTION

Lionel was also nominated for his direction of "Madame X" in 1928.

Two-time star winners are Spencer Tracy, Bette Davis, Luise Rainer, Olivia Dehavilland, Fredric March and Vivien Leigh. Miss Rainer is the only star who has won twice in a row—"The Great Ziegfeld," 1935, "The Good Earth" 1936.

Walter Brennan has taken three Oscars as a supporting actor—in 193, 1938 and 1940. He is the only supporting player who has repeated.

Bette Davis holds top honors in the number of nominations for a player. She has had nine—winning for "Dangerous" and "Jezebel."

Montreal-born Norma Shearer is runner-up for nominations. She has been up six times, winning 1930 with "The Divorcee."

Hunt Missing Woman

KITCHENER (CP)—Ontario provincial police have started a search for Mrs. G. McGuire, 29, of Kitchener, missing from her home since March 9. Police said she is suffering from a nervous condition.

Publisher-Editor Dies

TORONTO (CP)—George Arthur Gazley, 54, publisher and editor of the Canadian Labor Press, published in Montreal, died in hospital here Sunday. Mr. Gazley, who had been active in the Ontario Progressive Conservative Association, suffered a stroke Friday.

Boy, 12, Prevents Cottages Burning

BELLE EWART (CP)—Freddy Strong, 12, was credited today with preventing what might have been one of the most disastrous fires in this area in more than a year.

Freddy noticed flames leaping from a cottage at nearby Belle Aire Beach and warned the fire department. Within 20 minutes the Innisfil township volunteer fire brigade was on the scene.

Firemen found two cottages burning and another was scorched before they could extinguish the blaze. Total damage was estimated at $10,000.

Belle Ewart is 10 miles southeast of Barrie.

Assumption Gets Independence

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Separation of Assumption College from the University of Western Ontario London, will be completed late this year, Very Rev. E. C. LeBel, president, said Saturday.

The Assumption College Bill, which granted the College independent university powers to establish new departments and to grant its own university degrees, was given final reading in the Ontario legislature Friday.

Assumption now is affiliated with Western, through which it grants its degrees. Last bachelor of arts degrees to be awarded Assumption graduates by Western will be conferred this spring, Father LeBel said.

Keep Welfare At Local Level

SUDBURY (CP)—Welfare Minister Goodfellow of Ontario Saturday said he favors keeping a certain amount of welfare work on a municipal level.

In a talk to the Sudbury district municipal association, he said the province must have strong, locally-administered welfare units, because they are better acquainted with community needs and taxpayers' feelings.

The association rejected a motion asking the province to pay all costs of relief, child welfare and caring for indigent patients in Ontario.

Mr. Goodfellow said unconditional grants to municipalities, effective in 1954, will permit local bodies to spend as they see fit, with no strings attached.

State Becoming All-Powerful, Meighen

TORONTO (CP)—Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Conservative prime minister of Canada, said Saturday "the state in Canada has grown to all-powerful, mastodotic proportions."

Mr. Meighen made the statement in thanking Professor Marcus Long guest speaker at a banquet of the St. Patrick's Protestant Benevolent Society.

"If there is one peril worse than the Kremlin today," Mr. Meighen said, "it is the increasing ascendency of power of the state over the individual in this country."

Russia Expected Finland's Best Customer

By THOMAS HARRIS

HELSINKI (Reuters) — Russia probably will become Finland's best customer this year under a new trade agreement concluded in Moscow, but the big question is —will she pay?

Many firms fear that Finland's exports to Russia may exceed her imports and that she will pile up an uncollectable payments surplus behind the Iron Curtain.

This would mean the Finns had been led into exporting large amounts of goods to the Soviet Union free of charge, placing Finns in the same position as the Iron Curtain satellites which Russia is already "milking" in this fashion.

One feature of the trade agreement is that Poland and Czechoslovakia are to make deliveries of goods to Finland in repayment for the goods she sends Russia and Russia supposedly would repay the Czechs and the Poles.

NEW PACT

Under the new Finno-Russian agreement, the Soviet Union has undertaken to buy 35,000,000,000 marks (about $148,000,000) worth of Finnish goods. They include prefabricated houses and other wood industry products, ships, cables, factory plant and other machinery.

Last year, Russia imported only 27,400,000,000 marks (about $127,000,000) worth of goods from Finland. Finland's best customer was Britain, who bought 47,200,000,000 marks (about $159,600,000) worth of goods.

The Finns fear they will not be able to sell so much to Britain this year and that Russia will replace it as their best market.

Russia sends Finland indispensable primary products like grain and fuel and takes from it manufactured products such as cables and ships.

The great advantage of the new agreement—if it works—is that it insures Finland an adequate supply of foodstuffs and raw materials which otherwise would have to be bought from the West, partly with scarce dollars.

It also gives them an outlet for the production of their former reparations industries, built expressly to fulfil Russia's demands for war reparations to the value of $300,000,000 at pre-war prices.

When the last reparations were delivered last year, Finland was left with new industries and no markets for their output because its prices were too high for the free markets of the West.

Porter To Get Award

TORONTO (CP)—Attorney-General Dana Porter will be awarded the Canadian B'rith Humanitarian Award at the 29th annual conference of the Eastern Canadian Council of B'Nai B'Rith at London, Ont., April 18-20. The award is presented annually to a Canadian making an outstanding contribution to Canadian unity and human relations.

Injury At Plant Fatal

HAMILTON (CP)—Edward Dunn 54, injured last week at the Steel Company of Canada plant where he was employed, died Saturday. He suffered severe chest and internal injuries when crushed between two transportation buggies.

Two-Alarm Fire

MONTREAL (CP)—A two-alarm fire Sunday caused damage estimated at $50,000 to the east-end storage plant of Eastern Rice Co., Inc., situated in the old Canadian Pacific Railway Company Hochelaga yards. No one was injured.

Former Principal Dies In Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. William H. Rutherford, former principal of Central Technical School, Toronto, and a teacher in Ontario schools for 37 years, died Sunday. He retired in 1939 and served as principal of air force classes in Hamilton and later Central Tech.

Born in Peel county, Dr. Rutherford was graduated from the University of Toronto in 1902 with the degree of doctor of pedagogy.

He was formerly chairman of the Junior Red Cross of Ontario.

Liberal MLA Dies

REGINA (CP)—John Edward McCormack, 36, Liberal member of the legislature for Souris-Estevan, was killed Saturday night in an automobile collision at an intersection here. Police said the driver of the other car was Ronald Leboldus, 18, of Regina. He and his two passengers escaped injury.

Toynbee Doubts Man Means Suicide By Atom

By MILTON MARMOR

LONDON (AP) — Prof. Arnold Toynbee, the chronicler of civilizations, doesn't think man will blow himself to bits with atomic weapons.

There's hope for the Western world, too, says the noted scholar whose learned writings give the impression he can detach himself from our troubled times to peer at minuscule man from the olympus of the historian-philosopher.

Actually, Dr. Toynbee is a down-to-earth observer with a practical background in real politics. He served in two wars in the foreign office's intelligence department.

Essentially a humanist and a great believer in free will, Dr. Toynbee sees human affairs as definitely not pre-determined and fated. The spirit of man is free. He feels man can do much to shape the course of his destiny.

WEST NOT FINISHED

He does not claim—as some say who interpret his brilliant works—that the West is finished. He does stress, however, this is no time for complacency.

Nor is he disturbed by complaints that he is a prophet of doom. These complaints were prompted by the professor's six lectures over the BBC on "The World and the West."

Those lectures took only 30,000 words, he explained. They were merely the summary of one of the forthcoming volumes—No. 8—of his prodigious "A Study of History," which soon will be published.

Mainly, what aroused those who listened to his lectures on the BBC, was Toynbee's statement that the Russian world has seized the initiative against the Western peoples. He described the West as "the aggressors of modern times."

Toynbee sought to clarify misunderstandings in an interview.

Pressed for a "yes" or "no" reply to the question whether he felt the East-West clash would lead to an atomic war and destruction, he thought for a moment.

NO

The answer was "No." Man will not commit suicide. First, the Western world has too much respect for the dignity of man to unleash so terrible a war as can be envisaged by development of the hydrogen bomb. Second, Communism is a philosophy which tells those who hold it that they are predestined to rule the world.

Realizing that an atomic war would leave them nothing to rule —and eliminate themselves as well —the rulers of Russia seem unlikely to provoke such a catastrophe, he argues. Believing that history is bound to do their work for them, they probably will prefer to wait for the inevitable (as they see it) to happen, he says.

Toynbee foresees years and years of stalemate, with the world's people living in a continuing state of insecurity, yet producing and surviving and even being happy.

THREE DIE IN BLAZE—This is all that remains of the two-room frame house where F. Cramp, of Birchmount Road in suburban Scarboro, and two of his children were burned to death Sunday. A third child was seriously burned and is in Sick Children's Hospital. Mrs. Cramp escaped with the youngest daughter.

Italians' Ideas About Canada Found Strange

CALGARY (CP)—Herb Capozzi, winner of a fellowship which took him to many parts of Europe, believes Canada would not need to send troops overseas if she sent more students every year.

Herb, who won the Rotary Foundation Fellowship for advanced study abroad, travelled in Italy, France, Spain, Switzerland, Austria, Germany and England. He said the 85 students who received the fellowships are expected to act as "links in a chain of friendship" to help countries get together and understand one another.

He found students in Italy, from where his father emigrated 45 years ago, have strange ideas about Canada.

They thought Canada experienced 10 months of winter and the whole population trapped fur-bearing animals and grew wheat for a living. The students took it for granted that Herb's parents were divorced and bank robbers slunk about all American streets.

Herb says, however, that Canadians' views of Italy are equally confused.

There are two Italys, he says—the comparatively wealthy north and the poverty-stricken south. In the north, he found women dressed as well if not better than Canadian women, but those in the south were barely existing.

In France, he was impressed with the sense of humor shown by the poorer classes. He said they seemed to enjoy life much more than the average Canadian.

Sheep, Cows Saved

APPIN, Ont. (CP)—A flock of sheep gave birth to three sets of twin lambs shortly after being rescued from a $15,000 barn fire near here Sunday. Lightning started the blaze in a large barn on the farm of Murray McCallum, three miles south of here, during an electrical storm. Mr. McCallum and his son, Tom, drove 70 head of cattle plus the sheep from the blazing farm structure, but six other sheep perished in the flames.

HEADS BROADCASTERS—F. H. Elphicke of Vancouver has been named chairman of the Canadian Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters at the annual meeting in Montreal. He succeeds D. Malcolm Neill of Fredericton, N.B.

C. H. Donnelly Heads Drama

SARNIA (CP)—C. H. Donnelly of Simcoe was elected president of the Western Ontario Drama League at the annual meeting here Sunday. Mr. Donnelly and the other officers will assume their new duties in June.

District vice-presidents were named as follows: Dorothy Daylor, Windsor; Winstan Walker, Sarnia; Mrs. Arthur Fort, St. Marys; John Brook, Simcoe; Charles Tuck, Kitchener; Elsie Thomson, Hamilton.

W. H. Hogg of London was elected honorary president. Professor R. H. Ozburn of Guelph is retiring president.

Tentative invitations for the 1954 regional festival were received from Windsor, Woodstock and Guelph.

Church Organist Dies

TORONTO (CP)—Robert Lee, 81, church organist for many years, died Sunday at the home of his step-daughter, Mrs. C. A. Skelley. Organist at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church in Brantford at one time, Mr. Lee had been retired two years.

Seven Persons Die In Fires Over Weekend

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Seven persons, five of them children, died as a result of fires in Eastern Canada during the weekend, bringing the total violent deaths reported to 13.

A survey showed Ontario had 11 deaths, five in fires and six in traffic accidents, and Quebec and New Brunswick had one each, both in fires.

In Ontario, Allen John Cramp, 29, and two of his four children, Allen, 4, and Janet, 5, were burned to death when fire swept their home in Scarboro.

Mrs. Cramp escaped uninjured with a second daughter, one-year-old Evelyn, while a neighbor, Joseph Clement, carried the fourth child, Diane, 2½, from the burning house.

Firemen found Mr. Cramp and the two dead children just inside the back door.

TWINS DIE

Nelson and Neilan Skinner, four-year-old twins, lost their lives in a fire that destroyed their parents shack miles west of Bigwood.

Other Ontario deaths: Jim Morrison, about 20, of Woodstock, and Ralph Anderson, 23, of Norwich, when their car struck a tree just east of Woodstock; Kirk Simons, 40, of Brantford, when his car crashed into the rear of a truck near Hamilton; Frank Wellwood, 26, of Orangeville, in a head-on crash between two cars; Alex Todasey, 29, of Oshawa, driver of a car, and an unidentified woman riding in a second car, when both autos crashed into the rear of a transport at Oshawa.

Norman Renaud, in his fifties, died when fire burnt the Montreal rooming house in which he was staying.

Bernadette Poitras, 7, of Grand Falls, N. B., died of fumes inhaled when her home was destroyed by fire.

Greatest depth of the North Sea is 1,998 feet in the Skaggerak between Norway and Denmark.

London Wins Drama Festival Eight Times In District

SARNIA, (CP) — London Little Theatre won first place in the Western Ontario regional drama festival for the eighth time here Saturday night.

"Dark of the Moon," the London entry in the festival, was awarded the laurels by adjudicator John Allen, speaking from the stage of the Imperial Theatre.

The Fuller Shield for the play taking second highest place in the festival went to the Welland Little Theatre Players in "Elizabeth the Queen." This group took top honors in 1951.

Mary Ashwell, director, and the "Dark of the Moon" cast and crew bring home from the festival the Calvert $100 cash prize and will receive the Calvert Trophy later.

The Jordan Memorial Medal for the best performance by an actor in the festival was awarded to Donald Horne, playing Essex in "Elizabeth the Queen," and the Brickenden Medal for the best actress went to Sheila Haney who played the title role "superlatively well" in the same production.

Personal recommendations were given by Mr. Allen to Pat Darrow, playing "Ruth" in the Woodstock Little Theatre entry, "Years Ago," Shirley Rose, Audrey Vale and Gynne Howard in the Galt Little Theatre production "Light Up the Sky" and Joyce Mason, as Penelope in "Elizabeth the Queen."

With the London and Welland plays almost neck and neck in the finals, Mr. Allen said that this decision was the hardest he had had to make during his judging in Canada. Earlier in his adjudication Mr. Allen had called "Dark of the Moon" an "admirable production with admirable playing by almost everyone."

Presentation of the awards to Mrs. Ashwell was made by the adjudicator. Dorothy Pfeiffer of Montreal presented the Fuller Shield to Frank Gorbet, director of the Welland players, on behalf of Judge Fuller, now himself of Welland.

The Jamieson Shield was won by the Grimsby Players for the best presentation in preliminaries of a Canadian play by a group not invited to the festival. D. Park Jamieson presented this trophy to Elsie Cullingford of Grimsby.

The Meredith achievement Trophy was presented by Margaret Glass, executive secetary of WODL, to the Elora Players for the most ambitious and demanding performance in the preliminaries.

DIFFICULT PLAY

The Galt production, "Light Up the Sky," and the Welland production, "Elizabeth the Queen," were presented Saturday.

"A difficult play to talk about, a rather dangerous play" commented Mr. Allen of the Galt entry directed by Arthur Cline. He said it had a kind of "superficial craftsmanship in its construction to make a 2½ hour play, which does in a kind of a way, hold an audience."

Of "Elizabeth the Queen," Mr. Allen said the lighting was good, costuming was decorative; the director got good movement from his actors, except for the ladies in waiting. The queen (Sheila Haney) and Penelope (Joyce Mason) moved beautifully.

Veteran Sailor Of Lakes Dies

GODERICH (CP)—John Macdonald, 87, veteran mariner of the Great Lakes, died in hospital here Saturday.

He was born and lived in Goderich all his life and led a colorful career as a sailor on the Great Lakes.

In schooner days he sailed as a mate and last sailed some years ago on the Goderich-built and owned boat, "the Sethie," which slipped its anchors during a storm.

He had a hobby, the building of sailing vessels. Two of these adorn his home, one a four-masted schooner, the other a replica of one of the famous China tea clippers.

Hope To Adopt Code For Ticker Tape

TORONTO (CP)—Standardization of ticker code abbreviations on all Canadian stock exchanges will go into effect April 8 if trading conditions permit.

The new codes were to have gone into effect March 9, but the heavy market activity of the last six weeks led to postponing the starting date. Now they will be used for the first time April 8 unless high trading volume warrants a further postponement.

The plan will affect the abbreviations of 185 of the 1,020 stocks listed on Toronto stock exchange.

Former MLA Dies

CALGARY (CP)—William Robert King, 66, Social Credit member of the Alberta legislature for Cochrane from 1935 to 1940, died in hospital Thursday. Mr. King was defeated by an independent in 1940 when his constituency was changed to Banff-Cochrane. He was born in Manitoulin, Ont., and came to Alberta in 1903. He ranched near Cochrane until his refirement to Calgary in 1944.

Proceeds From Dance Finance Museum Trip

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) — A dance was held at the Stone school Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Elder and son Keith of Fenella supplying the music.

Proceeds from the party will be used for transporting Miss Grace Wilton and pupils to visit the Toronto museum this spring.

Candy and cold drinks were sold by the children. Proceeds amounted to $18.

Dislocates Shoulder

Business Cycle Still Ready To Create Havoc, Or Dead?

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

"Business cycle" is an elusive and ornery fellow who is always in disagreement with things as they are.

If times are good, he tries to make them bad; if they are bad, he tries to make them good.

He was the wretched character held responsible in large part for the great depression of the 1930s; but when the bottom was reached he became the desirable fellow we meant when we used to say: "Prosperity is just around the corner."

Just now times are good, and it is feared he may be up to mischief —if, indeed, he still exists. Some people think that by fiscal, social and other policies in recent years we have either abolished him or made him helpless. Others are not so sure.

One of those who is "not so sure" is Dr. Arthur F. Burns, recently nominated by President Eisenhower as a member of the Council of Economic Advisers in the United States.

Dr. Burns has been director of the National Bureau of Economic Research, a private American non-profit research agency. He has made a special study of "business cycle" and, in connection with his new appointment, the bureau has issued an outline of some of his views.

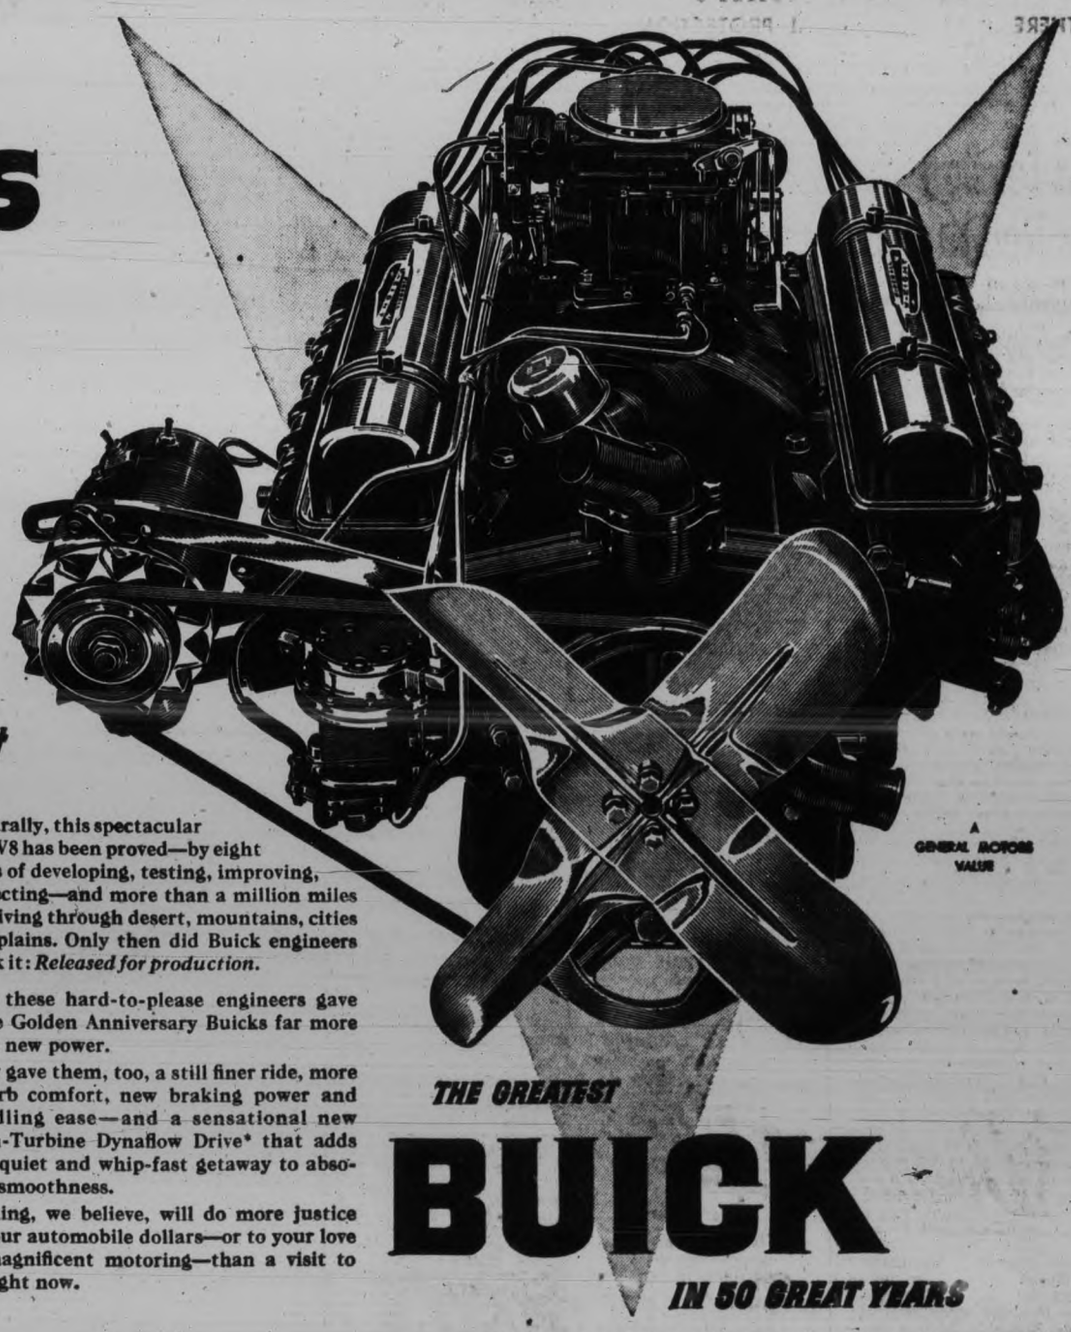
POLITICAL NECESSITY

In one statement, Dr. Burns said:

"Despite the relatively good business conditions of recent years, the business cycle continues to haunt people's thinking.

"The reason is not only a wish to obliterate the human miseries and material wastes of recurring depressions. The reason is also political necessity.

"The old Marxist dogma that capitalism is doomed to collapse on the rocks of economic crisis has become a weapon of propaganda, used adroitly and energetically to confuse the uninformed and to stir discontent the world over.



"Our government (U. S.) and other democracies have met the challenge by building a variety of defences against depression. How well the defences have been built, no one yet knows. . . .

"For the present, obituaries on the business cycle are romantic expressions of human impatience, not records of solid achievement. They serve neither the nation nor economics, and may prove seriously harmful if they lead to any relaxation of the scientific work on business fluctuations now going forward in universities and other research centres."

World's newest V8
with a million miles behind it

HERE, in literal fact, is the most advanced V8 engine ever placed in a standard-production automobile.

It is the first such V8 to reach an 8.5 to 1 compression ratio, and the first with a dynamic flow muffler that cuts power loss to zero.

It is the first V8 to utilize vertical valves together with a 12-volt electrical system instead of the usual 6. It is also the first designed with new "T" type intake manifold to replace the "Y" type conventionally used in V8s.

It is, quite simply, the first V8 Fireball Engine—the engine that brings electrifying performance to the greatest Buicks in fifty great years—the engine that powers the 1953 Buick Roadmaster with 188 hp, and the 1953 Buick Super with up to 170.

Naturally, this spectacular new V8 has been proved—by eight years of developing, testing, improving, perfecting—and more than a million miles of driving through desert, mountains, cities and plains. Only then did Buick engineers mark it: Released for production.

But these hard-to-please engineers gave these Golden Anniversary Buicks far more than new power.

They gave them, too, a still finer ride, more superb comfort, new braking power and handling ease—and a sensational new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive* that adds new quiet and whip-fast getaway to absolute smoothness.

Nothing, we believe, will do more justice to your automobile dollars—or to your love of magnificent motoring—than a visit to us right now.

Story Of St. Patrick Cause Of Much Argument Among Scholars Of All Ages

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

St. Patrick's Day is for the Irish, and on March 17 a lot of other Canadians will join the 1,500,000 Canadians of Irish descent in honoring the patron saint of Ireland.

Almost everything about the great man is a batter of argument among scholars, including the place of his burial. But there's some evidence that he was buried at Down Cathedral, an Irish site which has been associated with Christianity for some 1,500 years.

Patrick was born probably in AD 389, and died in 461. It seems agreed that he was born in Englan agreed that he was born in England owner and minor official of the Roman Empire. He was educated as a Christian but at 16 was captured by Irish raiders and sold into slavery.

RETURNED TO IRELAND

From Ireland, where he began his religious career by deep prayer, he went to France, then back to Britain, and in 432 returned to Ireland as a zealous missionary He won converts by the thousands and established more than 360 churches, mostly in the north of Ireland. In 444 he established a church and monastery at Armagh which was to become the ecclesiastical capital of all Ireland. That religious school, which lasted until 1178, attracted scholars from all over Ireland and Britain.

HISTORIC SITE

One of the foremost religious radio services on St. Patrick's Day is broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corporation from Down Cathedral, the ancient memorial church at Saul in County Down. The church stands on the spot where St. Patrick preached his first sermon after returning to Ireland in AD 432.

Before St. Patrick's time, a huge fortress occupied this position and was one of the King of Ulster's strongholds. It remained a fortress until Norman times when John de Courcy defeated the Irish armies and established a Benedictine monastery there. The Abbey Church was sacked or burned several times in the course of history, and the present cathedral was built in the 18th century. Besides St. Patrick, it is believed to be the burial site of St. Brigid and St. Columba.

TWO DATES COMBINED

There was argument even about the date of St. Patrick's death. Some said it was March 8, and others that it was March 9. The legend is that a wise Irish priest named Mulcahey combined the two dates to get March 17.

But for many years now no one has quibbled about the details The Irish in every part of Canada are celebrating and, as usual, one of the largest events is at Montréal, with great parades arranged Religious services there and at many other places were held Sunday

Patrick's famous shrine—Down Cathedral—has become dilapidated through age. Wood-worm has attacked the roof trusses and some of the stonework is said to be in a serious condition since the last major restoration was undertaken 160 years ago.

But it still preserves some of the magnificent workmanship of past centuries and its lustre grows even as the St. Patrick legend grows stronger with the years.

Churchill Able Convince Himself Wrote Laski

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Winston Churchill, while "amusing" and "brilliant" has—in the opinion of a British colleague—a "unique power of convincing himself as he goes along by the sheer force of his own eloquence."

Political scientist Harold J. Laski, expressing his views in letters to U.S. Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, said he found wide gaps in Churchill's knowledge. Laski commented that in his earlier political years, Churchill considered the scientist and philosopher "remote from the real paths of life." Both Holmes and Laski now are dead.

Oxford-educated Laski, who became a University of London professor, an author, interpreter of British socialism and Labor party chairman, was a close friend of the U.S. jurist. Harvard University Press is publishing two volumes of their letters.

Perhaps the liveliest of all the two writers' allusions to their contemporaries are Laski's comments on Churchill.

"To himself, he is amusingly Napoleonic," wrote Laski, "and I think about as unpleasantly active as (Theodore) Roosevelt. One feels that he has never had a half hour's quiet reflection in his life; but he has certainly lived every minute of it. . . . He is a grand fighting animal."

296 Contest 136 Seats In South African Election

JOHANNESBURG (CP) — The deadline for nominations in South Africa's forthcoming general election passed Saturday with 296 candidates nominated for the 136 seats in the House of Assembly.

Prime Minister Daniel Malan, whose white supremacy policies are the major election issue, was one of two Nationalist party candidates assured of personal re-election when no opponents were nominated. The other was J. H. Conradie, speaker of the House.

Eighteen members of the United party opposition were also returned unopposed.

Nominated were 148 United party candidates, 137 Nationalists, six Labor and five independents. Most of the 13 fights will be between Nationalists and United party candidates. Eight of the candidates are women.

ELECTION APRIL 15

The balloting takes place April 15 and most foreign diplomatic observers agree the result will be close with the odds slightly favoring Malan.

Campaigning thus far has been exceptionally restrained.

The electorate faces he basic issue underlying all white policies here: How to preserve the supremacy of the 2,500,000 whites over 10,000,000 non-whites who, for the first time in the union's 43-year history, are developing an articulate, organized political movement.

The Nationalist and the United parties agree that white supremacy should be maintained, but they differ over how to do it.

Malan's Nationalists, favoring a strict, strong program to segregate whites and colored, have declared bluntly they are ready to stand or fall on their policies.

SEEKS CO-OPERATION

The United party of J. G. N. Strauss, on the other hand, has bent over backwards to avoid frontal opposition to all Malan's race laws, figuring stern measures have the support of most white voters. Strauss, who took over the opposition leadership when Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts died in 1950, pledged if elected he will examine the entire issue of race and color. And in doing so he has undertaken to seek the co-operation of all, including non-whites.

Britain Asks Canada's Help To Swing Trade Proposals

OTTAWA (CP)—Britain has enlisted the support of Canada to make sure that highly-confidential Commonwealth proposals to expand world trade are not sidetracked in Washington.

Richard Butler, chancellor of the British exchequer, emphasized Saturday in a parting speech that the proposals will have a tremendous impact on the ability of the Western world to defend itself against the Communist menace.

He had placed these proposals—believed to include suggestions for reduction of U.S. tariffs and trade restrictions—before the new American administration two weeks ago, but Washington couldn't make any snap decisions.

Mr. Butler was told the Americans needed time to think the proposals over. Meanwhile there was a "great need for maintaining the "momentum" of the drive to get American support of the Commonwealth economic plan—and that's where Canada came in.

SUPPORT PROMISED

Mr. Butler told an Ottawa Canadian Club audience that he had received confirmation from the Canadian government "that in the weeks and months ahead the influence and support of your statesmen will be with us."

"Canada will not fail to take again her historic role in linking the Commonwealth with North America," he said.

Britain meanwhile appealed to Canada and the United States to boost purchases of British goods and thus help eliminate Britain's currency and trade restrictions.

"The dollar world, especially the U.S., must make it easier for us to trade on competitive terms," Mr. Butler said in a parting message to Canada.

"Nothing is more important than getting a good increase in our exports to you."

INCREASE EXPORTS

Mr. Butler's message, carried on the Trans-Canada Network of the CBC, was recorded Saturday shortly before he returned to London following a three-day visit to Ottawa.

Britain was gradually gathering her strength and moving in the "right way"—toward a freer system of trade with better opportunities, Mr. Butler said. But she has a big defence load to carry and she must step up exports if she is not to falter.

Men Need Faith Says Moderator

MONTREAL (CP)—Rev. J. A. MacInnes of Orillia, moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, said Sunday "legislation will never make men good."

Mr. MacInnes spoke at the 55th anniversary services of Montreal's MacIvor Presbyterian Church. It was the moderator's first official visit here.

"What men today need is faith and Christian principles to meet present-day issues." He made the statement in reply to a question from the audience on religious prejudice in Quebec, alcoholism, salacious literature and communism.

"We have something better than communism. Let's practice it and we'll outlive the Communists," Mr. MacInnes said.

Canadian Navy Appoints Two New Rear Admirals

OTTAWA (CP)—The navy has promoted two of its Second World War destroyer commanders to rear-admiral, the defence department announced Sunday.

Rear-Admiral James C. Hibbard, 45, and Rear-Admiral Hugh F. Pullen, 48, are the only two Canadian naval officers who entered the navy since the First World War to rise to flag rank.

Rear-Admiral Hibbard of Victoria and Ottawa has been an acting rear-admiral and chief of naval personnel. He was appointed flag officer Pacific coast March 2. Rear-Admiral Pullen of Oakville, Ont., takes over as chief of naval personnel April 1. He now is commodore RCN barracks at Halifax.

Rear-Admiral Hibbard was born at St. Malachie, Que. He entered the Royal Canadian Navy in 1926 as a cadet. The same year he went overseas for training and was promoted to midshipman while serving in the battleship Emperor of India.

At the outbreak of the Second World War he joined HMCS Assiniboine in England in October, 1939. He was appointed in command of the destroyer Skeena in April, 1940.

In September, 1941, the escort group of which he was senior officer and its convoy were under attack for 66 consecutive hours. Seventeen ships of this convoy were sunk in heavy U-boat assaults. For his part in this action he received the Distinguished Service Cross.

IN MURMANSK RUN

In 1943, Rear-Admiral Hibbard was commanding HMCS Iroquois, a tribal class Destroyer, on the Murmansk convoy run and escorted a convoy which was unsuccessfully attacked by the battleship Scharnhorst.

He was awarded a bar to his DSC in 1944, for his role in attacks on enemy sea communication.

Promoted to acting captain in 1945, Rear-Admiral Hibbard was in charge of Canadian warships operating out of Halifax.

He served as commanding officer of the cruiser Ontario between 1945 and 1949, and was appointed chief of naval personnel in August, 1950.

JOINED OTTAWA

Rear-Admiral Pullen entered the Royal Naval College of Canada in 1920 and later served with Canadian Pacific Steamships, re-entering the RCN in 1924. He was promoted midshipman in 1925.

At the start of the Second World War he was first lieutenant in the destroyer HMCS Ottawa. In 1940 he was appointed to command HMCS St. Francis and in 1941, he assumed command of HMCS Ottawa.

He commanded HMCS St. Laurent in 1943 and served as executive officer on Canada's first modern cruiser, HMCS Uganda, in 1944. In 1945, he was appointed to headquarters as director of naval reserves.

During 1948 and 1949 he took a staff course, after which he assumed command of the cruiser HMCS Ontario. In October he became commodore RCN barracks, Halifax.

31 Years A Barber In Vancouver Hotel

VANCOUVER (CP)—The second chair from the end in the Hotel Vancouver has a new barber now—after 31 years.

Barber John Bruce McCallum celebrated his 82nd birthday recently by retiring after more than 60 years behind a barber's chair.

During his 31 years in both the new and the old Hotel Vancouver barber shops "Mac"—as he is known by three shopmates with whom he worked for more than 25 years—has trimmed many famous heads.

He includes in his list Presidents Coolidge and Harding, Viscount Bennett, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Duke of Kent.

Other personalities to sit in McCallum's chair were boxers Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney and James J Corbett.

Little Tension Near Red Kuriles

By FRED SAITO

NEMURO, Japan (AP) — The ground is cold and the air is hot over Hokkaido.

This port city on the northwestern tip of Japan's northernmost island, is typical. Walk out of town a little way, stand at the end of Cape Nosappu, look out over the frozen sea and there, only four miles away, lies Russian-held territory in the Kuriles.

Despite the proximity, despite the fact that Russian and U. S. planes have duelled over their heads and Japanese fishermen have been seized by the Soviets, there is little noticeable tension among the 20,000 inhabitants of Nemuro.

With the port frozen shut for four months, the town has gone into a sleepy hibernation.

There is this sleepy peace now, and yet as recently as Feb. 1, I watched two U.S. jets tangle with two Soviet planes over the cape. The Russians refused to land and opened fire. The Americans returned the fire and sent the two Soviet planes racing homeward, one of them trailing smoke.

Then Nemuro returned to its unreal quiet.

Hokkaido is potentially one of the most dangerous spots in the world, in the hot and cold wars of the great powers.

The Russians in the north and northwest, in Sakhalin and the Kuriles, are believed to have Hokkaido ringed with about 4,500 bombers and fighters. To defend the 30,000-square-mile island, there are U.S. planes and a Japanese national safety force of 28,000 men.

This force is made up of eight regiments. One 3,000-man regiment, with artillery and tank units, is charged with the defence of the vital 300-mile coastline along the Sea of Okhotsk, which separates the Japanese from the Russians in the Kuriles and Sakhalin. Another regiment is to be added to this line in the spring.

Six more are stationed in the interior.

Although Nemuro is the closest point to Soviet-held territory, military authorities here do not believe the Russians would attempt to invade Hokkaido through this area. As a port, Nemuro is frozen out four months a year. In the warm weather, thick fog makes navigation extremely hazardous.

A more likely target, in the opinion of Japanese officers, would be Wakkanai, Japan's northernmost port and only 30 miles from Soviet-held Sakhalin. The sea north of Wakkanai never freezes over because of warm currents from the south.

Kiner Heads For Training Accepts Terms

By BOB MYERS

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Home runs specialist Ralph Kiner, his luggage packed for days, heads for Havana today to join the Pittsburgh club and conclude a stormy holdout session with the Pirate general manager Branch Rickey.

Kiner said he was booking airline passage to Cuba as soon as he could make it.

Sunday night—30 minutes before another ultimatum by Rickey that Kiner agree to terms—Kiner disclosed he was coming to terms.

The terms, Kiner said, were almost exactly those he and Rickey agreed on at their meeting in Hollywood Feb. 13. They call for Kiner to receive something under $76,000, a cut he agreed upon from the $90,000 he is supposed to have received last year.

Kiner was asked bluntly who won the bitter, wordy and long-range squabble between himself and Rickey.

"The only thing I ever held out for was what we originally agreed upon a month ago. Some of the things we agreed on at that time were withdrawn, in the days that followed."

BATTLE A MONTH

Kiner and Rickey have been at swords' points since their Feb 13 meeting. At one point Rickey demanded that Kiner report to camp by March 1, then March 7 and finally by March 15, although the month before he had said Kiner would not have to be there until the middle of March.

Kiner said he had sent the following wire to Rickey:

"I accept the terms of your March 14 telegram and will report as soon as transportation is available. I am anxious to get to spring training and I am in good condition. I hope that I can in some way help the team get into the first division, and I hope to be with Pittsburgh the rest of my baseball career."

49-Year-Old Wins Marathon

TORONTO (CP)—Fred Bristow of Toronto, 49, won the Gladstone Athletic Club's marathon running trials on Toronto streets Sunday in three hours, five minutes and seven seconds.

George Halligan was second in three hours, 10 minutes and 25 seconds. Paul Ojanen was third, Harold Carter fourth and Paul Deliveau fifth.

The event was originally scheduled as an elimination race to pick a team to compete in the Boston marathon April 20 but only six of the 15 entries turned out and the trial developed into a practice run.

Gladstone's representatives to the Boston marathon will be Bristow, Halligan, Ojanen, Deliveau, Ken Twigg and George Rolland.

WINS PLAYER AWARD—Left-winger Bob Attersley, 19, of the Oshawa Generals has been named the winner of the Tilson trophy as the most valuable player in the Ontario Hockey Association's Junior A series. The 195-pound, five-foot-nine player finished fourth in league scoring with 45 goals and 43 assists. He will try out next season with Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League, parent club of the Oshawa team.

Mercurys Blast Kitchener 6-3

OWEN SOUND (CP)—An early onslaught Saturday night carried Owen Sound Mercurys to a 6-3 win over Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen. The victory gave Owen Sound a 2-1 lead in their best-of-seven finals of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A series.

Owen Sound took a 5-2 lead in the first period, made it 6-2 at the close of the second and then surrendered the only goal of the final to Kitchener.

Doug Gillespie and Jerry Reid both produced two goals for the Mercurys with Tommy Burlington and Bill McComb sinking the others.

Bob Schnurr, Jack McKenzie and Al Buchanan tallied for Kitchener.

The teams play the fourth game of the series in Kitchener Tuesday.

BLOCKED 27 SHOTS

Saturday night's game featured sharp goaltending by Bob Gillson of Owen Sound who blocked 27 shots, 14 of them in the second period when the Dutchmen put on a determined drive.

The Mercurys scored two goals with the Dutchmen shorthanded through penalties, and the visitors nicked one with Owen Sound short a man.

Sudbury Skiers Lead In Meet

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) Skiiers from Sudbury and Iron Mountain, Mich., won 13 of 23 events at the Sault Ski Club annual championships and international invitation competitions during the week-end.

Jorma Tervo of Sudbury, Canadian champion in the cross-country intermediate section, won that event. John Hroch of Sudbury won the downhill senior men, all classes the class B in this event, the senior men's slalom and class B in this event, and senior men's alpine combined.

H. Poitier of Iron Mountain took the men's downhill intermediate, slalom intermediate, alpine combined intermediate, nordic combined and four way combined. Teammate C. Erickson took the senior men's jumping, class B, and R. Streubing the intermediate men's class C jumping.

Galt Eliminates Oshawa Face St. Mike's

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

It took Galt Black Hawks the limit but they did it. They eliminated Oshawa Generals from further play in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A playoffs with a 4-2 victory in Galt Saturday.

The win gave the Hawks the best-of-five game series 3-2 and decided Toronto St. Michael's opponents in the semi-finals, the winner to meet the victor of the semi finals between Toronto Marlboros and Barrie Flyers for the OHA Junior A title.

The Hawks, far from fresh after the tough series with Oshawa, ran into a rested St. Michael's team when they opened their best-of-five semi-final series in Toronto Sunday and the Collegians emerged with a 7-4 victory.

MARLBOROS WIN

Marlboros deadlocked their best-of-seven series with the Flyers by whipping Hap Emms crew 6-3 in Toronto Saturday afternoon.

In an Eastern Canada junior quarter-final at Ottawa Saturday Timmins - Porcupine Combines edged Eastview St. Charles 5-4. Timmins now has a 2-1 lead in the best-of-five series.

Neil McDonald, who scored two, Ken Wharram and Bob Wilson lowered the boom on Oshawa Saturday. Fred Etcher and Jack Armstrong closed out the scoring for the Generals this year.

Barrie had most of the edge in play on Saturday but Marlboro netminder Johnny Henderson proved too tough. After a scoreless first period Charlie Burns notched two and John Ingram one for the Dukes before Skip Teal countered for the Flyers.

BANGS IN TWO

Parker MacDonald then clicked with a pair and Bill Harris bagged the final Toronto goal in the third period. Tony Poeta and Orv Tessier counted for the Flyers in the final period.

For the second week in a row, Marlboro manager Stafford Smythe had words with a referee. Duke coach Reg Hamilton was also told by referee Hugh MacLean of Hamilton to watch his remarks.

The fifth game of the series will be played in Barrie Wednesday.

Galt, playing their second game in about 20 hours, matched the Collegians at every pace until the dying moments of the game. With but two minutes remaining the score was tied 4-4.

The Irish fired three quick goals for the win. For the second week in a row, Paul Knox tallied three times for Toronto. Art Clune, Murray Costello, Dick Duff and Ed Plata were the marksmen on the others. Minnie Menard scored twice for Galt and Ken Wharram and Ed Sleaver each got one.

The next game will be played in Galt Friday.

Tamworth Captures Win Against Bancroft

BANCROFT (ENS)—The Pontiacs took a 3-2 beating at the hands of Tamworth on home ice here last Thursday night. It was the local boys' first loss at home this year. The best-of-seven series for league honors now stands at two games each.

Two penalties went to the visitors for rough play. Many more were indicated for both teams despite the fact that Bancroft managed to keep their slate clean as play became rougher each period and nearly erupted near the end. Referee McLaughlin gave the thumb to Brady and Munroe, the latter Tamworth's "bad man." First period play ended in a one-all draw after Johnny Pilgrim scored for Pontiacs and R. Martin nabbed one for the visitors.

Martin repeated his performance at the opening of the second frame on a pass from Brady for the only goal of the period. Things were tight from then on. Bob Green tied things up for Pontiacs early in the third, assisted by Elwood Brough. K. Weese sank the winning counter unassisted in the closing minutes of the game. Pontiacs turned on full pressure to no avail with six forwards but were unable to beat Storring, who made some nice stops during the game, and a tight Tamworth defence.

Plans are under way to complete the series on artificial ice at either Belleville or Peterborough in the event that the current balmy weather persists.

The teams:

Bancroft—Goal, A. Young; defence, L. Dougall, C. McAlpine; centre, E. Brough; wings, B. Comrie, N. Brough; alternates, B. Ramsbottom, B. Green, T. Maxwell, R. Severein, J. Pilgrim, B. Delyea, D. Maxwell, J. Hattin, F. Bruce.

Tamworth — Goal, D. Storring; defence, T. Brady, T. James; centre, T. Holmes; wings, K. Weese, R. Martin; alternates, T. Hinch, J. Munroe, R. Cox, G. Marshall, O. Rombough, M. Fisher, R. Kennedy, H. Rombough.

Lindsay Takes The Series Over Port Hope

LINDSAY (ENS)—The Lindsay Muskies capped an uphill drive to their 2nd consecutive OHA Lakeshore League crown Sat. night, winning their third game in a row, 6-2 over Port Hope Redmen, to take the final series 4-3 and advance to the next round of the provincial playdowns, probably against Gananoque.

Orley Crawford netted twice and coach Al Burns, Ken Kelly, Sixty Coombs, and Bob Lewis scored the others. Harry McKeen and Ben Mason scored the Port Hope goals.

The Muskies displayed, for the third game in a row, the form that carried them to the top of the regular schedule in the lakeshore loop. After going down 3-1 in the first four games of the series, they won all three games last week to pull the title out of the fire. Al Burns, playing coach, scored the opening goal of the game in the first, when he took Parker's pass in front of Wasson and made no mistake with his drive.

SHOOTS AND FALLS

In the second period, Crawford scored his first, when he split the Port defence and went in alone, shooting as he fell to the ice. Seconds later, McKeen scored for Port Hope, when the Lindsay defence let him in close on O'Connell, and he drove Gordon's pass into the net.

Lewis scored the next Lindsay goal, assisted by Corley, who passed from behind the net, while sitting down. Coombs got the final goal of the period, when his long screened shot hit the inside of the post and bounded into the net.

In the third, Kelly widened the gap when he rapped in Burns' rebound from close-in, and Crawford scored the final goal when he was left uncovered in front, and banged in Coombs' pass from the corner. With a minute in the game, Mason scored the final Port Hope marker of the series when he shook the Lindsay defence and went in alone, giving O'Connell no chance on his drive. The line that led the Muskies in their comeback Parker, Coombs, Crawford were best for the winners again. The other forward sets played the kind of hockey they displayed throughout the season, too. And the defence and goalie O'Connell also turned in their best efforts. Davis and Burns were standouts on the defence.

For the Redmen, McKeen, Freeman, Gordon and Downey were most dangerous up front while Douglas and Hogan stood out on defence, playing most of the game. Wasson after playing sensationally during the Redmen's early uprising in the final set, was outlucked by the great drive the Muskies put on in the last three games, and was well-beaten on most of the Lindsay goals.

Alouettes On Top Of Volleyball Loop

Howard David's Alouettes clinched first place in the Lillico Trophy volleyball league Saturday at the YMCA with three wins over the last-place Argos. Other top teams are Bill Edger's second-place Stampeders, Roy Westropp's third-place Tiger-Cats and Barney Dundas' fourth-place Eskimos.

Alouettes wound up the schedule with 15-9, 15-11 and 15-9 wins over Ken Kingston's Argos to stay well ahead of the Stampeders, who won three games by default from the Blue Bombers.

Eskimos managed to eke out one win in three games with the Tiger-Cats, and therefore slid into the last playoff position, just ahead of Bombers. The Eskies defeated Tigers 15-13, but lost the first two, 15-10 and 15-12.

The pelaydowns will begin next Saturday when in a consolation round, best-of-three, the Blue Bombers will meet the Argos. But in the trophy play, Alouettes play Eskimos and Stampeders play Tiger Cats, both in best-of-three series.

Final Standing:

	Won	Lost	Tied	Pts.
Alouettes	19	4	1	39
Stampeders	14	7	3	31
Tiger-Cats	11	12	1	23
Eskimos	9	14	1	19
Blue Bombers	9	15	0	18
Argos	6	18	0	12

Crafty Admiral Wins In Stretch Battle

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Crafty Admiral, with a masterful ride by jockey Kenny Church, whipped Battlefield in a torrid stretch duel to win the $50,000 added Gulfstream Park Handicap Saturday, racing the 1¼ mile in 2:00 4-5 over a fast track.

Crafty Admiral, topweight in the field of 11 with 128 pounds, took the lead from Maine Chance Farm's Admirals Pride coming into the stretch and, with Battlefield pound at his heels, raced under the finish line a neck in front.

Four-Way Ranch's Dulat was third, six lengths behind.

St. Catharines Tops Hoopsters

TORONTO (CP)—St. Catharines Collegiate Saturday won the senior basketball title in the Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association's tournament. St. Catharines downed Bracebridge 25-15 in the final. Stamford Collegiate took the Junior A honors with a 32-18 win over Orillia Collegiate.

Midland High received setbacks in both junior and senior final sets in the first B competitions to be held. Ridgway took a 33-31 decision in the senior final after Trenton High won the junior game 30-19.

The tournament had 14 entries and was played under girls' rules. Bracebridge defeated Cobourg Collegiate and St. Catharines eliminated Belleville High in the senior A semi-final. Orillia disposed of Lindsay Collegiate in the junior A preliminaries.

Buffalo Fishermen Defeat Toronto Team

TORONTO (CP)—Members of the International Angling and Casting Association from Buffalo and district defeated a team of Toronto casters in international competition Saturday at the Canadian National Sportsmen's Show.

In the first round the visitors had 19 demerit marks as compared to 40 for Toronto. In the second round the Canadian team won with 21 demerit marks compared with 35 for the U.S. group. The third and final round went to the U.S. team with 15 demerit marks, the Canadians counting 21.

Rangers Whip Celtic 2-0 Before 95,000

GLASGOW (Reuters)—The Rangers Saturday defeated Celtic 2-0 in a soccer match before 95,000 persons at Ibrox Park—insuring them a place in the semi-finals of the Scottish Cup.

In two other matches of the fourth round, Scottish Cup, Third Lanark defeated Clyde, 2-1 and Hearts nosed out Queen of the South 2-1, putting the winners in the semi-finals.

The league - leading Hibernians tied 1-1 with Aberdeen and the two teams will play a rematch next Wednesday.

Expect Browns To Shift To Baltimore

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) —The American League is expected to give Bill Veek the green light today in his efforts to shift the St. Louis Browns' franchise to Baltimore.

Lou Perini's plans to move Boston Braves to Milwaukee will come up for a vote Wednesday when the National League meets at St. Petersburg following an American Association meeting earlier the same day.

No solid resistance to either move appeared at Sunday's executive council meeting at Belleair, Fla., where commissioner Ford Frick held a preliminary hearing with officials of the four clubs and leagues involved.

Approval by the American League at today's special meeting at Tampa would not bring major league ball to Baltimore officially. It would still require the sanction of the International League which will meet within the next 48 hours.

Frick told both Veeck of the Browns and Lou Perini, president of the Braves, that they must follow the established rules of procedure in their franchise shifts. Each move must have the approval of the major and minor leagues concerned.

Both the American Association, which will lose Milwaukee, and the International League, which must give up Baltimore, will have to find new cities to round out their circuits.

The American Association, having won the "battle of Toledo" from the International, apparently is all set to move back into the Ohio city abandoned last mid-summer when its franchise was shifted to Charleston, W. Va.

Perini huddled Sunday with Bruce Dudley, association president, on the proposed move. Approval of the association at its meeting Wednesday at St. Petersburg appears a formality.

The International League, however, has a more difficult problem. President Frank (Shag) Shaughnessy, irked by the sudden turn of events, complained: "If we want to draft territory of some other minor league, we can't do it. But the majors can take one of our best cities any time they feel like it."

Although Shaughnessy refused to name any potential cities for his eighth franchise, should Baltimore turn major, indications were that Hartford, Conn., might be the spot. Hartford is an "open city" in baseball law.

CGE Bowlers Down

Local CGE Co. bowlers, 400 strong, journeyed to Toronto on Saturday to open the annual inter-works bowling tournament between the Peterborough company and the Davenport works for the R. S. Cotton Trophy. Toronto emerged victors by just 24 pins in this first half of the tourney, the return competition being here next Saturday. The Toronto trundlers racked up a total of 29,582, against Peterborough's count of 29,558. The visitors this coming weekend carry their narrow lead into the return matches.

and if you want curls

IF your hair is not naturally curly . . . if you want hair that holds a curl, even in rainy weather . . . let me whisper something in your pink, shell-like ear. At night, when you go through the ritual of subdividing your hair into little sections, here's what you do. Rub a little Lanolin into the hair. Put a little on the scalp and a little on the hair surface. Then roll your hair up the way you usually do . . . using bobby pins, curlers, string, old typewriter ribbons, rubber bands or whatever appeals to you most. Then just before you crawl into bed, moisten the hair around each curler. It will dry into curls while you are asleep. In the morning, merely remove the hardware from your head, exercise the scalp and gently brush your hair. You've got a glorious surprise in store for you. Curls and waves that fall naturally into place, such as you've never dreamed possible. Your hair will be shiny with radiant highlights which will invite admiration and praise, aha . . . even romance.

NIL-O-NAL . . . THE SUPER LANOLIN SUCCESS

Friends, NIL-O-NAL (spells lanolin backwards) is the most successful lanolin formula ever made. All the stickiness has been refined away, all the odor removed. NIL-O-NAL is clear, greaseless, delightful. Here in NIL-O-NAL is genuine LANOLIN extracted from the wool of sheep and blended by one of America's leading chemists, made ready for daily use by every man, woman or child who thinks long, thick, luxurious, shiny, naturally wavy hair is wonderful, a joy to have and to behold. NIL-O-NAL doesn't plaster the hair . . . it soaks into the hair and scalp, replacing the missing natural oils that keep hair healthy, lovely, handsome and neat. Get NIL-O-NAL . . . 2 full ounces only $1.79 . . . obtain the results promised in the first 30 days or return for full refund. We know what NIL-O-NAL can do for your hair. We know that once you've tried it you'll tell your friends. That's all we want. Now if you want the hair benefits which we know NIL-O-NAL can give you, here's what you do . . . go to your Drug or Cosmetic Counter.

Typically Irish Setting For Sacred Heart CWL Tea

In a typically Irish setting the Catholic Women's League of the Church of the Sacred Heart entertained a large crowd of guests for Sunday afternoon tea in the newly refinished church basement.

The event was a combination "open house" and celebration of St. Pa[illegible]'s Day. As there has been $[illegible] worth of improvements made in the basement hall, church members and friends appreciated this opportunity to view the changes and a number of men also took advantage. The new kitchen which has been very well equipped was particularly admired.

Decorations were particularly lovely with quantities of rosebuds entwined on white latticework and brick pillars simulating closely their natural state in Ireland. Of course there were numerous shamrocks in evidence and green and white streamers were draped between the pillars.

Even the usually white springtime narcissus were "wearin' the green" for this occasion and they made up the attractive green centrepiece on the lace-covered tea table, emphasized by green tapers in the triple candelabra.

Pouring tea in turn from three to six o'clock were Mrs. F. McCarthy and Mrs. J. Grady, Mrs. C. Giardino and Mrs. R. Paquette, Mrs. H. Connelly and Mrs. R. Zberanowsky.

There were 13 small tables set up for the guests and each was centred with something green, shamrocks, candles or tiny baskets with the green flag of Ireland. The ladies in charge of serving at each were Mrs. R. Miller, Mrs. J. Gagnon, Mrs. E. Amyotte, Mrs. M. Sheehan, Mrs. L. Hickson, Mrs. A. Deroux; Miss E. Grady, Mrs. J. [illegible]oble, Mrs. A. Thompson, Mrs. J. MacCallum, Mrs. F. Collins, Mrs. [illegible] Bacon, and Mrs. C. Theobald.

The tea was convened by Mrs. Neil Collins with the table being in charge of Mrs. V. Flynn, Mrs. B. Rogers and Mrs. R. McCabe.

The tea was made by Mrs. W. DeNoble and Mrs. D. Hatton and the plates were arranged by Mrs. F. Daly and Mrs. M. McDougall.

Mrs. Leo Martyn, president of the CWL, received at the door, assisted by Mrs. H. Masterson, the immediate past president. Donations and tickets were taken by Mrs. J. Kearns and Mrs. F. Gilmour and the entire proceeds are being turned over to the Sisters of the Precious Blood.

The entire decorating scheme was the work of Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Flynn.

GOOD TRAVELLERS

Dress And Suit Need No Pressing

PICKING A TRAVEL wardrobe is easy now, like answering the $64 question. It's mostly a matter of deciding what you want—suit, ensemble, separates or all three?

Since airlines have their weight limits on luggage and trains have their limits on space, it's wise to do your planning on paper before you buy. Know just what you will need each day while you're away and try to pick fashions that will perform on many occasions.

Picking a fashion that can be worn only once on your trip is a waste of money. Don't forget to count in your nylon lingerie and hose and the soap flakes with which to launder them.

We show here (left) a travel-wise suit by Nathalie Nicoli in a dacron-and-worsted fabric that may be packed and then worn without pressing. Suit has jacket with slanting pockets, ribbon tab and jewelled detail at collar. Skirt is easy for walking and sitting comfort.

Vera Maxwell designs (right) a lightweight travel ensemble in printed nylon tricot. The two-piece dress takes laundering and no pressing to keep it looking fresh.

Surplice front bodice ties front or back and has dolman sleeves. Skirt is full for flattery and comfort. The printed tricot is used to line a straight-cut wool coat.

Four Canadians Win Awards In Fish Contest

NEW YORK (CP)—Four Canadians were named among 70 prize-winners in the first section of Field and Stream magazine's 1952 fishing contest. One Canadian was among 70 persons winning honorable mention in the contest's first section.

First prize in each class is a $100 U.S. bond, second and third places win a $50 bond, and fourth a $25 bond. No cash award went to winners of honorable mention.

Many of the American winners made their catchs in Canada with these waters showing popularity: Lake Nipigon, Ont.; Lake St. Clair, Que.; Lake Superior; Grand Cascapedia, Que., Campbell River, B.C. In the brook trout-open division, all winning catches but one were caught in Canadian waters and seven of those from Lake Nipigon.

Canadian winners were:

MARY MOORE SAYS:

St. Patrick's Day At Dinner Time

Full of blarney (they say); having in-laws with Irish blood in their veins; and favoring green as my color—these attributes give me all the claims I have to an affinity to St. Patrick.

But any one of these is enough to start me off on a celebration, and if you are a born celebrator too you'll like this—

IRISH MENU

Grapefruit Halves with Green Cherries
Irish Stew with Dumplings
Clover Leaf Rolls
Salad of Green Pepper Rings Stuffed with White or Cottage Cheese
Green Frosted Cup Cakes
Emerald Cream
Tea (I mean "Tay")

For a very special effect when you prepare the grapefruit, snip out the little membrane walls between the sections of pulp with scissors and slip in a wafer thin slice of green cherry. This emphasizes the spokes-of-a-wheel effect.

IRISH STEW WITH DUMPLINGS

Since Irish families are usually large these amounts will serve 8. Two and one-half to 3 lbs. stewing lamb or mutton which is not too fat, 1 large onion, sliced, 1 cup each diced carrot and turnip, 3 cups cubed potatoes, ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, boiling water; dumplings. Wipe the meat with damp cloth and cut into 2-inch cubes. Put in kettle, cover with boiling water and let simmer 1½ hours (2 hours for mutton). Add onion, carrot and turnip and cook 30 minutes, then add potatoes and cook 20 minutes longer. Twelve minutes before serving time add:

DUMPLINGS

I think dumplings that contain no shortening are lighter and better than those that do. Two cups unsifted flour, 5 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk. Sift flour, baking powder and salt into bowl. Stir in milk with a knife as quickly as possible. Drop at once, from tablespoon, onto boiling stew, cover tightly and boil 12 minutes without peeking. Test one dumpling by quickly skimming it out onto a plate and cutting open to center. If done remove them all, making them into a border around edge of platter.

If you want the liquid on the stew thickened, use the flour in e recipe above mixed to a oth paste—stirring it into the until thick. Taste for salt pepper. Pour into centre of r inside dumplings.

NOTE: For a special St. Patrick's touch add ¼ cup chopped parsley to the dumplings with the milk.

When you make the salad, you carefully cut top from 1 green pepper, carefully cut out the white ribs, and ever so carefully stuff full of white cream or cottage cheese. Chill thoroughly. Carefully cut into ¼-inch slices, putting two of these on beds of lettuce, and flanking them with a thick wedge of lettuce. Pass French Dressing.

EMERALD CREAM

One package lime jello powder, 1 cup chilled evaporated milk (for whipping), 1 cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ⅛ teaspoon salt. Pour the boiling water over the jelly powder, and stir until dissolved. (Place 2 tablespoons of this mixture aside into a cup to use for a garnish.) Chill remaining jelly. When it begins to set, whip it with rotary beater until fluffy. Whip the evaporated milk in a cold bowl until stiff, then add the lemon juice and salt. Fold into whipped jelly. Spoon into serving glasses, and garnish with the lime jelly which was reserved, cut into tiny cubes.

Make cup cakes and bake them in paper fluted cups. Frost with butter icing, tinted with green vegetable coloring. Put half green glace cherry OR chopped pistachio nuts on top.

DOROTHY DIX:

Essential Young Mother Should Realize Own Duty

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 22 years old, the mother of three boys, and we have the upstairs apartment in my mother-in-law's house. Since it's easier for the children to go into her apartment from the backyard where they are playing, they go to her for drinks and cookies during the day. She seems to be willing to have them. It's okay with me, and saves me a lot of running up and down stairs.

Also, my husband works nights, and I don't see any harm in my going into town for the evening after the children are in bed, since their grandma is in the house to keep an eye on them. I don't believe in the saying, "Grandma raised her kids—you raise yours." If she's willing to watch them and doesn't say anything, why not take advantage of her good nature?

YOUNG MOTHER.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I can't blame the busy young mother of three small boys for availing herself of grandma's help, but I certainly deplore your attitude. You should be grateful for a co-operative mother-in-law who is willing to lend a hand with the children. You are being most unfair in trying to take advantage of her good nature, as you so crudely put it. You assume that, at 22, you are entitled to all the freedom you can get, but at the same time you deny the privilege to an older woman who has well earned a rest.

Your mother-in-law is a woman of infinite patience and forbarance. Her occasional srvices as baby-sitter should be accepted with appreciation; the entire burden of watching your children is asking quite a bit too much.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR CHILDREN

You aren't fair to your husband in going out so much. You certainly aren't fair to the children in leaving them to someone else's care so often. You need a revised sense of values.

Of course, I can understand that you are married very young, and have acquired quite a family for a 22-year-old. The children are your responsibility, however, and not their grandmother's.

Grandma might decide to get a job and you'll have lost the best help you'll ever have. I hope you repay some of her devotion, at least with kindness, but your general assumption of "I come first" rather belies that hope.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a sadder but wiser middle-aged woman, who, a year ago, married a younger man. He was nice looking, dressed well, was handy around the house, and had a pleasant disposition. He had no money, but I thought that didn't matter since I had a home, car, and a small income. Immediately after our marriage he became an entirely different person. He thinks only of himself, has tantrums every time he's crossed, and wants to drive the car everywhere himself. I so wanted someone to love, and to love me, but I was sadly fooled in him. He isn't well, and I know he needs me.

LOIS T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Of all the despicable men in the world, I rate high those who take advantage of the loneliness of older women. Your husband obviously needed someone to support him, and you were his choice. The undertones in your letter lead me to believe that, cad or not, he supplies a need in your life for someone to care for, and perhaps you feel better with him than without him.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 25, the mother of three children, and have recently left the hospital after an operation. The doctor says I must go away for a rest, but I don't see how I can leave the children. Besides, I don't believe a wife should go anywhere without her husband and children. If my husband knew of the doctor's advice, I know he'd insist on my going away. I am very nervous.

ANNE J.

ANSWER: While your ideas on leaving husband and children are commendable, there are times when separation is necessary, as in your case where a serious matter of health is involved. For the good of all the family, you should follow your doctor's advice. The Social Service Worker at the hospital you attended will help you find a place to go, and suggest someone to care for your children.

Canadian Actress In London Once Reporter

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—A buxom gal with a yen for men and money is the earthy character portrayed by Canadian actress June Grant in the London production of the Broadway success, "Paint Your Wagon."

Blonde, 26-year-old Miss Grant, born in Truro, N.S., and once a Halifax newspaper reporter, plays the least favored wife of a twice-married Mormon, who brings both women to a gold-rush town where women are scarce. Here the Canadian actress volunteers to be "auctioned off" to a willing horde of would-be husbands.

The part gives Miss Grant plenty of scope for down-to-earth humor, and her talents as an opera singer prove useful in the cathy lyrics that help make the play.

HAD BROADWAY RUN

"Paint Your Wagon" is an American musical by the authors of "Brigadoon." After nine months on Broadway, it now is drawing packed houses to Her Majesty's Theatre in London's West End.

Miss Grant came to Britain in the fall of 1950, hoping to break into London's Royal Opera Company. She had just been awarded a two-year government scholarship for her operatic talents in Canada.

"I found, however, they were not waiting for me with open arms," she said. "But so far I've been lucky."

Miss Grant, who spent five years as a reporter for the Halifax Mail-Star, brought to London $800 of her scholarship money and took lessons from an opera teacher. At £2 a lesson, however, her money ran out fast.

After a spell of typing jobs, she landed a part in the ill-fated poetic musical, "Hassan," staged for the Festival of Britain in 1951. It lasted just three weeks and Miss Grant went back to typing. She also filled radio and television jobs before starting a year's tour with a lesser opera company in July, 1951, singing lead parts to provincial audiences.

IN LONDON SHOW — June Grant, 26, formerly a Halifax newspaper reporter, plays a leading role in the London musical "Paint Your Wagon." Miss Grant came to Britain in the fall of 1950, hoping to break into London's Royal Opera Company after operatic training in Canada. She filled in at radio and typing jobs and a few shows before landing the role in the the hit show.

TOURED SCOTLAND

This ended in June, 1952, and she toured Scotland, singing Scots ballads and operatic pieces in such places as St. Andrews, Inverness and Greenock. In October she returned to London to find three stage offers awaiting her, the best of which was "Paint Your Wagon."

Now she's all set for a long run, happy that being in London gives her a chance to continue operatic training.

"I'd like to prove to Halifax and my folks that I can make the grade in opera," said Miss Grant, who studied in Canada for five years with Maris Vetra, 25 years a director of Latvian opera. Her folks are now in Backhois, N.S.

There are two other Canadians in the cast of "Paint Your Wagon"—Merrill Todd, a singer from Vancouver, and Winnipeg's Mathew Winsten, a dancer.

The Victoria Cross was instituted by Queen Victoria at the close of the Crimea campaign in 1856.

BUGG—In loving memory of Mr. G. Bugg, who passed away March 16, 1952.

His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a picture to recall,
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
—Lovingly remembered by Ronald Margaret and Norman.

JOHNSON—In loving memory of our dear father, William S. Johnson, who passed away March 16, 1945.

U.S. Tries To Decide If Malenkov Peace Talk Sincere

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eisenhower administration officials today studied Soviet Premier Malenkov's latest words of peace for the answer to this question: Is the new regime in Moscow actually interested in trying to improve relations between Russia and the United States?

Officials said that fundamentally the true test of sincerity would lie in action rather than words, whether spoken by Malenkov or anyone else in Moscow. There are many issues on which the Soviet could demonstrate good intention by specific action, ranging from an easing of tensions in Germany to a Korean armistice.

Nevertheless, top administration officials evidently believe, as State Secretary Dulles said a week ago, that with new personalities in control in Russia and the U. S., there may be new opportunities to work for peace.

Malenkov's assurances of peaceful Soviet policy are being discussed here in the light of this approacn to world affairs.

Some high officials privately suggested that Malenkov's assertions before the Supreme Soviet (parliament) in Moscow Sunday fit into a pattern of reaction to the line which Dulles took in a careful statement he made in New York last week.

END OF ERA

Dulles said the death of Stalin marked the end of an era and that it came shortly after Eisenhower had become president in this country. The world now is entering the Eisenhower era, he said. He expressed the view that Stalin's death, ending his "malignant" influence, would enhance chances for peace.

Malenkov said Sunday there were no controversial issues with the U. S. or any other nation that could not be settled peacefully.

Experts on Soviet relations suggested that what Malenkov said was in most respects about as vague as anything Stalin ever said about peace. But he did specify that he thought issues between Russia and other countries could be settled.

SEVERAL MOTIVES

Experts on Soviet history and conduct said that Malenkov also might be motivated by any of several purposes.

He might want to raise hope in the outside world that Stalin's death would increase the chances for peace and to reassure the Communist world if it is nervous over the change of government control. He might hope to lull and even split the Western alliance or aim primarily at creating a relaxed international atmosphere in which Western European countries would refuse to go through with a European Defence Community and West German rearmament.

He has clear gains to make, some experts say, by appearing one day belligerent and the next day peaceful.

The U. S., British and other Western governments, being committed to get peace if possible though not at any price, are compelled to deal with the situation which Malenkov creates by his olive branch oratory.

At the same time, they cannot afford to permit Soviet manoeuvres which may be thoroughly insincere to delay building defences against that world-wide expansion of Communist power still assumed to be the dominant aim and purpose of all Russian policy.

OBITUARIES

ROLALD JOSEPH HOPKINS

Ronald Joseph Hopkins, three month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Hopkins of RR 2, Peterborough, died Saturday at the Sick Children's Hospital, Toronto. He had been ill for the past month.

Surviving is one sister, Suzanne, and his grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Johston of Fenelon Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Hopkins of Niagara Falls. His mother was the former Aula H. Johnston.

Funeral service will be conducted Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock from the Kaye funeral home by Rev. A. A. Mathews of George Street United Church.

Burial will be in Emily cemetery.

MISS EDITH JANE SMITH

A resident of Peterborough for the past 65 years, Miss Edith Jane Smith died suddenly Sunday at the home of her niece, Mrs. L. H. Gould, 209 London St. She was 83 years old.

Born at Holloway, Ont., daughter of the late Louis Smith and Melissa Ward, Miss Smith was educated at Holloway and Belleville where she attended the Belleville Business College.

For many years a bookkeeper for Walter J. Oke and the Copping Marine Sales, she retired one year ago. She was a very active member of Murray Street Baptist Church up to the time of her death.

Surviving are three nieces, Mrs. L. H. Gould, Mrs. George Dormer and Mrs. Robert Sager, all of Peterborough; and four nephews, Robert Lowry of Peterborough, Jack Smith of Bridgenoth, Scott Lowry of Strathroy and William Lowry of Long Island, New York.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon from the Kaye funeral home by the Rev. Ivan Morgan of the Muray Street Baptist Church.

Burial will be in Little Lake Cemetery.

WALTER R. N. SHARPE

Walter Reginald Neville Sharpe born August 28, 1868, on the pioneer farm in Cavan township near Ida known as "The Pines," died at his home in Nestleton recently.

He was the son of David Sharpe and Emeline Neville. He received his education at Peterborough Collegiate and Belleville Commercial College and then returned to the farm. He built a home on a near-by farm belonging to the estate, and was a meticulous farmer.

He married Etta Stewart who predeceased him in March, 1936. Eventually farm duties became too heavy and he purchased a home in Nestleton village where he spent eight of the happiest years of his life. He enjoyed his home, his friends, his neighbours, books, flowers and everything that grew. In short, he liked to live.

He leaves one brother, Bruce, on homestead, and one sister Mrs. R. S. Staples (Ethel) Cavan. He was buried in St. John's cemtery at Ida and chose for bearers six of his nephews, R. A. and Gordon Staples, David and Henry Sharpe, and Arthur and Ray Stewart.

He was a faithful member of the United Church of Canada.

MRS JAMES REYNOLDS

CAMPBELLFORD — (ENS) — Mrs. James Reynolds, 70, of Campbellford, died at her residence Sunday, following a lengthy illness. Mrs. Reynolds was born and educated in Seymour township, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown.

She is survived by her husband, and two sons; Robert Reynolds of Campbellford and Henry Reynolds of Pontypool and three brothers, Hiram, Frank and Charles Brown; and one sister, Mrs. Edward Guthrie (Minnie) of Toronto. Mrs. Reynolds was a member of the Warkworth Baptist Church.

The funeral service will be held at the Allen funeral home in Warkworth on Tuesday at 2 p.m. The Rev. A. L. Sisco, minister of Tweed United Church will officiate and burial will be in the Mount Pleasant cemetery, Campbellford.

MRS. FREDERICK DEYELL

The death occurred on Sunday, March 15, of Mary Elizabeth Deyell, wife of the late Frederick Deyell, at Oxbow Hospital, Oxbow, Sask. Mrs. Deyell was the daughter of the late Robert A. Deyell and Letitia Stewart of Otonabee. She leaves to mourn her loss her daughter Mrs. W. Colbeck (Leta) and her son Ralph, both of Alameda, Sask. Three sisters also survive, Mrs. A. T. Mawhinney (Ethel) of Frobisher, Sask., Mrs. Wm. Hanbidge (Elsie) and Mrs. B. W. Wood (Mildred) of Peterborough.

GRAEME FRASER

Graeme Fraser Club Speaker

Graeme Fraser, vice-president of the Crawley Films of Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal, will be the guest speaker Tuesday at the Peterborough Sales and Advertising Club's monthly meeting at the Empress Hotel.

After the Second World War during which he rose from a private to a major while serving five years in Europe, Mr. Fraser joined the Crawley Films Company. He is now vice-president in charge of sales and advertising.

Mr. Fraser recently completed a three-year term as vice-president of the Federation of Canadian Advertising and Sales Clubs. His other commitments include: president of the 800-member Ottawa Film Society; chairman of the national committee on public relations, St. John Ambulance Association; member of the advisory committee on public relations, Canadian International Trade Fair; member of the national committee on public relations, Dominion Boy Scouts Association; director for both the Canadian Film Institute and Canadian Film Producers' Association; the Rotary; past-president of the Advertising and Sales club of Ottawa.

Driver Pleads Guilty To Impaired Charge

Convictions were registered on two of three charges against Lawrence Quinlan of Madoc, today, when he appeared in Magistrate's Court. He was fined $50 and $2.50 costs on an impaired charge and $15 and $2.50 costs on a charge of having liquor in an illegal place.

A third charge of careless driving was dismissed when Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, offered no evidence.

The charges arose out of an occurrence March 14 investigated by OPP Constable Kennth Barber. Patrolling the River Road in Otonabee township, Constable Barber found Quinlan lying in the front seat of a ditched car.

In the witness box, the police officer said the defendant appeared to be in an intoxicated condition and when awakened, staggered. A beer bottle was found on the car's floor partially filled.

According to Constable Barber, Quinlan had been driving south on the road and, upon attempting to make a left turn, missed the roadway and ended in the ditch.

Quinlan pleaded guilty to both the impaired driving and having liquor charges while Magistrate W. Russell Philp dismissed the third charge.

"We will be lucky if we have 50 per cent of the returns by the closing banquet." Woodrow Roberts, chairman of the Retail Division, said.

Mr. Roberts was a little more optimistic about results, but he expected that it would take two more weeks after Wednesday to clean up his division's work.

SOME GIVERS AWAY

"We will do better than last year," Samuel Whitehouse, chairman of the Special Names Division reported. "But we are having troubles with Florida trips interfering with our division's campaign."

The divisions totals released by the fund office and campaign objectives are: Special Names $13,170 ($27,850); Industrial $33,895 ($41,800); Retail $4,981 ($19,250); Women's $4,237 ($5,500); Penny-A-Day $697 ($600.

Thousands Czechs Pass Coffin Of Dead Gottwald

VIENNA (AP)—Prague radio said thousands of mourning Czechs began passing by the bier of President Klement Gottwald in Hradcany castle at noon today.

A state funeral will be held Thursday for the dictator-president of Communist Czechoslovakia who died Saturday. All work will be stopped throughout the country for the opening five minutes of the services set for 1 p.m. (6 a.m. EST). The body will lie in state in the castle until then.

The national observance for Gottwald will be a small-scale version of the elaborate Russian observance last week for his Communist comrade, Joseph Stalin. Gottwald attended the outdoor services for Stalin in freezing weather in the Soviet capital's Red Square—and there apparently caught the cold that developed into pneumonia with complications and resulted in his death.

Gottwald's place of burial was not announced.

Nor was there any announcement of the successor to Gottwald's dictatorial control over the Czech government, the all-powerful Communist party and the army and police.

Observers here speculated that the authority might be split among several top Reds. The presidency, possibly turned into a figure-head position, might go to 75-year-old Vice-Premier Zdenek Nejedly.

FOUR HEIRS

The four-man commission appointed to make funeral arrangements was looked upon as the likely heir to actual authority.

Heading the commission is Premier Antonin Zapotocky, apparently the top contender for the highest power. The others on the commission are:

Alexei Cepicka, defence minister and son-in-law of Gottwald, possibly the new army commander-in-chief.

Vice-Premier Vilem Siroky, former foreign minister, who may share government and party authority.

Karol Bacilek, minister of national security. He may continue running the police and border guards.

Any struggle for power among the four might not be revealed beyond the inner circle for many months. A new purge could be necessary before consolidation of power in one man.

Czechoslovakia already has been torn by two drastic cleanups in five years and thousands of office holders and party members have been arrested or thrown out. The latest purge centred around the recent trial and execution of former Communist boss Rudolf Slansky.

MESSAGE FROM HUNGARY

The Budapest radio reported Sunday that Hungary's Prime Minister Matyas Rakosi called on the Czechoslovak minister in the Hungarian capital to convey condolences on Gottwald's death.

This was the first mention that Rakosi had returned home from Stalin's funeral. Failure of the Hungarian radio to mention his whereabouts all last week had aroused speculation that he might have been detained by the Kremlin.

Since a recent wave of anti-Semitism in Iron Curtain countries, Rakosi and other Jews have been considered in a precarious position politically.

4,500 GE Men Strike In U.S.

CINCINNATI (AP)—A second strike today hit the General Electric Company's plant at suburban Evendale, where one strike has already tied up for two days production of a big share of the air force's jet engines.

About 4,500 CIO United Auto Workers went on strike at 12:01 a. m. (EST) today and their pickets joined those of the AFL International Association of Machinists.

The auto workers actually had stayed off the job since 12:01 a. m. Saturday when the 1,100 machinists posted pickets.

Air force and defence department officials had let it be known that they were "much concerned" over the strikes.

A CIO-UAW official, Wise W. Stone, told a reporter:

"I can't conceive of the strike being a long, drawn-out affair, because of the importance of the product being turned out."

He said the auto workers were asking sevep or eight cents more than the six-to-eight-cent hourly increase offered by GE, and that they wanted the pay hike retroactive to May 15, 1952.

He said that the CIO workers' pay scale, including the offer made by GE, would run from $1.51 to $2.31 an hour.

The machinists' present scale was reported as $1.51 to $2.33½ hourly.

Strapless Gowns Banned In Orchestra

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — The city orchestra has banned strapless evening gowns for lady musicians in the cause of dignity.

"As a precaution" it insists in new contracts operating from next April that the orchestra manager must approve lady members' dresses before they appear at orchestral concerts.

To Destroy Pigeons

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — City health officials have begun an attack to rid Indianapolis of one of the blights of metropolitan areas—vast flocks of pigeons. Dr. Henry Nester said an estimated 50,000 semi-tame pigeons are loose in the city's downtown area and said 10 per cent of them are infected with parrot disease, or psittacosis. He blamed the disease, which causes nausea and fever in humans and in severe cases is responsible for bronchial pneumonia, for many of the stubborn influenza outbreaks during the last winter.

Masses In Poverty

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—President Getulio Vargas told Congress Sunday that the greater part of the Brazilian masses, especially in the interior, live under deplorable conditions. This, he added, is a "menace to social peace." The president, addressing Congress at the opening of its regular session, called on everybody for sacrifice and hard work to achieving faster, more balanced development in the country.

Pilots "Clay Pigeons"

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg said Sunday night he is "fed up with our boys being used as clay pigeons" by Communist plane pilots in Europe. "I'm worried about it," said Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, in speaking at a press conference of the situation which saw two planes, one U.S. and one British, shot down by the Reds in Germany last week.

Sirens Ready

VANCOUVER (CP) — Twenty-eight air raid sirens will be installed here by the end of the month, civil defence officials reported. Mounted on firehalls and schools, they cost $20,120, of which the federal government contributes $14,120.

Missing Tugs Found Tied Up Safely

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Two Lake Superior fishing boats, the R. V. H. and Roamer, missing since Friday, were found early today tied up at North Twin in the Apostle Islands group.

The U. S. Coast Guard at Duluth said a private plane from Bayfield, Wis. had flown over the boats at low altitude and identified them. The 35-foot boats apparently sought refuge from strong wind.

Mackell Best Player In Game On Home Ice

BOSTON (CP)—Fleming Mackell, 23, Boston Bruins centre, today was voted the Elizabeth C. Dufresne Trophy for the most outstanding hockey player in home games.

The award, voted by press and radio, will be presented to the Montreal-born player next Sunday night before the Toronto game.

Mackell has scored 25 goals and has 18 assists this season in the National Hockey League.

Five Convictions On Liquor Counts

Fines totalled $50 in Magistrate's Court today when five convictions were registered on liquor charges.

Pleading guilty to charges of being intoxicated were William R. Turner, of RR 8, Peterborough, Mrs. Marion Beech, of Millbrook; Jordan Detlor, of 689 Lansdowne St., and Stanley Payne, of 644 McKellar St.

They each paid $10 and $2.50 costs.

A fifth defendant, Jack Loucks, of 301 Townsend St., pleaded guilty to a charge of having liquor in an illegal place. He was also fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

Joseph J. Clancy

The funeral service for Joseph J. Clancy, 70, of 99 Rubidge St., who died Saturday after a long illness, was held today at Sacred Heart Church at 9 a.m. The Rev. G. F. Sullivan conducted the requiem mass. The Rt. Rev. P. P. Butler was also present at the service.

Pallbearers were his six nephews, Edward, Gerald, William, John, Reginald and Edward Clancy all of Peterborough. Burial was in St. Peter's cemetery and the Rev. G. V. Vaughan said the graveside service.

Riot Put Down

CROWNSVILLE, Md. (AP)—Four men tried to spark a riot Sunday night at the Crownsville state hospital for insane criminals, but the disturbance was nipped in the bud. Dr. Arnold Eichert, superintendent, said there were no injuries or escapes at the institution, where rioting flared last month when inmates wrecked and set fire to furniture.

American Merchant Fleet Leads World; Operates Third Of Shipping

WASHINGTON (AP)—The maritime administration said today the United States, which ranked second as a merchant marine country before the war, now ranks first, with nearly a third of the world's commercial shipping.

The report disclosed that U. S. shipping grew 335 per cent during the Second World War, but has declined about a third since.

Russia's merchant fleet (including ships of Latvian and Estonian registry) had the second biggest growth during the war—70 per cent.

The British Empire fleet was the only other major shipping group to come out of the war bigger than before. Despite war losses of 11,500,000 tons (out of 14,500,000 sunk by enemy action) the British Empire fleet was 2-per-cent larger June 30, 1946, than on Sept. 1, 1939.

Italy suffered the largest proportionate war loss—82 per cent. Losses of the other major merchant shipping powers in the world, the maritime administration said, were:

WORLD LOSSES

Germany, 80 per cent; Japan, 79 per cent; Greece, 64 per cent; France, 49 per cent; Netherlands, 46 per cent; Norway, 35 per cent; all other countries 11 per cent.

As a whole, world commercial shipping at the end of the Second World War was 21-per-cent larger than it began—from 12,798 ships totalling 58,270,000 tons to 12,445 ships totalling 71,000,000 tons.

This tonnage growth despite fewer ships was emphasized in the martime administration's summary of shipping changes during the 13 years to the end of 1951. It said:

"There were more freighters and tankers, though less passenger ships, at the close of 1951, than there were at the outbreak of war in 1939. Ships generally are newer, larger and faster. Specialized types are being built in rising numbers to carry petroleum products, iron ore, bauxite and other commodities in world commerce."

BUILT 33,500,000 TONS

During the war, the report said, the United States built and delivered to U. S. and foreign fleets 33,500,000 tons of shipping. This was four times the size of the U. S. fleet before the Second World War, with changes for June 30, 1946, and Dec. 31, 1951:

British Empire — 17,771,000, 18,064,000 and 18,844,000;

United States—8,126,000; 35,364,000 and 25,208,000;

Japan—5,102,000, 1,086,00 and 2,087,000;

Norway—4,499,000, 2,934,000 and 5,470,000;

Germany—3,916,000, 801,000 and 841,000;

Italy—3,178,000, 576,000 and 2,862,000;

France—2,678,000, 1,371,000 and 3,109,000;

Netherlands — 2,670,000, 1,591,000 and 2,882,000;

Greece—1,698,000, 619,000 and 1,200,000;

U.S.S.R.—1,135,000, 1,917,000 and 1,973,000.

Euchre Party Held By Women's Institute

COLDSPRINGS (ENS) — The Women's Institute sponsored a euchre party Saturday night in the hall. Sixteen tables were played.

High prizes went to Mrs. Nixon Timlin and Harold West. Low score prizes to Mrs. James Rosevear and Larry McIntosh. Johnny Beedham won the most lone hands prize. Mrs. Elmer May was in charge. Lunch was served.

AWARDED AMERICAN DFC — Two Canadian fighter pilots who have completed a tour of operations against the Communists in Korea, have been awarded the American Distinguished Flying Cross. They are Flight Lieutenant Ernest Glover, of Leaside, who was earlier this year awarded the DFC by Her Majesty the Queen, and F-L Claude Lafrance (above), of Chateau d'Eau, P.Q. F-L Glover was officially credited with three MiG 15 aircraft destroyed and two others seriously damaged during his 50 mission tour. F-L Lafrance distinguished himself by outstanding skill and bravery when he sighted two MiGs, shooting down one and driving the other across the Yalu River, returning to his base on minimum fuel supply. —(National Defence Photo).

CAHA Announces Alexander Finals

MIDLAND (CP)—George S. Dudley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association today announced a playoff for the Alexander Cup, symbolic of Canada's Major hockey championship.

In view of the suspension of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, the winners of the Maritime Major Hockey League title will meet the Allan Cup champions in a playoff for the trophy.

The QSHL was suspended from the CAHA when it supported the parent Quebec Amateur Hockey Association in a dispute over a player suspended by the CAHA. All teams affiliated with the Quebec body now are under suspension from the Dominion group.

Flu Closes Schools

BELGRADE (Reuters)—Western Europe's influenza epidemic, which has passed its peak with the arrival of spring weather, has closed all schools at Nish, biggest city in central Serbia, for one week. No deaths have been reported.

European Newspapers Not Impressed By Malenkov Peace Talk

PARIS (Reuters)—Georgi Malenkov, Stalin's successor, left most Western observers wondering over his cryptic "peace" message delivered Sunday to the supreme Soviet legislative body.

French newspapers today generally gave it a cool reception.

Most considered Malenkov's words would have been more convincing without the recent shooting-down of American and British planes in Germany by Russian and Czech fighters—Malenkov failed to mention them.

The Socialist Le Populaire wrote: "To Malenkov's statements proclaiming Russia's will to peace and the possibility of co-existence of the Stalinized world and the Free world, the bursts of machine-gun fire of the MiGs reply like a sarcastic and sinister echo."

"A grinning and criminal farce," it said.

Action, not words, are needed on Korea, Indo-China, the Austrian treaty, disarmament and control of atomic energy before the West will be convinced, said the Conservative Figaro of Paris.

In Britain, press reception was mainly coal.

But the Conservative Yorkshire Post saw some hope: "Few as they were, Mr. Malenkov's words to the supreme Soviet constituted a statement that deserves to be carefully weighed."

The London Daily Telegraph, also a Conservative paper, reasoned Malenkov is playing for time until he feels his own job is secure.

"Mr. Malenkov's repeated though purely tactical, appeals for peace are signs of the plain common sense of the situation," it said.

The Conservative Daily Mail, declared: "Though Malenkov speaks softly his airmen behave brutally.

"It is hard to square his peaceful sentiments with the shooting down of an unarmed bomber or the 'buzzing' of a British civil aircraft by Russian pilots."

The battlemented roof, with its rows of niches for figurines and saints contrasts oddly with the modern architecture around the neighborhood. The bright and attractive interior decor is Churrigueresque and Mudejar styles; the former in exhuberant carvings on the fine fountain in the patio, slender pillars, upper balconies, etc., and the latter in the polychromatic tiles of the grand stairway, etc. The tiled panels of the stairs carry armorial bearings of several occupants during the vice-regal period.

ROOF GARDEN VIEW

The Majestic Hotel Roof Garden was excellent for breakfasts and dinners. For seven pesos, 25 centavos (about 80 cents) I had orange juice or fruit, 2 eggs, toast or sweet buns and tea. Tea in Mexico is Ceylon tea and is served clear with a lime to squeeze in it. You can sit in the roof garden and watch the teeming life of the Zocalo and the Cathedral.

Another original place is the Bali Bar, Ave. Oaxaca. It is small, but most attractive. The decorations are in tropical style and there are huge palm trees and the walls are painted with tropical scenes. It is noted for the way it serves its drinks. One of the most popular is the pineapple drink. The pineapple is cut in two and the bottom half partly scooped out. A mixture of Jamaica rum and lime juice is whipped up like a milk shake and poured in. The top of the pineapple is replaced and a pink carnation stuck among the leaves and a little Japanese umbrella. The straws for the drink go through a little hole in the side of the pineapple. The same procedure was followed with coconuts and something similar with an orange drink. They serve excellent dinners as well and have a good pianist.

In Mexico you have to change the clock for your stomach, too. Mexicans have dinner at noon anywhere from 1:30 to 4:30. Then a lighter supper in the evening not before 8 p.m. up to 10 o'clock. If you go into a place before or at 8 p.m., you practically have it to yourself. The same with night clubs. If you go at 10 p.m. they tell you you are there to clean up and open the place. On weekends, Mexicans will go to three or four night clubs to catch the shows which are good. Then they end up at some small place for soup which serves as an antidote. It looks strange to see limousines parked in front of such spots.

There are all kinds of French, German, Italian and Mexican restaurants equally good and I hope to try some more when I return to Mexico City.

Discoverer Of Noranda E. H. Horne Dies In Halifax

HALIFAX (CP)—Edmund Henry Horne, discoverer of the great Noranda base metals field in northern Quebec, died in hospital here Sunday in his 68th year.

He was born at Enfield, N. S., and from early manhood devoted his life to prospecting. After taking part in early gold mining developments in this province he went west.

He struck Noranda after a 40-year search for gold that led him from Colorado and Nevada to California and British Columbia and up into the wilds of Labrador.

Before today's Labrador iron ore development was thought of, he predicted the resources of that region would one day be harnessed in a big undertaking. "There is more iron ore there than in the rest of the world," he once said, "but it was only a nuisance to me. I couldn't use a compass over that ground. It wouldn't work."

From Labrador he crossed into Northern Ontario, rounded James Bay and travelled up the west side of Hudson Bay before returning to Noranda.

He was nearly 60 at the time of the strike, on his last grubstake and exhausted from the long overland haul.

TREMENDOUS YIELD

It's estimated that Noranda's gold and copper have yielded stockholders more than $120,000,000 in dividends. Ed Horne himself sold his option for $280,000, got married and returned to Enfield where he ended his days as a successful dairy farmer.

He cleared 400 acres of rocky land for his model farm, built a $5,000 school and a residence for its teachers.

In one of his barns he kept the canoe he used on his last and most successful prospecting journey.

He is survived by his widow, the former Ann Sheib of Detroit. There are no children. Funeral services will be held in Enfield Wednesday.

Legion Hall Burns

UXBRIDGE (CP)—The $20,000 Canadian Legion hall in this town 30 miles northeast of Toronto was gutted by fire 20 minutes after 60 teen-agers had ended their Saturday night dance. While firemen fought the blaze, the roof and north wall collapsed. Police blamed defective wiring for the fire.

Windsor Girl Wins $1,400 Scholarship

KINGSTON (CP)—Llewellya W. Hillis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Hillis of Windsor, Ont., has won the $1,400 Martag Memorial scholarship. The announcement was made by Prof. Mary Macdonell, convenor of the award committee at Queen's University.

The scholarship, awarded annually, honors the memory of the late Dr. Aletta Marty, former Toronto educationist.

Miss Hillis, on graduation in 1948 from Walkerville Collegiate Institute, placed third in the provincial examinations for the county of Essex and entered Queen's University with the Knight scholarship in biology.

Liberals To Call New Election "In Few Months"

OTTAWA—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has members of the Commons guessing again as to when they will face an election. In his strongest forecast to date, Mr. St. Laurent told the Commons Monday that the record of his Liberal government will be placed before the Canadian people "within the next few months". He made his statement before joining with his supporters to defeat Progressive Conservative and CCF motions of non-confidence in the government. The divisions came at the end of a three-week wide-ranging debate on the 1953-54 budget. The Progressive Conservative motion was defeated by 101 to 47; the CCF by 108 to 44.

Mr. St. Laurent's statement was interpreted as meaning the election will be called this year although the life of the present Parliament does not expire until Aug. 25, 1954.

Some have been predicting the election will come in August or October; others have suggested the spring of 1954.

In the wake of Mr. St. Laurent's hint, observers were mentioning several Mondays in August, September and October as possible dates, but the favorite appeared to remain Monday, Oct. 5.

FOLLOWS CHARGES

Mr. St. Laurent, without indicating whether he has picked a date, made his statement after George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, reiterated charges that there is waste, extravagance and inefficiency in the government.

Mr. Drew said the government should consent to an investigation of its administration. It should admit there had been waste and extravagance as evidenced by the Currie report and give assurance that corrective steps were being taken.

Mr. St. Laurent replied the government is not going to bolster the "insufficiency" of the opposition argument by agreeing it has been doing an inefficient job, that it has been wasteful or extravagant.

"We are going to submit, within the next few months, that matter to the Canadian electorate" said Mr. St. Laurent amid cheers by his Liberal supporters, "and the honorable gentlemen will have every opportunity of expressing their views about our administration.

"PRETTY GOOD JOB"

"We think we have done a pretty good job. There are lots of people who are not in the official opposition who also think we have done a pretty good job.

"Some of them do not happen to be Canadian taxpayers, but some of them do happen to be Canadian taxpayers. While we may be very conceited we have the conceit that the kind of job we have been doing is the kind of job we can go out to our fellow Canadian citizens and attempt to justify."

The Commons standing: Liberals 184; Progressive Conservatives 48; CCF 13; Social Credit 10; Independent Liberal 1; Independent 4; vacant 2: total 262.

Defeat of the non-confidence motions clears the way for detailed study of the tax changes proposed in the budget presented to the Commons Feb. 19 by Finance Minister Abbott.

Scattered Boos Greet Tito In Palace Visit

LONDON (CP)—Scattered boos greeted Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia today when he arrived at Buckingham Palace for lunch with the Queen and high government leaders.

Several hundred spectators standing in warm spring sunshine outside the palace saw the stocky Balkan leader drive through the wide gates in his bullet-proof car with heavy police escort. Some spectators booed while others stood silent.

Tito switched from a dark grey business suit to his dazzling naval uniform of blue, red and gold for the palace visit after a morning of sight-seeing.

He was received by the Queen in an audience room on the ground floor and then joined 25 distinguished Britons for lunch. There he drank toasts of friendship with Princess Margaret, Queen Mother Elizabeth, Prime Minister Churchill, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Socialist leader Clement Attlee and many others.

FIRST FOR TITO

The booing was the first in London for the man who led his nation out of the Iron Curtain five years ago.

Upon his arrival in London Monday, the crowds were silent but cheered him later when he placed a wreath on a war memorial. Last night, a Yugoslav royalist group held a "Tito go home" meeting and sent a protest to the Yugoslav embassy.

The greatest security measures ever invoked in peacetime London protected Tito on his tourist rounds this morning—the marshal's first good look at the Western world. In his 60 years, he has never before visited Western Europe.

MAKES SOCIAL GRADE

The meeting with the Queen served as a clear sign to the world—the Kremlin included—that the Yugoslav dictator has made the grade socially in the West.

It also marked the first time the Queen has sat across a luncheon table from a wartime Communist guerrilla chieftain turned dictator. But in this cold war period Tito is a dictator with a difference—he is feuding with Russia.

Tito drove to the palace after taking in the British museum and the ancient tower of London. A heavy police guard surrounded him on the rubbernecking visit to some of the great tourist sights of the city. It was done at high speed. The tour lasted 70 minutes.

After his visit to the Queen, he was to call at the London county council, the local governing body of the city.

Reporters and photographers travelling with the party were ordered to approach no closer than eight yards to the closely-guarded visitor.

BY THE TILT OF ME HAT you can see I'm Irish, says Jimmy Coughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Coughlin, Douro township, as he poses proudly with a young pig, for centuries symbol of good luck for the Celtic people. Today on St. Patrick's Day, all Irish in Peterborough and across the nation and around the world plus their admirers are celebrating by wearing a bit of green like a banner. Tough Policy Sounds Peace Knell

U.S. Senator Scores Bids For Showdown From Two Colleagues

WASHINGTON (AP) —Senator John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, a former United Nations delegate, said today that the sort of get-tough policy toward the Soviet Union urged by two of his fellow Republicans would sound the "death knell" to any hopes of peaceful settlement with the Russians.

Senator William Knowland (Rep. Calif.) told the Senate Monday the United States should immediately seek to persuade the United Nations to brand Russia as an aggressor in Korea.

Knowland advocated the action as part of a program to bring an immediate cold war showdown with the Communists. A second point would be a request from the United States that all UN members withdraw recognition of Red China; several have extended such recognition. A third was a complete blockade of Red China.

URGES FIRM STAND

Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep. Mich.), appearing on a radio program Monday night, said the UN should take a firm stand toward what he termed "treason by Russia to the United Nations."

Ferguson said he disagreed with Cooper's contention that a get-tough policy might touch off a world war, and he added: "I can't see that we can cause Russia to take any step she doesn't want to take when she wants to take it."

Knowland is chairman of the Republican policy committee, but he emphasized Monday he was voicing only his own convictions.

He took the floor the day after Georgi Malenkov, the new Soviet prime minister, said peaceful settlement of the issues between the U. S. and Russia was possible. Knowland's comment: "Deeds rather than words would be more impressive."

DIM VIEW

Ferguson, saying he took "a very dim view" of Malenkov's speech, declared:

"Communism is really a religion of promises. They operate by promises."

Knowland's thesis was promptly challenged on the Senate floor by U. S. delegate to UN general assemblies.

The Kentucky senator expanded his views today in an interview.

Cooper expressed fear that the Knowland proposal "would really lead to outright war with Russia." He later edited that in the Congressional Record to substitute "could" for "would."

However, in the interview he said "the effect would be the death knell of any possibility of peaceful settlement with the Russians."

TV, Radio Blackout Imposed, Bomb Said Small

By BILL BECKER

ATOM BOMB SITE, Nev.—(AP)—A low, fiery atomic explosion heralded the cold dawn today on Yucca Flat and reverberated around the rugged mountains of Nevada proving ground. The big blast came at 5:20 a.m. PST (8:20 a.m. EST). The detonation, from a 300-foot tower in the middle of the flat, was not nearly as spectacular as last year's invitational shot. But it undoubtedly gave the 1,000 U.S. troops only two miles away a thorough jolt. This was closest for humans since the Hiroshima and Nagasaki blasts of 1945. The shock hit observers on News Nob, seven miles distant, with rifle-shot impact. There was no heat felt by observers at this point.

TV and radio were blacked out on the actual shot, for reasons not immediately explained here. TV networks had hoped to carry the actual picture into millions of homes across the country and parts of Canada.

ALL WELL

First reports from up front indicated that all troops and 20 newspaper men came through "in fine shape."

The closer of two civil defence houses being tested was believed to be smashed, but a light appeared to be burning in the vicinity of the more distant house, 7,500 feet from the tower. The two $20,000 two-storey homes were erected to help architects design houses with maximum protection.

After the first flash, the characteristic white cottony cloud formed quickly. As it rose to perhaps 13,000 feet, an ice cap appeared atop the big ball.

PECULIAR DETONATION

The peculiar detonation set up a drumlike cacophony that richocheted around the vast perimeter of the test ground. Within 19 minutes, wind swept the cloud southeastward, with its dirty grey highlighted by the first early rose gleams of the rising sun.

By that time the top was reported at 40,000 feet.

At first, the low purplish burst sucked up dust and dirt from the desert floor into an angry, brown mushroom. Dust swept eastward along the desert floor finally obscured both test houses. The tower from which the device was set off was believed vaporized.

Of the dozen atomic explosions viewed by this observer, this was one of the smallest. The fireball's brilliance was less and it appeared smaller than most. The AEC announced beforehand that it would have an energy output equal to 15,000 tons of TNT.

As the dust on the proving ground cleared, trucks carrying the troops from their forward positions could be seen moving slowly towards their manoeuvre objective many minutes after the blast.

EFFECT OF WIND

George B. Owen, Arizona's civil defence director, said that in his opinion today's blast "proves that wind currents would have a definite effect on rescue problems."

He said the cloud did not lift

Churchill Says Plane Over West When Shot Down

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill said today the RAF Lincoln bomber "mercilessly destroyed" by Russian MiGs last week was over West Germany when it was shot down.

He told the House of Commons destruction of the unarmed bomber with loss of all seven crew members was "a cruel and wanton attack."

The plane might have strayed over Communist zone territory at one time through a navigational error, he said.

"But the evidence of ground observers, and the spent cannon shells from the Russian fighters picked up in the Western zone prove that the Russians repeatedly fired on the Lincoln and mercilessly destroyed it when it was actually west of and within the Allied zonal frontier."

NOT ARMED

Churchill's statement was approved in advance of its delivery at a cabinet meeting this morning.

"On training missions when not engaged in gunnery practice, our aircraft have hitherto carried no ammunition," Churchill said. "The Russian assertion that the Lincoln opened fire on them is utterly untrue.

"Thus it was actually over our zone when first and mortally fired on and the lives of seven British airmen were callously taken for a navigational mistake in process of correction which could have been dealt with by the usual method of protest and inquiry."

Government Lifts Curbs On Metals

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada today lifted government controls on the purchase and sale of primary copper and aluminum.

For the first time since 1951, there will be no need for anyone buying or selling these essential metals to obtain government approval.

The controls were instituted early in 1951 to ensure a supply of these metals for defence and defence-supporting projects as well as to meet Canada's commitments to other nations of the free world, Production Minister Howe said in making the announcement.

"With the increased production now available, the present needs of both defence and civilian consumers can be met, so the controls are lifted," he added.

Copper and aluminum companies will still have to report their sales distribution to the production department. This will allow the government to keep an eye on metal movements and destinations.

Today's order is in line with government policy to gradually decontrol all restrictions on essential materials as scarcities are eliminated.

There still are some controls on steel imports and on the sale and distribution of nickel.

U.K. Rejects Bid To Barter Two Prisoners

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill flatly rejected today a Communist proposal to barter a British business man in a Hungarian prison for a Communist girl guerrilla held by the British in Malaya.

Churchill told the House of Commons that members of his government, "after earnest consideration, had decided they could not entertain the proposal" advanced by Hungary's Red regime.

The decision blasted the hope of Mrs. Winifred Sanders, whose husband Edgar Sanders now is serving a 13-year prison term on espionage charges.

RED OFFER

The Communists had offered to release Sanders if Britain would free Lee Meng, a Chinese woman guerrilla held in Malaya.

The offer was made while Lee Meng was under sentence of death for carrying a hand grenade. At the time, Churchill rejected the offer, saying it might be reconsidered after the question of Lee Meng's death sentence had been settled.

Since then, Lee Meng's sentence has been commuted to life imprisonment.

Mau Mau Terrorism Grows In Bigger Towns Of Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters)—Mau Mau gangsterism is increasing in Kenya's bigger towns, senior police officials report. The pattern of the terror campaign is changing. Instead of purely guerrilla action in the forests and tribal reserves, there are more planned murders and attacks in the built-up areas.

The government campaign against the anti-white Mau Mau thugs—whose main victims are Africans or Asians who co-operate with the whites—is also changing. More troops are being brought in to strengthen the colonial government's hand. During the week-end nine Mau Mau men were killed, another 12 were killed and more than 100 captured Monday in the Fort Hall and Nyeri bush country.

POLICE POWERLESS

But in the teeming African shantytown "locations" in the cities and towns, the police are virtually powerless. They cannot prevent the terrorists from moving among the people and finding hideouts from which to run their campaign of intimidation.

The terrorists infiltrate from the forests to the tribal reserves and then work their way into the cities and towns. An Asian policeman was shot in broad daylight here Sunday and it is believed this was intended by the terrorists as a move to demonstrate how strong they are.

Clear Two Men In Gold Robbery

TORONTO (CP)—Hope that the solution of last September's $214,000 gold robbery mystery was in sight faded Monday.

Earlier police in Vancouver announced that on the strength of "wanted" posters, they were holding two Toronto men for questioning in connection with the gold theft at nearby Malton. They identified them as William Kenneth Pinkney and Leonard Gordon Sisco, both 21.

After investigation, they said Sisco has been cleared of any connection with the gold robbery. They also said Pinkney is not being held on the gold charge.

The earlier reports from Vancouver puzzled RCMP officials in Toronto, who said they distributed no pictures after the robbery.

The Malton airport gold robbery has baffled police. The six gold bars destined for Swiss and British banks vanished from a Trans-Canada Air Lines Toronto-to-Montreal shipment Sept. 25. A $13,000 reward was posted.

The theft was not discovered until the cargo reached Montreal, giving the thieves a half-day start. Police believe the gold was taken across the border and sold in the United States.

Charge Trainer With Nuisance

SIMCOE (CP)—Kenneth Hill, the animal trainer whose arm was amputated March 10 after a mauling by his lioness, Goldie, was summoned today to appear in Norfolk court March 26.

He will face a charge of criminal common nuisance for allegedly leaving one lion and two lionesses unattended in a driveway outside a hotel. The charge comes under section 222 of the Criminal Code.

Hill is reported to be recovering in hospital here and is scheduled to be discharged shortly.

The three animals are being cared for at a farm near here, along with a bear belonging to Hill.

Man Slashes Girl, Father In Restaurant

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Police say a 25-year-old waitress and her father were slashed with a razor in a restaurant Monday night.

They say a man entered by a rear door about midnight, dashed into the kitchen and attacked the man and girl.

Police are holding a man in connection with the case.

Thirty stitches were required to close the girl's wounds and 26 for her father's.

Canadian Survives Jet Crash Over Japan

TOKYO (CP)—Two F-84 Thunderjet pilots, one of them a Canadian, survived a collision at 20,000 feet over Japan today during a formation defence patrol mission, Far East air force headquarters announced.

Lieut. Walter L. Rudd, a U. S. Air Force pilot whose home is in Emo, Ont., and Lieut. Vernon M. Dauphin of Jacksonville, Fla., parachuted to safety five miles northeast of Chitose on Hokkaido.

A helicopter picked them up. Both were uninjured.

Emo is in northwestern Ontario about 200 miles west of Fort William.

Montgomery To Tour Canadian, U.S. Bases

PARIS (Reuters)—Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery, Allied deputy supreme commander in Europe will leave Britain on March 21 for a month's tour of Canada and the United States, it was announced today.

Travelling by sea, he will arrive in New York March 26. The next day he will visit Washington, where President Eisenhower is expected to receive him. Montgomery will also have talks with State Secretary John Foster Dulles.

He will then tour military installations.

On April 15 he will fly to Ottawa, for talks the same day with Prime Minister St. Laurent.

After visiting Kingston, Hamilton Quebec and Montreal, Montgomery will embark for Britain on the Empress of Scotland on April 24.

Claim Reds Fly Over Northland

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. Air Force officials said Monday night they believe unidentified aircraft, probably Russian, have made infrequent reconnaissance flights over Alaska and the northern parts of Canada.

The officials, asked about published reports that the Red strategic command was making periodic survey flights over North America, said that the probable Russian appearances were "less than intermittent and might more accurately be called scattered."

High air force sources added that no aircraft of possible Russian origin had actually been seen and that none had been intercepted by U. S. planes. One official said that there was considerable evidence, however, that some Russian flights had been made.

Prince Rupert Hotel Burns, Fear 13 Dead

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP)—Thirteen persons are feared dead in fire which destroyed the King George Hotel Sunday.

RCMP announced late Monday that five bodies have been recovered from the smoking debris of the apartment hotel and eight other persons are unaccounted for.

The bodies of a woman and two men were found Sunday and the remains of two more men were discovered late Monday. None have been identified.

Australian Jury Acquits Woman In "Mercy Killing"

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—A sobbing woman was acquitted today of the "mercy killing" of her young sister's nine-day-old imbecile baby.

The jury reached its verdict in 10 minutes and Mrs. Grace Savage, 35, went free.

Prosecutor C. V. Rooney said Australian law does not recognize mercy crimes—"but in this case, if the expression mercy killing could be permissible, then Mrs. Savage acted with the purest motive to save her sister whom she loves very much."

The prosecutor told the court that her sister, Mrs. Sara Stobbie, 18, gave birth in hospital to a mongoloid baby doomed to lifelong imbecility.

The parents of the child had agreed to an offer by Mrs. Savage to arrange for its adoption.

BABY HAD FIT

Mrs. Savage testified that she was waiting for a train on her way to seek an adoption home when the infant had a convulsion.

She said she gave it the sleeping tablets to quieten it but the convulsion returned and the child suffocated.

Sobbing bitterly, she said "I tried several places to put such a child where it would get the care and attention it needed. I couldn't get anyone to take it."

Diefenbaker Tells Forum

U.S. Market For Canadian Goods Needed

NEW YORK (CP)—John Diefenbaker, Canadian member of Parliament, today urged an open United States market for Canadian farm products as a necessary defence measure.

"Canada's productive machine for agricultural products must be maintained at high levels in order to meet the eventuality of war," he said in a speech prepared for delivery at New York's Town Hall.

HARD TO JUSTIFY

The Progressive Conservative member for Lake Centre constituency in Saskatchewan said that food tariffs and the embargoes on Canadian dairy products are "hard to justify at a time when both our countries have accepted world responsibilities."

Canada's farmers recognized the world need for food, but feared the problem of surpluses.

FAVORABLE TIME

"I believe that the people of the United States of America are more favorably inclined now than at any time in history to removing unnecessary barriers against the import of Canadian farm products . . . Allowing for their importation would at most make but a two-per-cent impact on the farm economy of the United States."

If a world war came, farm output of all the North Atlantic Treaty countries except Canada and the United States would be reduced or destroyed.

"The closing of United States markets to our agricultural products," he said, "will deny us the maximum preservation of an agricultural economy which we believe should be allowed to grow and expand. . .

NECESSARY ELEMENT

"I believe that farm markets in the United States for Canadian farm products will go far to enable Canada to maintain its agricultural productive plant in these twilight days of peace, and at the same time assure that should the curse of war again be brought upon us, that Canada's agricultural production will be one of the most necessary elements in an all-out and full mobilization for survival."

Wipe Out Reds Attacking Little Gibraltar

SEOUL (CP)—U.S. infantry today virtually wiped out a force of more than 350 Chinese Reds attacking U.S. 2nd division positions on Little Gibraltar hill in Western Korea.

An 8th army briefing officer said 315 Communists were killed or wounded in the bloody, close-quarter battle which raged 7½ hours inside the Allied trench network on Little Gibraltar.

Little Gibraltar had been defended by the Canadians before the Commonwealth division was withdrawn from the line Jan. 31 and placed in reserve for "intensive training in offensive tactics." The U. S. 2nd division took its place

KNOCKDOWN FIGHT

The Chinese attempt to dent the Allied line in the area, about nine miles west of Yonchon, resulted in the heaviest ground fighting in several weeks.

"It was a knockdown, dragout fight for hours," commented a division spokesman.

Two reinforced Chinese companies began the assault at 2 a. m. under cover of a 3,000-round artillery and mortar barrage. The Reds scrambled up Little Gibraltar's slopes and clawed through Allied barbed wire to get into the trenches.

Machine - guns mowed down scores of Chinese on the slope and in the barbed wire. The division spokesman said those who reached the crest were killed, wounded or beaten back by Americans battling with sidearms, grenades, automatic weapons, bayonets and—in some cases—rifle butts.

The spokesman said two more Chinese companies trying to back up the assault were held at bay by a curtain of Allied artillery fire.

COUNT 65 DEAD

The 8th army briefing officer reported later that 65 Chinese dead were counted. Another 130 estimated killed and at least 120 estimated wounded.

It was at Little Gibraltar that the Canadians fought one of their most heroic battles of the Korean war. Last Oct. 23 a company of the 1st battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment held off 1,000 storming Chinese through the night until a RCR counter-attack restored the position the next morning. The bitter fighting lasted seven hours.

Elsewhere on the battle front Allied troops repulsed eight small Communist probing thrusts.

In the air, Allied fighter-bombers ranged over Communist supply lines. The 5th air force reported B-26 bombers hit 32 trucks near Kumchon in north-central Korea.

In Washington, the navy announced it is sending two new types of jets to Korea—both considered a match for the Russian-built MiG-15s. They are the F-9-F6 and F-J-2 Furies, both swept-wing interceptors.

Stocks Stay Mixed, Oils, Industrials Up

TORONTO (CP)—Prices continued mixed in early afternoon stock market trading today with industrials and western oils rising servative non-confidence motion said the government had taken no steps to deal with waste and extravagance; had given no tax relief to those who need it most; had offered no encouragement to the farmer and had refused to permit an independent inquiry into defence department administration and accounting.

By a similar vote of 101 to 47, members adopted a motion to go into committee of ways and means to study the budget resolutions. This vote was tantamount to preliminary approval of the tax changes.

Earlier, members voted against a CCF motion criticizing the government's "rich man's budget" and regretting:

1. That tax cuts were made retroactive to Jan. 1 for corporations but not for income taxpayers
2. That exemption levels were doubled for the corporation tax rate but those for income taxpayers were left unchanged.
3. That credits allowed shareholders for dividends were doubled but no comparable credits were given to workers.

CNR SURPLUS

At the House opening, Transport Minister Chevrier tabled the 1952 report of the government-owned Canadian National Railways. It showed that record operating revenues and a reorganized capital structure enabled the railway to produce a surplus of $142,327, the first since the Second World War.

Members agreed to take only a four-day Easter recess—Friday, April 3, to Monday, April 6, inclusive—in the hope that it will be possible to finish the session by the end of April or early May.

In the debate, backbenchers occupied most of the late stages.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes VC (PC-Nanaimo) said it would be better for all government departments to forgo "palaces" and the troops to forgo some "amenities" rather than wreck the Canadian economy. Swimming pools and gymns should be provided for servicemen. But they could be supplied at less cost.

Candle Burns Fatal

OTTAWA (CP)—An 83-year-old Ottawa widow, Mrs. Annie Grant, was fatally burned in her home Monday when a lighted candle set her dress on fire. Her sister, Mrs. Gertrude Cleland, 71, suffered burns to her arms in a vain attempt to put out the flames. Mrs. Grant was using the candle to look in a dark closet in the apartment she shared with her sister.

Women Parade At Queen's Park, Protest Oils Act

TORONTO (CP)—The government remained silent Monday in the face of pressure from women's groups to soften a bill which would ban the manufacture and sale of edible oils in Ontario.

About 40 women paraded in front of the Parliament Buildings Monday, bearing placards which said "Kill Bill 71" and "This Bill Endangers Children." They stopped members on their way into the building and urged them to vote against the bill. The signs were confiscated before they were allowed in the House.

The bill, an amendment to the Edible Oils Act passed last year but never proclaimed as law, would allow the government to pass orders-in-council affecting all edible oil products except margarine.

The edible oil industry said this would cover peanut butter, mayonnaise, salad oil and other products which have enjoyed unrestricted sale for many years.

Premier Frost said the government had no intention of placing any restrictions on these products. The bill was meant for substitutes for dairy products such as whipping cream, sherbet, ice cream and similar products in which butter fat is otherwise used.

Board Seeks New Secretary

Executive directors of the Peterborough Exhibition Board will assume secretarial-manager duties until a replacement for retiring secretary G. A. Gillespie is found, board directors decided last night.

Meeting in the agricultural board rooms, the directorate moved to advertise for a replacement for Mr. Gillespie.

Executive members who will undertake his duties until a new secretary-manager is found will include President N. W. McConkey, John Kitney, Don Milburn, Harold Milne and M. Cathcart.

Meanwhile, membership in the Ontario Light Horse Breeders' Association will be discussed by the Light Horse Committee of the board, headed by Burritt Mann.

Membership in the organization formed to protect shows from persons who have been disqualified from competition, will cost the exhibition $25 a year.

U Of T Student Refuses Degree

TORONTO (CP)—A University of Toronto student has decided not to bother with his final exams and says a university degree is not worth the paper it is printed on.

Walt Stewart, in his final year at Victoria College, blasts the administration, the teachers and the students in an article in The Varsity, undergraduate newspaper.

"The administration talks in terms of dollars, the teachers in terms of marks and the students in terms of sex," he says. As for the examination system, it "draws these three groups together and proves that the process of learning consists of a bad speaker divulging a lot of dull facts to a group of sodden students who will upon cue regurgitate them to an examiner who knows them already."

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public office in Toronto at 9:30 a.m.:

Synopsis:

Typical March weather prevailed over Ontario Monday. Raw winds, snowflurries in the north, and a few showers in southern regions accompanied cooler air as it spread across the province. Although skies cleared over night, in the north, considerable cloud with widely scattered showers or snowflurries will persist over Southern Ontario today as a weak disturbance moves eastward across the lower lakes. A return to southerly winds will bring milder weather again to all regions Wednesday.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Wednesday:

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By G. E. GROOMBRIDGE

The Eastern scout conference will get under way at 2 p.m. in the Normal School. Ed. MacDonald will be in charge of registrations and Scouter Fred Ford will have a messenger service organized to assist all comers.

Mayor Hugh Waddell will be with us for the banquet in the evening at 6.30 p.m., YWCA, at which John L. McGregor of Dominion headquarters will be our guest speaker.

BRONZE ARROW COURSE

Checking up with Assistant Commissioner Earl Westman, we were informed that 32 out of 37 examination papers had been received up to 8 p.m. Monday evening, and that he felt that the remaining five may be in by this time Tuesday evening. Those five boys would do well to get busy.

COMMISSIONER WILL ATTEND

District Commissioner G. R. Langley has received definite word from scout headquarters that Major General D. C. Spry, CBE, DSO, CD, chief executive commissioner for Canada, will attend the field day opening ceremonies on May 16, 1953.

CORNWALL CALLING

According to the latest reports on the field day, we are given to understand that several groups outside our real area are planning to take part in the May 16 activities .Oshawa have asked that they may attend; Lindsay say that about 120 cubs will attend; Cornwall have just stated that they will be here with us. If this is the case, we will have the pleasure of billeting some of these lads in our homes and cementing a further bond in this brotherhood of scouting

You are invited to attend the two night lectures on leadership in youth being held in the Public Library on Monday and Tuesday evening of next week, March 23 and 24. This course is being held under the auspices of the recreation commissioner and the course leader will be Mr. Ben Solomon, lecturer on leadership at Columbia University and New York University. Course opens at 7.30 p.m. Monday.

The camp grounds are booked right through for every week-end, starting May 29 to July 11, as of last Tuesday. If you would like the use of the grounds after that date, please phone Jim Houghton, 6428.

FOUND, A SCOUT KNIFE

A gentleman found a knife last week whilst walking through the west end of the city, and has turned over same to Norm Elliott, and any boy who has lost his scout knife will see Mr. Elliott at Elliott's drug store.

COOKHOUSE DAMAGED

Chairman Jim Houghton is getting a little discouraged by the forgetfulness of youth, for once again the door of the cookhouse and the shutter on the window of same has been found forced open. Chairman Jim is inclined to think now that this is the work of small groups of scouts who forget to secure the keys, as, he reports, the hut is left clean, everything put away neatly, and vandals would not care how they left the place. So, fellows, if you want to use the hut at the scout grounds, get the keys from Mr. Houghton.

2 NEW EXECUTIVE MEMBERS

Two new members to the executive committee attended the last meeting, John Collett and Jack Miller. Both have been in scouting in this city.

1st PETERBOROUGH

St. John's was pleased to have a visit from Montreal of Scout Alec Haddow of the Vickers' troop. Mr. Trueman presented badges to Gary Hamilton and Brian Dunford, Gary receiving the collector's, Brian the house orderly. Ken McLaren was awarded his first star. Ian Young passed Union Jack and time; Gary Dalliday, somersault and ball throwing; Fred Willison, somersault, knots and first aid; Ken McLaren, somersault and first aid; Bill Collison, hopping and time; Dennis Walton, time; Don Ross, highway code; Joe Cunningham, Ralph Cunningham, David Gunn and Bob Wagster, first aid; David Irwin, homecraft and toymaker.

2nd PETERBOROUGH

Cubbing at St. Luke's is still on the march, for last week they went "hunting the deer," and there is something around the red flower that is whispered as a future surprise. This did not deter the boys from passing tests as the following results were chalked up: Neil Roberts, John Reynolds and Jim Eakins, book balancing; Don Hepburn and Doug Pammett, highway code; Art McNabb and Joe Moncrief, cleaning shoes; Bob MacDonald, observer; Ron James and Jack Steen, collectors.

3rd PETERBOROUGH

Victor Robinson, Roger Smith and Bob Wilson of the red six, Albert Sanderson and Ronald Stevenson of the grey six and Wayne Warr of the white six added their names to the world roster of cubbing when they became full members of St. George's pack. Mrs. Sanderson, Mrs. Warr, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were present to witness their sons' investitures.

7th PETERBOROUGH

Twenty-eight members of St. Paul's pack gathered around the council rock to participate in the opening ceremonies, led by Barry LeRoy, assisted by Franklyn Montgomery. David Giles and Barry LeRoy won their swimmer's badge and Stan McBride received his first year service star.

In St. Paul's troop two patrols dispersed after flag break to go on a scavenger hunt, with the wolf patrol coming through with the highest points. Then came Kim's game, a real memory-tester, with work in the patrol corners completing the program. To sum up, the wolf patrol finished with 37 points, three less than the leading Cougars, who gained 40.

16th PETERBOROUGH

Trinity cub pack started off along the jungle path, with G. Archer and R. J. Allen assisting Akela, Bagheera and Raksha in the inspection. At the council rock, Alan Fraser was invested as a wolf cub. Alan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fraser, were present for this ceremony. During the training periods Brian Malcolm and Bagheera took semaphore signalling; Mr. Archer passed Rhys Morgan, Teddy Johnson, Bobby Laird, Richard Shaw, Walter Whiteley and Michael on Union Jack; R. J. Allen passed Roddy Archer, Bob Gibson, John Allen and Jim Tanney, and Bobby Jamieson in cleanliness. Other tests passed were time telling, Roddy Archer, Richard Shaw; first aid, Billy Howes; growing things, Jim Tanney. Then at the flower program Stanley Hood received his collector's badge, and Allin Jamieson the homecraft.

1st BRIDGENORTH

The pack met in the school hall last week to carry out the presentation of badges and investiture ceremonies. The pack was under the leadership of Cub Master the Rev. D. B. Morris, assisted by Assistant Cubmaster Bill Lawrence. During the investiture ceremonies Leslie Nichols, Allan White, Billy Lane, Danny Jopling, Dean Edwards, Bobby Lane, Phillip Blewitt and Don McKay became wolf cubs. First stars were presented to Ronnie Murray, Murray Payne, Larry Heard, Douglas Blewitt, Donald Gravelle, and the second star to Garry Payne, Karl Blewitt, chairman of the school board, and two of the mothers, Mrs. Norman A. Edwards and Mrs. Frank Land, were present.

U.S. Bomber Fights Two Russ-Made MiGs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A United States reconnaissance bomber fought off a Russian-made MiG-15 jet fighter off the east coast of Kamchatka Sunday.

The air force, announcing the incident, said today it took place about five miles east of the Siberian peninsula in the North Pacific ocean.

Churchill Says

"British aircraft in the Western Allied zones of Germany will continue to carry out their normal exercises taking all possible precautions.

"Should Soviet aircraft stray into our zone every effort will be made to warn them and by following the procedure normally used by nations at peace to avoid loss of life."

Churchill was asked whether he could confirm or deny that at least one member of the crew was fired upon by the Russian fighters after he had parachuted. The Prime Minister replied:

"I have no proof that I can advance at the present time about that. I have seen reports to that effect. But the airplane was repeatedly and mercilessly fired upon until it was destroyed. That, I am sorry to say, is undoubtedly true."

Toronto Church Bars Red Group

TORONTO (CP) — A United Church commission today said Bathurst street United Church must not let Communist organizations meet in its buildings in future. Its report also said the ban extends to any other group which does not conform to United Church teachings.

It specified the Canadian Peace Congress, the Toronto Peace Council, the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society and the Canadian Congress of Women.

The commission was set up by the Toronto-centre presbytery to investigate complaints by members of the west-end church that their buildings were being used for unauthorized purposes.

Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, general secretary of the United Church, was appointed chairman. He announced the commission's findings at a meeting today.

A petition for the removal of Rev. Gordon Domm as minister of the Bathurst street church also is under consideration.

"No organization whose aim, teachings or objects are not in accord with the doctrine, discipline bylaws and regulations of the United Church of Canada shall be permitted the use of any of the Bathurst street United Church buildings," the report said.

Mau Mau Terrorism

FLOOD TRAILS

An administrative officer said the three Kikuyu reserves of Fort Hall, Kiambu and Nyeri now are jammed with Kikuyu tribesmen from other parts of the colony.

Streams of men, women and children carrying their possessions and driving flocks of sheep, goats and cattle have flooded trails and roads in the province in the last two weeks—fleeing from the white-settled areas. Even if the Mau Mau operates in the reserves, too, they reason, at least they have "come home."

"Big trouble is coming soon," they say when asked why they are going to the over-crowded reserves. "We must be with our own people."

Many of the "refugees" are leaving corn and other crops unharvested on their farms.

'Frisco Residents See Atom Bomb's Flash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco bay area residents today reported seeing the flash of the atom blast at Yucca flats, 595 miles away.

Newspaper switchboards were flooded with calls in Oakland, Berkeley, Concord, Alameda and San Jose by residents who said they saw the flash.

Ask Malenkov Act To Support Vows Of Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. state department today challenged Soviet Prime Minister Malenkov to back up his words on "peaceful intent" by acting to settle the Korean fighting and other East-West issues.

A statement by press officer Lincoln White said that the department received "with interest" Malenkov's inaugural declaration Monday at Moscow, in part because the name of former premier Stalin was "barely mentioned."

For this reason and because Malenkov apparently recognizes a "latent power for good" among the Soviet peoples, the department said, Malenkov's words were received "with interest by this government."

NOT NEW

"Their true significance, however, must be determined by the future action of the Soviet Union and by those under its sway. Protestations of peaceful intent are not new from the Soviet Union but words must be weighed against acts.

"The war continues in Korea. Planes on peaceful routine missions are shot down in Germany. Pledges for the independence of Austria continue to be ignored.

"It will be interesting to see how in these and other pressing respects Mr. Malenkov intends to implement his words of peaceful intent."

4 Cars Tangle, 2 Are Damaged

Two cars were heavily damaged Monday in a four-vehicle accident on Water St. in the late afternoon.

Fred Bell of RR 4, Peterborough, backing up at the curbside, struck the car behind which in turn crashed into the front of two other cars.

Cars parked at the curb behind Bell's belonged to Mrs. Lily Turner of 554 Douglas Ave., Alfred Ammann of RR 3, Peterborough and Frank Patterson of 466 Bolivar St.

Damage to Bell's vehicle was estimated at $30; to Mrs. Turner's, $200; to Ammann's, $250 and to Patterson's, $50.

City police Constable Harold Andrew investigated.

Speaker Relates History Of Billiards

CAMPBELLFORD (ENS) — Rotarian J. H. Smith presented his classification speech to members of the Campbellford Rotary Club at their regular weekly dinner meeting in the Parish Hall on Monday.

Introduced by Past President Frank Linton, Mr. Smith spoke on the subject of "Billiards". He said that recreation as we know it today began to find its way into Canadian and American life over a century ago.

The gradual transformation from the simplicity of the agricultural era to the machine age of today, had more effect on recreation than any other field of activity, and among the numerous recreations and games of skill, billiards gained many thousands of new players, many of them were women.

National and international competitions made the game a spectators sport, which offered a change of pace during the winter months.

Billiard tournaments have been a national sport for nearly one hundred years. George Washington was a billiard enthusiast and ever since his time the Executive Mansion in Washington has had its own billiard room. Abraham Lincoln was once quoted as saying that the game of billiards was a health inspiring scientific game, which lent recreation to a fatigued mind.

The first national billiard championship was played in Detroit in 1859, with Michel Phelan winning the title and $15,000, defeating Johnny Screeter before 400 fans who paid $5 admission fee to see the match.

The first intercollegiate match was played in 1860, with Harvard winning over Yale.

In perhaps one of the most dramatic sports events of all times, in 1906 the 18 year old "Boy Wonder", Willie Hoppe of New York, travelled to Paris to wrest the world's billiard title from Maurice Vignaux.

Billiards like all other recreations has kept pace with the times, introducing new and modern equipment, rules and regulations have changed and with shorter working hours Canadians are finding more time for recreations, and billiards finds itself among these recreations.

Mr. Smith was thanked by President Frank DeCarrol.

Irish Comedy Presented By Catholic Youth Group

St. Peter's Auditorium was all but filled on Monday night for the first performance of the Irish comedy "Turning The Trick" which was presented by the Catholic Youth Organization. The audience was delighted with an evening which ranged from broad fun to Irish sentiment, and from that to the intricacies of international jewel smuggling.

The principal situation of the play sprang from the predicament of a retired Irish contractor, Patrick Casey, whose wife has become an enthusiastic seeker after social distinction. His eldest daughter shares her mother's craze, and his son, Michael, is a good lad who has been corrupted by luxury. Aided by his second daughter and some faithful and sensible friends, the ingenious exhodcarrier brings them all to their senses. But not until the play has run the gamut of comic situation, involving disguises, eavesdropping, and a prodigal use of the telephone.

The cast was a large one and showed every evidence of careful renearsal The lines were delivered at all times with admirable clarity, and the most was made of every comic moment provided by a richly ingenious plot.

As Patrick Casey, John Macdougall played with excellent breadth and set the tone of the play; he was admirably seconded by Mary Scanlin as his society-mad wife. Robert Grant gave a fine reality to the part of the foolish son, and managed to suggest the real anguish of a decent young man caught in a net of folly. Margaret Gorman was effective in the somewhat ungrateful role of the haughty Kathleen, and as her charming sister Helen Cummings brought a truly Irish softness to the play. Helen Sheehan shared with her the task of ameliorating the rigors of a vigorous household. Walter Ryan and Jack Bacon played the parts of two young men involved in the mysteries of the Casey home, and the former was able to display his versatility when he assumed the disguise of an Italian dancing instructor; the latter struck a pleasant note of sanity in the midst of confusion.

As the crooks in the piece Ann LaPlante and John Mahoney were appropriately menacing, and Alfred L'Heureux scored a personal triumph in the comic role of a French male modiste.

Between the acts the audience was regaled with Irish ballads and jigs and Irish music was provided in lively fashion by an orchestra under the direction of Anthony F. Seidel. The play will be repeated tonight and again tomorrow.

Man Had Liquor On Reserve Court Decides

A Buckhorn man was fined $25 and $12.75 costs in Magistrate's Court Tuesday when he was convicted on a liquor charge under the Indian Act.

Coleman Guthrie was in court to answer to a charge of being found on the Curve Lake Reserve with intoxicants, laid March 7 by provincial police.

Evidence given March 10 showed Guthrie had been seen in his car by OPP Constable Gordon Gray at approximately 7:15 the night of the 7th. At 7:30 Constable George Louth, searching Guthrie's vehicle at Selwyn, found two cases of beer and a case of wine.

Evidence presented Tuesday indicated the defendant's vehicle was on the reserve when seen by the constable. Defence attorney W. C. Grant maintained, however, the Indian Act states a person must be found on the reserve with liquor to register a conviction, and interpreted the act to mean apprehend.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, QC, claimed Mr. Grant was restricting the meaning of the word 'found."

DISCOVERED

Found means discovered, the Crown pointed out, not apprehended.

Magistrate W. R. Philp accepted the evidence that Guthrie was on the reserve when seen by police and said "I very much doubt that found means apprehended, however, and find the accused guilty."

Two more charges of unlawfully trespassing on the reserve and having liquor in a place other than his residence were dismissed when the Crown presented no evidence against the defendant.

Testifying on the Crown's behalf were Indian Agent E. A. Adams and Peterborough county deputy registrar of deeds Madeline Flynn.

Had Been Drinking Driver Sleeps, Fined

Convicted on his own evidence, Julian Morin, RR 1, Lakefield, was fined $75 and $2.50 costs in Magistrate's Court Tuesday on a charge of impaired driving.

According to OPP Constable George Louth, Morin admitted having been drinking prior to an accident on March 6. His car was found north of the city on No. 28 Highway in a ditch on its side.

Questioned the next day, Morin said he had spent the afternoon and early evening drinking in Peterborough. Proceeding home shortly before eight o'clock he fell asleep at the wheel of his car.

No marks on the road indicated where the driver had lost control of his vehicle.

A Woman Scorned

COBOURG (ENS)—Harry Deyman, local solicitor, demonstrated clearly in assize court Monday that he is a brave man.

Mr. Deyman was defence counsel in an alienation of affections case and was exercising his right to challenge members on the jury panel. It was the occasion of the first appearance of women jurors in Northumberland and Durham and one of the ladies, Mrs. Cora Greenfield of Colborne, was the only woman empanelled. Mr. Deyman challenged her and she stepped down from the jury bench.

"I find myself in the unenviable position of having to challenge the first woman ever called to sit on a jury in these counties," said Mr. Deyman.

No other woman got a chance to sit on the jury.

Liquor Charge Brings Two Months In Jail

COBOURG (ENS)— Magistrate R. B. Baxter, Monday brought down a decision of guilty in connection with a keeping for sale charge against Steve Kachik, R. R. 1, Osaca. Judgment had previously been reserved for one week.

He sentenced him to two months in jail and directed that the premises be declared a public place under the terms of the liquor Control Act.

Hilliard Clarke and Walter Johns of Port Hope and Cylord Gifford, Canton, were charged as found-ins but pleaded not guilty. In view of the fact that their cases were involved in the liquor charge on which Kachik had been found guilty, the magistrate adjourned the matter so that another magistrate could try them.

Army Hoopsters Enter U.K. Finals

ALDERSHOT, Eng. (CP)—Canada's entry in the British army basketball championships today qualified for the finals by winning its first two engagements.

The Canadian team, drawn from the 27th Brigade in Germany, defeated a team from Royal Military College, United Kingdom southern command, 46 - 17 and scraped through 27 - 23 against a British engineering team.

The final round will be played Thursday.

Chatham Father, Girl Found Asphyxiated

CHATHAM (CP)—A father and his young daughter died of asphyxiation early today, Dr. F. W. Hall, coroner, reported.

Mrs. Fred Rumley, housekeeper for Thomas Nottage, 70, found her employer dead on the floor of his home when she arrived. His daughter, Margaret, 13, lay unconscious beside him and died while being taken to hospital.

Police are investigating.

Mrs. James S. Honey

DARTFORD (ENS) — The funeral service was held Monday, March 9, at Dixon's funeral home, Markham, for the late Ida Elizabeth Weir, wife of the late James Sanders Honey. She died suddenly at the home of her son, Clayton, at Burford on Thursday, March 5. Interment was in Pine Hill cemetery.

Relatives and friends were present from Leamington, Napanee, Warkworth, Campbellford, Roseneath, Guelph, Lindsay, Peterborough, Stouffville, Colborne, Milliken, Baltimore, and Port Hope.

Mrs. Honey, who was in her 82nd year, had been in good health until the evening of her death.

Daughter of the late William Weir and Isabella Campbell, her early years were spent at Mayersburg. She taught music in Havelock for several years before her marriage in 1894 to James Honey, of the Wilson settlement where they farmed, and their children, William, Olive and Clayton, were born.

In 1908, Mr. and Mrs. Honey and family moved to Cherrywood, Pickering township, where their daughter Helen was born. In 1915 they moved to Milliken in Markham township where they owned two farms on one of which William now resides.

She had always been active in church and Sunday school work and later in the Women's Missionary Society. She was the first president of Milliken WMS and a past rural president of Toronto East Presbytery.

Since her husband's death in 1938, she has lived with her children, making her home during the winter months with her son's family at Burford. She was active up to the time of her death.

Surviving are two sons, William of Milliken and Clayton, Burford; two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Wood (Olive), Stouffville and Mrs. Norman Hutchison (Helen), Napanee; ten grandchildren; one great-granddaughter; a nephew, Harry Honey, of Leamington whom she raised from infancy; one sister, Miss Phem Weir, and a brother, Wesley Weir, of Warkworth.

Provincial President To Visit Auxiliary

BANCROFT (ENS) — Highlighting formation of the Ladies Auxiliary, Branch 181, Canadian Legion will be a visit by Mrs. Margaret Richardson, president of the provincial command. Mrs. Richardson will visit the Auxiliary Friday evening.

The Legionettes number 25 and keen interest is being shown. Mrs. Jerry Ward is in charge of membership.

The auxiliary is formed of mothers, daughters, sisters, widows or wives of veterans of any war or any woman who has served in the armed forces.

Women On Jury At Cobourg For First Time

COBOURG (ENS)—When assize court opened Monday it marked the first appearance of women on the jury list.

Four women, Mrs Sophia Blythe of Cartwright township, Mrs. Cora Greenfield of Colborne, Mrs. Annie Dorrell of Cartwright and Mrs. Valeda Erdersby of Bowmanville were on the list. Mrs. Rena Thompson acted as constable in charge of the women jurors. Hers was the first such appointment.

The traditional white gloves were presented to Mr. Justice Ferguson, symbolic of the absence of criminal cases from the assize docket. His Lordship, in accepting the gloves, complimented the counties of Northumberland and Durham on their law-abiding citizens.

He expressed regret, however, over the fact that, with no criminal cases, there was no grand jury empanelled. He pointed out that a grand jury had other important functions besides those connected with criminal cases. He welcomed the women jurors and declared that they would have something to add to the administration of justice and have an interesting experience.

EXTENDS WELCOME

Mr. Justice Ferguson was welcomed on behalf of the district bar by A. R. Willmott, Q.C., of Cobourg.

Settlement was reached in a motor fatality case, McIntosh vs. Holtby.

After the jury had been called in an alienation of affections action for $50,000 damages brought by Frank Staples against Roy Howard, His Lordship interrupted the address of plaintiff's counsel, J. C. M. German, to ask if an effort had been made to settle the action.

"An alienation of affections case does neither party any good, or the community either. No matter how the case turns out, nobody benefits from it," said Mr. Justice Ferguson.

"Mr. Deyman and myself have exhausted every endeavour to settle this case," said Mr. German, who suggested they try again during a recess.

"I want to say to both parties that these cases come out worse than when they started," said His Lordship.

Court recessed and on resuming J. C. M. German announced that a settlement had been reached.

"I am happy to see it," commented His Lordship.

Credit Good

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. (CP)—City controller A. T. Legge reported banking and bond authorities informed him Medicine Hat bonds have perhaps the highest municipal rating in Canada. Net debt of the sinking fund was down to $15,000 by last year.

FLYING OFFICER HOWARD ROWE is now serving with the Royal Canadian Air Force at Zweibrucken, Germany. FO Rowe left for his overseas posting a few days ago. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rowe, 67 Front St. S., Campbellford.

Well Baby Clinic Opening In St. George's Church

A Well-Baby Clinic is being opened Wednesday afternoon by the Peterborough Department of Health in the basement of St. George's Anglican Church, Braidwood and George Sts. This resumes a service to young mothers in the south end of the city that had to be discontinued last June because of lack of accommodation.

The clinic—the fourth in the city—has these services: beginning at 2 p.m., routine weighing of babies and consultations with nurses on individual problems; from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m., an imunization program.

Dr. J. P. Wells, MOH, said the clinic is being sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of St. George's Church. The Rev. Harvey J. Scuse, rector, has arranged for use of the basement on Wednesday afternoons.

"We are certainly pleased with this offer," said Dr. Wells. "The south end of the city has about 10,000 people living in it and it was one of the parts of the city where a clinic was needed. It's been needed since I came and I know Dr. Kelly was looking for a suitable place before that."

YOUNG FAMILIES

Dr. Wells pointed out that the population south of Lansdowne St. has a high percentage of young families so the need for a well-baby clinic was greater than in some other sections of the city. Clinics will now be operating in different parts of the city on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays.

Until last June the Department of Health were using a room in the DeLaval building for the clinic but then the company needed it. Since then the Department have been looking for accommodation and have been perplexed at not being able to find any. The offer from Mr. Scuse and the WA makes the services to the young mothers possible once again.

Certainly, the gentleman is carrying "burdens that impede action," but encumbrances have quite a different meaning to the executor of an estate.

Every business has its own language and its own procedure. An individual faced with estate administration for the first time will lose valuable time in acquainting himself with the various steps that must be taken. Costly delays may result while your best friend is learning how to be executor of your estate.

The Commissioners Have A Duty

Peterborough's water is piped through cast iron conduits. Last year Commissioner G. R. Langley, an engineer by profession, brought to the Utilities Commission's notice a newer type of water main manufactured from asbestos fibres and portland cement, and called by the trade name Transite Pipe. Dr. Langley urged the Utilities management and his fellow Commissioners to consider using Transite instead of cast iron pipes. Transite was said to have many advantages over iron pipes, not the least being that it was cheaper.

* * *

Under Dr. Langley's prodding, the manager of the Utilities made a report on Transite, compared with cast iron mains. Mr. Dobbin's report was decidedly unfavourable and gave reasons why Peterborough should not instal Transite. His survey did not bear up under examination, for it was found to be incomplete and in some points inaccurate. The Commission then ordered an independent survey by a Toronto engineering firm with which Mr. Dobbin and the Commission had been dealing for years. This firm supported Mr. Dobbin's view that a change would not be advisable. The saving would be insignificant, it said, and the composite pipe had disadvantages and would not be as serviceable as cast iron pipes. The majority of the Commission accepted this technical report on its face value and dropped any idea they had of using Transite. Their reasoning was logical: their manager, an engineer with long experience, opposed it; the consulting engineers opposed it. Why should the Commission act on a technical project against the advice of the technicians?

* * *

There are grounds for believing that the matter should be re-investigated and a fresh assessment made. The opinion of the Toronto consulting engineers must be respected but need not be slavishly followed. Their report was not as explicit as the Commission has a right to require—for instance, a detailed comparison of costs was not made—and it was so one-sided as to indicate prejudice rather than objective analysis. The disadvantages of iron pipes were not set against the characteristics of the composite pipe. We mention one: iron pipe fouls on the inside after a few years, reducing the flow capacity to sixty percent. It is claimed that the Transite pipe resists corrosion, and being nonmetallic, the interior surface will not build up deposits.

* * *

Other experts favour the composite pipe, else why would hundreds of thousands of feet of it have already been laid in Canadian and American towns? Brantford is using it, because its Utilities people say Transite is better than cast iron pipe, as well as cheaper. It has been installed in Port Perry, to the satisfaction of the authorities.

* * *

We suggest that the Utilities Commission has a duty to re-examine the matter, and a good opportunity to do it. There is a new manager not hampered by earlier opinions. The Transite plant at Scarboro (Toronto) is near; the Commissioners could go there in a day and see and ask questions for themselves. The opinion of other consulting engineers could be secured. We feel that this is important and that Dr. Langley is right in his insistence on giving the composite pipe a fair chance, because it might save money. Last year some $30,000 worth of cast iron pipe was laid. If Transite has been used instead, and were as satisfactory, would $4,500 (fifteen percent.) have been saved in the one year alone, as seems possible? We believe that the Commissioners have a personal duty to find the unequivocal answer to this proposition. And the sooner the better.

The Irish In Us

There is no proof that St. Patrick was either an Irishman or an arguer, even though the people who wear green in his honour today are often both. If they lack a subject for argument among themselves today, we could suggest that they takes sides on a topic introduced by Professor Marcus Long in a Toronto address on Saturday to a St. Patrick's Benevolent society there: to wit: that 'Catholic puritanism has crushed the native genius of the Irish people". It does not matter whether one is Irish-born (as Professor Long is) or a second or eighth generation Canadian of Irish ancestry (as James Henrick Rooney, M.P. for St. Paul's, Toronto) is. Mr. Rooney, with a trace of inherited brogue and a hotter flame for words than facts, refuted Professor Long. "It's baloney, all rot."

An old argument was continued in Derry itself a couple of weeks ago, one which has more spleen than cogency now, we suspect. The occasion was the luncheon given to Lord Wakehurst on his first official visit to Derry. Lord Wakehurst is the Queen's new representative (Lieutenant-Governor) to Ulster. Eight anti-partition members of the city corporation attended the lunch; eight who oppose the partition of Ireland and want the six northern counties linked with the republic of Eire. The eight remained seated during the grace and a toast to Queen Elizabeth. They refused to eat any food. When the Governor rose to speak, one of them, an alderman and an M.P., also rose. He spoke at the same time on behalf of the anti-partitionists, in Irish. Having said his piece in a language of which probably only the eight had any understanding, the alderman and his seven supporters quietly left the hall, and the Governor to finish his speech.

We who live in Peterborough can never be unmindful of St. Patrick's day, for it must ever bring to mind the Irish immigration without which this thriving city might still be a small village, looking toward Lindsay as toward a metropolis. Nor were those who completed the journey to Scott's Plains the only ones whom we should bear in remembrance. There were those others who set out for the New World with high hearts, only to succumb to cholera before they could begin the last lap of their journey, and who lie buried at Kingston. In the words of Thomas O'Hagan:

Far from their own beloved isle
Those Irish exiles sleep;
And dream not of historic past
Nor o'er its memories weep;
Down where the blue St. Lawrence tide
Sweeps onward, wave on wave,
They lie—old Ireland's exiled dead,
In cross-crowned lonely grave.

Seed Of The Year

Tomorrow the Central Ontario Spring Show will be formally opened at Morrow Park. We greet it again with pleasure and welcome Mr. C. D. Graham, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, who will open the Fair in the place of the Minister, the Hon. F. S. Thomas, who is ill.

The Spring Show is a continuation and enlargement of the Quinte District Seed Fair which has been operating for a quarter of a century. Until three years ago the Seed Fair was peripatetic, changing its venue from one year to the next between Frontenac County on the east and Ontario County on the west. It has now taken firm root in Peterborough. We hope that Peterborough city folk as well as the district and county people will visit the fair. There is much to see and learn.

The purpose of the central Ontario Spring Show is primarily to encourage farmers to improve their incomes by planting the best seed possible. The best seeds are on display at the Show. But there is much else: exhibits of fodder, implements; motion pictures on specialized subjects; lectures and discussions on problems, methods and the business of farming, and even (on Thursday evening) a square dance competition. The show continues until Friday noon.

The Prime Minister On Unity

Speaking in Toronto on Monday the Prime Minister looked back over Canada's past with pride, and recalled his own life-long faith in Canada and his belief that the spirit of unity must always be nurtured if this country is to endure. He reminded his audience of what he said, also in Toronto, more than thirty years ago.

"A national spirit cannot attach to the soil alone; it must comprise the men who dwell upon it, the institutions which make them a body politic and also the private laws which crystalize their attitude towards each other and their methods of realizing human progress.

"These men are not, nor need they be, exact copies one of another; their social institutions do, and they well may, reflect the special characteristics of the various groups; so may their private laws and their local rules of individual behaviour, but if there is not a widespread feeling that in spite of such differences, perhaps even at times because of such differences, all these things are good to conserve, are worthy of mutual respect, constitute something for the whole nation and for each individual to take pride in and which enriches the national heritage, how can we have a national spirit?"

Diversity is the strength of Canadian unity, the feature of Canada's heritage, the pulse of Canadian spirit.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A Californian who is now 100 attributes his age to the fact that he has had nothing to do with women all his life. We don't call that living; we call that a century of guessing.

In New Guinea a native can purchase a wife for 25 cents, and at that price he can't lose: as a light snack, or boiled down and made into soap, she is worth double the money!

The U.S. consumption of coffee is two cups a day for every man, woman and child. When a thing becomes as popular as that, it is high time some busybody discovered that it is bad for them, and gets up a crusade against it.

TV And 3 D To Save Movies?

By W. MACPANACHAN

THE cinema world is facing a crisis. With the rapidly increasing popularity of television, film bookings and cinema attendances in America and Britain have dropped to a point where many cinema exhibitors are being forced to look for some new means of filling their theatres if they wish to survive. The cinema is pinning its hopes for survival on two main innovations— television and the development of the three-dimensional films, or "3D" as it is now popularly known. In Britain cinema-television has been making slow progress. In America, where all commercial trends show themselves more strikingly than elsewhere, the growth of cinema-television has been rapid, while the expansion of "3D" shows signs of being sensational.

◇ ◇ ◇

IN the first two years of broadcast television in America, nearly twenty per cent. of cinemas had to close. Many of these were in financial difficulties anyway, but the rivalry of television in the home, the restaurant and the saloon completed their downfall. Many of the most progressive cinemas then decided to include television itself in their programmes. Within a year, seventy-five cinemas had been equipped for T. V. mostly in New York and Chicago. Now there are over 125 throughout the country. Special programmes for cinemas are sent out over television networks and hired in much the same way as films. The most popular items in these programmes so far have been sporting events, such as baseball and boxing, operas, conventions (political and commercial) and demonstrations of Civil Defence training. Already several towns have cinema television services whose programmes, seen by audiences in local cinemas, can also be viewed by a much wider public on relayed T. V. installed in their homes. Payment for this "Pay as you look," as it is called, is by the "coin in the slot" method.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE ADVENT of the "3D" film caused a temporary setback to these developments. Cinema T. V. projection equipment cost about twenty-five thousand dollars for the most popular R. C. A. installation. Screens and film projectors for "3D" can cost up to eighty-four thousand dollars, depending on which system is employed. The two main types of "3D"' are pseudo-stereoscopic projection, the "cinemascope" and the "cinerama," which do not require the viewer to use special eye-glasses, or the true three-dimensional projection which does. The cinerama, which focussed public attention seriously on "3D" for the first time three months ago, costs more than the other methods. Like the cinemascope with its wide semi-circular or parabolic screen, it virtually engulfs the spectator. The true ster-esocpoic film can be viewed on any normal-sized cinema screen.

◇ ◇ ◇

REPORTS from film circles in the United States say, however, that the first great enthusiasm for "3D" which resulted in the production of films being begun in Hollywood and large orders for the necessary cinema equipment, has been followed by doubts as to whether '3D" in itself will arouse more than a brief curiosity interest among renegades from the cinema public. These doubts are also voiced by some of the British cinema and film authorities who argue that the subject matter and production of a film are of far greater importance than the technical method of presentation in retaining the interest of the film-goer.

◇ ◇ ◇

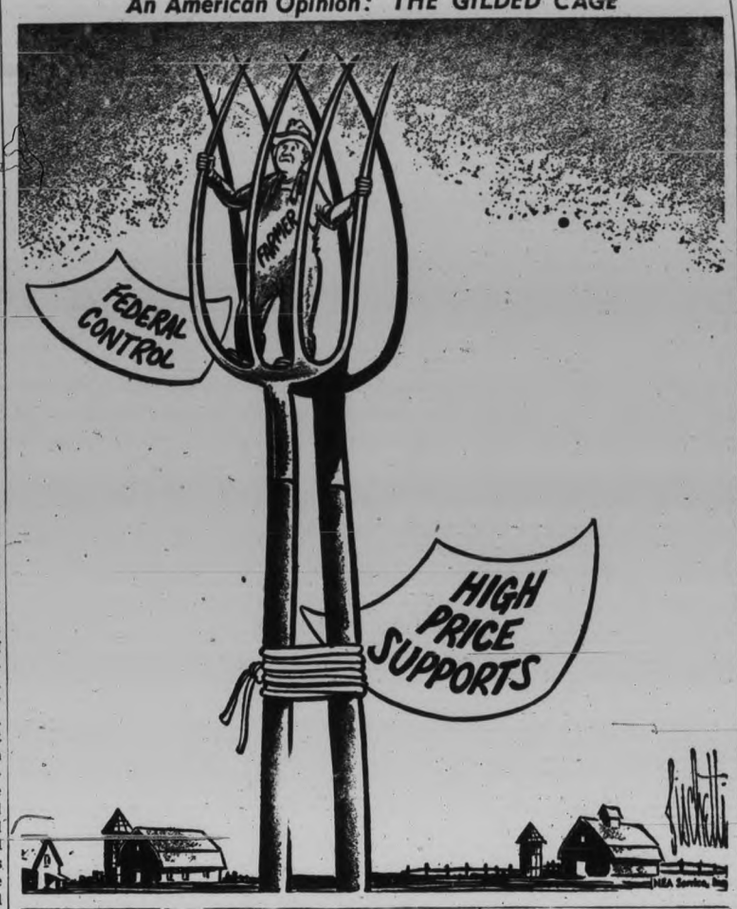
EXPERIENCE in cinemas in Britain over the last forty years shows that, apart from big technical advances such as the speeding up of projection to show films at at twenty-five pictures a second instead of ten or twelve as previously, and the still greater development of the sound track on the film, other innovations have been short-lived. Since it was shown just before the first war, true stereoscopic projection, which then necessitated the wearing of eye-glasses of different colours, has been demonstrated at frequent intervals. The last occasion was at the Telecinema in the Festival of Britain exhibition in 1951. The use of spectacles through which light rays are "polarised" provided true stereoscopic pictures which at times created an alarming sense of realism. Objects and people appeared to be right out in the auditorium only a few feet from the viewer.

The opinion of most film-fans at that time was that while this demonstration was interesting on technical grounds, it was a pity that better subjects had not been chosen for the films.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE interest shown at the Telecinema in the cinema-screen television was much greater than in the "3D" films. The television programmes included two extracts from live B. B. C. transmissions. These were on the ormal 405-line definition and gave excellent results. The size of the screen was twenty feet by fifteen and the technical quality of the picture, despite the fact that it was a dull day, astonished visiting foreign engineers and scientists more than it did the British. This particular receiver-projector was a production model of equipment on the development of which Cinema-Television (part of the J. Arthur Rank organization and re-formed from successors to the James Logie Baird Company) has spent several hundred thousand pounds.

◇ ◇ ◇



BEFORE THE WAR, the showing of the B.B.C.'s television broadcast of a big boxing match (the Boon-Danahar fight) in February 1939 in a London cinema (the Marble Arch Pavilion) to a paying audience was so successful that before September of that year four more London cinemas had been equipped for television shows. Six cinemas in Britain have now installed the latest receiver-projectors and a total of eight will be in use for the televising of the Coronation. The latter, being B. B. C. transmissions, will be on the 405-line system. But the equipment is adjustable for the 625-line system and the German cinema and equipment firm of U. F. A. has recently installed a unit in a Duesseldorf cinema to test the reactions of the German public to large-screen television.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE British film industry thus has long and wide experience both in three-dimensional films and in television projection in cinemas and is not likely to be greatly influenced by American example in its choice of a new means of entertainment. Competition from television in the home is so great that the mere dressing-up of the old Hollywood material in new frills can do little to overcome it, whereas the showing of items which will alter the nature of the entertainment offered to the cinema-goer may do so. Television itself thus appears to offer the surest and most economical way of reviving the cinema theatre.

An American Opinion: THE GILDED CAGE

Here's A Seat, Lady

(LONDON TIMES)

A STURDY little boy, carrying the war into the enemy's country, protested recently in public against the bad manner's of grown-ups who push him aside in the queue when he is sent out to shop for his mother. He, we may be sure, will be keeping an eye on the bus conductor who for the next few days is to note on behalf of the B. B. C. how many "teenagers" give up their seats to their elders —and, of course, betters.

Politeness between age groups is a two-way traffic and, like all such systems of control devised by the wit of policemen, it sometimes ends in a jam. Everyone is agreed that youth should show courteous deference to its fellow travellers through this world who are in the sere and yellow, but their reactions to courtesy are incalculable. If nobody in the one camp was over 15 and nobody in the other 50, all would be well. Unfortunately the width of no-man's land is much more narrow and frontier clashes inevitably ensue.

They can be watched any day in buses and trains. The well-meaning teenaged girl of 19 rises in deference to the lusty veteran sportsman who has sound personal reasons for knowing that life begins at 40. The offer is refused and there follows a comedy for two characters, swaying and seeking to persuade one another, watched by an amused audience that is pretending to read its papers.

The really old are sometimes shameless in this matter. Having cosseted themselves all the afternoon in the comfort of a club armchair, they will stand, looking frail and aggrieved, in a carriage full of tired and youthful world's workers. There was once a resourceful old reprobate in an over-crowded war-time ship who deliberately dug a shawl from the bottom of his cabin trunk and wore it in the dining saloon to shame one guileless youngster after another into letting him get a quick seat for lunch.

How is the young entry to be disciplined when those up to whom it should look are up to such tricks? But the old school will argue, the young entry should be seen and not heard— seen rising and lifting its cap and heard murmuring respectful invitation.

The Tragedy At Karachi

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

CIVIL aviation has suffered a sad blow in the crash of a Comet jetliner at Karachi. Eleven talented men died in the crash, five of them veteran Canadian airmen; five more were British technical experts of the DeHavilland company, which builds the Comet; an Australian instrument technician completed the list of those aboard. All 11 died in the flaming wreckage at the end of the Karachi runway.

Deepest sympathy goes to the bereaved Canadian, British and Australian.

The commercial factors involved are also serious, considerably more serious than usual.

Canadian Pacific Air Lines has lost more than a two million-dollar aircraft. It has been forced to cancel, indefinitely, it plans to begin a regular Comet service from Australia to Honolulu, where passengers would change to propeller-driven craft for the last leg of the Australia-Vancouver run.

Two Comets have been built by DeHavilland for CPA for this service. As production schedules are very tight, it may be difficult for the British firm to replace the lost aircraft soon.

For DeHavilland, the accident is equally unfortunate. The Comet has had an excellent, no-fatality, no-injury record of performance.

In a year of operation on the South African run, only one Comet accident has occurred, a minor one at the Rome airport in which no one was hurt.

However, even in the urgent atmosphere of Britain's aircraft-export drive, an aircraft can be replaced.

The 11 men who died are aviation's graver loss.

Tide Has Turned

(Charlottetown Guardian)

It used to be taken as a matter of course that Canadians, particularly those from the Maritimes, would make use of their talents and education anywhere but at home but most particularly in the United States. Astonishingly large numbers went from these small provinces to help build up that great nation.

Today the situation is very different. How complete the change has been is shown by statistics compiled by the secretary of the University of New Brunswick alumni association. Out of approximately 1,350 graduates of that university who were Canadian citizens and who received their sheepskins in the past five years, only 14 are now earning their livelihood in the United States.

The fact is, of course, that today Canada is the land of the frontier, the land of expansion and exploitation of great natural resources. It has become a magnet for ambitious American youth and those of many countries who see the opportunity to take part in Canada's phenomenal growth. Small wonder, then, that Canadian young people decided that far away fields are not nearly so green as those of their own country.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

For the Lord shall comfort Zion: he will comfort all her waste places; and he will make her wilderness like Eden, and her desert like the garden of the Lord; joy and gladness shall be found therein, thanksgiving, and the voice of melody.

Hearken unto me, my people; and give ear unto me, O my nation: for a law shall proceed from me, and I will make my judgment to rest for a light of the people. My righteousness is near; my salvation is gone forth, and mine arms shall judge the people; the isles shall wait upon me, and on mine arm shall they trust.

Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneath: for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in the like manner: but my salvation shall be for ever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished. (Isa. 51: 3-6.)

◇ ◇ ◇

The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.

But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up.

Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteonsness. (II Pet. 3: 9-13.)

Flies In The Vodka

We are startled at the shock and horror registered by the Russians at the discovery that they have been harboring American-trained spies in their midst.

It is almost as if Uncle Joe had found flies in his vodka.

Outraged by it all, Pravda, the Soviet mouthpiece, announces arrest of the four spies, one of whom has been filching Kremlin secrets since 1939. (Pravda fails to explain why it took the vaunted OGPU 14 years to catch him.)

Everyone will agree, of course, the spied-upon Russians are entitled to their righteous indignation. They wouldn't think of doing such a thing to us.

Order $6 Million In Battle-Dress

OTTAWA (CP)—The Defence department has ordered $6,256,000 worth of battle-dress uniforms during the last six weeks, information tabled in the Commons showed Monday. The replies to a series of questions asked by C. W. Hodgson (PC—Victoria, Ont.) added up to that total and included 171,505 battledress tunics and 265,700 trousers.

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has spent $194,162 in preparations for landscaping the new bureau of statistics buildings in west-end Ottawa, said a government reply tabled for G. K. Fraser (PC—Peterborough West). It said grading and placing of top soil has been carried out in preparation for landscaping, including 18 inches of fill and six inches of top soil. No seeding or landscaping has yet been done.

Hamilton TV Station Restricted In Coverage

OTTAWA (CP)—A proposed privately-owned television station in Hamilton mainly would cover areas not covered by the CBC station in Toronto and a private station planned for London.

A transport department reply tabled Monday in the Commons for E. D. Fulton (PC—Kamloops) said the Hamilton station would use a directional antenna that would beam the service mainly to the northeast and northwest of Hamilton and southeast to the Niagara peninsula.

Application for the Hamilton station will be considered by the CBC board of governors at a meeting here March 27.

Killed On Highway

TALBOTVILLE, Ont. (CP)—A man police identified as A. Liger of West Lorne was killed Monday night when he was struck by a car on No. 3 Highway.

Mrs. Ernest Hargerty, 42, Lawrence Station, told police the man was walking in the centre of the traffic lane on which her eastbound car was travelling. She said she was blinded by the lights of an approaching car.

While Dutch Repair Dikes Plan Consider To Solve Whole Problem

By DAVID SHEARS

THE HAGUE (Reuters) — The Netherlands, reeling after the worst flood disaster for 400 years, is buckling to the gigantic task of rebuilding shattered sea defences and restoring inundated land to cultivation.

Already, many of the hundreds of dike breaches have been filled and large stretches of devastated countryside reclaimed.

But with every tide, surging sea water still pours unhindered through broad gaps, bringing tons of sand and salt to poison rich agricultural soil, and make the work of closing the gaps more difficult.

An expert commission has been set up to restore the dikes and to make sure, as far as is possible, that such a disaster will never again occur.

Though vast tracts of The Netherlands lie below sea level, the vulnerable south - west, the Rhine-Scheldt delta area comprising the islands, coastline and river banks of Zeeland, South Holland and North Brabant, were the areas most affected.

A plan, drawn up many years ago but pigeon-holed by successive governments, has now come very much to the fore. It would shorten the much-indented coastline of this delta area by damming off the broad estuary mouths.

CHANNEL LEFT OPEN

Only the new waterway channel leading to Rotterdam, and Antwerp's gateway of the Schedlt, would be left open.

The cost would be, one leading engineer says, 1,000,000,000 guilders (roughly $280,000,000) "for a start." He calculated that two years would be needed for preliminary study, and perhaps 12 more for the actual work.

But the effect would be to render superfluous hundreds of miles of high upkeep dikes, and end the expensive incursions of salt which continually threatens soil fertility.

The alternative is raising the height of 600 miles of dikes in the affected area by at least three feet. The dikes would have to be kept in constant repair and would not solve the salt problem.

Meanwhile, the non-stop task of plugging the breaches goes on. Sandbags, clay, stones, timber, even small ships and barges, are being used in this battle against the water.

The first step is to lay great willow "Mattreses," weighted with rocks, on the sea bed. This is to provide a foundation and stop further erosion.

CONCRETE PONTOONS

Then come big concrete caissons or pontoons, something like the concrete caissons used for the harbor built on the Normandy coast for the invasion of German-occupied France. Alternatively, hulks of old ships are sunk in the gaps.

Finally, tons of clay and sand, faced perhaps with rocks and asphalt, are piled in to make the broad-based, rounded, grass-covered, permanent structure which is an integral and familar part of the Netherlands landscape.

'Most Advanced' Forest Inventory Tabled By Gemmell In Legislature

TORONTO (CP)—A forest inventory of Ontario, termed by Lands Minister Gemmell the most advanced and comprehensive survey of its kind ever undertaken by any government, was tabled in the legislature Monday.

The project, started in 1946, was made by aerial photography and ground survey crews. More than 150,000 photographs were taken in covering the 105,600,000 acres.

The project showed that of the area surveyed, 81,280,000 acres were forest lands and the rest "waste" land in the sense it is not suitable for woods operation. Concessions already granted to the woods industry covered 56,812,800 acres of the entire area surveyed.

The survey has been useful to hydro authorities for locating new power project sites and to the highways department in choosing the best route for the Trans-Canada Highway through the Northern Ontario bushland, Mr. Gemmell said.

The House began detailed examination of the bill to form a Toronto metropolitan area council and Premier Frost said he would call a fall session of the legislature if "unexpected difficulties" arise.

The first part of the bill, outlining the make-up of the proposed council, was studied and government members from Toronto ridings introduced a number of minor amendments, all of which were approved.

Joseph Salsberg, Labor-Progressive (Communist) member for Toronto St. Andrew, kept up a running fight against the bill, introducing four amendments of his own, three of which were defeated and the fourth withdrawn.

At the 2½ hour night sitting, first of the session, the House considered estimates of the labor department.

Two opposition members, Albert Wren (Lib. Lab.—Kenora) and T.D. Thomas (CCF—Ontario) said the government should provide payments retroactive to time of death to widows whose husbands are killed in industrial accidents.

The labor department's estimates included money to cover increases in pensions for widows to $75 from $50 a month, and for children whose fathers were killed in such accidents to $25 from $12.

"We could do something," Mr. Thomas said. "The suffering they have undergone started when their husbands died. Let's assess the employers for accidents going back two or three years—and farther back we can take it out of the consolidated revenue fund."

BUOYANT REVENUES

"This government's buoyant revenues make it possible to help the widows whose husbands helped make this prosperity possible," Mr. Wren said. "Until this is done, despite everything else the government has managed, it remains a blight on the labor department."

Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver criticized the office of the athletic commissioner, under the labor department's jurisdiction. The Liberal member for Grey South said the commissioner's office should take a more active role in the governing of sports in the province. He said steps should be taken to ensure the safety of athletes in amateur sports.

The commissioner's post has been vacant since the death of Fred Steele last year. Howie Meeker, right-winger of Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League and Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Waterloo South, has been mentioned as a candidate for the post.

The House approved $21,500,000 in supplementary grants, made possible by the large surplus of $50,000,000 in last year's budget. Members voted $2,000,000 to the universities, $10,000,000 to the highways reserved fund, $8,500,000 in special hospital grants and $1,000,000 to the teachers' retirement fund.

Urges Regulation Of Cuban Sugar

OTTAWA (CP)—John Blackmore (SC—Lethbridge) said Monday that "something simply must be done" to regulate importations of refined cane sugar from Cuba and other countries.

Speeking in the budget debate in the Commons, the Alberta member said unregulated importations of Cuban refined and raw sugar "could and would, in a very short time, utterly wreck and wipe out all Canadian sugar production, both cane and beet, both raw and refined."

This, he said, "would mean a dangerous loss to Canada and an extremely expensive one."

Mr. Blackmore reviewed Canada's sugar trade relations with Cuba and mentioned the three-year agreement by which Canada is importing 75,000 tons of raw sugar in each of the years 1951-52-53. This agreement, he said, had been made without any provision as to the amount of refined sugar Cuba might ship to Canada.

(Trade Minister Howe recently told the Commons that during a visit to Cuba, he had obtained an agreement from Cuban exporters not to ship their exports of refined sugar directly into Canada's sugar-beet growing areas in Ontario and Alberta.)

Fish Crate Dwelling

STRATFORD (CP)—Arthur R. Enazel, who used fish crates to build a place to live, appeared in court Monday on a charge of building contrary to city by-laws. Mr. Enazel said his home has wheels. A building inspector said if that were true the dwelling does not come under city bylaws. He said he would check and the case was remanded for a week.

Tax Rate Unchanged

GALT (CP)—City council Monday set the 1953 tax rate for public school supporters at 38 mills and for separate school supporters at 40 mills, the same as last year.

Toronto Marlboros Get Midget "A" Round Over Peterborough Aces

Joe Rocketta's battling Martin-Hewitt midget took the short end of a 7-2 score in the return game of their semi-final home-and-home series with Toronto Marlboros at Scarboro Arena Monday night; and thus suffered elimination on the round by a 9-3 margin. Toronto showed superior power on home ice to rack up a convincing win against worthy rivals. Play began speedily, and referees McIlrain and Irwin served notice no rough play would be tolerated in this final tussle; Tom Kelly, Bob Beabiah, Ken Girard and Ron Casey were quickly cooped for a variety of minor offences. Midway in the frame, Peterborough tied the round to the thunderous applause of the crowd when Paul Murphy took a loose puck from Bernard Ferrier to blast a close 10-footer past Iron. Success was short-lived though, as Marlies rushed back, and star centre, Bill Kennedy evened the count on a sharp rush with Ken Gerard and Jimmy Shropshire at 13:50.

LOU STEPS OUT — After coaching the Peterborough junior lacrosse club in OLA ranks for three straight seasons, Lou Vitarelli has decided to step out of the coaching role this season. The former starry senior player with the Petes feels he is entitled to a rest this summer. No coach has been named yet to succeed him.

Pressing still harder, Marlies increased their overall margin to two markers when Shropshire and Girard combined a minute later, the former clicking on a short left-wing drive as play sizzled. Bob Axsmith took the gate near the period's end for tripping Kane.

GOALIE GOOD

The second frame saw play in the visitor's end in the early stages as Marlies opened a sustained offensive; and Riel had to be sharp to save several tough ones, particularly on a straight break away by Ron Casey at the eight-minute mark.

Finally, at 8:30, Brian Kirby beat him with a hot 15-foot drive as his mate Shropshire fed a neat passout from behind the cage; and Marlies increased their round margin to three. Harry Neale drew two successive miscues, for roughing, elbowing, respectively; and Martin-Hewitts drove hard; but to little avail as Marlies put up a stubborn defence. Riel robbed Shropshire from point-blank range as he put up a gallant effort to thwart the power of Marlies' attack; but with less than two minutes of play remaining, Bob Moore finally beat the staunch sentinel on a hard, close drive with Shropshire on a ganging attack. Marlies held a fair edge in the mid-session on territorial play.

IT WAS OPEN

The third stanza showed wide-open hockey with the emphasis on offence. Marlies drew first blood at the quarter mark, in a beautiful tally by Tom Kelly junior with Ron Cosey as the latter passed out from behind the cage after a series of clever passes around Masterson. Paul Murphy regained that on a neat fake around the net, then parked the disk in the short side past Iron, midway in the period. Bob Baker drew an assist, Harry Neale tallied three minutes later, on a great individual rush through the entire visiting squad to park a hot 20-footer to the left corner. The finale was marred by five penalties; but the only serious incident was a slight scrap between Shropshire and Brown and each drew a major. Marlies scored their final counter when Masterson ventured too far out on a save, missed, and Bob Moore fired into the open net at 17:40.

The better team won on the play and the work of Masterson in the net for Peterborough was indeed praiseworthy. Without his services the final score might well have been higher. Every man however gave his best on both teams.

Keen Contests Seen In "Y" Floor Hockey

Games in the YMCA floor hockey league were too close for comfort Monday night as the Aces and Rovers had to play overtime but still settled for an 11-all tie while the Friday night Clubbers nipped the Huskies 6-4.

Johnny Longo, Pat Belsey and Dutch Noble placed the Aces ahead 4-3 in the first period despite goals by Rovers' Red Hill, Mike Caddigan and Mick Magee. They held that margin throughout the second as Aces still led.

But in the third period Rovers' Bob Payne whipped in three goals to tie the score 10-all at the end of regulation time. Then, in overtime, Longo for the Aces and Caddigan for Rovers scored, ending up with an 11-all tie.

Gord Burns tallied twice for the new Huskies in the first period to match Joe Crossman and Howie Eastman FNC tallies. But the clubbers took a commanding lead in the second on goals by Fred Huffman, Bill King and Joe Crossman for a 5-3 score. Bill Twist and Jack Peters notched the only goals in the third.

Lineups:

First game: Aces (11)—Longo 3, Belsey 2, Rose, Pearson, Campbell 1, Noble 1, Mongraw 3, Brooks, Seabrooke 1.

Rovers (11)—Heffernan, Hill 2, Caddigan 2, Payne 4, Magee 3.

Second game: Friday Night Club (6)—Gracie, Bain, Huffman 1, King 1, Crossman 2, Peters 1, Eastman 1, Codderre.

Huskies (4)—Dundas 1, Burns 2, Coughlin, Twist 1, White, Rice, Rowley, Lowes.

SUPERTEST FAST PICKUP

Brazil, Dean, Berg, Beitleman, Asselin And Stanlee On Mat Card

BOBO BRAZIL

It will be a fast, hard-hitting grappler against a huge, rugged one when Bobo Brazil clashes with Man Mountain Dean Jr. at the Brock Arena Wednesday night. The hard-hitting, koko crashing Bobo appears to hold a slight edge over the ponderous Dean, although the latter has a large string of victories. A fiery contest with both contestants striving hard to rack up a win seems certain.

A strong supporting card has been lined up with two fast, clean and scientific wrestlers in the semi-final, Sammy (Mr. Canada) Berg versus the Buffalo star Don Beitleman. This match will undoubtedly be a real crowd-pleaser.

In the opening affair popular Ovila Asselin will tackle Steve (Mr. America) Stanlee. A well-balanced wrestling card for local and district fans.

Randy Turpin To Meet Cartier In London

LONDON (AP)—Randy Turpin the guy Britons think should be th world middlew e i g h t champion meets Walt Cartier of New Yor in a 10-rounder at Earls Cour Arena tonight in his first bout witl an American in 18 months.

British sports writers have pin ned a "glass jaw" label on Cartier who has been knocked out si: times, and agree that Randy, on of the heaviest punchers for hi: weight, should be able to settl the argument effectively about th halfway stage.

He will have to if he wants t: cut through the tangle of conten ders for the world crown relin quished by Sugar Ray Robinson last year. Cartier isn't ranked among the first 10 on U.S. lists.

Irked by the involved U.S. program of eliminations for the vacant middleweight title, promoter Jack Solomons is hatching plans to match Turpin with either Charles Humez of France or Carl (Bobo) Olson of San Francisco in a championship fight in London this Coronation summer.

A victory for Cartier would upset these plans and end Turpin's hopes of regaining the title he held for two brief months after defeating Sugar Ray in 1951.

City Carpetball

The schedule for the week of March 23: Legion No. 10 vs. Glens No. 1; Legion No. 5 vs. Fire Hall No. 4; Legion No. 7 vs. Red Patch No. 11; Fire Hall No. 9 vs. Legion No. 2; Orphans No. 2 vs. LOL No. 6; Legion No. 3 vs. SOE No. 8. This is the final week of the league schedule.

Results of last week's play:

At the fire hall, No. 9 went down to defeat in the first game when SOE No. 8 scored a five and then a six in the final end to win 19-6. The second game was 8-0 in favor of the Sons going into the seventh end; then the Smoke-Eaters scored in every one of the last ends, making it 8-all in the 10th and then going on to win 10-8.

Red Patch No. 11 swept to two victories over Legion No. 5. The first game was won by a 20-8 score by the Patches. The second game was closely fought but again Legion No. 5 went down to defeat by a 9-12 score.

Legion No. 12 and Orphans No. 2 met, the first going to No. 12 by a 14-9 score, but the second game was a nip and tuck affair and finished as a tie with a 9-all score.

Legion teams Nos. 10 and 7 met and split the games. The first game went to No. 10 by a score of 15-6. Then No. 7 captured the second game by a 13-7 score.

The Glens, fighting for at least second place, lost the first game to Fire Hall No. 4. After being in the lead they allowed No. 4 to score a six and a four in the 5th and 6th ends and No. 1 went down to defeat by 8-17. The second game was different: the Glens went into the lead and kept it by only allowing No. 4 to score four points while totalling 16.

The postponed games between Legion No. 12 and LOL No. 6 was won by No. 12 by scores of 12-9 and 13-11. Two closely-fought games.

The postponed games, Fire Hall No. 9 vs. Orphans No. 2 and Legion No. 3 vs. LOL No. 6, must be played this week.

The President's Cup playdowns semi-final between Orphans No. 2 vs. Legion No. 7 must be played this week. The winner meets LOL No. 6 in the finals.

Legion No. 7 vs. Glens No. 1 played this week's game ahead. The first game went to No. 7 by a 10-7 score. In the second game No. 7 just saved themselves a skunk by scoring a lone one while the Glens amassed a total of 23.

The doubles competition first round has been completed when No. 30 eliminated No. 3 in two straight by scores 6-5 and 6-5. No. 12 won the first game from No. 8 by a 9-5 score but No. 8 won the next two games by scores 11-5 and 10-5. No. 15 eliminated No. 7 in straight tilts by scores 6-5 and 7-4. No. 14 failed to show up and No. 29 won by default.

Second round to be played on Wednesday, March 18. At Legion: 7 p.m., Vinette and Sorie v. Findday and M. Gahagan, Roscoe and Herr v. Cummings and Nelson; 8:30 p.m., Reid and Stedman v. Roberts and Hopgood, Giroux and McLean v Read and Pilling. At Orange Hall: 7 p.m., Wilson and Palmer v. Curtis and McPhee, LaPlante and Douglas v. Fenton and Weaver; 8:30 p.m., Gimblett, Sr. and Torrance v. Parsons and Williamson.

Don't forget Knox Men's Club tournament at 8 p.m., March 20: All City League players are invited.

Will the winners of the trophies for last year please turn them in to Elsie Bennett at once.

HELP THE MUSKIES—Playing coach Al Burns, left, and speedy Sixty Coombs—two Lindsay puckists who formerly played for the Peterborough Legionnaires—were a big help in giving Lindsay Muskies the OHA intermediate "A" lakeshore group championship recently, the team coming from behind to oust Port Hope in loop finals. Al is still a hard-hitting defenceman, and Sixty a tricky forward on the attack.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Talking to a keen sports fan the other day, and he said he was from Ennismore. We know quite a few of the fine folk out Ennismore way, and have some relatives there. Asked him his name and he said: "It's Croak." The way some of 'em out there pronounce Crough. We said: "It's not Croak, but Crow." But the guy insisted firmly that's what it was, Croak. Though there's Irish in our blood, we still think Crough is Crow, not Croak. So we asked the cheerful Irish-Canuck to write it down and he'd see it was more Crow than Croak, and he might as well get it straight what with St. Patrick's Day coming up and all. He took a pencil and wrote it down: "C-r-o-u-g-h", and said triumphantly: "See, it's Croak."

A letter comes from Maurice Reid, sports editor of the Chatham News. He was better known as Lefty Reid when he pitched in the City Softball League in 1948 and '49, ere moving on to Belleville and then to Western Ontario. Pitched excellent ball for the Uniteds before he left this city. Lefty wants us to say hello for him "to some of the fellows —Jim Conlin, Gabby Killen, El Downer, Bill McTague, Jerry McGillis, Buck Legrow, Red Sullivan, and any of the other fellows I used to bowl with or play ball." He ran into Arn Dugan and Jake Wade during the senior hockey season and says both are highly regarded around the league and should have no trouble catching on again next winter if they want to play hockey.

Tony After The Job

Tony Kotowski, Orfuns' grid coach, came up last week from Pennsylvania to apply for the coaching job here again. Club prexy Dr. Don Aitken and his executive have made no decision as yet re Orfuns' 1953 coach, though Tony will certainly receive consideration after the team going so far last autumn. Frank Gnup, we think, is the No. 1 choice of the club—Frank having taught the team plenty the half-season he had the squad the year before, coming in after Leo Deadey resigned. But Frank coached senior ORFU last year and is still shopping around. Won't commit himself at the moment, though he (and Tony, too) have said they'd like to settle down here.

Speaking of coaches, Lou Vitarelli is stepping out as junior lacrosse coach in OLA ranks this year. Handled the boys in fine style for three seasons—they were in playoffs every time—but feels he should take a summer off for a bit of home life. Lou was an ace senior a few years back and we trust he doesn't stay out of the gutted-stick game too long, keeping his hand in it in some capacity or other. Frank Patterson, who runs an appliance store, will sponsor the juniors again and he looks for a few imports and several good ex-juves to replace the four players he loses this year via the over-age route. Executive will be named within a day or two, with Dr. Jack Epping slated for president, and Al Lockington vice-prexy. . . . . . .

Tigers Need Players

Hamilton Peller-Tigers plan to stay in the OLA senior "A" league this year, but will have to do some real digging for players. Lefty Jordan of Burlington is taking over the coaching chore, as Doug Cove is going to St. Catharines. According to an item from the Ambitious City, Blain McDonald, George Masters, Doug Favelle, Merv McKenzie and Al Doyle will all be playing elsewhere, leaving Butch Guthro as one of the few veterans still in the Tigers' lineup. 'Tis said the club dropped something like $5,000 last season because of poor attendance at home games. You've got to field a real contending club in this top lacrosse loop to make any money, and then there's the risk of rained-out games, expensive injuries, etc.

* * * * * *

Comes March 17 and our bantam Shamrocks are in OMHA finals of the "A" variety, playing Galt or Guelph for the provincial crown next week. They drew 2-2 with Marlboros in Scarboro last eve to win their semi-final series by 8-4. Gary Darling scored one for 'em last night on Pat Baker's rebound, and Gary set up Larry Lonsberry for the other marker. Congrats to Coach Pat Doherty and his classy local crew. Joe Rochetta's gallant midget Aces dropped a 7-2 semi-final decision to Marlies in this twin bill and lost the round 9-3. Tough luck but they went down fighting against strong opposition—and did real well in going so far. A midget "B" semi-final at Civic Arena tomorrow has Collingwood playing Campbellford. Later in the week, Havelock may be in juvenile "B" finals here 'gainst Wallaceburg or Dunville.

Walton Eliminated In Bowling Tourney

TORONTO (CP) — John Turcsanyi and Gord Marsh, both of Hamilton, on Monday topped the 1,222 score piled up Saturday by Murph Chamberlain, of Ottawa, in the Ontario five-pin bowling championships at the National Sportsmen's Show. Turcsanyi rolled up 1,379 points and Marsh had 1,224.

Jake Smith, of Toronto, and George Walton, of Peterborough, who had survived first-round play on Saturday, were eliminated Monday as the tournament moved toward a close later this week.

Scott's And Line Gets Openers In Bush League

Soft ice in the home arena moved the bush league semi-finalists to Peterborough ice on Monday night for the openers of a best-of-three series.

The first game say Scott's Corenrs outlast Bethany to cop a 7-2 verdict. Absenteeism robbed Bethany of some scoring punch and rearguard reintorcements. After making a contest of it for two periods, they wilted, permitting Scott's Corners to run in four goals and sew up the affray. Although the Corners had Bethany backed into home territory for a large part of the first frame, their shots were mostly off the target and Dunn registered the only counter. Bethany on the other hand clicked on two of six scoring chances with Corkery and Brown pulling the trigger. Alberico tied it up half way through the second as play livened considerably and the action became more rugged. With a minute to go Conroy put his team one up when he bounced a crazily hopping puck past Challice.

In the third, Scott's Corners took full command of the game with Little and Harris each bulging the twine twice. Sealbrooke, although a non-scorer played a lot of classy hockey while Edmonds and Burn, the burly Bethany defenders, were largely responsible for keeping the cup-hungry Corners from making it a runaway.

Scott's Corners— Goal, Hehn, defence, Crickton, Dawson; forwards, Alberico, Stevens, Conroy, alternates, Shangnessy, Harris, Galley, Sealbrooke, Little, Minnie, Dunn, Larocque, Blodgett.

Bethany: Goal, Challice, defence Burn, Edmond; forwards, Corkery, Pomeroy, Gillis; alternates, McGill, Sinclair, Fallis, Brown, Boyles, Sarginson, Gillis, Jackson.

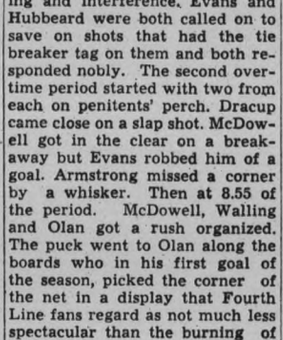
Referees: Edmonds, Smith.

GOES OVERTIME

Fourth Line and Mt. Pleasant staged a torrid tussle that required 19 minutes overtime to decide the final score 8-7 with the Liners on top. With a minute and 50 seconds to go in the third period the Liners were nursing a two goal bulge but it proved to be a perishable commodity when Armstrong notched a goal at the 18-10 mark and then— with one second of play remaining— Dracup parked the disc behind Hubbard to make a new game.

The first overtime period was a close-to- the-vest hard checking scoreless affair that finally ended in a rash of penalties for roughing and interference. Evans and Hubbeard were both called on to save on shots that had the tie breaker tag on them and both responded nobly. The second overtime period started with two from each on penitents' perch. Dracup came close on a slap shot. McDowell got in the clear on a breakaway but Evans robbed him of a goal. Armstrong missed a corner by a whisker. Then at 8.55 of the period. McDowell, Walling and Olan got a rush organized. The puck went to Olan along the boards who in his first goal of the season, picked the corner of the net in a display that Fourth Line fans regard as not much less spectacular than the burning of Rome.

In regulation time it was the Liners delivery boys, A. Hutchison, McDowell and Walling again delivering this time six of the eigth goals. Earl Hutchison goifed the seventh and Olan sank the decider.



For Mt. Pleasant, Dracup and Bryan were credited with two goals apiece and Crawford, Armstrong and Carr each one. The latter youngster sparkplugged the Mountaineers all evening.

Crichton and Dawson cooled out several dynamite laden situations in a well-handled game.

Mt. Pleasant: Goal, Evans, defence, J. Evans, Fisher; forwards, Dracup, Armstrong, Crawford; alternates, Carr, Bryan, Parker, G. Bryan.

Fourth Line: Goal, Hubbeard; defence, Olan, E. Hutchison; forwards, McDowell, Walling, A. Hutchison; alternates, Thompson, Agnew, Friar, Fallis, Guthrie, Londry.

Peterborough Shamrocks Eliminate Marlies To Make Bantam Finals

Pat Doherty's sparkling Shamrock bantams came through with flying colors Monday night in Toronto, to tie Marlboros 2-2 and thus win their semi-final OMHA hockey series 8-4 on the round. They are slated to meet Galt next, in the final round. A arge following of Peterborough supporters made the trip to Scarboro, and cheered their favorites to the echo during and after a great display. Play opened fast with little to choose between the two evenly-matched squads. Midway in the frame two Shamrock penalties put the visitors on the defensive; but no damage resulted. Then Marlies suffered a pair of miscues but their defense held. Sharpshooters on both teams peppered the rival cages but the custodians rose to heights to turn back all first period thrusts and thus it ended all square after 20 minutes of lightning fast and clean play.

SIZZLING FAST

The mid-session saw no letup as play streamed both ways. At the eight-minute mark, Marlies opened the scoring as Jim Sonoski rushed hard with George Grigor and Barry Johnson deep into the Peterborough zone where the former took a sharp pass to his uncovered left from Johnson and fired a hot 15-footer past goalie Jim Riel

Shamrocks fought back hard and Larry Lonsberry led several dangerous rushes to spark his mates; but Broderick held. Pat Mulligan drew a slashing penalty after 13 minutes of play for the first miscue of the mid-frame; then Bob Davidson for elbowing. Shamrocks roared to the attack. with a fury that could not be denied and led by Darling, Mahoney, Baker, Lonsberry and Stewart, hit pay dirt at 17:30 when Pat Baker swept in on Broderick from the right side, fired, and Gary Darling promptly sank the rebound in a wild mixup. It was a very even period on the play; fast. clean and one that saw every player going all out in a grand display of two-way hockey.

MOST EXCITING

The final frame proved most exciting of all as Shamrocks fought to hold their round margin; while Marlies gave their all in an effort to overcome seemingly impossible odds; and stars were a dime-a-dozen. A long, early solo by Mahoney almost paid off for Shamrocks at the three-minute mark; but Broderick was sharp and saved; then again twice from Lonsberry.

Marlies came back strong to score at the quarter mark when Floyd Quance and Jim Bailey broke fast from centre to close in on Riel who had no chance on the scramble that followed; and Quance batted in a short rebound six feet out to give Marlies a ray of hope.

Pete Stewart for Shamrocks for tripping; then Bailey on interference for the homesters, near the half-way mark marred action as play reached a terrific tempo; but no scoring resulted. An elbowing penalty to Quance at the three-quarter mark started Shamrocks on another lightning offensive; and star defenceman, Larry Lonsberry, finally saw reward after a great offensive effort, when he blasted a terrific 30-footer from deep left wing to the far corner of the mesh; Gary Darling, diminutive centre star set up the play.

Mulligan roughed Lonsberry to take the gate in the dying minutes as Marlies' tempers cracked, closely followed by Bill Agnew, who charged Mahoney and Shamrocks looked far the better as they finished a tough struggle well organized and confident. Shamrocks' clean play was a highlight of the thrilling struggle in which every player gave his best with honors well distributed among all the players For Marlies, Barry Johnson, Jim Sonoski, Bob Davidson, Lloyd Quance, Pat Mulligan, G. Grigor and goalie Broderick looked best.

Bantam

Peterborough Shamrocs: Goal, Riel; defence, Stewart, Lonsberry; centre, Darling; wings, Baker, Mahoney; alts., Daley, Pace, Armstrong, Haig, Kimball, Lustic, Coombes, Jay, Tetlock.

Toronto Marlies: Goal, Broderick; defence, Mulligan and Davidson; centre, Johnson; wings, Sonoski, Grigor; alts., Payne, Dunsford, Quance, Douglas, Finlayson, Bailey, Brickell, Henderson, Agnew.

Referees — Jim McErlain, Booney Irwin, Toronto.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

This is a great week for the Irish, indeed and it is now.

The sons of the Ould Sod may have lost their leadership in boxing, in long-jumping and some other sports in which they once excelled, but there's one sport no one can take away from the Irish.

That's hand-ball. They invented it. Not a major sport, to be sure, but a great conditioning game of speed and skill, used by fighters, wrestlers, firemen, policemen to reach top physical shape, by business men, editors, lawyers, to keep that waist-line down to normal proportions.

The hardy Irish played hand-ball in the tenth century. They called it "fives," because the five fingers on each hand were used to send the ball crashing into the board walls. Meham Biggs of Tipperary was the hand-ball wizard, the Bob Feller, the Joe Black of his day. He could make a hand-ball spin and curve like a baseball pitcher controls a ball. England borrowed hand-ball from Ireland two centuries ago. "Fives" is still a big game at Eton, has been for years. From hand-ball, so it is believed, came tennis, racquets and other such sports. They owe it all to the Irish. And this is a fine week, so it is, to emphasize that point.

It goes without saying that hand-ball came to America with emigration from Ireland. In 1882, one Phil Casey migrated to Brooklyn and was distressed to learn there were no hand-ball courts in the States. Casey and fellow immigrants batted the hard ball brought from the ould country against the brick wall of New York buildings, but the rough surface nullified the spin, hence the finer art declined.

Casey was enterprising enough to build a slick wooden court with side walls and he charged a fee. Alumni of the Casey academy soon penetrated to Midwestern and Pacific Coast communities, especially Detroit and San Francisco.

The Irish of that day had an ambition to join the "farce," i.e., the force, and wear a uniform. Accordingly there was hardly a police station or a fire house in the strip of Northern States from the Atlantic to the Pacific that didn't serve as a back wall for hand-ball playing. And in public and private gymnasiums, the game came into great vogue, because it was much more convenient to play hand-ball, than, for instance, golf, which took time to travel to the links. So today, thanks to the Irish of 2,000 years ago, and thanks later to the Caseys, the Egans, the Cavanaughs and the McQuades, hand-ball, the game of the Irish, still flourishes, sharpens the reflexes between hands and feet, sharpens the eye, develops durability, stamina and good physical condition.

Four-wall hand-ball was the original game and still is played. But in Brooklyn alone, there are said to be some 1,200 one-wall courts against which descendants of the Irish immigrants of a century back, and descendants of all other nationalities who help create the melting-pot of this continent, play Ireland's game.

Toronto Needs Superhuman Effort In Drive For Playoff Spot In NHL

MONTREAL—(CP)—Two tough assignments focus attention on the National Hockey League as the teams swing into the final week of the regular schedule. In order of toughness of attainment, they are: A playoff spot for Toronto Maple Leafs and a goal-scoring record for Gordie Howe of Detroit Red Wings. The Leafs will need outside help and a superhuman effort of their own if they are to displace either Boston Bruins or Chicago Black Hawks. The Bruins and Hawks are tied for third place with 65 points each. The Leafs, in fifth place and currently outside the playoff fold, have 59. Detroit clinched first place March 8 and Montreal Canadiens clinched second last Saturday. New York Rangers are out of the running.

The Leafs' big test comes Wednesday when the Hawks visit Toronto. If their playoff chances are still alive next Sunday, the Leafs will get another chance when they play that night in Boston. In between those games they meet Montreal and New York.

NEED HELP

Even if they defeat the Bruins and Hawks, the Leafs must depend on other teams to administer spankings to one or both. There are no Boston-Chicago games left, so a cut-throat affair is ruled out.

The Bruins have four games left—against New York, Detroit, Montreal and Toronto. The Hawks have three to go—against Toronto, Detroit and New York.

If there are ties on points at the finish, the team with the greater number of wins gets the higher placing. If there is still a tie, the call goes to the team with the fewer losses. If this doesn't break the deadlock, total number of goals for the season decides the issue.

The task Gordie Howe has set himself gets no easier as the season nears its close. He has scored 47 goals and is aiming at the single-season record of 50, set by Montreal's Maurice Richard in the 50-game schedule of the 1945-46 season.

MUST IMPROVE

In the three games left, the pressure on, Howe must do better than .7, his average in 67 games. But the big fellow make break loose in any of them. The teams he will face are Boston, Chicago and Montreal.

There could be a dramatic finish to the season if Howe breaks or ties the record—or fails to do so—at Detroit Olympia Sunday night. The visitors will be the Canadiens, with Richard himself in action.

With his 47 goals and 46 assists, Howe is far in front as individual point-getter with 93 points, well ahead of his own record of 86. He picked up only one goal and one assist in four games last week.

His teammate Ted Lindsay had two assists to bring his total to 70. Richard, with two goals and two assists in three games, took over third place with 60 points, followed by Wally Hergesheimer of New York whose 1-1 count brought his total to 58.

SAWCHUK BEST

Only an unprecedented three-game avalanche of goals can displace Terry Sawchuk of the Wings as low-average goalie for the season. His average of 1.89, compared with his 1.94 last season and 1.98 the season before. Gerry McNeil of Montreal ranks second with 2.10.

The side-show attraction to the season's finish is the penalty "championship." Lindsay has served 109 minutes, Richard 108 and Fern Flaman of Toronto 106.

AL Permission To Move Browns Refused Veeck

By JOE REICHLER

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The American League refused Monday to permit Bill Veeck to transfer his St. Louis Browns franchise to Baltimore—an action that came as a huge surprise after a week of intense baseball manoeuvring.

One source said the vote was 5 to 2 against the shift, with only Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox siding with Veeck.

Three clubs were reported to have led the fight against the transfer—New York Yankees, Philadelphia Athletics and Washington Senators. Washington is only 40 miles from Baltimore and a major league club in the Maryland city would undoubtedly draw heavily on fans of the entire area. Previously Senator officials expressed approval of the shift.

In the end, the league announced it was inadvisable to permit the shift because of the short period before the baseball season opens in mid-April. It was thought St. Louis fans would give more support to the Browns this year.

The National League has called a meeting for Wednesday in St. Petersburg to discuss a proposal of Lou Perini of Boston to move his Braves to Milwaukee.

Unanimous consent is required in the National League to make a franchise shift. Six of the eight American League cities could vote a change in that circuit.

The International League, of which Baltimore is a member, had scheduled a meeting here today, but when word of the Browns' rejection was made known it was called off. Had the Browns moved to Baltimore, it would have been necessary to find a city for the Baltimore Orioles' International League franchise.

Both St. Louis Browns and Boston Braves lost money heavily last year. Transfer of major league baseball clubs has often been discussed but not in a half century has an actual move come so close to being effected.

Asked whether he had abandoned the idea of moving to Baltimore, Veeck said:

"I haven't abandoned anything. I have been abandoned."

Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League, said he was "very happy over the outcome. I knew I had five votes in the International against the move. I didn't think the American League would approve the move."

Tigers Stay In OLA On Draw-Pay Basis

HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton Tigers will remain in the Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior League this year, it was announced Monday. The company that sponsored the Tigers in 1952 dropped $5,000 because of poor attendance.

As a result the company will give the Cats equipment and advertising in 1953 but players will have to draw crowds to get paid.

Only one veteran has signed for the new season—Butch Guthro. Doug Cove, last year's coach, is going to St. Catharines and has not been replaced.

JERSEY JOE CONFIDENT

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott rates heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano a better one-punch hitter than Joe Louis was but the old fellow is confident he'll even the score with Marciano April 10.

"I'm going to be the first man who lost the heavyweight championship, to regain it," said Walcott. "I'm going to try and do it in the first round if I can. But I'm going to be prepared to go all the way if necessary."

There is a different atmosphere about Walcott's training camp in nearby Pleasantville than there was before the first fight with Marciano Sept. 23.

Walcott and manager Felix Bocchicchio thought they had a cinch in the crude, powerful challenger. The rude awakening came in the 13th round at Philadelphia when Rocky finished off Joe with a right.

Walcott's answer on the question of comparing Louis and Marciano on one-punch power was the tip-off.

"I guess he (Rocky) is better," said Joe. "He puts everything in it. Louis depended on his barrages."

BOSTON ARENA SOLD

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Arena has been sold to a group of New York manufacturers and has passed out of sports history, Arena officials said Monday. The arena, scene of the city's greatest sports events until the Boston Garden was opened in 1928, will be remodeled. The group will probably use the property for manufacturing purposes, the officials said.

Army Hoopsters Leave Hannover For Britain

HANNOVER, Germany (CP)—Canada's hot-shot army basketball team, gunners from the 79th Field Regiment, left for England Monday to take a crack at the British Army championship.

The team, made up of officers and men from many parts of Canada, lost out to the British Army's Life Guards in the British Army of the Rhine finals.

It was the only defeat for the team in 34 contests.

Olson Tops AHL With 81 Points

NEW YORK (CP)—Eddie Olson of Cleveland Barons emerged on top of the American Hockey League's scorers last week, after a personal two-game duel with Guyle Fielder of St. Louis Flyers.

In the two-game week-end series between Cleveland and St. Louis, Olson picked up four points to raise his total to 81. Fielder's two markers gave him 79. Fielder has two more games to play than Olson as the league swings into its final week.

Kelly Burnett of Syracuse Warriors was third in scoring with 74 points and two Clevelanders, Jack Gordon and Ike Hildebrand, followed with 73 and 70 respectively.

Hildebrand retained his lead in goal scoring with 36. Fielder's 57 assists were the high mark in setting up goals.

Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh seems to have the goaltender's championship sewed up with an average of 2.37 on 140 goals allowed in 59 games. Johnny Bower of Cleveland and Gordie Bell of Syracuse each had six shutouts at the end of the week.

Cleveland clinched its eighth league championship on March 15, the most times any team has won the title.

Never Played NHL Hockey Ivan Gives Wings 5th Title

DETROIT (AP)—A little man who never played big league hockey led Detroit Red Wings to a fifth straight National Hockey League title, an unprecedented achievement. He is coach Tommy Ivan.

The success of the 42-year-old Ivan, dapper and reserved, parallels that of Joe McCarthy in baseball. McCarthy, who led New York Yankees to four straight championships, never played big league ball.

Ivan said he never ran into a wave of resentment because of his undistinguished plating background.

"Like so many of the Red Wings" he said, "I was a product of the farm system. McCarthy, on the other hand, came out of a different organization. The man who recommended me to the Detroit system was Carson Cooper, head scout. He's the same fellow who signed such stars as Ted Lindsay, Red Kelly, Marty Pavelich, Bill Quackenbush and Harry Lumley to Detroit contracts."

Ivan succeeded Jack Adams as coach after the 1946-47 season. Adams had been doubling up as coach and manager. The Wings jumped from fourth to second place during Ivan's first season, then captured four straight championships. Twice before this had been done in the NHL, but never did any team win five in a row.

"Adams deserves most of the credit," said Ivan. "He provided the horses. You can't win without the horses."

Ivan was a centre in his playing days, which ended in Brantford, Ont., at the age of 27 when he fractured his cheekbone and sliocated his jaw in an ice jam. He turned to coaching and scouting before Adams moved him up from Omaha to Indianapolis and then to Detroit.

There were several veterans of considerable stature on the Wings when Ivan appeared on the scene, including Black Jack Stewart, but Tommy says he was given free rein.

"One of the first things I did," he said, "was to institute an early-morning practice session. As early as 8 a.m. Now it's 9. I figure that if the players must get up real early, and for some it meant getting up at 6:30 in the morning, they would have to be in bed on time. But as I say, nobody seemed to object. At least, not to me."

MacNab Denies Making Report

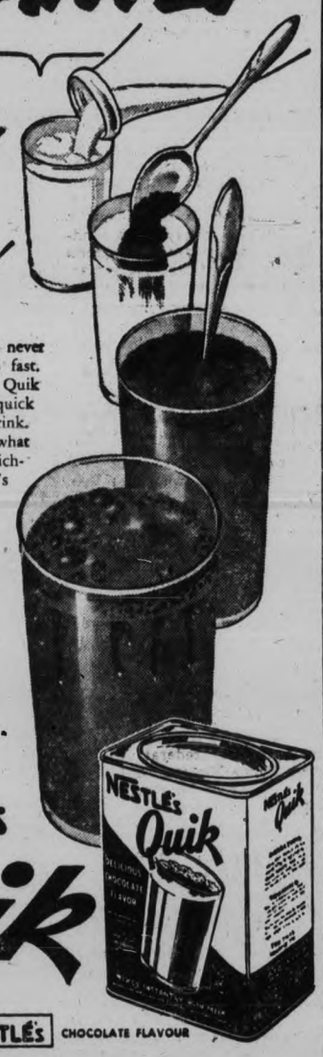
LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A former staff investigator for the civil service commission denied Monday night that a memorandum he wrote in 1949 was a government report. The matter was discussed in the Commons Monday.

Ronald S. MacNab, now a London lawyer, said it was a private letter to his superior and statements in it were not necessarily facts, but "things I had heard from various sources during the course of routine investigation."

Mr. MacNab is the author of one of the controversial reports dealing with the defence department. He said it concerned use of civilian personnel by the defence department.

Mr. MacNab said he wrote a private letter to George T. Jackson, director of organization and classification for the civil service commission, in September, 1949, on the request of Mr. Jackson.

In it, Mr. McNab said, there were statements, not charges or facts as such, which he had heard from army and other sources. "But it was not a government report. Before it could be a government report these statements would have had to be checked and double checked."



Tax Rate Higher

Court Increases Wounding Term To 20 Years

VANCOUVER (CP)—Henry Seguin, 35-year-old Ontario murder suspect, had a five-year prison sentence increased to 20 years by the British Columbia Appeal Court Monday.

He was convicted at Williams Lake, B.C., on a charge of wounding bank manager Leonard Hillier during an attempted holdup Seguin, a native of Maxville, Ont., was also charged with shooting at an RCMP officer when he was surrounded and captured by a police posse north of Williams Lake He was sentenced to five years.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner appealed the five-year sentence.

The Appeal Court increased the sentence on a wounding charge from five to 20 years and gave Seguin a concurrent sentence of 15 years for robbing the bank manager.

Hillier was robbed of $6 when the gunman seized his wallet.

"Criminals must realize the sanctity of human life and it is fortunate that no one was killed in this case," commented Chief Justice Gordon Sloan.

Seguin's appeal for a new trial, made prior to the attorney-general's appeal, was dismissed by the court.

Seguin is wanted in Maxville for the robbery-slaying of a taxi driver last August.

Humane Society To Feed Chicks In Striking Plant

STRATFORD (CP)—Strikers will permit Humane Society officers to feed newly-hatched chicks in the Swift Canadian Company's hatchery here.

A spokesman for local 307, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL) indicated picketers would permit Humane Society officers, possibly from London, to enter the hatchery.

Several thousand chicks were doomed to die tonight if they were not cared for. Sunday night three hatchery employees entered the building under police escort and fed the chicks. However, pickets banned entry to the hatchery Monday.

Union members said men who entered the plant with the foremen Sunday night had placed new eggs in incubators. They feared more chickens would hatch in another 21 days and picket lines would have to be broken again to permit someone to care for them.

Sixty-one members of the union have been on strike since March 6, seeking higher wages.

Railway Starts Survey Of Labor

OTTAWA (CP)—Concerned over "recurring crises" in rail wage negotiations, the Canadian National Railways has launched a "broad survey" into its labor relations.

The government-owned company, employing about 130,000 persons, said Monday in its 1952 report to Parliament that a condition of recurring crises is "detrimental to the best interests of employer and employee alike, and high undesirable from the standpoint of the general public."

Behind the CNR move was the costly general rail strike of August, 1950, a recent strike threat by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, that could have crippled the service, and strike threats raised by CNR hotel employees during the last few months.

The action ties in also with a March 9 comment by the board of transport commissioners, the body regulating the railways, which expressed dissatisfaction with the trend of wage settlements and urged that negotiations be concluded within the life of current agreements to avoid expensive retroactive pay.

Aim of the CNR's survey, the report said, will be to "examine objectively and in the light of modern conditions the whole context of labor-management relations."

Murder, Suicide Try Fails, Both To Live

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A King street landlord and his roomer are in Victoria Hospital with serious stab wounds received Monday in what inspector of detectives William Snell described as attempted murder and suicide.

The more critically hurt is Howard Flannigan, 58-year-old owner of a two-storey brick house, who has a stab wound in each side of his chest.

The roomer, Albert Stevens, 36, is suffering a deep gash in the side of his neck and a knife wound in his upper abdomen. Doctors expected late Monday night that both men would recover.

No charges were to be laid until today said inspector Snell.

Vote For Liquor Outlet

AJAX (CP)—Liquor and brewers' retail stores were assured in this community 10 miles west of Oshawa by a majority vote in six out of eight polls. Other outlets appeared to have been defeated. This is the first time citizens of the improvement district of Ajax have had to vote on any municipal question. The district is governed by an appointed board of trustees.

VC Winner Dies

CALGARY (CP)—Winner of the Victoria Cross in the First World War, Nathaniel (Bert) Bentley, 70, died in hospital during the weekend. Mr. Bentley was born in Toronto and came west 43 years ago. David W. Bentley of Tara, Ont., is a brother.

Find Crashed Plane

KARACHI, Pakistan (Reuters)—The wreckage of an Orient Airways liner which disappeared Friday with 16 on board has been found in the Indian state of Tripura, the defence ministry announced Monday night. The main body of the rescue party, travelling by jeeps and elephants, is still struggling through thick jungle to reach the site, the ministry said.

Urges Balance In Social Welfare

HAMILTON (CP)—Social welfare measures must be balanced against the defence effort and the record of national productivity, Health Minister Martin said Monday night.

"There can always be too much social security; there can, just as truly, be too little," the minister said in an address prepared for the Hamilton Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"There are always reasonable and sensible limits to what governments or other agencies can do," he said. "No one can establish the extent to which governments can provide for the welfare needs of their people.

"It must be considered within the stringent framework of national security and balanced against the competing demands that the defence effort makes on the capacity of the nation. Each new act must also be judged in the light of its relative priority in our total welfare pattern and against the over-all record of national productivity."

Porter Defends Holding Man

TORONTO (CP)—Attorney-General Porter Monday defended his department for refusing to compensate a man held for seven months on a robbery charge and then acquitted.

He was replying in the legislature to an editorial in the March 14 issue of Saturday Night which said the attorney - general was "lacking in conscience" and "failed to meet the demands of his office."

The case involved Ronald Powers and a man named Nugent. Nugent was charged with robbing a motorist and Powers told police Nugent had spent the night with him, far from the scene of the crime.

GETS FIVE YEARS

Then the victim identified Powers as a partner and the police laid a charge. He was convicted and sentenced to five years.

Mr. Porter said police later uncovered evidence establishing Powers' innocence but, he said, Powers made a deliberate misstatement and consequently brought suspicion on himself.

He said Powers was tried in June, appealed in July and from then until February, when he was granted a new trial, was free to apply for bail, but did not take advantage of the opportunity.

"Throughout that time he was in custody awaiting trial," he said. "There are many cases of this kind, murder for instance. Society must be protected and, until proof of innocence is established, a man must be held."

Increase Tax Rate

KITCHENER (CP)—City council Monday night set the 1953 tax rate at 72 mills, an increase of four mills over last year. The levy is one mill higher than that of Waterloo. City treasurer Louis Dahmer noted that council had to meet a 4.5 mill increase in requisitions of boards and commissions over which council had no control. Both Kitchener and Waterloo councils increased the poll tax from $5 to $10.

Favorite Passenger

TORONTO (CP)—Conductor W.L. McLellan, making his last run after 42 years with the Canadian Pacific Railway, found his favorite passenger on the Toronto-bound train from Owen Sound Monday. His wife travelled 25 miles by bus from Toronto to board the train at Brampton to be with him on his final run.

Easy way to tap sap

CANADIAN farmers know the struggle, at maple sugar time, of hauling the sap to the sugar house—especially if there has been an early thaw. So we were interested in hearing how one farmer, who used aluminum tubing for summer irrigation, also used it as a spring pipeline to carry the sap from his trees to the sugar house some distance away.

Light, strong, easily handled aluminum has a way of stimulating people's ingenuity in their search for short cuts that will save them time and money. Today more than a thousand different Canadian firms are manufacturing articles made from aluminum supplied by Alcan. (Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd.)

Drive Along Mountain To Reach Town Of Taxco

TAXCO. — The trip from Mexico City to the charming town of Taxco is one of the most scenic I have taken. You travel along the top of the mountains all the way from the capital and while there are no snow peaks, they have their own beauty.

* * * *

I made the trip by Turismo, a limousine which takes eight people and our car carried only five, besides the driver. I am still not quite sure whether we drove or flew. The roads are serpentine with the sharpest curves I have ever seen. You no sooner turn one than you start and double back. Our driver did most of this at 70 m.p.h., passed on curves, etc. There are no guard rails on the highways, either. In spite of this, he was a good driver and I have yet to see a car accident in Mexico. Our driver spoke no English and I was the only one of the crowd who knew any Spanish, so with my 20 words I was interpreter for the gang.

* * * *

As far as you could see in any direction there were waves and waves of mountains. All are a dull brown in color with vegetation, not just jagged rocks like the Rockies. Some of the sides are cultivated. The great craters and valleys are beautiful. We travelled at quite a high altitude which was beginning to bother me until we neared Cuernavaca which is about 3,000 feet lower than Mexico City.

* * * *

STATE CAPITAL OF MORELOS

Capital of the State of Morelos, Cuernavaca is a beautiful spot. The roadways are lined with lovely flowering trees with mauve and crimson flowers. The climate is semi-tropical and there are charming old colonial houses along the way.

* * * *

The crooked streets with their gaily painted houses invite you to explore. Through the long grilled windows you glimpse patios or gardens filled with flowers, plants and birds. The side streets where you find the real homes of the people, provide a different atmosphere from that of the busy tourist section. Cuernavaca is Mexico City's weekend playground.

* * * *

The State of Guerrero in which Taxco is situated is less accessible and more primitive than Morelos and its inhabitants have preserved to a greater extent their traditions, dances and arts.

* * * *

MEET CANADIANS

During our stop in Cuernavaca I got acquainted with my travelling companions and discovered we had two Canadians aboard. These two girls, who were twins, hailed from New Westminster, B.C. Anne and Joan Geddes (nurse and Bell Telephone employee) had taken in the Mardi Gras at New Orleans, seen Mexico City, were visiting Taxco and then on to Acapulco, the Lake Louise of Mexico. We toured part of Taxco together. The fact that they were twins caused quite a bit of interest among the Indians. Several came up to us in the plaza and by means of the sign language expressed their curiosity.

* * * *

After leaving Cuernavaca, the homes become more primitive. Because of the wonderful climate, the Indians leave most of them open. Sometimes in the better ones, there is one small adobe room and the rest will have thatched roofs and perhaps one side of something that resembles bamboo. Sometimes all four sides are open. In the poorer homes there may be one room closed in with these narrow pieces of wood with wide chinks between them and maybe a second room with no walls and just a thatched roof. When I say room, I do not think in terms of a room as we know them in Canada. They might be the size of a small bedroom. You wonder how a family could possibly live in such small quarters.

* * * *

Life in this part of the country is much slower than in the Capital. There is always manana and everything is much too nice to be in a hurry. It is just the tourists who rush around madly. Many of the farmers have donkeys and you see them trotting along the highway loaded with bags of food or firewood. Car drivers have to be careful because they amble across the highway at will.

* * * *

Although I will be a week in Taxco, I do not know how I am going to tear myself away. It is a small town of 12,000 and so full of charm and beauty and the people so nice, I felt right at home from the start.

NEW ACTING OFFICER COMMANDING the 28th Technical Squadron is Capt. Thomas E. Duffield. He has taken over duties from Major R. R. Asselstine who has been called for active service. Since coming to Peterborough from England in 1947, Capt. Duffield has been a member of the reserve force, serving with the 50th HAA Regiment until 1951 when called for active service at Kingston. Capt. Duffield (front left) checks unit files with Private E. C. D. Mackersie (right), Dr. Lesley Calvert and Sgt. Harvey (Reg) Regimbal. —(Examiner Staff Photo.)

1953 Equipment For Utilities Costs $282,937

Estimated capital expenditures by the Peterborough Utilities Commission for 1953 total $282,937, including $231,000 for the electrical department, $48,437 for the water department and $3,500 for the gas department. The last figure includes $2,000 already spent for service to Outboard Marine and on new meters.

The commission Monday afternoon approved issue of debentures to cover the total amount on June 1, September 1 and December 1.

SUBSTATION

The largest single items in the estimates are $90,000 for the electrical distribution system and $50,000 for the new north end unit substation, both extended over the three dates.

The money is required by the PUC on the following dates:

June 1: Distribution system $30,000; line transformers $19,000; meters $12,500; street lighting $4,000; flat rate water heater control $5,000; new unit substation $20,000; water mains and hydrants $20,000; services on water mains $10,000.

September 1: Distribution system $30,000; underground system $10,000; substation $15,000; water mains and hydrants $14,952; services on mains $3,485.

December 1: Distribution system $30,000; line transformers $19,000; meters $12,500; street lighting $4,000; flat rate water heater control $5,000; substation $15,000.

City Orders Bulldozer For Garbage Disposal

First step in the city's plans for going into the landfill method of garbage disposal was the fixing of authority by the council last night to buy a $16,586 International bulldozer. It is described as an International 3d-14A crawler tractor with Drott bull clam. It is being ordered, by tender, from the W. L. Ballantine Co., Ltd.

This machine investment signifies, apparently, the approaching end, temporarily or otherwise, of the city's incinerator on Townsend St. The motion was by Ald. Beggs, chairman of the sanitation committee.

Community Fund Totals $63,489

Contributions to the Community Chest fund to date total $63,489, it was reported today by officials who released the following figures for various divisions:

Special names	$17,420
Industrial	33,895
Retail	6,823
Women's	4,654
Penny Contributions	697

Generous contributions are expected by the medical division but no figures are available as yet. Dr. S. Y. Walsh is in charge of this division.

Maintain Pole Line

The Peterborough Utilities Commission Monday agreed with a request from CGE to assume the responsibility of maintaining the company's pole line at the following schedule of costs: Labor plus 50 per cent; material plus 10 per cent and truck rental of $25 a day.

Capt. Duffield Acting OC 28th Squadron

Capt. Thomas E. Duffield has been appointed acting officer commanding the 28th Technical Squadron, RCEME (Reserve), and will assume command immediately. He succeeds Major R. R. Asselstine who is on active service call-out at Camp Borden.

Capt. Duffield is the reserve unit's second commanding officer When the 37th HAA Workshop, RCEME was formed in 1948, Major Asselstine was the first in charge and when the name was changed to the 28th Squadron, he retained his rank, keeping it until recently called out.

Major Duffild has taken an active interest in reserve army operations in Peterborough since coming here from England in 1947. He joined the 50th HAA Regiment, RCA (Reserve), in 1948 as a sergeant and during the next three years worked for his lieutenacy.

In 1951, then a lieutenant with the 50th Regiment, Capt. Duffield was called out for active service with the army. He lectured at the RCME school in Kingston as well as looking after the organization of training for the active force.

Born in England, Capt. Duffield attended London University where he obtained his degree in electrical engineering. He came to Peterborough in 1947 to work for the Canadian General Electric Company, working there until 1951. He's now back at the CGE.

Doing City's Business

No Poll Tax For Females Says Council

City Council declined Monday night to support a Stratford resolution advocating changes in the Statute Labor Act to provide that "females pay poll tax."

Passed two accounts of W. H. Bosley & Co., Toronto realty firm, amounting to $269. One was for services of W. H. Bosley as witness and advisor in the city's action against Howe Wreckers of Picton, $169, and the other advising the Council in regard to land values of property in the city hall site, $100.

Murney Howe had the contract for razing the buildings that were bought by the city in the city hall block. The $100 item was a final payment to Mr. Bosley for his appraisals of properties in that location.

Appointed Mayor Waddell, Ald. P. J. Anglesey, City Engineer Chalmers and City Clerk Outram a committee to endeavor to secure "the necessary authority to proceed to lay the proposed main sewer on Western Ave., south of Lansdowne St."

CONTROL FIREWORKS

Instructed City Solicitor Huycke to prepare a bylaw to control the sale of fireworks.

Approved the recommendation in the fire, water and light committee report, presented by Ald. Rehill: "that a complete medical consultation be held with the Workmen's Compensation Board in regard to the case of Virgil Carr, Deputy Fire Chief."

Requested City Solicitor Huycke to prepare an amendment to the bylaw which provides a plan of sick leave gratuities for employees of the city, to read: "If an employee is absent from work due to sickness caused by pregnancy, there will be no sick leave allowance granted, but leave of absence may be granted on request."

Passed this clause in the finance committee report presented by Ald. Anglesey: "That the Peterborough Local Council of Women be informed that its offer to have Mrs. A. A. McIntyre, 207 Brock Street, serve on any committee in respect to housing, has been noted, and that when the policy in respect to housing is being considered the valued services of Mrs. McIntyre will be invited by the council."

Authorized issuance of a temporary building permit to R. Galloway, Burtol Cleaners, to make alterations at 420 Chambers Street providing they conform with the requirements of the City Engineer, and on the understanding that Mr. Galloway appreciates that the expansion and present use of his premises do not conform with zoning regulations....

MOVE TO PROPER ZONE

That Mr. Galloway be informed that the council expects within six months that he will have completed arrangements for his cleaning operations to be transferred to a light industrial area....

Authorized City Engineer Chalmers to buy one 500-gallon oil distributor at $2,938 f.o.b. Windsor, sales tax included, for use on the streets.

Refused permission to Archie Greenwood, 415 Downie Street, to build a house on adjoining property that would cause further congestion of living conditions "which is contrary to the public interest." The reason is that the lot is too small. It was once owned by the city.

Directed City Engineer Chalmers to have builders securing permits at his office "post with him an agreement or bond saving the city harmless from any claim resulting from building materials being on the street during such building operations."

Requested Fire Chief Leonard to submit a report of clothing required this year for his department, which is to be followed by preparation of the specifications and calling for tenders.

Main Street Topics

SEE FILM

A film on safe driving was the program feature at the regular luncheon meeting of the Peterborough Rotary Club Monday.

SCOUT CONFERENCE

About 175 Boy Scout officials from this district will attend an area conference at the Peterborough Normal School, beginning at 2 p.m. Saturday. There will be a banquet at 6:00 p.m. at the YWCA.

ROBINS NUMEROUS

Three robins were reported in Ashburnham Monday afternoon. Evidently a numerous vanguard has arrived. Spring was also distributing its early favors in the gathering warmth and light of today's sunshine.

HAULED OUT OF MUD

A Peterborough busman had to be hauled by a team of horses out of a mudhole on an Ennismore road Monday morning. Weekend rain had extracted frost from the ground, and on that stretch of road it felt as if the bottom had dropped out. Farmers report muddy and here and there difficult lanes that need drying sun.

SUBSTATION OPENING

Hydro Chairman Robert L. Saunders will attend a banquet in the Empress Hotel Tuesday, April 28, in connection with the official opening of the Ross L. Dobbin substation in Smith township. More than 200 invitations will be issued to hydro and municipal officials and members of utilities commission of municipalities served by the substation.

BUS CLIPS CAR

Only light damage was caused Monday when a parking bus clipped a parked car on Murray St. near the collegiate. Pulling into the curb, the bus, driven by Maxwell J. Hutchinson of Bridgenorth, scraped the left front fender of a parked car belonging to Mrs. Dorothea Muxworthy of 547 George St. Damage to the car was estimated at $10. Police Constable Harold Andrew investigated.

MUST COVER REFUSE

Persons conveying refuse or garbage for disposal shall place the material in boxes or other containers which shall be covered with canvas so that none of the contents may fall into the street, causing a nuisance. That was an amendment to the garbage disposal bylaw passed by the council Monday night. It is a plain statement of the present regulation with the likelihood that the public will be witness of any daytime infraction.

71 BOYS COMPETE

All the counties comprising the constituency of the Central Ontario Spring Show will be represented in the boys' grain judging competition which takes places Wednesday morning in the market hall. The names of the Lennox-Addington team of ten youths was received by Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, Monday. That makes the total in the competition 71. The other counties are: Frontenac, six; Hastings, 10; Prince Edward, nine; Northumberland, five; Peterborough, nine; Victoria, four; Durham, 10; Ontario, eight.

Spark Starts Small Fire At Mattress Plant

Minor damage resulted when a spark from a bonfire ignited a tarpaulin covering a pile of bed springs at the rear of the Peterboro Mattress and Springs factory on Mark St. beside the CPR tracks, at noon today.

The fire department was called and soon extinguished the small blaze which charred the wall of a small lean-to at the rear of the building. Some smoke damage was done to furniture inside the building and the pile of bedsprings was damaged.

More Like Spring

Dawson warmed up to zero today as the weather began to take on a more spring-like look. The thermometer climbed to 39 in Peterborough at noon today as a warm sun beamed down. Early morning temperatures at Victoria, B.C., measured 35, only 5 at Port Arthur, 33 in Windsor, and 35 in Halifax.

F. S. Thomas Sick In Hospital Cancels Visit

Ill in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, Hon. F. S. Thomas, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, has had to cancel his Peterborough engagement for Wednesday, Mar. 18, opening the Central Ontario Spring Show at Exhibition Park.

This information was received Monday by F. C. Paterson, secretary of the show. Substitute for the minister will be his Deputy, Cliff D. Graham.

The city public is reminded of the Thursday night program headed by the inter-county square dance competition. It will be staged in the horticulture building which has been cleared of partitions.

NO GATE ADMISSION

Admission is fifty cents, but there is no admission charge that night at the main display building.

The young Sargent orchestra of Cavan will play for the dancing. Peterborough Junior Farmers Choir under the direction of Mr. Charles Allen will sing several numbers They have been organized since winter. A bass quartette from Durham county and a Lindsay monologuist are other items with Bill Weir of Omemee as master of ceremonies.

CCF Party Holds Annual Meeting

The Peterborough CCF Association tonight will hold their annual meeting and election of officers in the new Peterborough Labor Centre, located in what was formerly the Masonic Hall, above the southwest intersection of Water and Hunter Sts.

William C. Grant, 1953 president, is believed to have handed in his resignation and will not run again.

One of the chief items to be discussed at the meeting, 8 o'clock tonight, is whether or not the local CCF party will put up a candidate in the federal election which Prime Minister St. Laurent has declared to be "within the next few months".

Car Parking, Auto Leaving Curb Collide

Only one car was damaged on Monday in a two-car accident on Hunter Street involving two Peterborough drivers.

Grant Finnie of 57½ Hunter Street East was pulling over to the curb to park his car when the vehicle's right side was scraped by a car belonging to Mrs. Vera Playford of 429 Armour Road. Mrs. Playford was preparing to pull away from the curb of Hunter, just west of Mark Street.

The accident, which occurred in the early evening, was investigated by PC Jack Wilson

Damage to Finnie's car was estimated at $65.

Utilities Sets New Schedule Water Rates

Installation Costs To Be Spread Over 15 Years

A uniform schedule of water rates to new consumers was adopted by the Peterborough Utilities Commission Monday.

In order to get away from the present situation in which different rates prevail throughout the city it was decided by the PUC to set a uniform rate of 11 per cent of the cost of installation of new mains to be paid annually for 15 years.

Described by Assistant General Manager W. Howard Powell as a "parallel to the Local Improvement Act," which governs the payment of costs of sidewalks, sewers and curbs, the new rates, besides paying the cost of installing new mains, would include the water rates to new consumers.

PRICES INCREASED

The disparity in the present rates arose during the past few years as the cost of installing water mains increased rapidly. Prior to 1951, new consumers were paying a fixed rate of $18.75 a year. This was raised to $30 in 1951 but in neither case was the period of write-off for the total cost of installation established.

The new rate is intended to include the interest on the principal amount to be retired and the cost of depreciation as well as the cost of the actual water supplied, and will be paid from the date the service is taken, not from the date of laying new mains.

"The idea is that once we've passed the 15-year period, we set a uniform rate, based on frontage, the number of faucets in the house and so on," Mr. Powell explained.

First Reported In '46 Wall Now Ready To Fall

A mild letter from Wm. C. Ackerman, 380 Park St., south of Hunter St., was received by the council Monday night about "the dangerous condition of a concrete wall" at the south end of his lot.

Reference to his correspondence file showed that he had first called the attention to this wall in 1946. So far nothing has been done, and in Mr. Ackerman's comment the wall looks now as if it is ready to let go, possibly causing some accident. The letter was referred to the board of works.

When that stretch of Park St. was widened, the city erected a retaining wall on the east side of the street. There is no sidewalk in the block. "There has been ample time to have the work done," Mr. Ackerman remarked in his letter.

Labor Council Asks City Polling Booths In Hospitals

The placing of municipal polling booths at Peterborough's two hospitals was proposed to the council Monday night in a brief from Peterborough and District Labor Council.

It was read by William Triggs who was accompanied by Edmund Humphrey, Alf Barber and George Linsdell.

Text of the core of the petition was "We respectfully request that the City of Peterborough petition the Ontario Government for legislation that would permit the city to provide for polling booths at our two hospitals. We realize that some difficulty may be anticipated, but point out that provision is already made for an advance poll so that citizens who may be out of town on election day can exercise their franchise.

"We also ask that consideration be given to the problem of those civic employees whose hours of work on election day prevent them from voting, and respectfully suggest that all civic employees should be given adequate time off with pay on election day in order to exercise their franchise.

"Further, since we believe that our democratic institutions need the support and encouragement of all, we ask that the City of Peterborough request the business and industrial firms to co-operate by allowing their employees sufficient time off to vote on election day, without loss of pay."

NO OPPORTUNITY

Text of the preface was: "During the last municipal elections it came to our attention that citizens who were confined to the hospitals had no opportunity to cast a ballot.

"We also discovered that the hours of work of some of the Civic Hospital staff conflicted with the hours when the polling booths were open. We understand that some shifts at the hospital start at 10.30 a.m., which is too early to vote, and finish at 7 p.m., which is too late. It is probable that other civic employees, as well as some employees of business and industrial firms, are required to work similar shifts.

"We believe that one of the most important principles of democracy is that every person should accept the responsibility of democracy by making use of the franchise . . . The group of citizens denied the right to vote because they are confined to hospital on election day is, in our opinion, too large to be ignored."

City Solicitor Huycke expressed doubt that the council itself could do anything. It was not like federal and provincial elections where the names of eligible voters were set down for certain polls.

"All are registered for residence and vote there," Mr. Huycke said. "I would say it isn't possible for the Election Act and the Municipal Act to be kicked around for a person living on Burnham St., for example, to vote at Civic Hospital.

GET TRANSFER

"Under the Dominion Election Act a voter can get a transfer, but there is no provision of the Municipal Act that permits a voter to be moved around."

Mr. Huycke said that in federal and provincial elections, two hours were provided for employees to go to vote, but there was nothing to that efect in municipal elections.

Ald. Beggs mentioned that by an amendment to the Municipal Act last year Peterborough had an advance municipal poll. "It is possible that the Municipal Act could be kicked around a little more, as Mr. Huycke says, to have an advance poll or a poll established, for hospital employees as an example, who are unable to get to a regular polling booth?"

Mr. Huycke said that the advance poll for railway and transport employees had been provided for years. It was assumed that they were going to be out of the city on their work.

"The legislative amendment last year was an accommodation for persons who expected to be out of the city on municipal election day. All that was required was that the city council pass a bylaw setting up an advance poll for that purpose. I am afraid it doesn't cover people in hospitals."

Ald. Beggs said that the only way to meet the request of the petition was by changing the Municipal Act.

"And I think it would have to be a public bill, not a private bill for Peterborough, because all communities would no doubt be as much interested as Peterborough," Mr. Huycke said.

That was presumably a reference to the first point in the petition that application be made to the Ontario government "for legislation that would permit the city to provide for polling booths at our two hospitals".

Ald. J. A. Dewart seconded the motion of Ald. A. B. Burrows asking that a complete answer to the Labor Council brief be prepared and that this commentary be referred back to the city council.

Architect Dies

TORONTO (CP) — Herbert E. Moore, 79, a prominent Ontario architect, died Monday.

A fellow of the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada, Mr. Moore served as honorary secretary of the war memorials committee for Ontario from 1920 to 1923. He designed many buildings in the province and was associated with the provincial department of works since 1935.

City Dwellers Get Poor Deal, Alta. House Told

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

City dwellers in Alberta aren't getting a fair deal, Hugh John MacDonald, Liberal member for Calgary, said in the legislature at Edmonton Monday.

He said it won't be long before half of Alberta's population will be in the cities and towns, but the city dweller's salary is often based on national figures, which do not allow for the province's increasing prosperity.

Mr. MacDonald claimed the city dweller is forced to spend an excessive amount on housing and a home-owner pays taxes "out of all proportion."

Saskatchewan will export natural gas if certain conditions are met, Resources Minister J. H. Brockelbank announced in the legislature. Alternative government plans call for either a guarantee that the province will get natural gas at reasonable rates or that minimum reserves will be established.

ASK REJECTION

The Prince Edward Island house will be asked to reject a Canadian National Railways application for a bus franchise in the province.

A standing committee considering the question said there wouldn't be enough business for both the CNR and Island Motor Transport Limited, which now operates a service.

Municipalities in Manitoba will get more than $13,000,000 in grants this year as well as nearly $1,000,000 from taxation of railway properties. Provincial Treasurer R. D. Turner said in the throne speech debate the total grants were $10,000,000 more than the contribution in 1946-47, a year before the tax agreement between the federal and provincial governments.

Forests Minister Robert Sommers of British Columbia was charged with trying "to poison the minds of the people of this province for political reasons" by Liberal leader E. T. Kenney in the B. C. house.

He was criticizing a recent speech by Mr. Sommers, who said the former Liberal government's policy towards the Auminum Company of Canada was "disastrous" because it failed to have an agreement calling for the company to clear land to be flooded in its Kitimat project.

Lou Durkin Returned Head Of Canadian Legion Branch

Election of officers for Branch 52, Canadian Legion, was held Monday evening in the Legion Hall, at their annual meeting. Lou Durkin was returned to office as president by acclamation.

Mr. Durkin has served on the Legion executive four years previous to being president. He was first vice-president when George Gimblett Sr. resigned as president, and Mr. Durkin succeeded him. Mr. Durkin served as armourer for four years in the RCAF.

Claire Stuart was returned to office as first vice-president and Harry Gabbutt as sergeant at arms, both by acclamation. Harold Yelland was elected to the office of second vice-president and Roy Garrett, Ned Heffernan, Leo Herr, Harry Kelsey and Albert Mason were elected to the executive.

There was a motion put forward by Edward Davis, who is also city assesor, that the Legion Hall assessment be raised from $50,000 to $100,000. He felt that if there was another fire, they would only collect $50,000 at the most from their fire insurance, and it would be wise to raise it. But the Legion members refused to pass it, for they felt, it would raise taxes on the building.

The treasurer reported that their Poppy fund was in good shape. There was $6,885.59 in the fund as of January 1, 1953, and had exceeded last year's quota.

Saskatchewan To Export Gas On "Province First" Basis

REGINA (CP) — Saskatchewan has decided to export her natural gas but only on a "province first" basis.

Announcement of a gas export policy was made Monday in the legislature by Resources Minister J. H. Brockelbank. The policy follows the same general pattern as that laid down in the House of Commons last Friday by Trade Minister Howe.

Mr. Howe said then that the federal policy will be one of Canada first and "Canada always." Premier Manning of Alberta, the largest gas-producing province, has indicated Alberta will follow the same line.

Mr. Brockelbank said export of Saskatchewan's natural gas will be permitted under one of two possible plans: If any interprovincial pipeline company will make certain guarantees; failing these guarantees, if certain minimum reserves have been established.

Mr. Brockelbank said the government realizes its first duty is to Saskatchewan consumers of natural gas who must be assured of supplies "for an expanding period of time at reasonable rates."

However, the government was aware that the best way of ensuring adequate supplies was by encouraging the proving up of large reserves. This would provide the incentive for exploration, mainly the right to market the gas.

The resources minister said under the first part of the export plan a pipeline company will have to make two guarantees to the province, both of which would hold for the life of the pipeline.

The company would have to guarantee a supply of natural gas "at reasonable rates" to meet provincial requirements and guarantee an adequate share of the export market.

If no company accepted these terms, export would only be permitted after minimum reserves of one trillion cubic feet were established. The government then would allow export of 50 per cent of proven reserves above that figure and 75 per cent of reserves proven above three trillion cubic feet. The remaining gas would go toward the provincial reserve.

A safe estimate of present indicated reserves, including "probable and possible" reserves, was one trillion cubic feet, said Mr. Brockelbank. Fifty per cent of reserves proven over the first trillion cubic feet would go to the provincial reserve and 50 per cent for export. All reserves would be active.

Mrs. German Hostess To Trinity Ladies

HASTINGS (ENS)—Mrs. Ethel German opened her home to group 2 of Trinity United Church who were hostess to group 1.

Thirty-two ladies were present. The president, Mrs. Arthur Beamish opened the meeting with the theme, "Pass It On."

Mrs. Preston of group 1 took the worship period which opened with the hymn, "All the Way My Saviour Lead Me." The scripture was read by Mrs. Stinson. The theme, "Place" was given by Mrs. Dunn. Mrs. A. Metcalfe led in prayer and the worship closed with the hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

The program consisted of a reading by Mrs. Preston; vocal duet "The Stranger of Galilee", by Misses Marilyn Thomas and Helen Stapley; three contests; humorous reading, "I got the Mumps," by Mrs. Beamish and "The Missionary Lady", by Mrs. L. Metcalfe.

A short business period followed and card of thanks from Mr. Foster was read. The travelling apron was opened and contained 8.90. A lovely quilt top, donated by Mrs. Pickens, was displayed.

The committee for the April meeting comprises Mrs. W. Buck, Mrs. A. Fox, Mrs. A. Ford and Mrs. W. Orr.

A lovely lunch was served by the hostess and committee in charge. Mrs. Oliver thanked the hostess and the visiting ladies. Mrs. Preston responded.

A friend of yours works here

AT your branch of The Bank of Nova Scotia, through the door marked "Manager," works someone you should get to know. Someone who can be as good a friend as the old family doctor.

Sure he's a business man—and a good one, who knows rather more than the next man about finance, whether it affects you and your family or your business. That's why he's got where he is. But he's learned one lesson—a lesson passed on to him from The Bank of Nova Scotia's 121 years of experience. That is, that when you get right down to it, business is really people. And because people need friendship in business—he's ready to be your friend.
You'll find him a good man to know.

Your BNS Manager is a good man to know. In Peterborough he is R. E. Macdonald.

NAMED IN INVESTIGATION —Michael F. Allore, manager of the Saskatchewan government insurance office, has denied charges that he received alleged "kickbacks" in commissions from an insurance firm. A provincial government legislative Crown Corporations Committee is investigating allegations that officials of the Saskatchewan CCF government received a share of sums paid by an insurance firm, Financial Agencies, Ltd. An affidavit, signed by J. O. Rawluk, a former agent for the government insurance office, charged Dr. M. C. Shumiatcher, a former secretary of Financial Agencies, arranged the alleged kickbacks. Dr. Shumiatcher denied the charge.

Financial House Sees Business Prospects Good

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

More customers buying more goods is the prospect for business seen by the current review of Wood, Gundy and Co., Ltd. The review says in part:

"With growth in population at the rate of the past decade, domestic markets should readily expand to more than twice their present size before the end of the century.

"Increasing volume of domestic business should be experienced by companies engaged in many lines, such as merchandizing, transportation and communication services, production of lumber, cement, steel and other building materials for houses, roads, schools and hospitals.

"Companies with progressive and capable management already firmly established in these industries should be in a strong position to take advantage of opportunities in the enlarging domestic markets.

"Forest industries have broad scope for further growth, particularly in developing cellulose and other products which utilize both wood and chemicals. Also, Canada's pulp and paper industry is singularly well equipped to meet continued high demands for newsprint and other paper products."

Imperial Oil, Ltd., has started a system of handling credit-card sales at service stations which, the company states, cuts purchase time in half. The system adapts to service stations the charge-plates used by some department stores and air lines. Before country-wide introduction, the system was given a six-month test in the Hamilton area.

The annual report of Trans Mountain Oil Pipe Line Company, which is building a 718-mile $92,000,000 pipeline from Edmonton to Vancouver, says:

"A review of the probable requirements of the oil company shareholders and other prospective shippers through the pipeline is under way to ascertain whether a fourth pumping station will be necessary to provide an initial capacity of 150,000 barrels a day.

"Present surveys indicate that by adding pumping stations, up to a total of perhaps 12 or 14, the pipeline can transport in the neighborhood of 300,000 barrels a day."

Originally only two pumping stations, with a capacity of 75,000 barrels a day, were planned. Last July a third station was authorized to bring initial capacity to 120,000 barrels.

Construction of the pipeline was started in February, 1952, and crude oil should reach Vancouver through it next October.

Speaker Lauds Work Of Home Bible League

MARMORA (ENS) — Attention was drawn to the work of the Canada Home Bible League at a service open to all denominations in the Pentecostal Church Monday evening.

The Rev. D. Routly welcomed those present and after calling upon the Rev. K. J. Crawford to offer prayer, introduced C. W. Kleinsteuber, representing the league, who gave an address and showed a film illustrating the value of the Bible in home and public worship.

A collection was taken and the Rev. D. Routly and another worshipper volunteered to distribute Bibles in homes where there were none.

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Lloyd Cossar, 6, died Monday night several hours after being struck by a car. Hospital officials said death was caused by head and back injuries.

You'll pay MORE for FOOD if you don't act NOW!

THE ONTARIO GOVERNMENT took the yellow out of margarine—NOW they want power to ban any edible oil product!

Ladies—do you like shortening in your pie-crust? Men—do you like peanut butter on your bread? Mayonnaise in your salads? Cooking oil? Money-saving margarine? WELL YOU'RE LIABLE TO LOSE THEM!

Four years ago, a surprising ban was placed on the yellow color in margarine. When it went through, even men in the Ontario Legislature were stunned.

Now, an even more amazing bill is before the Ontario Legislature—to be acted on within a few days! This fantastic bill No. 71, an amendment to the Edible Oil Products Act 1952, will actually give the Ontario Government power to stop you buying any food product made with any fat except butter-fat!

That means shortening, margarine, mayonnaise, cooking oil and dozens of other good, low-cost foods can be taken away from you, any time the Ontario Government feels like it.

This is a real threat to your food budget—for no government passes a law unless it intends to use it!

How did all this happen?

How could a democratic group like our Ontario Legislature pass on such dictatorial nonsense?

Let's be fair. They are busy men. They hear a lot of bills and talk every day. They have obviously missed the full meaning of the Edible Oil Products Act and Bill No. 71.

If the men in the Ontario Legislature had thought seriously about Bill No. 71 for a short time, they would be shocked at its implications.

It was the same with the margarine color ban. Certain pressure groups created such a stir that honest men in the Legislature thought they were acting on the will of a majority. Now Ontario women have to mess around coloring margarine every day.

What can we do?

If you want to protect your right to buy money-saving foods like margarine, shortening, good foods like mayonnaise, cooking oil, peanut butter — you have to make yourself heard!

A wave of protest has risen against the margarine color ban. It has been brought to a head by the fantastic Edible Oil Products Act.

Let the Government know you mean business today! Tell them that you want your margarine yellow! Tell them you want to keep on buying good foods, economical foods, even if they aren't made with butter-fat!

Act today—tomorrow may be too late!

This week, thousands of letters, wires, phone calls will go to Queen's Park. Angry groups of wage-earners, home-makers, retailers, farmers are making themselves heard.

Protest today—have yellow margarine next week! It can happen that fast! If we show the opinion of the majority, the democratic way will work!

Write a letter—or use the form letter we have supplied. But do it today. Stop Bill No. 71 in its tracks . . . it can be passed any day this week!

WRITE TO YOUR MEMBER DIRECTLY OR CLIP AND MAIL THIS LETTER TODAY—AND WE WILL SEE HE GETS IT.

What is the Institute of Edible Oil Foods?

The Institute of Edible Oil Foods is a large group of farmers, processors and manufacturers who produce, manufacture and market edible oil products.

About 50,000 Ontario farmers, food-plant workers, grocers, and manufacturers get their income partly or wholly from sales of such foods as shortening, mayonnaise, margarine, peanut butter, cooking oil.

The Institute of Edible Oil Foods was formed recently. Its first task is to inform the Ontario Public about Bill No. 71 and the Edible Oil Products Act and to encourage the movement to lift the margarine color ban.

Dear Sirs:

Please forward this suggestion immediately to the member of the Ontario Legislature for my riding.

"I wish to protest the margarine color ban, and the passage of Bill No. 71. I feel that both are unnecessary restrictions and give unfair advantage to special groups. Please rescind the margarine color ban, and use your influence to stop Bill No. 71."

Message To Christians

The Rev. Gordon S. Maxwell was guest speaker at the meeting of Living Link Mission Circle held in Trinity Hall parlour Monday evening. He spoke of the shrinking of the world due to increasing closeness of countries by quick travel. Mr. Maxwell said that the early Christians met their problems by trying to lift all things—immorality, brutality and the rule of Caesar—to a higher level. He concluded by stating that the Cross will always be the measure of the world and love the redeeming power. Miss Marion Oddie and her group were in charge of worship. Scripture was read by Miss Viola Moncrief with prayer led by Mrs. Kenneth Lee. Miss Oddie read an article entitled "Child of God." President Miss Helen Thompson conducted the business portion. A temperance item was read by Miss Jean Cunford. Plans were laid for the program to be presented at the April meeting to which the WMS affiliated societies of the church are invited. Miss Catherine Hodgens read the letter published in the United Church Observer which stated the appreciation of Angola farmers for a tractor sent to help them learn modern farming methods. Prior to the meeting, supper was served by Miss Oddie's group from an attractively decorated St. Patrick's table.

St. Luke's WA's Join To Hear Mrs. J. McKibbin

Evening branch of the WA of St. Luke's Anglican Church had Afternoon Branch members as guests at the meeting Monday evening to hear a talk by Mrs. John McKibbin, wife of the rector of Campbellford Church, whose topic was "The Social Worker."

Mrs. McKibbin, before her marriage, was a social worker in downtown Toronto for the Samaritan Club. She explained that this club interests itself mostly in people who contract tuberculosis, looking after lodging for their families and their general welfare as well as visiting the patient in hospital. She also outlined the city's set-up of social work, naming various organizations which are engaged. She explained in some detail the invaluable social service index which is maintained. This keeps on file all data about people who have applied for help at any time so that a quick check reveals if they are receiving help from any other organization.

The speaker was thanked by Mrs. John Lee.

A life membership service, conducted by Mrs. D. H. Wyatt, president of the Afternoon Branch, made Mrs. Cecil Hope the first life member of the Evening Branch, which is only four years old. The membership was given by Mrs. Hope's aunt, Mrs. Jennie Long, who pinned on the gold cross, symbolic of this honor. The membership certificate was presented by Mrs. R. Sanderson, president of the Evening Branch.

Mrs. Sanderson, who had made the visitors very welcome to this meeting, conducted the business briefly. Main item was the voting of $25 to the work of the Bishop of the Yukon.

Entertainment was provided by the Misses Gwen and Marilyn Pomeroy with a piano duet. Tea was served during a social half-hour at the close.

Another joint meeting of the branches will be held on April 27 when Miss Mabel Jones, deaconess at Apsley, will be the speaker.

St. Paul's Aux. Holds Easter Thankoffering

Evening Auxiliary WMS of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church held the Easter thankoffering meeting Monday evening in the guild room of the church, with Miss Verna Johnston presiding. Miss Jean Smith favored with two lovely songs, "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere."

The president reminded of the joint meeting with other WMS groups on April 21 at which Miss Bessie McMurchy, home on furlough from the foreign mission fields, will visit St. Paul's. She also extended an invitation from Mrs. Hugh Stewart, Weller St. W. for the Auxiliary to spend a social evening at her home this Wednesday evening, March 18.

Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Mary Greer, who took as her theme the Easter message found in the 24th chapter of St. Luke.

Mrs. H. Everett, wife of a major of the Salvation Army Corps, was guest speaker and was introduced by Miss Marjorie Nesbitt. Mrs. Everett spoke capably and forcefully on "Jewels of Grace," pointing out that it is not what one has materially or what one gives materially that counts, but rather the ability to use the God-given gifts and talent such as knowledge, disposition, forgiving spirit, generosity and understanding to help others less fortunate to carry their burdens and make their lives brighter and easier. She cited in particular the exemplary lives of Dorcas, Frances Ridley Haveral and Florence Nightingale and spoke briefly on the party each had played in bettering conditions for all with whom they came in contact.

The meeting closed with the singing of Mrs. Everett's favorite hymn "Take My Life and Let It Be", after which she led in prayer of thanksgiving. She was thanked by Mrs. L. J. Mercer.

Mrs. Chester Grant and her committee served a cup of tea and all enjoyed a pleasant half-hour socially.

Irish Spirit Set By Decorations At St. Peter's Tea

A happy Irish spirit prevailed in the beautiful setting for the "Irish Tea" held by the Catholic Women's League in the library of the new St. Peter's Grade School on Sunday.

Guests were welcomed by the president of the League, Mrs. F. Guilfoyle, and Mrs. D. F. McCarthy, convener of the tea. Mrs. S. J. Houlihan made a gracious hostess, placing the guests at small tables set with white table covers suitably decorated for the occasion.

Green and white streamers were draped to a centre of green balloons above the main table. A harp bay with lovely spring flowers made the centerpiece for the main table, covered with luxurious lace cloth and set with silver candelbra with green candles.

Tea was poured from silver tea services by the following ladies in turn from three to six o'clock—Mrs. J. Smith of Campbellford; Dioceson president of the Catholic Women's League, Miss Agnes Grant; past Diocesan president, Mrs. O'Toole; president of Assumption Parish, Otonabee, Mrs. O'Connor; president of St. Joseph's Parish, Douro; Mrs. P. J. Burke, past rosary convener; and Mrs. F. J. Lynch, convener of organization.

The following ladies were in charge of the various small tables—Mrs. J. J. Ahern, Mrs. William Collins, Mrs. Jamieson, Mrs. MacFarlane, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. L. Dalliday, Mrs. Leo. McCabe and Mrs. V. Ridley.

Winnipeg Fast Becoming Canadian "Bond Street"

WINNIPEG (CP) — Manitoba fashion experts are turning the distance from Portage and Maine to the Rue de La Paix on Bond Street into a 10-cent tram ride.

More than 80 different furs and gowns at a recent fashion show here oozed style from every seam. The "made-in-Manitoba" label appeared on fashions that are miles ahead of the pioneer print dress and over-all period.

The work of local designers showed the loose, semi-fitted lines popular in Paris, along with the dropped neckline. The Coronation-year purple and suited tailoring of London was there, and "first lady pink" appeared as a neighborly tribute to Mrs. Eisenhower and her gown for The Inaugural Ball at Washington.

STIFF, STATELY

The Italian influence was shown in stiffened panels, drapes, bustles and tiers. Emphasis on stoles for suits was derived from Madrid.

But Manitoba herself contributed wearability. This quality was a feature of creations for luncheon wear and church, or for shopping or cocktail party wear.

The formal gowns, tailored suits and sportswear were all geared to the busy life of the Western woman. They were obviously designed to stand wear without losing any tinge of fashion.

DOROTHY DIX:

Vulgar Publications Appeal Those With Warped Minds

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: Can an intelligent adult believe that reading indecent literature has no ill effects? I am referring to the deliberately sensational stuff that is seen on some newsstands and in cheap lending libraries. Many justify it as "realism," "honest" or even "art." The fact remains, however, that it is designed solely to stir up unwholesome ideas.

My wife spends much time reading this stuff. She has announced that she wants to end our marriage because she considers our home life dull, in contrast to the experiences in her reading.

My inclination is to thrash the newsdealer, but I know that won't solve the problem. When I try to talk to my wife, she laughs at me.

B.S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You're right, punishing the newsdealer won't solve the problem. If you want to do something constructive, support the bills that come before your state legislature for the suppression of such periodicals. However, I'm afraid that no amount of suppression will cure a mind that enjoys being dulled into stupor by salacious reading matter.

WARPED IDEAS

A small child soon learns that he becomes dirty by playing in mud. As he grows older he realizes that a bad reputation is easily acquired through association with wrong companions. An intelligent adult knows the full truth of the text, "He that toucheth pitch shall be defiled therewith." It's impossible to come in daily contact with sensationalism in reading, viewing, or companionship without being affected. Your wife is not an intelligent adult. In fact, mentally, she isn't even adult. Her concept of life is so warped that she is rapidly losing all appreciation of fundamental values. She is, in effect, hynoptized by the silly, sordid printed matter.

Perhaps she feels cheated in love? Apparently you have no children, which might account for her state of mind. Perhaps you haven't given her the affection she desires. Tell her you love her—don't expect her to take you for granted. Don't be stingy with compliments or flattery, bring home a surprise gift now and then. Take her out, get her to entertain people, help her find something to fill in time during the day. With less time to read, she may be lured away from the magazines that now seem to be her main entertainment.

If there were no one to read indecent periodicals, there would be no purpose in publishing them; conversely, if they were not published, no one could read them. In curing your wife of this sorry interest, see what you can do to curb the general distribution of these publications.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 21 and am in love with a boy three years younger. He isn't working, but I have a job. My parents won't let me go out with him, though they know he is a nice boy. He has asked to marry me, but they say "no." Don't you think I'm old enough to think for myself?

J.W.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: As you are seriously considering marriage with a jobless boy of 18, I would emphatically say you weren't qualified to think for oyurself—though legally, of course, you are.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 24 years old and in love with a man 25. My family says I am still too young to be maried. Some members of my family are still single at 30 and 33.—C.A.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your family is inclined to late marriages, or none at all, but that's no reason for you to remain single if you've found a man you love.

Guild to Make Curtains

APSLEY (ENS) — Materials to make new curtains and cover chancel chairs will be purchased by the St. George's Ladies' Guild here, it was decided at a recent meeting. The curtains and covers will be used to replace those now in service at the church.

Fifteen members of the Guild were present at the meeting, held at the home of Mrs. Norman Reddick. Mrs. C. McColl was in charge of the program following the business session.

GALA BALL GOWN—This gala ball gown is called "Sea Treasure" and is designed by Hardy Amies of London, designer of many outfits worn by the Queen on her visit to Canada in 1951. It is a dress suited to royal balls. In pearl-yellow duchess satin, it has semi-full skirt, heart-shaped halter neck and exquisite pearl beading.

What To Take To London For Coronation Year Wear

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—If you are undecided what to bring to London for Coronation wear, take note of the fashion selection of Lady Kenneth Clark.

As president of a society acting in the interests of London's "big eleven" of haute couture, Lady Clark was asked to pick, from the spring collections, styles she considered suitable for the varied occasions that form part of a debutante's season.

For a Buckingham Palace garden party, her choice was Mattli's diagonal-striped white organza dress with three-quarter cuffed sleeves, full skirt and cross-over revers neckline. The only touch of color is a bunch of marguerites at the narrow waist and the garden-party picture is completed by a matching, long-handled parasol and wide straw picture hat.

NOW IN U.S.

Lady Clark liked this dress so much she had a similar style made for herself in cotton, for wear in the United States, where she went with her husband on a picture tour in art. She returns to London April 21.

A Nottingham lace dinner dress, ankle-length and long-sleeved with high jewelled neckline in front and deep "V" at back, was another choice for her American wardrobe that will be equally useful in Britain.

In the fashion quiz, Lady Clark's choice for evening gala wear is Victor Stiebel's turquoise-and-gold ball gown in rich brocade. With strapless top and tiny waist, the bodice finishing below the waist, this gown has a drape of material cascading from one side of a narrow waist belt.

"Sea Treasure" by Hardy Amies, designer of many outfits worn by the Queen in Canada, is a dress suited to royal balls. In pearl-yellow duchess satin, a pure silk fabric by the West Cumberland silk mills, it has semi-full skirt, heart-shaped halter neck and exquisite pearl beading.

At Goodwood race course you might wear a slimly-cut loose coat over a silk suit, or a draped jersey wool dress. For sunny days a happy choice would be John Cavanagh's "forward line," a printed silk dress with straight back and sprouting fullness to the skirt.

Ascot race meetings are a big occasion when the Queen and the Royal Family drive down the course in open landaus. A common choice for Ascot wear is the styles worn at Buckingham Palace garden perties. A debutante might choose a pink and grey taffeta with youthful fulness, her mother a dark green or brown satin afternoon coat by Michael of Lachasse, or Stiebel's pleated white silk under a navy silk coat.

The more daring might select the "tango-line" by Michael of Lachasse—a sleeveless suit with squared neckline, tiny waist, accented hips and outstanding front fullness to a sheath skirt.

On all outdoor occasions from boat racing at Cowes in the Isle of Wight, tennis at Wimbleton, cricket at Lord's to country weekends, the classic English suit is almost a universal choice if the weather is bad. And a chic raincoat is almost a must.

TB TOLL

REGINA (CP)—E. C. Hingley, president of the Saskatchewan Anti-Tuberculosis League, said deaths from the disease in Saskatchewan in 1952 are estimated to have been 14.3 per 100,000 population. There were 66 deaths among the white population and 53 among Indians.

Sour Milk Is A Must In Some Dishes

It is St. Patrick's Day, and yesterday I gave you some green and spring-like recipes in memory of the Irish saint.

Today I'm on a campaign to show you how to use up your sour milk in dishes in which it is a must.

Seeing a young housewife dumping down the drain a half empty quart bottle of sour milk did something to my thrifty nature.

Some of our young cooks don't know the special place that sour milk and cream have in cookery. They think that milk that has soured is a total loss.

Far from it.

If you have to sour some milk to make this meat loaf do so—for I give you my culinary word for it it is a find.

SPECIAL MEAT LOAF
(using sour milk)

One lb. ground beef and ¼ cup ground salt pork or bacon end (have your butcher grind these together for you if you can coax him into it), 1 egg, 1 cup stale breadcrumbs, 1 cup canned tomatoes, ½ cup sour milk, 2 teaspoons salt, 1½ teaspoons prepared mustard, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons chopped onion, 1 tablespoon butter. Combine the breadcrumbs, egg, onion and seasonings. Reserve 2 tablespoons of the crumbs for the top. Add tomatoes, meat and sour milk. Mix well. Grease loaf pan and put meat mixture in. Sprinkle with the 2-tablespoons crumbs and dot with the 1 tablespoon butter. Bake in oven of 350 deg. Fahr. for 1 hour—no longer. Turn out carefully, but place on hot platter, crumb side up, and garnish with parsley and tomato wedges.

The next recipe is for a sandwich filling when you have a little hard piece of ham left from a roast—or of course rolled smoked shoulder will do too.

DIFFERENT SANDWICH FILLING

About 4 or 6 oz. piece end of ham, 1 hard-cooked egg, 6 stuffed olives, 1 small sweet pickle or 1 tablespoon green relish, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 slice dry hard bread, about 2 or 3 tablespoons sour milk or cream. (The sour milk takes the place of mayonnaise with which to moisten this.) Put all ingredients through food chopper except milk and mustard, following them through with the slice of hard bread to clean out the grinder. Mix to a spreading consistency with the mustard and sour milk.

NOTE: Exactly same method may be used with leftover cooked liver BUT add 1 teaspoon onion and some salt to taste.

(using sour milk or cream)

Two whole eggs or 4 yolks, ¼ cup vinegar or lemon juice, 1 cup sour milk or cream (if sour milk is used add 2 tablespoons butter at the end), ½ tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon each mustard and paprika. Mix dry ingredients. Beat eggs until light and add all other ingredients. Stir in double boiler until thickened. Remove from heat and beat well. Do not cook this one moment after it has thickened. If you do not overcook it it will be thick and smooth, when cool. If it does curdle strain it before cooling.

STEAMED MOLASSES PUDDING

One cup each, molasses, sugar, butter or margarine, sour milk, 4 eggs, 2½ cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon each soda and nutmeg. Cream butter and sugar well together. Add molasses and well-beaten eggs. Sift flour and measure and sift again with nutmeg. Add it alternately with the sour milk in which the soda has been dissolved. Pour into greased mould, cover and steam 3 hours. This is good served with a spicy or lemon-y sauce.

BRONCHIAL COUGH

Are you kept awake by a nerve-racking bronchial cough? Is phlegm so tightly packed in your bronchial tubes, no amount of coughing seems able to dislodge it? Templeton's RAZ-MAH capsules are especially made to loosen phlegm, so it comes away easily and you are relieved of coughing and wheezing. Get RAZ-MAH for quick relief. 65c, $1.35 at druggists. B-56

...winner of 3rd prize in Monarch's old-time recipe contest

Onion Shortcake
(Use as Yorkshire Pudding)
Oven temperature—hot—450°F.

Grease a 2 quart casserole.
Slice four large onions into a frying pan.
Add 1 tablespoon shortening and cook slowly until tender and light golden in colour.
Sift, then measure —2 cups Monarch Flour
Re-sift with —4 teaspoons baking powder
—⅜ teaspoon salt
Cut in with a pastry blender or 2 knives: —4 tablespoons shortening
Make a well in centre of dry ingredients and add —⅔ cup milk
Mix quickly, lightly combining dry and wet ingredients. Spread dough over the bottom of a greased 2-quart casserole. Cover with the cooked onions.
Combine with —1 egg, slightly beaten
—½ cup milk
Pour this mixture over onions. Bake in preheated oven 450°F. for approximately 20 minutes.

For many years this delightful dish has been served in place of Yorkshire pudding by the few who were lucky enough to know the recipe. Now you can make it in all its prize-winning deliciousness. Be sure to use Monarch Cake and Pastry Flour for real lightness and fine texture. There's no other way to get the best out of a favourite cake or pastry recipe. In fact all your non-yeast recipes will turn out better than you've ever known them when you make them with Monarch. (For extra food value Monarch is now vitamin-enriched).

Vitamin enriched flour contains 0.44 mg. thiamine; 0.26 mg. riboflavin; 3.5 mg. niacin; 2.9 mg. iron per 100 grams (3½ oz.).

A panel of well-known food experts chose the Onion Shortcake baked by Mrs. Don Young of Sudbury for this award. The recipe has been in Mrs. Young's family for a great many years and is always made with Monarch Flour.

HAMILTON—In loving memory of Albert Hamilton, who passed away 10 years ago today, March 17, 1943.
There is a link death cannot sever,
Love and memories last forever.
—Sadly missed by George and family.

7—Card of Thanks

I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to my doctor, and attending nurses for their kindness during my stay in Civic Hospital, and also to the many kind friends and neighbors who sent me flowers and cards.—Mrs. A. Mills.

I wish to thank the Sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital, attending doctor, Miss Frances Blue, relatives, friends and neighbors for their kind gifts and thoughtfulness during my recent sickness.—Mary Ann Menard.

Mrs. J. Hamilton wishes to express her heartfelt thanks to the doctors and nurses of Civic Hospital and also the Rev. Scuse and neighbours and friends for their flowers, cards and gifts during her recent illness.

Mr. Bill Collison and family, wish to thank everyone for their kindness, sympathy and flowers, during our recent bereavement.

Southern County Problems Passed To Government

TORONTO (CP)—The task of straightening out the financial problems of Southern Ontario counties has been thrown in the provincial government's lap.

During a stormy two-hour session today, the legislature's private bills committee rejected applications from the towns of Hespeler and Paris for withdrawal from Waterloo and Brant counties respectively.

The committee decided to ask a government municipal - provincial committee to study the whole organization of the county council system and bring in changes which would benefit all municipalities, rather than dealing with individual applications as they came up.

Hespeler and Paris wanted separation from the counties because they said they were paying too much for the operation of the counties in proportion to the benefits they received.

It was the third successive year Hespeler's application had come before the committee. Piebiscites were conducted in both towns, with ratepayers voting overwhelmingly in favor of separation.

C. F. Janes (PC-Lambton East), said if the applications were granted it would mean a flood of similar requests next year. He said it would "wreck the county system."

Gordon R. Barron, solicitor for the town of Paris, said "the jockeying for wardenships on county councils is disgusting and disgraceful. It's time we grew up."

A. H. Cowling (PC-Toronto High Park), said the townspeople voted for separation and the government should grant their wish. He was the only government supporter on the committee who voted for separation.

A large delegation from Hespeler booed the committee's decision, and chairman W. M. Nickle (PC-Kingston City) was forced to rap for order several times.

The packed committee room applauded when Albert Wren, (Lib. Kenora) said the whole Municipal Act should be overhauled by the legislature.

Mr. Nickle said the committee should not try to set government policy, but Mr. Cowling replied that it was a committee's duty to shape the course of government action.

Douglas Vaisey Top Speaker

Dougals Vaisey on Monday night won the Peterborough Junior Chamber of Commerce oratorical contest and the right to enter the Canadian semi-finals this May in Cornwall.

The semi-finals will be at the Region 6 convention May 17 and 18. And the finals will be in June at Bigwin Inn.

Mr. Vaisey chose as the theme of his short address the punch line, delivered at the end — a challenge by young Canadians to the rest of the world:

"Whatever you can do well—we can do better!"

Mr. Vaisey said there are no geographical divisions for opportunity in Canada. It awaits them everywhere. And this opportunity could be best seized through private enterprise.

"It is in the Junior Chamber of Commerce where we 'believe that economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise.'"

Other Peterborough Jaycee finalists were Tony Burns, and Steve Evans.

Judges were Canon Walter J. Gilling, chairman, Frank Hinton, public speaking instructor, and John Madden, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

He outlined to the Commons External Affairs Committee the work of the service in beaming broadcasts to Europe, Latin America and behind the Iron Curtain.

Police Redouble Efforts To Catch Duguid

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto police today doubled their efforts in the search for Harry Duguid, one of Canada's 10 most wanted men, following an attempted robbery Monday night of a downtown branch of the Dominion Bank.

Duguid, once a prominent Toronto plastics manufacturer, who slipped into a life of crime 10 years ago, has been sought since 1947 when he sawed his way out of the Welland county jail.

Authorities here said Monday night's break-in "definitely resembled Duguid's work."

They said the man worked alone, climbing a fire escape at the rear of the building with a ladder he had taken from a nearby construction job. He then lowered the ladder through a trap door in the roof of the three-storey building and climbed down into a storeroom.

Cutting through the floor with an electric saw, he was only inches away from getting down into a wash room directly above the bank vault when police believe he was frightened away by the watchman making his rounds.

Ten days ago, a similar break-in was discovered in a Dominion Bank branch in north Toronto. In that case also, police believe a watchman scared the man away before he could complete his work.

The 38-year-old Duguid is wanted for the $14,500 armed robbery of a central Toronto Dominion Bank branch in 1942 and the $19,400 holdup of an Imperial Bank at Stamford in the Niagara district in 1947. He is also wanted for escaping custody.

Parade, Prayers On Dublin's Day

DUBLIN (AP) — Ireland celebrated St. Patrick's Day today with a parade and a prayer. And there wasn't a soldier or a politician in sight.

The Irish did this up in typically different style in honoring the country's patron saint.

All pubs and bars were closed. Stripped for the first time were all military trappings. The 12,000-strong Republic Army went to mass and then was given the day off.

The only reminders of Ireland's turbulent past were grey-haired veterans of the Irish Republic Army who led the parade. But they were dressed in their Sunday best—no uniforms.

They strode proudly while fiddlers and bagpipes ground out the Wearing of the Green.

Everyone was in a festive mood.

The English were even invited to join in the festivities. Highlighting the day's sports program in the capital was an international soccer match between England and Ireland.

The nation's political leaders took a back seat with the day devoted chiefly to a gala display of Ireland's culture and industrial progress.

Hold Montreal Youths

COBOURG (ENS)—Three Montreal youths were picked up in an allegedly stolen car by OPP Constable Lyle Erskine Monday. The constable spotted the car near Newtonville and after a brief chase the car pulled up.

Held for Montreal police are Jean Bruent, Leopold Welsci and Gerald Latoro. The car is said to have been stolen over the weekend.

Oil Co. Plans Action To Stop Pump Noise

"Good relations are important to us," wrote F. W. Belt of British American Oil Co. in a letter to the council Monday night affirming that steps were being taken by the company to correct the mechanical causes of complaint to which residents of the neighborhood reently objected.

"We had already issued instructions that no deliveries were to be made to our Peterborough branch by our equipment after 10 p.m. I have also referred the matter of gear pumps to our engineering department asking for a report and immediate remedial action."

This letter from Mr. Belt was dated March 6. "It may be a few days before mechanical alterations can be made.

"However, please be assured that it will receive our full and complete attention."

Complaint of residents was against night operations, particularly the noise of the pump which interfered with sleep.

Pupils Present Program At Open House

WESTWOOD (ENS) — The pupils of Westwood Public School under the supervision of their teacher, Miss Marjorie Huffman, acted as hosts and hostesses to their parents and friends at the annual Open House.

The afternoon program was in the form of a radio broadcast. The announcer was Jackie Dunlop and the roving reporter Bobbie Shelton, who called upon Marion Shaw to speak of the Wonder Books made by grades 5 to 8.

The story of the Norwood Fair banner was told by Buddy Cardwell. Ann Whitred spoke of the life of the pioneers with the help of a large mural made by Grades 7 and 8. An account of the Royal Family was given by Isobel Wilson from a collection of pictures the pupils had mounted on a bulletin board. Carl Breckenridge, Richard Lake and Bobbie Middlebrook of Grade 5 told the story of discovering a road to Cathay.

An Indian village made by grades 3 and 4 was shown by Walter Wilson who demonstrated an Indian war dance. Larry Simpson, Freddie Pulfer, Jimmy Stinson, Walter Wilson, Margaret Stinson, Barbara Russell, Vaughn Fife, Wayne Pacey and Christie Lake sang "The March Wind".

A series of pictures on ways of travelling was exhibited by pupils of grades 2 and 3 while Wayne Pacey told about land travel, Freddie Pulfer spoke on water travel and Larry Simpson on air travel.

About the classroom were other signs of spring, such as the pussy willows told about in a poem by Betty Patterson, while Teddy Shaw, Gordon Stinson and Betty Patterson of grade 1 sang "The Pussies in the Meadows". Teddy Shaw recited a poem, "Mr. Bunny Rabbit."

The history of the Union Jack was given by Sharon Cardwell using the three original flags.

The birds' nests on dsiplay were identified and described by Melvyn Russell. Barbara Russell of grade 2 gave an account of a buffalo horn which had been brought to class during the study of the buffalo. Rose Simpson of grade 8 spoke briefly on the new Science, Health and Social Studies books purchased for the school and extended thanks to the School Board for them.

The program ended with a play "Elizabeth, Our Queen" and a chorus, "There'll Always Be An England."

Mrs. Eric Pulfer and Mrs. Thomas Cardwell, representing the Women's Institute, presented the pupils with two library books, "The Return of Silver Chief" and "Granny Fox" and expressed thanks and appreciation for the privilege of visiting the school. Isobel Wilson, president of the Junior Red Cross, accepted the books and thanked the Women's Institute. Miss Huffman also expressed her thanks for the gift and for the co-operation of the people of the community for attending.

Reports Exist, Can't See Them Says St. Laurent

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent confirmed Monday the existence of two reports concerning the defence department, sought for weeks by the opposition, but indicated they won't be made public.

He was accused by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, of enunciating a "new concept of responsible government" in his statement and of indicating anew that the government intends to give just as little information as possible to Parliament.

The reports have been popping in and out of Commons and defence committee discussions for weeks since the sensational Currie report on the army works services was tabled. Opposition motions to have them tabled have been rejected by the Liberal majority.

Mr. St. Laurent identified them as:

MARKED SECRET

1. A report made to Defence Minister Claxton several years ago and "marked secret." It deals in "an intimate manner with the top-level administrative officials of the department. . . If that report is requested we will have to take the position that it cannot be made public."

(This is the so-called Gordon report, made by Walter S. Gordon of Toronto, an accountant and efficiency expert, in 1948 or 1949.)

2. A manuscript prepared for the civil service commission—the government's hiring agency — by "someone who had been in the employ of the commission." It never got beyond the commission and was found last week in the papers of an official now in Burma after excerpts were printed in the press.

CONTAINS CRITICISM

Mr. St. Laurent said this manuscript does contain "expressions like those cited" by E. D. Fulton (PC—Kamloops) last week — Expressions criticizing the army works services and army administrative overhead in 1949, 2½ years before the Currie report.

(This manuscript was apparently prepared for the commission after the army asked approval for a larger establishment for the works services. The Ottawa Journal in a newspage story said Ronald MacNab, now a lawyer in London, Ont., has identified himself as the man who prepared the manuscript while he was a staff investigator with the civil service commission. It is a memorandum on defence department use of civilian personnel.)

Mr. St. Laurent said the government has never attempted to "withhold any information it was reasonable to make available to the public." A majority of members trusted the government's honesty and did not insist that the government table documents the government said should not be tabled.

A HERO'S REWARD—Mayor Charles H. Tait of South Haven, Mich., presents keys to a new $15,000 house to Medal of Honor winner Marine Cpl. E. Dewey (centre) and his wife, Bertha. Tillicum Class Meets MATHER'S CORNERS (ENS)—Keene United Church Tillicum Class met at the home of Mrs. A. Elmhirst. Mrs. Edith Easson, vice-president, was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. F. Starke had the worship service.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Holt from the Cancer Society of Peterborough. Miss Ruth Lewars showed two films on cancer. Lunch was served by the lunch committee.

WI St. Patrick's Tea Successful Event

HAVELOCK (ENS). — The St. Patrick's tea held in the council chamber Saturday afternoon by the Women's Institute was a successful event. The guests were received by the president, Mrs. Harry Pollock. The centre table was covered with a St. Patrick's cloth and centred with a potted shamrock with green candles in crystal holders on either side. Tea was poured by Mrs. A. Anderson and Mrs. R. Jones.

Quartet tables, centred with shamrock, accommodated the guests. The plates were arranged by Mrs. R. Melville and Mrs. B. Jewell, and the servers were Mrs. H. Thompson, Mrs. F. McKenzie, and Mrs. A. Holland.

Customers at the home cooking table kept the attendants, Mrs. H. W. Roche and Mrs. A. Buckland busy. The fish pond was in charge of Mrs. W. Bullied.

A draw was held on a cake made by Mrs. F. McKenzie, won by Mrs. A. Anderson and drawn by Gail Sanderson. Mrs. R. Jones was in charge of the tickets for the draw.

WMS Members Study African Conditions

BETHANY (ENS)—The Women's Missionary Society of the United Church met at the home of the president, Mrs. George Waddell.

As a means of raising money the ladies have held several quilting bees and on the day of the meeting six of the members went early in the afternoon and quilted until time for the evening session, with Mrs. Waddell serving dinner to the quilters.

In the opening worship service, the president was assisted by Mrs. Clarence Rowan and Mrs. Herb Coppins. Each member gave Watch Tower items reporting progress of United Church missionaries abroad.

Mrs T. J. Jackson took charge of the study period, showing some of the benefits and reverses from European occupation and invasions by other foreign countries. Mrs. Mervyn Porteous, Mrs. Waddell, Mrs. H. Coppins, Mrs. Henry Jakeman and Mrs. Walter Rowland answered the questionaire prepared by Mrs. Jackson on some of the unmet needs of the African people in Angola where there is a mission station.

"There is a great need for more money for the development and enlargement of the present printing facilities. As people become educated enough to read, their thirst for knowledge will have to be satisfied with the right kind of education and Christian literature. Africans have brilliant minds which only await the chance for development. The door of opportunity is open."

Mrs. Waddell closed the meeting with prayers.

Propane Gas Up 86% From Year Ago

The volume of propane gas bottled by the Peterborough Utilities Commission during February of this year was 86 per cent more than during the same month in 1952

In February, 1952, 13,710 gallons were bottled, as compared with 25,580 in February, 1953, an increase of 11,870 gallons, it was revealed by Assistant General Manager W. Howard Powell in his monthly operating report to the commission.

Propane used in gas making last month was 7,386,00 cubic feet, an increase of 1,395,000 or 25 per over the total of 40,163 in February, 1952.

The amount of gas made last month was 7,286,000 cubic feet, an increase of 1,395,000 or 25 per cent over the February 1952 production of 5,991,000 cubic feet.

PEAK LOAD

In the electric department the peak load last month was 23,600 kilowatts, an increase of 1,047 or five per cent compared with the February 1952 peak load of 22,553 kilowatts. Kilowatt hour consumption increased by 613,200 or six per cent from 9,998,000 kilowatt hours in February 1952 to 10,611,200 last month. The load factor increased six per cent between the two months.

In the water department, on the other hand, the total pumpage of 114,230,000 gallons was a decrease of 7,950,000 from the February 1952 total of 122,230,000, while the maximum rate of pumpage in February 1952 was 5,300 gallons per minute, as compared with 5,200 in the same month this year and the average rate of pumpage was 2,920 in February 1952 in contrast to 2,830 in February of this year.

In the distribution system of the electric department, a new power circuit was erected on Bethune St., between King and Murray Sts.; a new lighting circuit was erected on Clonsilla Ave. from Elgin St. to Sherbrooke St.; power and light circuits were rebuilt on Aylmer St. between Sherbrooke and King Sts.; the lighting circuit was rebuilt in the lane between George and Park Sts. running north off Lansdowne St.; the transformer stand was rebuilt at the Western Clock Co.; 34 new three-wire, one new two-wire and six new power services were connected; 11 services were changed from two- to three-wire and 39 new flat rate water heaters were connected.

Mr. Powell reported that the contract for the filter plant addition continued at a satisfactory rate. The bulk of the concrete in the filter extension was completed during February, leaving only the roofs of the sedimentation basins of the large volumes of concrete left to place.

Floors were erected over the pump pit and boiler rooms. New metal staircases were installed and a temporary electric power panel was set up in the new workshop and stores building for operation of the pumps.

Sunday School Class Wins Party Prize

HAVELOCK (ENS)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Taylor, RR 2, Norwood, was the scene of a happy gathering Friday evening, arranged by Pastor L. Bigelow and Mrs Bigelow as a prize to the class in the Havelock Baptist Mission Sunday school who won the banner for the highest average attendance for the first quarter of 1953.

The teen-age class were the winners and about 20 of them were in attendance.

A skating party had been planned but owing to weather conditions, it was changed to a house party. A very enjoyable evening was spent playing games. Miss Margaret Baptie and Miss Gail Sanderson were winners of an advertisement contest. Lunch was served and a special treat was given the members of the class.

Charlotte Wants OPP Bingo Probe

OTTAWA (CP) — Mayor Charlotte Whitton said Monday the Ontario attorney-general's office should launch an investigation into the operation of bingo games here.

Mayor Whitton was commenting on a municipal police investigation which resulted in seizure of an automobile and $200 won at a bingo game Thursday. Police said they are investigating the possibility that the game was "rigged."

The automobile was seized when a used car dealer reported being offered a new car at a "ridiculously low price."

The winners of the bingo gave false names and fictitious addresses, police said. Later, they were identified as John P. Foxley and James E. Enslin of Detroit. They were released after promising police to leave the country.

Police said a check of previous bingo winners revealed six more names and addresses given by prize winners were false.

Mrs. P. Haig Hostess To Havelock WMS

HAVELOCK (ENS). — Mrs. P. Haig was hostess to the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church with the president, Mrs. R. G. Newman, presiding.

WINNIPEG (CP) — A public school enrolment of 132,707 pupils, largest since 1940, was recorded in the 1951-52 school year, according to the Manitoba education department's annual report just issued. This was an increase of 5,308 over the previous year.

7 Quebec Hydro Producers Appeal Decision

OTTAWA (CP) — Nine Quebec producers of hydro-electric power today filed an appeal in the Supreme Court of Canada through which they seek deduction from taxable income under the federal Income Tax Act of money paid to Quebec's education fund.

The amounts were paid during the last seven years to the Quebec minister of hydraulic resources under the province's Act to Insure the Progress of Education.

Finance Minister Abbott said last week that such payments will be deductible from taxable income beginning this year.

At issue in the appeal is income tax of $4,197,000 on the $10,192,000 the nine companies paid into the education fund in the years 1946-52 inclusive. The appeal specifies only the income tax assessments for 1947 but is regarded as a test also for the other years.

The nine power companies appealing are Gatineau, MacLaren-Quebec, Northern Quebec, Ottawa Valley, Saguenay, St. Maurice, Southern Canada, Canada Light and Shawinigan.

The case arose three years ago when the minister of national revenue disallowed the companies' deduction from taxable income of education fund payments, levied on a basis of 15 cents per 1,000 kilowatt hours of electricity generated from water power.

In 1951, the income tax appeal board ruled in the companies' favor, deciding that the education fund levy was a royalty or rental in respect of natural resources rather than a tax that it was an expense laid out for the purpose of earning income, and that the income-tax regulation under which deduction was refused was ultra vires.

The Exchequer Court reversed that judgment last January, ruling valid both the Income Tax Act and the regulations under it and declaring the education fund levy a specific corporation tax and non-deductible.

Anti-Sub Mortar New Weapon For British Navy

LONDON (CP)—A deadly new British anti-submarine mortar which Royal Navy men believe will destroy almost every submarine coming within range has been tried out in Canada and the United States.

Details of the new weapon were given in the House of Commons Monday by J. P. L. Thomas, first lord of the admiralty, during a debate on the navy estimates.

The mortar is aimed automatically by electronic controls after picking up the noise of submerged submarine on echo-sounding apparatus.

Almost instantaneously, Thomas said, it sends out a shower of bombs which fall around the target area and explode under water.

The mortar has been installed in Britain's latest anti-submarine vessel, HMS Rocket.

"Two three-barrelled anti-submarine mortars are linked to an asdic (echo-sounding) set with an improved electronic fire-control system.

"The mortars fire a pattern of large projectiles with a high degree of accuracy and the projectiles can be set automatically to explode at any given depth. They have tails like bombs and their ability to find the target is greater.

"Submarines have little chance of escaping destruction once they are within range."

The weapon has been tried out by Canada and the United States, Thomas said, and has "given those countries much food for thought and confirmed the faith which we ourselves place in this new equipment."

Women's Congress Raps Labor Law

TORONTO (CP)—A delegation from the Congress of Canadian Women Monday protested a proposed bill which would give Labor Minister Daley discretionary powers in employment of women on night shifts.

The bill is an amendment to the Factory, Shop and Office Building Act, which forbids employment of women or youths later than 11 p.m.

Canada May Use Anti-Sub Mortar

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is likely to arm her new anti-submarine escort vessels with a deadly new British anti-sub mortar which was eulogized Monday in the Commons at Westminster.

The new weapon was demonstrated in Canada and the U.S. in recent months by the warship HMS Rocket and favorably impressed Canadian officers. The likelihood is that orders will be placed for numbers of the mortar.

It appears, from the description given by J. P. L. Thomas, first lord of the admiralty, to be an advance on the squid, an automatic, electronically-controlled device for firing multiple blasts at submarines.

Mr. Thomas said the Royal Navy believes the new mortar will destroy almost every submarine coming within range.

Canada is concentrating on anti-sub warfare and is building a fleet of 16 modern ships specially designed for this purpose.

Lauren Bacall Urges Hollywood To Change Name

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—If Lauren Bacall had her way, this would be a different dateline. She says Hollywood should change its name.

"Hollywood already has two strikes against it because of its name," remarked the willowy blonde. "By years of the wrong kind of publicity, the name has gotten a bad connotation with the general public. 'Hollywood' has become a term of derision, a synonym for cheapness and immorality in the minds of too many citizens.

"A resident of Hollywood has two reactions when he is asked where he's from. Either he tries to hide the fact and dodge the query, or he replies defiantly that he's from Hollywood and waits for the adverse reaction.

ONE MAD WHIRL

"The public has a strange conception of our behavior here. According to some individuals, actors spend a few of the morning hours making faces before the cameras. The afternoon is giving up to a mad whirl of drinking and carousing. Then we dash home, pat our children on the head, change our clothes and hurry out to a wild evening of drinking, dancing and debauch.

"Unfortunately, too many people have identified that kind of life with Hollywood. It is too much of a stigma to overcome. I think the only way to get a fresh start is to get a new name for the movie capital."

Miss Bacall had no ready suggestion for a new name for this town. How about Movie City? Filmville? Or maybe Chlorophyl, Calif. That might accomplish what she is after.

Still Homeless After 6 Months

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Michael Patrick O'Brien, the man without a country, today completed six months of boredom as a prisoner of international red tape.

O'Brien has spent the last half year shuttling endlessly between Hong Kong and Macau aboard the ferry boat Lee Hong.

Since he has no citizenship papers he has been refused permission to land at either the British or Portuguese ports along the China coast. And since the ferry doesn't call anywhere else, he can't get off.

He claims American citizenship, but the U.S. state department holds that he was born in Hungary, never took out U.S. citizenship papers and was once ordered deported from the U.S. because of convictions for burglary and assault.

What he wants is to get to Brazil or Argentina, but his appeals to the international refugee organization have so far been in vain.

O'Brien, 47, has been in the public eye several times since Sept. 18, when he made his first trip on the Lee Hong. Today he said he is discouraged and disillusioned and wants no more publicity.

He recently described his life as "100 per cent worse than prison life."

Foundry Inspections Inadequate, Says Union

TORONTO (CP)—The inspection of Ontario foundries was criticized Monday as inadequate for the protection of employees by delegates to a two-day conference of the Foundry Council of the Ontario section of the United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL).

One delegate said factory inspections are too infrequent and that too often the inspector is "given a quick tour of the plant by management avoiding areas where conditions are below the standards set by the factory inspection act."

The conference planned its bargaining program for 1953, which includes a uniform wage of $1.43 an hour and a 40-hour week. Present wages range from 72 cents to $1.57.

Lakefield Group To Present Play

APSLEY (ENS) — Acceptance was made of an offer by the Lakefield United Church Young Adult Society to present a play by the Women's Association of Trinity United Church at a recent meeting.

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Theodore Post, the group appointed Mrs. G. Tucker to the visiting committee to replace Mrs. T. Wagner who is ill.

Miss Sheila Reddick, of Columbus, Ga., who has been visiting relatives here, and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Brown and family, has returned to her home.

Mrs. Rol Tucker spent the weekend at her home here with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tucker. Mrs. Roy Brown, of Peterborough, was also their guest on Saturday.

Reserves Judgment

COLLINGWOOD (CP) — Judgment was reserved Monday by Magistrate Gordon Foster to March 30 following the trial of Julian H. Ferguson, member of Parliament for Simcoe North, charged with a violation of the Ontario Municipal Act. The charge was laid last January after Mr. Ferguson was alleged to have distributed papers election day bearing the names of candidates in Collingwood's municipal elections.

SOVIET-TYPE INCIDENT—Paste-in plane No. 2 spots the point near Lueneburg, Germany, where a four-engined British Lincoln bomber was sent flaming to destruction by two Soviet-type fighter planes that have not yet been positively identified. The new "incident" occurred less than 48 hours after Soviet-type MiGs shot down a U.S. Thunderjet (plane No. 1) near Regensburg in American-held Bavaria. The downed British plane crashed into Soviet territory, killing five crewmen.

Adjudicator Evaluates Toronto Group's Play

TORONTO (CP)—The central Ontario drama festival opened at Hart House Theatre Monday night with Noel Coward's "The Marquise," presented by the Playcraftsmen group of Toronto.

John Allen, noted British actor, author and playwright, is the adjudicator for the week-long festival.

Commenting on the production, directed by Alexander de Maszody, Mr. Allen said the actors did well when there was action on the stage, but they did not have the manners or movements of the 19th century, in which the play is set. The set and lighting were excellent.

President Fired, Union To Strike

GUELPH (CP)—Employees of the James R. Kearney Corporation voted to strike Monday because Ray Dean, president of the union local, was fired. A picket line was to be set up around the plant today.

The factory, a branch of the James R. Kearney Corporation of St. Louis, manufacturers transformers and other outside hydro equipment. The union is local 558, International United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers (CIO).

George Hutchens of Toronto, the union's international representative sent a telegram to Labor Minister Daley following a mass meeting of the workers asking that a mediator be sent at once. The workers had taken matters out of his hands, Hutchens said in the message.

Workers claimed the president of the local was dismissed unjustly last Friday.

Charles Wenner, factory manager who estimated that 35 or 40 employees would be affected by the strike, said Dean was discharged for disobeying company rules.

Brantford Approves Hospital Extension

BRANTFORD (CP)—Taxpayers Monday voted approval of the extension of Brantford General Hospital by almost a two to one count. A proposal to assist the Sisters of St. Joseph in building a hospital here squeezed through by 200 votes.

The taxpayers voted 5,531 to 2,850 in favor of debentures in the sum of $1,800,000 for extension and modernization of the present hospital.

By 4,612 to 4,412 they approved a grant of $1,000,000 towards the cost of construction of a Sisters of St. Joseph hospital, the remaining cost to be borne by the Sisters.

Biggest Catch

OSLO, Norway (CP)—The annual winter herring fisheries off western Norway have started to pick up after a poor beginning. Biggest catch ever landed in a single day was recorded in February when the sea yielded well over 93,000 tons of herring in 24 hours.

Use Tourist Boat To Escape East

BERLIN (Reuters) — An East German excursion boat, plated with home-made armor, steamed through 200 miles of twisting German canals, weathered a barrage of Communist police gunfire and broke through to freedom in the West here Monday.

The Communist bullets at the border bounced harmlessly off the heavy steel plate riveted to the ship's bridge and no one aboard—two East German shipowners and their families—was hurt.

The East Germans, Hans and Gerhard Winkler, decided to flee when the Communist authorities threatened to expropriate the Deutschland, the 500-passenger vessel which they used to run summer tourist cruises through East Germany's inland waterways system.

They had to zigzag through an intricate 200-mile network of canals to get across the frontier.

Cecile Suggests Wider Spread In Holiday Times

TORONTO (CP)—With the eighth consecutive record-breaking tourist season in prospect, Ontario residents were urged Monday to take their vacations in the off-season months of May and June or September and October.

The advice came from Travel Minister Cecile of Ontario. He said in a broadcast over a provincial network that such adjustment of holiday habits would lengthen the season for tourist resort operators and, in the long run, would ensure Ontario of improved resort accommodation.

Mr. Cecil criticized the mass closedown of many industrial plants for vacations, often on short notice, at the height of the holiday season when resorts and cottages are crammed to capacity.

"If mass closedowns are contemplated, perhaps the last weeks of June and the early part of July could be given consideration," he said. "At this time there usually is pleasant weather, while swimming, fishing and all the other attractions of Ontario's recreational districts are in full swing."

Ancient Method

CARDIGAN, Wales (CP)—Fishermen using coracles, round wickerwork craft similar to those used in ancient times, have laid their salmon nets in the Teifi river for the coming season. Salmon prices are expected to be higher than last year, when salmon opened at $1.68 a pound.

Finds Fast Way To Relieve SCIATIC PAIN

"For a long time I was just about useless from sharp sciatic pain in my right hip and thigh," writes Mr. Kenneth Dauphinee, 32 Atlantic Ave., Halifax, N.S. "Despite all the things I tried, I showed no improvement. Then my wife got me some T-R-C's and from the first dose I got longed-for relief. After taking T-R-C's for a short time, I no longer needed them and have not had an attack for years."
